e The Prophet ſpeaketh not this for the affection that he bare to the tyrant, but that they ſhould pray for the common reſt and quietneſſe, that their troubles might not be increaſed, and that they might with more patience and leſſe griefe waite for the time of their deliuerance which God had appointed moſt certaine: for elſe not onely the Iſraelites, but all the worlde, yea, and the inſenſible creatures ſhould reioyce when theſe tyrants ſhould be deſtroyed, as Iſa. 14. 4.

f When your oppreſſion ſhall be great, and your afflictions cauſe you to repent your diſobedience, and alſo when the ſeuenty yeeres of your captiuitie ſhall be expired, 2. Chron. 36. 22. ezra 1. 1. chap. 25. 12. dan. 9. 2.

g As Ahab, Zedekiah, and Shemaiah.

h Whereby he aſſureth them, that there ſhall be no hope of returning before the time appointed.

i According to the compariſon, Chap. 24. 1, 2. k Reade Chap. 25. 6. l Reade Chap. 17. 13. and 25. 3. and 26. 5.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, of Ahab the sonne of Kolaiah, and of Zedekiah the sonne of Maaseiah, which prophesie lies vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I will deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and hee shall slay them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudah, that are in Babel, shall take vp this curse against them, and say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the king of Babel burnt [m] in the fire, 23 Because they haue committed [n] villanie in Israel, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying words in my name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I know it, and testifie it, saith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying, 26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for Iehoiada the Priest, that ye should bee officers in the House of the Lord, for euery man that raueth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast thou not reproued Ieremiah of Anathoth, which prophesieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause hee sent vnto vs in Babel, saying, This captiuitie is long: builde houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eate the fruites of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Ieremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophesied vnto you, and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will visite Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seede: he shall not haue a man [p] to dwell among this people, neither shall he behold the good, that I will doe to my people, saith the Lord: because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies, 18 and comforteth the Church.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lorde God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the wordes that I haue spoken vnto thee, in a booke.

3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people Israel and Iudah, saieth the Lorde: for I will restore them vnto the land that I gaue to their fathers, and they shall possesse it.

4 Againe, these are the wordes that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Iudah.

5 For thus sayeth the Lorde, We haue heard [a] a terrible voyce, of feare and not of peace.

6 Demaunde nowe and beholde, if man trauaile with childe. Wherefore doe I beholde euery man with his handes on his loynes as a woman in trauaile, and all faces are turned into a paleneſſe?

7 Alas, for this [c] day is great: none hath beene like it: it is euen the time of Iaakobs trouble, yet shall he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that [d] day, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, I will breake [e] his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serue themselues [f] of him.

9 But they shall serue the Lorde their God, and [g] Dauid their King, whom I will raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my seruant Iaakob, saith the Lorde, neither bee afraide, O Israel: for loe, I will deliuer thee from a farre country, and thy seed from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shall turne againe, and shalbe in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, sayeth the Lorde, to saue thee: though I vtterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee, yet will I not vtterly destroy thee, but I will correct thee by iudgement, and not [h] vtterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and [i] thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medecines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy [k] louers haue forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wound of an enemie, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why crieſt thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these things vnto thee.

16 Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shall bee deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shall goe into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shall bee spoyled, and all they that robbe thee, will I giue to bee robbed.

17 For I will restore health vnto thee, and I will heale thee of thy woundes, saieth the Lorde, because they called thee, The castaway, saying, This is Zion, whome no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakobs tents, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shalbe builded vpon her owne heape, [m] and the palace shall remaine after the maner thereof.

o Shemiah the false prophet flattereth Zephaniah the chiefe priest as though God had giuen him the spirit and zeale of Iehoiada to punish whosoeuer trespassed against the word of God, of the which he would haue made Ieremiah one, calling him a rauer and a false prophet.
p Hee and his seede shalbe destroyed, so that none of them should see the benefit of this deliuerance.
q Because they should be assured, and their posterity confirmed in the hope of this deliuerance promised.
a Meaning, that the time of their captiuitie should be grieuous.
b He sheweth that before that this deliuerance shall come, the Caldeans should be extremely afflicted by their enemies, and that they shoulde be in such perplexitie and sorow, as a woman in her trauaile, as Isa. 13.8.

p Signifying, that Christ doth willingly submit himselfe to the obedience of God his Father.
q Lest the wicked hypocrites should flatter themselues with these promises, the Prophet sheweth what shalbe their portion.
r When this Messiah and deliuerer is sent.

19 And out of them shal proceed a thankesgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous: and I wil multiplie them, and they shal not be few: I will also glorifie them, & they shall not be diminished.
20 Their children also shall be as afore time, and their congregation shall bee established before me: and I will visite all that doe them.
21 And their o noble ruler shal be of themselues, and their gouernour shall proceede from the middes of them, and I will cause him to draw neere, and approch vnto me: for who is this that directeth his p heart to come vnto me, saith the Lord?
22 And yee shall be my people, and I wil be your God.
23 Behold, q the tempest of the Lord goeth forth with wrath: the whirlewinde that hangeth ouer, shall light vpon the head of the wicked.
24 The fierce wrath of the Lord shal not returne, vntill hee hath done, and vntill hee haue performed the intents of his heart: in the r latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 How tenderly God bestoweth his benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23 and the spirituall ioy of the faithfull in the Church.

AT the s same time, saith the Lorde, will I be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.
2 Thus sayth the Lorde, The people which t escaped the sworde, founde grace in the wildernesse: u he walked before Israel to cause him to rest.
3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me x of olde, saying: Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawen thee.
4 Againe I will build thee, y & thou shalt be builded, O virgine Israel: thou shalt still z be adorned with thy tymbrels, and shalt go forth in the dance of them that be ioyfull.
5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of a Samaria, and the planters that plant them, b shal make them common.
6 For the dayes shall come that the c watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto d Zion, to the Lord our God.
7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iaakob, & shout for ioy among the chiefe of the e Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lorde, saue thy people, the remnant of Israel.
8 Beholde, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the worlde, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with child, and her that is deliuered also: a great company shall returne hither.
9 They shall come f weeping, and with mercie will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riuers of g water in a straight way, wherein they shal not stumble: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is h my first borne.
10 i Heare the word of the Lorde, O yee Gentiles, and declare in the yles afarre off, and say, He that scattered Israel, wil gather him, and will keepe him as a shepheard doth his flocke.
11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iaakob, and ransomed him from the hande k of him, that was stronger then he.
12 Therefore they shall come and reioyce in the height of Sion, and shall runne to the bountifulnesse of the Lorde, euen for the l wheate, and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe and bullockes: and their soule shal be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorow.
13 Then shall the virgine reioyce in the m dance, and the yong men, and the olde men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorowes.
14 And I will replenish the soule of the Priests with n fatnes, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodnesse, saith the Lord.
15 Thus saith o Lord, A voice was heard on hie a mourning and bitter weeping, p Rahel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.
16 Thus saith the Lorde, Refraine thy voyce from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shall be rewarded saith the Lorde, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemie:
17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.
18 I haue heard q Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an r vntamed calfe: s conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.
19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my t thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproch of my youth.
20 Is Ephraim u my deare sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I still x remembred him: therefore my bowels are troubled for him: I wil surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.
21 Set thee vp y signes: make thee heaps:

e Thus the Lord answereth, that his loue is not changeable.
f Thou shalt haue still occasion to reioyce: which is meant by tabrets and dancing, as their custome was after notable victories, Exodus 15.20. iudg 5.2. and chap. 11.34.
g Because the Israelites, which were the tenne tribes, neuer returned to Samaria, therefore this must be spiritually vnderstood vnder the kingdome of Christ, which was the restauration of the true Israel.

r In the companie of the faithfull, which euer praise God for his benefits.
s Meaning, the spirit of wisdom, knowledge, and zeale.
t To declare the greatnesse of Gods mercie in deliuering the Iewes, he sheweth them that they were like to the Beniamites, or Israelites: that is, vtterly destroyed, and carried away, insomuch that if Rahel the mother of Beniamin couldе haue risen againe to seeke for her children, shee shoulde haue founde none remaining.
u That is, the people that were led captiue.

b To wit, in pitying him for my promise sake.
c Marke by what way thou diddest goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt returne againe by the same, set thine heart toward the path e way, that thou hast walked: turne againe, O virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astray, O thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created d a new thing in the earth: A WOMAN shall compasse a man.

23 Thus sayth the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord bleste thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine.

24 And Iudah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the husbandmen and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue satiate the weary soule, and I haue replenished euery sorowfull soule.

26 Therefore I awaked and beheld, and my sleepe was sweet vnto me.

27 Beholde, the dayes come, sayeth the Lorde, that I will sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah f with the seede of man and with the seed of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them, so will I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, sayth the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall they say no more, The fathers haue eaten a sowre grape, and the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euery one shall die for his owne iniquitie: euery man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shall be set on edge.

31 ¶ Behold, g dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a h new couenant with the house of Israel, i with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, whē I tooke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they k brake, although I was ‖ an husband vnto them, sayth the Lord.

33 But this shall bee the couenant that I will make with the house of Israel, After l those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will put my Law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shalbe my people.

34 And they shall m teache no more euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord, for they shall all knowe mee from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I will forgiue their iniquitie, and will remember their sinnes no more.

35 Thus saith the Lorde, which giueth n the Sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the Moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hosts.

36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lorde, then shall the seede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus saith the Lorde, If the heauens can be measured, o or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Behold, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that the p city shalbe built to the Lorde from the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shall goe foorth in his presence vpon the hill Gareb, and shall compasse about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsegate toward the East, shall bee holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for euer.

CHAP. XXXII.

Ieremiah is cast into prison, because hee prophesied that the citie should be taken of the King of Babylon. 7 He sheweth that the people should come again to their owne possession. 38 The people of God are his seruants, and he is their Lord.

THe word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the a tenth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 For then the king of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiah the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, which was in the king of Iudahs house.

3 For Zedekiah king of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophesie, and say, Thus sayth the Lorde, b Behold, I will giue this citie into the handes of the king of Babel, and he shall take it:

4 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely bee deliuered into the handes of the king of Babel, and shall speake with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall beholde his face.

5 And he shall leade Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he bee, vntill c I visit him, sayeth the Lord: though yee fight with the Caldeans, ye shall not prosper.

6 ¶ And Ieremiah sayd, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

7 Behold, Hanameel, the sonne of Shallum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee and say, d Buy vnto thee my field, that is in Anathoth: for the ‖ title by kindred appertaineth vnto thee d to buy it.

8 So Hanameel mine vncles sonne, came to d Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sinne, he sheweth howe this should be procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whom a woman should conceiue & beare in her wombe.

Which is a strāge thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgin without man: or, he meaneth, that Ierusalem which is like a barren woman in her captiuitie should be fruitfull, as she that is ioyned in mariage, and whom God blesseth with children.

e Hauing vnderstood this vision of the Messiah to come, in whome the two houses of Israel and Iudah should be ioyned, I reioyced.

f I will multiply, and enrich them with people and cattell.

g The wicked vsed this prouerbe, when they did murmure against Gods iudgements pronounced by the Prophets, saying that their fathers had committed the fault, and that the children were punished, Eze. 18.3.

h Though the couenant of redemption made to the fathers, and this which was giuen after, seeme diuers, yet they are all one, and grounded on Iesus Christ, saue that this is called new, because of the manifestation of Christ, & the abundant graces of the holy Ghost giuen to his Church vnder the Gospel.

i And so were the occasion of their owne disorderment through their infidelitie, Isa. 50.1. ‖ Or, mother.

k In the time of Christ, my Lawe shall in stead of tables of stone bee written in their hearts by mine holy Spirit, Heb. 8.8, 10.

l Vnder the kingdome of Christ there shall none bee blinded with ignorance, but I will giue them faith and knowledge of God for remission of their sinnes, and dayly increase the same: so that it shal not seeme to come so much by the preaching of my ministers, as by the instruction of my holy Spirit, Isa. 54. 13. but the full accomplishing hereof is referred to the kingdome of Christ, when we shall be ioyned with our head.

m If the Sunne, moone, & starres cannot but giue light according to mine ordinance, so long as this world lasteth, so shall my Church neuer faile, neither shall any thing hinder it: and as sure as I will haue a people, so certaine is it, that I will leaue them my word for euer to gouerne them with.

n The one and the other is impossible.

o As it was performed. Nehem. 3.1. By this description hee sheweth that the citie should be as ample and beautifull as euer it was: but hee alludeth to the spirituall Ierusalem, whose beauty shalbe incomparable.

a So that Ieremiah had now prophesied from the thirteenth yeere of Iosiah, vnto the last yeere saue one of Zedekiahs reigne, which was almost forty yeeres. (Chap. 29. 16, 17, and 34. 2.

b Till I take Zedekiah away by death: for he shal not die by the sword, as Chap. 34.4.

c Whereby was meant that the people should returne againe out of captiuitie, and enioy their possessions & vineyards, as verse 15. and 44. ‖ Or, sighs to redeeme it.

d Because he was next of kinred, as Ruth 4.4.

e Of the possession of the Leuites, Read Leuit. 25.32.

f Which mounteth to of our money about ten shillings sixe pence, if this shekel were the common shekel, reade Gen. 23.15 for the shekel of the Temple was of double value, and ten pieces of siluer were halfe a shekell: for twentie made the shekel.

g According to the custome, the instrument or euidence was sealed vp with the common seale, & a copie thereof remained, which conteined the same in effect, but was not so authenticall as the other, but was left open to be seene, if any thing should be called in doubt.

h And so to hide them in the ground, that they might be preserued as a token of their deliuerance, Or, hid. Exod. 34.7. deut. 5.9.

i Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth, that their posteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, shall be punished both for their owne wickednesse, and that the iniquitie of their fathers, which is likewise in them, shall be also reuenged on their head.

k Meaning, that his miracles in deliuering his people, should neuer be forgotten, to mo in the court of the prison, according to the worde of the Lorde, and sayd vnto me, Buy my e field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the siluer, euen seuen f shekels, and ten pieces of siluer.

10 And I writte it in the booke, and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the ballances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession, being sealed g according to the Lawe, and custome, with the booke that was open, 12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vncles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, saying,

14 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen h vessell, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields and vineyardes shall be possessed againe in this land.

16 ¶ Nowe when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lorde, saying, 17 Ah Lorde God, beholde, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing i hard vnto thee.

18 * Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompensest the iniquitie of the fathers into the bosome of their l children after them: O God the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,

19 Great in counsell, & mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are open vpon all the waies of the sonnes of men, to giue to euery one according to his waies, and according to the fruite of his workes)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this k day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this day,

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hande, with a stretched out arme, and with great terrour,

22 And hast giuen them this lande, which thou diddest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land that floweth with milke and honie,

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Lawe: all that thou commandest them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Beholde, the l mountes, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hande of the Caldeans, that fight against it, by meanes of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it.

25 And thou hast sayde vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 ¶ Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Ieremiah, saying, 27 Beholde, I am the LORD GOD of all m flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lorde, Beholde, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, & he shal take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come and fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rooues they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and powred drinke offerings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before me from their n youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked me to anger with the workes of their handes, sayth the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath beene vnto me as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, euen vnto this day, that I should remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, & of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke me to anger, euen they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priestes, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto me o backe and not the face: though I taught them, o rising vp earely, and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house, whereupon my Name was called, to defile it,

35 And they built the hie p places of Baal, which are in the valley of q Ben-hinnom, to cause their sonnes and their daughters to r passe through the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And nowe therefore, thus hath s Lord God of Israel spoken concerning this cuite, whereof ye say, It shall be deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 * Beholde, I will gather them out of all countreyes, whereto I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

43 And the fieldes shall be possessed in this lande, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shall bee giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

a Which was in the kings house at Ierusalem, as Chap 32.1,2.

b To wit, of Ierusalem, who as he made it, so will he preserue it, reade Ier. 27.26.

3 Call vnto me, and I will answere thee, and shewe thee great and mightie things, which thou knowest not.

d The Iewes thinke to ouercome the Caldeans, but they seeke their owne destruction.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the c mounts, and by the sword,

5 They come to d fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselues with the dead bodies of men, whom I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my e face from this citie, because of all their wickednesse.

e He sheweth that Gods fauour is cause of all prosperitie, as his anger is of all aduersitie.

f In the mids of his threatnings, God remembreth his, and comforteth them.

6 ¶ Behold, f I will giue it health and amendment: for I will cure them, and will reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

g Declaring that there is no deliuerance nor ioy, but whereas we feele remission of sinnes.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah, and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will g clense them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against mee, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name, a h ioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare, and tremble for all the goodnesse, and for all the wealth, that I shew vnto this citie.

h Whereby he sheweth that the Church, wherin is remission of sinnes, is Gods honour & glory, so that whosoeuer is enemie to it, laboureth to dishonour God.

10 Thus sayth the Lorde, Againe there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shal bee desolate, without man, and without beast, euen in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

i Which was a song appointed for the Leuites to prayse God by, 1. Chro. 16.8. psal. 105.1. ifa, 12. 4. psal. 106.1. and 107.1. & 118.1. and 136.1.

k Meaning, that all the countrey of Iudah shall be inhabited againe.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof there shalbe dwelling for shepheards to rest their flockes.

l That is, I will send the Messiah which shall come of the house of Dauid, of whom this prophecie is ment, as testifie all the Iewes, and that which is written, Chap. 23.5.

13 In the cities of the k mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, & in the cities of the South, and in the land of Beniamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them saith the Lord.

m To wit, Christ that shall call his Church,

14 Behold, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

n That is, Christ is our Lord God, our righteousnes, sanctification and redemption, 1. Cor. 1.30.

15 In those dayes and at that time will I cause l the branch of righteousnesse to growe vp vnto Dauid, and he shall execute iudgement, and righteousnesse in the land.

o This is chiefly meant of the spiritual sacrifice of thanksgiuing, which is left to the Church in the time of Christ, who was the euerlasting Priest, and the euerlasting sacrifice, figured by the sacrifices of the Law.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah bee saued, and Ierusalem shall dwel safely, and be that shall call m her, is y Lord our n righteousnes.

17 For thus sayth the Lorde, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

q Meaning, the Caldeans and other infidels, which thought God had vtterly cast off Iudah and Israel, or Beniamin, because he did correct them for a time for their amendment.

18 Neither shall the Priestes and Leuites want a man before me to offer o burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

19 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah, saying,

20 Thus sayth the Lorde, If you can breake my couenant of the p day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season,

21 Then may my couenant bee broken with Dauid my seruant, that hee should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priestes my ministers.

22 As the armie of heauen cannot bee numbred, neither the sande of the sea measured: so will I multiplie the seede of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto me.

23 ¶ Moreouer, the woorde of the Lorde came to Ieremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what q this people hath spoken, saying, The two families, lies, which the Lord hath chosen, hee hath euen cast them off? thus haue they despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my couenant be not with day and night, and if I haue not appointed the order of heauen and earth, 26 Then will I cast away the seede of Iaakob and Dauid my seruant, and not take of his seede to be rulers ouer the seede of Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob: for I will cause their captiuitie to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 He threatneth that the citie and the King Zedekiah shall be giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. 11 Hee rebuketh their cruelnie toward their seruants.

THE word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord (when a Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying, a Who commonly of Ieremiah was called Nebuchad-rezzar, and of others Nebuchad-nezzar.

2 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah king of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saieth the Lord, Behold, b I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shal burne it with fire,

2.Chro.36.19. chap.29.16,17. and 32.3.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, and deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shal behold the face of the king of Babel, and hee shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt goe to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah: thus saieth the Lord of thee, thou shalt not die by the sword, b Not of any violent death.

5 But thou shalt die in c peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh d lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

c The Iewes shall lament for thee their Lord and King.

6 Then Ieremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah king of Iudah in Ierusalem,

7 ((When the king of Babels hoste fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah that were left, euen against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah)

8 This is the word that came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a couenant with all the people which were at Ierusalem, e to proclaime libertie vnto them, d When the enemie was at hand, and they sawe themselues in danger, they would seeme holy & so began some kind of reformation: but soone after they vttered their hypocrisie.

9 That euery man should let his f seruant goe free, and euery man his handmaid, which was an Ebrew or an Ebrewesse, and that none should serue himselfe of them, to wit, of a Iew his brother.

e According to the Law, Exo.21. 2. Deut.15,12.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the couenant, heard that euery one should let his seruant goe free, and euery one his handmayd, and that none should serue themselues of them any more, they obeyed and let them go.

11 But afterward they ‡ repented, and caused the seruants and the handmaides, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants & handmayds.

‡ Ebrewrued.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a couenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of ||seruants, saying,

|| Or, bondage. Deut.15.1,12.

14 g At the terme of seuen yeeres let ye go, euery man his brother an Ebrew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when hee hath serued thee sixe yeeres, thou shalt let him go free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither inclined their eares.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a most solemne and strait couenant, made in the Name of the Lord.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight in proclaiming libertie, euery man to his neighbour, and ye had made a couenant before me in h the House, whereupon my Name is called.

16 But yee repented, and polluted my name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaid, whom ye had let at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and holde them in subiection to bee vnto you as seruants and handmaids.

17 Therefore thus saieth the Lord, Yee haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedome euery man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaime a libertie for you, saieth the Lord, to i the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terror to all the kingdomes of the earth.

g That is, I giue the sword libertie to destroy you.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the words of the couenant, which they had made before me, when they k cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betweene the partes thereof:

h As touching this maner of solemne couenant which the ancient vsed by passing between the two partes of a beast, to signifie that the transgressor of the same couenant should be so diuided in pieces, read Gen.15,10.

19 The princes of Iudah, and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuchs, and the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betweene the parts of the calfe, 20 I will euen giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seeke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke their life, and into the hand of the king of Babels hoste, which l are gone vp from you.

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap.37.11.

22 Behold, I will command, saieth the Lord, and cause them to returne to this city, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

He proposith the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

THE word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, in the dayes a of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, saying, a For the disposition and order of these prophesies, read chap.37.1.

b They came of Hobab Moses father in lawe, who was no Israelite, but after ioyned with them in the seruice of God.
c That is, a Prophet.
‖ Or, doore.
d The Prophet saith not, The Lord saith thus: for then they ought to haue obeyed: but he tendeth to another end: that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.
e Whom Iehu the king of Israel fauoured for his zeale, 2. king. 10. 25.
f Teaching them hereby to flee all occasion of intemperancie, ambition and auarice, and that they might know that they were strangers in the earth, and be ready to depart at all occasions.
g Which was now for the space of three hundreth yeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.
h Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vowe, that it could not be broken for any necessitie: for where they were commanded to dwell in tents, they dwell now at Ierusalem for feare of the warres.
i Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe and my Prophets. Chap. 18. 11. and 25. 5.

2 Go vnto the house of the [b] Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord vnto one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.
3 Then tooke I Iaazantah, the sonne of Ieremiah the sonne of Habazziniah, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,
4 And I brought them into the House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanan, the sonne of Igdaliah a man [c] of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboue the chamber of Maaseiah the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the ‖ treasure.
5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, & cups, and [d] said vnto them, Drinke wine.
6 But they said, We wil drinke no wine: For [e] Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, [f] Yee shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.
7 Neither shall yee build house, nor sowe seede, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes yee shall dwell in tents, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.
8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.
9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue wee vineyard, nor field, nor seede,
10 But wee haue remained in tents, and haue obeyed, and done according to [g] all that Ionadab our father commanded vs.
11 But when Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel came vp into the land, wee said, Come, and let vs goe vp to Ierusalem, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the host of Aram: so we [h] dwel at Ierusalem.
12 Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah, saying,
13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Go, and tel the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, [i] Will ye not receiue doctrine to obey my words, saith the Lord?
14 The commandement of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab that hee commanded his sonnes, that they should drinke no wine, is surely kept: for vnto this day they drinke none, but obey their fathers commandement: notwithstanding I haue spoken vnto you, [k] rising early, & speaking, but ye would not obey me.
15 I haue sent also vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, & sending them, saying, [l] Returne now euery man from his euill way, and amend your workes, and goe not after other gods to serue them, and ye shall dwell in the land which I haue giuen vnto you, and to your fathers, but ye would not incline your eare, nor obey me.
16 Surely, the sonnes of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which he gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed me.
17 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euil that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [l] spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.
18 And Ieremiah said vnto the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Because ye haue obeyed the commandement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according vnto all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m] not want a man to stand before me for euer.

k That is, by his Prophets and ministers: which sheweth that it is as much as though he should speake to vs himselfe, when he sendeth his ministers to speake in his Name.
l Which was now for the space of three hundreth yeres from Iehu to Iehoiakim.
m His posteritie shall continue and be in my fauour for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah endicteth, the booke of the curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 He is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them all. 14 He is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth [a] yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,
2 Take thee a roll of booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen [b] from the daies of Iosiah vnto this day.
3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euill, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie, and their sinnes.
4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the sonne of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c] at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpon a roll, or booke.
5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am [d] shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.
6 Therefore goe thou, and reade the roll, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the wordes of the Lord, in the audience of the people in the Lords house vpon the [e] fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.
7 It may be that they will [f] pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euil way, for great is the anger, and the wrath that the Lord hath declared against this people.
8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commanded him, reading in the booke, the words of the Lord in the Lords a Reade Chap. 25. 1.

b Which were twenty and three yeeres, as Cha. 25. 3. counting from the thirteenth yeere of Iosiahs reigne.
c As he did indite.
d Meaning, in prison, through the malice of the Priests.
e Which was proclaimed for feare of the Babylonians as their custome was whē they feared warre or any great plague of God.
f He sheweth that fasting without prayer & repentance auaileth nothing, but is meere hypocrisie.

Lords house.

g The fast was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a litle before that Ierusalem was first taken and then Iehoiakim and Daniel and his companions were led away captives.

h Which is the East gate of the Temple.

9 ¶ And in the fifte yere of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the house of the Lorde, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the secretarie, in the higher court at the entrie of the h new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah, the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the Princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemia, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah, tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they sayde vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

i The godly were afraid, seeing God so offended, and the wicked were astonied for the horrour of the punishment.

16 Nowe when they had heard all the wordes, they were i afrayde, both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the king of all these words.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs nowe, howe diddest thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, Hee pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote them with yncke in the booke.

k They that were godly among the princes, gaue this counsell, by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knew the rage of the King and of the wicked to bee such, that they could not escape without danger of their liues.

19 Then said the Princes vnto Baruch, Go, k hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the king to the court, but they layde vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and tolde the king all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the king sent Iehudi to fet the roule, and hee tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the Princes, which stood beside the king.

22 Nowe the King sate in the winterhouse, in the l ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

l Which conteined part of November and part of December.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure sides, hee cut it with the pen-knife and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afrayde, nor rent m their garments, neither the king, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these words.

m Shewing that the wicked inclined of repenting when they heare Gods iudgements, grow into further malice against him and his word.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had beseought the king, that hee would not burne the roule: but hee would not heare them.

n Thus we see the continuall care that God hath ever ouer his to preserue them from the rage of the wicked.

26 But the king commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet: but the Lord n hid them.

o Though the wicked thinke to haue abolished the word of God, when they haue burnt the booke thereof: yet this declareth that God will not only raise it vp againe, but also increase it in greater abundance to their condemnation, as verse 32.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the words which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe o another roule, and write in it all the former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah had burnt, 29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, p Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shall certeinely come & destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

p These are Iehoiakims words.

q Though Iehoiachin his sonne succeeded him, yet because he reigned but three moneths, it was esteemed as no reigne.

30 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, He shall haue none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his q dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the frost.

r Reade Chap. 22.19.

31 And I will visit him and his seed, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them: but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the scribe the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the booke which Iehoiakim king of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like words.

2 But neither hee, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the words of the Lord, which hee spake by the b ministerie of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the King c sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of d Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

5 Then Pharaohs hoste was e come out of Egypt: and when the Caldeans that beseged Ierusalem, heard tidings of them, they ‡ departed from Ierusalem)

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, saying,

7 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Thus shall ye say to the king of Iudah, that sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come foorth to helpe you, shall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shall come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it and burne it with fire.

9 Thus sayeth the Lorde, § Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely depart from vs: for they shall not depart.

10 For though ye had smitten the whole host of the Caldeans that fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yet should euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne the citie with fire.

11 ¶ When the host of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalem, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ierusalem to goe into the f land of Beniamin, separating himselfe thence from among the people.

13 And when hee was in the g gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whose name was Iriiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, saying, Thou ‡ fleest to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiah, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: so Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angrie with Ieremiah, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the h prison.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the pillons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiah the king sent, ‡ tooke him out, and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah sayde, Yea: for, sayd he, thou shalt be delinered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiah sayd vnto King Zedekiah, What haue I offended against thee, or against thy seruants, or against this people, that ye haue put me in prison?

19 * Where are now your prophets, which prophesied vnto you, saying, The king of Babel shal not come against you, nor against this land?

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my prayer § be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, lest I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they shoulde put Ieremiah in the court of the prison, and that they should giue him dayly a piece of bread out of the Bakers street vntill all the i bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the request of Ebed-melech, the king commanded Ieremiah to be brought foorth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah sheweth the king how he might escape death.

THen Shephatiah the sonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the sonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the sonne of a Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus sayeth the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shall die by the sword, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shall liue: for he shall haue his life for b a pray, and shall liue.

3 Thus sayeth the Lord, This citie shall surely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels armie, which shall take it.

4 Therefore the Princes sayde vnto the King, We beseech you, let this man be put to death: for thus he ‖ weakeneth the hands of the men of warre c that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiah the king said, Behold, hee is in your handes, for the king can d nothing.

6 Then tooke they Ieremiah, and cast him into the dungeon of Malchiah the sonne of Hammelech, that was in the court of the prison, and they let downe Ieremiah with cordes: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: so Ieremiah stacke fast in the mire.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the ‡ blacke Moze, one of the Eunuches, which was in the kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the king sate in the e gate of Beniamin)

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings house, and spake to the king, saying,

9 My lord the king, f these men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue cast into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commaunded Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, saying, Take from hence thirtie men ‡ with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the house of the king vnder the treasury, and tooke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by cordes into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moze sayde vnto Ieremiah, Put nowe these olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine armeholes, betweene the cordes. And Ieremiah did so.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiah with cordes, and tooke him vp out of the dungeon dungeon, and Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him into the third entrie that is in the house of the Lorde, and the king said vnto Jeremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremiah saide to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay mee? and if I giue thee counsell thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king sware secretly vnto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then saide Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus saith the Lorde God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the king of Babels h princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not bee burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

h And yeeld thy selfe vnto them.

18 But if thou wilt not goe foorth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king saide vnto Jeremiah, I am carefull for the Jewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer me into their hands, and they i mocke me.

i Which declareth that he more feared the reproch of men, then the threatnings of God.

20 But Jeremiah saide, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lorde, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it bee well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe foorth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed me.

22 And beholde, all the women that are k left in the king of Iudahs house shall bee brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee, thy feete are fastened in the myre, and they are turned backe.

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caried away, these women of the kings house were left: which shalbe taken, saith the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friends and false prophets, which haue left him in the mire.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to bee burnt with fire.

24 Then sayd Zedekiah vnto Jeremiah, Let no man know of these wordes, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the king said vnto thee, l Herein appeareth the infirmity of the Prophet, who did dissemble, to saue his life, albeit it was not to the destruction of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly l besought the king that hee would not cause me to returne to Jehonathans house to die there.

27 Then came all the Princes vnto Jeremiah and asked him. And hee tolde them according to all these wordes that the king had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Jerusalem was taken: and he was there, when Jerusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchadnezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing, is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Jeremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebed melech is deliuered from captiuitie.

IN the ninth yere of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in the tenth moneth, came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel and all his hoste against Jerusalem, and they besieged it. 2. King. 25. 2. chap. 52. 4.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken m vp.

m The gates and walles were broken downe.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and sat in the middle gate, euen Nergal-Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Nergal-Sharezer, Rab-mag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Iudah sawe them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the n gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernes.

n Which was a posterne doore, reade 2. Kings 25. 4.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto o Riblah in the lande of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

o Which is called Antiochia in Syria.

6 Then the king of Babel slewe the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Iudah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to carry him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem.

‖Or, captaine of the gard.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward carried away captiue into Babell the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him with the rest of the people that remained.

d For the rich and the mightie which put their trust in their thirsts & meanes, were by Gods iust iudgements most rigorously handled.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the p poore that had nothing, in the lande of Iudah, and gaue them vineyards and fields at the same time.

11 Now Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel gaue charge concerning Jeremiah ‡ vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward saying, ‡ Hebr. set thine eyes vpon him.

12 Take him, and ‡ looke well to him and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him euen as he shall say vnto thee.

e Thus God preserued his Prophet by his meanes, whom he made the scourge to punish the king, and them that were his enemies.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rab-saris, and Nergal-Sharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babels princes:

14 Euen they sent, and tooke Ieremiah out of the court of the prison, and committed him vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, that hee should carry him home: so he dwelt among the people.

15 Now the word of the LORD came vnto Ieremiah, while he was shut vp in the court of the prison, saying, 16 Goe and speake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, saying, Thus saith the LORDE of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will bring my words vpon this citie for euill, and not for good, and they shalbe accomplished in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, saith the Lord, & thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whom thou fearest.

18 For I will surely deliuer thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword, but thy life shall bee for a prey vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

f Whom the King of Babel had now appointed gouernour ouer the rest of the Iewes that he left behinde, g Thus God recompenseth his zeale and fauour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles,

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither hee will. 6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe word which came to Ieremiah from the LORDE after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had let him goe from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Ierusalem and Iudah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 a And the chiefe steward tooke Ieremiah, and sayde vnto him, The LORDE thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Nowe the LORDE hath brought it, and done according as hee hath said: because ye haue b sinned against the LORD, and haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And nowe beholde, I loose thee this day from the chaines which were on thine hands: if it please thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will looke well vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with mee into Babel, † tary still: beholde, all the lande is ‖ before thee: whither it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet hee was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, whom the king of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe wheresoeuer it pleaseth thee to goe. So the chiefe Steward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Ieremiah vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, to c Mizpah, & dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Nowe when all the captaines of the hoste, d which were in the fields, euen they and their men heard, that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the lande, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen e Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and Iohanan, and Ionathan the sonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehumeth, and the sonnes of Ephai, the Netophathite, and Iezaniah the sonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan ‖ sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the lande, and serue the king of Babel, and it shall bee well with you.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to ‖ serue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and summer fruits, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities, that ye haue ‖ taken.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in f Moab, & among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the king of Babel had left a remnant in Iudah, and that hee had set ouer them Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Iudah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruits, very much.

13 Moreouer Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that g Baalis the king of the Ammonites, hath sent Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah to slay thee? but Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

15 Then Iohanan the sonne of Kareah spake to Gedaliah in Mizpah secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I will slay Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and no man shall know it. Wherefore should he kill thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, should be scattered, and the remnant in Iudah perish?

16 But Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam sayde vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, Thou shalt h not doe this thing: for thou speakest falsly of Ishmael.

2 From this second verse, vnto chap. 42.7. it seemeth to be as a parenthesis, and separated matter: and there this storie beginneth againe, and this vision is declared what it was.

b God mooued this infidel to speake this, to declare the great blindnesse and obstinacie of the Iewes, which could not feele that which this heathen man confessed.

2 Ishmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Ishmael.

BUt in the a seuenth moneth came Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Elishama of the seed royall, and the princes of the b king, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did c eate bread together in Mizpah.

with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were founde there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with d offrings and incense in their handes to offer in the house of the Lord.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as hee went: & when he met them, he saide vnto them, Come to e Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the citie, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the middest of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that saide vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the fielde, of wheate, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so hee stayed, and slewe them not among their brethren.

9 Nowe the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom hee had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the king had f made because of Baasha king of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the g captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of al the euil that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, 12 Then they all tooke their men, & went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and founde him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, sawe Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned, and came againe, and went vnto Iohanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Iohanan with eight men, and went to the h Ammonites.

16 Then tooke Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that hee had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth i Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, whom the king of Babel made gouernour in the land.

d For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, and therefore came vp to the feast of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorow.

e For his death was kept secret, and hee fained that he lamented for the destruction of Ierusalem, and the Temple: but after slew them when they seemed to fauour Gedaliah.

1 The captaines aske counsell of Ieremiah what they ought to doe. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hothaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came,

2 And said vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, a Heare our prayer, wee beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for we are left but a fewe of many, as thine eyes doe behold)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may b doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lorde your God, according to your words, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shall answer you, I will declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

5 Then they saide to Ieremiah, c The Lorde be a witnesse of truth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things, for the which the Lorde thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euil, we will obey the voyce of the Lord our God, to whom we send thee, that it may be well with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

8 Then called hee Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most,

16 Then the sworde that ye feared, f shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which yee care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall ye die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt to dwell there shall die by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shal remaine nor escape from the plague, that I wil bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath beene powred foorth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath be powred foorth vpon you, when ye shall enter into Egypt, and ye shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproch, and yee shall see this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath saide concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainely that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye h dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lorde your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto al that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

NOw when Ieremiah had made an ende of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lorde their God had sent him to them, euen all these words,

2 Then spake k Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Careah, and all the l proud men, saying, vnto Ieremiah, m Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath n not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah o prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carry vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Careah, and al the captaines of the hoste, and al the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwel in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Careah, and all the captaines of the hoste tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned frō all p nations, whither they had bene driuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and euery person that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe Reuarde had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah q the Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lorde: thus came they to r Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and s hide them in the clay in the bricke kill, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah,

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will sende and bring Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel t my seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his pauilion ouer them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: u such as are appointed for death to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burne them, and carry them away captiues, and he shall array himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a x shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 He shall breake also the images of Beth-shemesh, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reproueth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that sit light by the threatning of the Lord are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt, and of the Iewes therein, is prophesied.

THe worde that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the lande of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and beholde, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein, f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought themselues sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchadnezzar destroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46,25.

3 Because

g Reade Chap. 26.6, & 44.12. shewing that this should come vpon them for their infidelitie and stubburnesse.

h For you were fully minded to goe into Egypt, whatsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

i To wit, in Egypt.

k Who was also called Iezaniah, Chap. 42.1.

l This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

m When the hypocrisie of the wicked is discouered, they burst foorth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Isa. 30.10. d He sheweth what is the nature of the hypocrites: to wit, to feigne that they would obey God and imbrace his word, if they were assured that his messengers spake the truth: though indeed they be most far from all obedience.

e Thus the wicked doe not onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander & speake wickedly of all them that support or fauour the godly.

f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites Chap. 40,11.

m Meaning, most easily, and suddenly shall he cary the Egyptians away.

n Or, the house of the sunne.

a These were all famous & strong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes that were fled, dwelt for their safetie: but the Prophet declareth that these haue no hold to stay, that can preserue them from Gods vengeance,

3 Because

3 Because of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke me to anger, in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whom they knewe not, neither they, nor you nor yours fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets [b] rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh doe not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and wasted, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither ye be gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the [d] kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednes, and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streets of Ierusalem?

10 They are not [e] humbled vnto this day neither haue they feared nor walked in my Law nor in my Statutes, that I set before you, and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I will set my face against you [f] to euill, and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that [g] haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all bee consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall bee a detestation, and an astonishment, and a [i] curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah to the which they [k] haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shall returne, but [l] such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, [m] all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the name of the Lorde, wee will [n] not heare it of thee,

17 But we will do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our own mouth, as to burne incense vnto [o] the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as wee haue done, both wee and our fathers, our Kings and our Princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then [p] had we [q] plentie of vittailes and were well and [r] felt none euill.

18 But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had [s] scarcenesse of all things, and haue beene consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incense to the Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did wee make her cakes to [t] make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without [u] our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lorde remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and [x] hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your lande desolate and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because yee haue burnt incense, and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lorde, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer, Ieremiah sayde vnto all the people, and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lorde, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lorde of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Yee and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your [y] hande, saying, Wee will performe our vowes that wee haue vowed to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowes, and doe the things that yee haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue [z] sworne by my great Name, sayeth the Lorde, that my Name n This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therefore, that God hath a perpetuall care ouer his, whersoeuer they are scattered: for though they be but two or three, yet he will deliuer them when he destroyeth his enemies.
p He sheweth the meanes whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of the certeinty of the plague, and yet they remaine still in their obstinacie till they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10. de Antiq cap. 11. writeth, that fiue yeere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchadnezzar the yoonger, hauing ouercome the Moabites and the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the king, and so brought these Iewes, and other into Babylon.

[n] shall no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.
27 Beholde, I will watch ouer them for euill and not for good, and all men of Iudah that are in the land of Egypt, shall be consumed by the sword, and by the famine, vntil they be vtterly destroyed.
28 Yet a small number that escape the sworde, [o] shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the lande of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall knowe whose wordes shall stand, mine or theirs.
29 And this shall bee a signe vnto you, sayeth the Lorde, when I visit you in this place, that ye may know that my words shal surely stand against you for euill.
30 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will [p] giue Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah king of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchadrezzar king of Babel his enemy, who also sought his life.

1 Ieremiah comforteth Baruch, assuring him that he should not perish in the destruction of Ierusalem.

THE word that Ieremiah the Prophet spake vnto [a] Baruch the sonne of Neriah, when he had written these [b] wordes in a booke at the mouth of Ieremiah, in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, saying,
2 Thus sayeth the Lorde God of Israel vnto thee, O Baruch,
3 Thou diddest say, Woe is mee now, for the Lord hath layed sorrow vnto my sorrow: I [c] fainted in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.
4 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lorde sayeth thus, Beholde, that which I haue built, will I [d] destroy, and that which I haue planted, will I plucke vp, euen this whole land.
5 And seekest [e] thou great things for thy selfe? seeke them not: for beholde, I will bring a plague vpon all flesh, sayeth the Lord: but thy life will I giue thee for a pray in all places, whither thou goest.

1 Her prophesieth the destruction of Egypt. 27 deliuerance is promised to Israel.

2 As against Egypt, against the army of [b] Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt, which was by the riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah.
3 [c] Make ready buckler and shield, and go forth to battell.
4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your sallets, furbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.
5 [d] Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mightie men are smitten, & are fled away, & looke not backe: for feare was round about, sayth the Lord.
6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shall stumble, and fall toward the [e] North by the riuer Perath.
7 Who is this, that commeth vp as a flood, whose waters are mooued like the riuers?
8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are mooued like the riuers, and hee sayth, I will go vp, and will couer the earth: I will destroy the city with them that dwell therein.
9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage yee charets, and let the valiant men come forth, & the blacke Mores, and the Lybians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.
10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, and a day of vengeance, that hee may auenge him of his enemies: for the sworde shall deuoure, and it shall bee satiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hostes hath [f] a sacrifice in the North countrey by the riuer Perath.
11 Go vp vnto Gilead, [g] and take balme, O [h] virgin, the daughter of Egypt: in vaine shalt thou vse many medicines: for thou shalt haue no health.

14 Publish in Egypt, and declare in Migdol, and proclaime in Noph, and in Tahpanhes, and say, Stand still, and prepare thee: for the sword shall deuoure round about thee.
15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? they could not stand, because the Lord did driue them.
16 He made many to fall, & one fell vpon another: and they sayd, Arise, let vs go againe to our owne people, and to the land of our nativitie from the sword of the violent.
17 They did cry there, Pharaoh King of Egypt, and of a great multitude [i] hath passed the time appointed.
18 As I liue, saith the king, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, Surely as Tabor is in the mountaines, and as Carmel is in the sea: so shall it come.

22 The voyce thereof shall goe forth like a f serpent: for they shall march with an armie, and come against t her with axes, as hewers of wood.
23 They shal cut downe u her forest, (sayth the Lord:) for they cannot bee counted, because they are more then the x grashoppers, and are innumerable.
24 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: she shalbe deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.
25 ¶ Thus saieth the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I wil visit the y common people of No, and Pharaoh, & Egypt, with their gods and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him, 26 And I wil deliuer thē into the hands of those that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and into the hands of his seruants, and afterward she shal dwell as z in the olde time, saith the Lord.

28 Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, sayth the Lord: for I am with thee, & I will vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vtterly destroy thee, but correct b thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

CHAP. XLVII.

The worde of the Lord against the Philistims.

THe wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, against the Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote a Azzah.
2 Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, waters rise vp out of the b North, and shall bee as a swelling flood, and shal ouerflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle.
3 At the noise and stamping of the hoofes of his strong horses, at the noyse of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: the fathers shall not c looke backe to their children, for feeblenesse of d hands,
4 Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, & to destroy Tyrus and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the ile of e Caphtor.

6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long wil it be or thou cease? turne againe into thy scaberd, rest and be still.
7 How can it b cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath he appointed it.

f They haue pulled off their haire for sorow & heauinesse.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The word of the Lord against the Moabites, 26 Because of their pride and cruelitie.

COncerning Moab, thus sayth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto a Nebo, for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afrayd.
2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euil against it. b Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also thou shalt be destroyed, c O Madmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.
3 A voyce of crying shalbe from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.
4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones haue caused their cry to be heard.
5 For at the going vp of d Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction,
6 Flee and saue your liues, and bee like vnto the e heath in the wildernesse.
7 For because thou hast trusted in thy f workes, and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and g Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuitie with his priests and his princes together.
8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no city shal escape: the valley also shal perish, and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.
9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee & get away: for the cities thereof shal be desolate, without any to dwell therein.
10 h Cursed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord ‖ negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood.
11 Moab hath bin at rest from his youth, and he hath setled on his lees, and hath not bene i powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath bee gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him, and his sente is not changed.

g Both thy great idole, and his maintainers shall be led away captiues, so that they shall then know that it is in vaine to looke for help at idols, Isa. 15. 2.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, & behold: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 m Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste,

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon and vpon Iahazah, and vpon Mephaath, 27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though hee had bene found among theeues? for whē thou speakest of him, thou art p moued.

28 O ye that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwel in the rocks, and be like the doue, that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 q Wee haue heard the pride of Moab (hee is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, ‖ but it shall not be so: and his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

31 r Therefore will I howle for Moab, and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weepe for thee, as I wept for Jazer: thy plantes are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea of Jazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy vintage, 33 And ioy, and gladnesse is taken from the plentiful field & from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shalbe no shouting.

34 From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elealeh, and vnto Jahaz haue they made their noyse: from Zoar vnto Horonaim, the s heifer of three yeere old shall goe lowing: for the waters also of Nimrim shalbe wasted.

35 Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a t shaume, and mine heart shall sound like a shaume for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that hee hath gotten, is perished.

37 u For euery head shall bee balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.

38 And mourning shall be vpon all the house tops of Moab and in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is hee destroyed? how hath Moab turned the backe with shame? so shall Moab be a derision, and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, x he shal flee as an eagle, & shall spread his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are wonne, & the mighty mens hearts in Moab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

42 And Moab shalbe destroyed from being a people, because he hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 y Feare, and pit and snare shalbe vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, and he that getteth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, even vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled, stood vnder the shadow z of Heshbon, because of the force: for a fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of b Chemoish perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters ledde into captiuitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the c latter dayes, saith the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgemēt of Moab.

CHAP. XLIX.

1 The wordes of the Lorde against the Ammonites, 7 Idumea, 23 Damascus, 28 Kedar, 34 and Elam.

VNto the children of a Ammon thus saith the Lorde, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath hee none heire? Why then hath their b king possessed Gad? and his people dwelt in c his cities?

2 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will cause a noyse of warre k As the calfe of Beth-el was not able to deliuer the Israelites: no more shal Chemoish deliuer the Moabites.

‖ How are they destroyed that put their trust in their strength and riches, m Thus they that flee, shall answere, n That is, his power and strength.

o He willed the Caldeans to lay afflictions ynow vpon them, till they be like drunken men that fall downe to their shame and are derided of all.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: crie ye daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackecloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges: for their king shall goe into captiuitie, and his Priestes, and his Princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the e valleys? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: thee trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?

5 Beholde, I will bring a f feare vpon thee, sayeth the Lorde God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shall be scattered euery man g right foorth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And h afterward I will bring againe the captiuitie of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Is wisedome no more in i Teman? Is counsell perished from their children? Is their wisedome vanished?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan (k they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

9 If the l grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue inough.

10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and hee shall not bee able to hide himselfe: his seede is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, 11 Leaue thy m fatherlesse children, and I will preserue them alive, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus sayth the Lorde, n Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cup, haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not goe free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, sayth the Lord, that o Bozrah shall be waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against p her, and rise vp to the battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy f feare, and the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the Eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof, 18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saith the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Beholde, q he shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I will make [him] to rest, euen I will make r him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoynt against her? for who is like me? and who will appoynt me the time? and who is the s shepheard that will stand before me?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least t of the flocke shall draw them out: surely u hee shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is mooued at the noyse of their fall: the cry of their voyce is heard in the red sea.

22 Beholde, he shall come vp, and flie as the eagle, x and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, and at that day shall the heart of the strong men of Edom bee as the heart of a woman in trauell

23 ¶ Vnto y Damascus he sayth, Hamath is confounded and Arpad, for they haue heard euil tidings, z they are faint hearted as one on the fearefull sea that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, and turneth her selfe to flight, x and feare hath seased her: anguish and sorowes haue taken her as a woman in trauell.

25 How is the glorious a citie not reserued, the citie of my ioy?

26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe cut off in that day, sayth the Lord of hostes.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of b Ben-hadad.

28 ¶ Vnto c Kedar, and to the kingdomes of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel shall smite, thus sayeth the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tentes and their flockes shall they take away: yea, they shal take to themselues their d curtaines, and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off (e they haue consulted to dwell) O ye inhabitants of Hazor, sayth the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 f Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthie nation, that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue neither gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shalbe a booty, & the multitude of their cattell a spoile, and I will scatter them into all windes, g to the vtmost corners, and I will bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

b Who was king of Syria, 1. King. 20. 26 and had built these palaces, which were still called the palaces of Benhadad.

c Meaning, the Arabians, and their borderers, d Because they vsed to dwell in tents, he nameth the things that perteine thereunto.

e The enemies will dwell in your places.

f He sheweth that they of Hazor wil seeke to the Arabians for succour, but that shall not auaile them, g That is, Persia, so called of Elam the sonne of Shem.

33 And

h Because the Persians were good archers, he sheweth that the thing wherein they put their trust, should not profite them.

i I will place Nebuchad-nezzar there. And in these prophesies Ieremiah speaketh of those countreys, which should be subdued vnder the first of those foure monarchies whereof Daniel maketh mention.

k This may be referred to the empire of the Persians and Medes after the Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap. 48. 47.

33 And Hazor shall be a dwelling for dragons, and desolation for euer: there shall no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 ¶ The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet, concerning g Elam, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah king of Iudah, saying, 35 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, Behold, I will breake the h bow of Elam, euen the chiefe of their strength.

36 And vpon Elam I will bring the foure windes from the foure quarters of heauen, & will scatter them towards all these winds, and there shall be no nation, whither the fugitiues of Elam shall not come.

37 For I will cause Elam to be afraide before their enemies, and before them that seeke their liues, and wil bring vpon them a plague, euen the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I will send the sword after them till I haue consumed them.

38 And I will set my i throne in Elam, and I will destroy both the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but k in the latter dayes I will bring againe the captiuitie of Elam, saith the Lord.

CHAP. L.

He propheseith the destruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ‡ ministerie of Ieremiah the Prophet.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, a Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, b Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

a After that God hath vsed the Babylonians seruice to punish other nations, he sheweth that their turne shall come to be punished.

b These were two of their chiefe idoles.

3 For out of the North there c commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwel therein: they shall flee, and depart, both man & beast.

c To wit, the Medes and the Persians.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall d come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and e weeping shall they goe, and seeke the Lord their God.

d When Cyrus shall take Babel. e Reade Chap. 31. 9.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetual couenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath beene as lost sheepe: their f shepheards haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from g mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

f Their gouernours and ministers by their examples haue prouoked them to idolatrie.

g They haue committed idolatrie in euery place.

7 All that found them, haue deuoured them, and their enemies sayd, We offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, h the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

h For the Lord dwelt among them in his Temple, and would haue maintained them by his iustice against their enemies.

8 i Flee from the middes of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goates k before the flocke.

i When God shall deliuer you by Cyrus.

k That is, most forward, and without feare.

9 For loe, I will raise, & cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and they shall set themselues in aray against her, whereby she shall be taken: their arrowes shall be as of a strong man, which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoyle: all that spoyle her, l shall bee satisfied, sayeth the Lord.

l Shall be made rich thereby.

11 Because yee were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fat, as the calues in the grasse, m and neyed like strong horses, m For ioy of the victorie, that ye had against my people.

12 Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and she that bare you, shall bee ashamed: beholde, the vttermost of the nations shall be a desart, a dyie land, and a wildernesse.

n In signe of contempt and disdaine.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord, it shall not be inhabited, but shall be wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shall be astonished, and n hisse at all her plagues.

o He speaketh to the enemies the Medes and Persians.

14 o Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all yee that bend the bow, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath p sinned against the Lord.

p Though the Lord called the Babylonians his seruants, & their worke, his worke, in punishing his people, yet because they did it not to glorifie God, but for their owne malice, and to profite themselues, it is here called sinne.

15 Crie against her round about: shee hath ‖ giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as shee hath done, doe vnto her.

‖ Or, yeelded, or, made peace.

16 Destroy the q sower from Babel, and him, that handleth the sithe in the time of haruest: because of the sword of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

q Destroy her so that none be left to labour the ground, or to take the fruite thereof.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lyons haue dispersed them: first the King r of Assur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broken s his bones.

r Meaning, Tiglath-Pelezar, who caried away the ten tribes.

s He caried away the rest, to wit, Iudah, and Beniamin.

18 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I wil visite the King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Assur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: hee shall feede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shalbe satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lorde, the iniquitie of Israel shall be sought for, and there shall be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will be mercifull vnto them, whom I reserue.

t That is, Babylon: thus the Lord raiseth vp Cyrus.

21 Goe vp against the lande of the t rebels, euen against it, and against the inhabitants * of ‖ Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, sayeth the Lorde, and doe according to all that I haue commaunded thee.

*Ezek. 23. 23.

‖ Or, of them that should be visited.

22 A crie of battell is in the lande, and of great destruction.

23 Howe is the u hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken! howe is Babel become desolate among the nations!

u Nebuchad-nezzar, who had smitten downe all the princes, and people of the world.

24 I haue

24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art found, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord.

25 The Lorde hath opened his treasure, and hath brought foorth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in the land of the Caldeans.

26 Come against her ‡from the vtmost border: open her store houses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroy her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.

x Her princes and mightie men.

27 Destroy all her x bullockes: let them goe downe to the slaughter. Wo vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.

y Of the Iewes which should be deliuered by Cyrus, 28 The voyce of them that y flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to destroy in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.

Rom. 12. 6.

29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all yee that bend the bowe, besiege it round about: let none thereof escape: * recompense her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, doe vnto her: for she hath bene proud against the Lorde, euen against the holy one of Israel.

30 Therefore shall her yong men fall in the streetes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.

31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, sayeth the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, euen the time that I will visite thee.

x He sheweth that when God executeth his iudgements against his enemies, that his Church shal then haue rest.

32 And the proud shall stumble and fall, and none shall rayse him vp: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shal deuoure all round about him.

33 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that tooke them captiues, helde them, and would not let them goe.

a For Cyrus did cut the riuer Euphrates, and diuided the course thereof into many streames, so that it might be passed ouer as though there had bene no water: which thing he did by the counsel of two of Belshazzars captaines, who conspired against their king, because he had gelded the one of them in despite, and slaine the sonne of the other.

34 But their strong Redeemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, hee shall maintaine their cause, that hee may giue rest to the land, a and disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.

35 A sworde is vpon the Caldeans, sayth the Lorde, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men.

36 A sworde is vpon the ‡ soothsayers, and they shall dote: a sworde is vpon her strong men, and they shalbe afrayd.

37 A sworde is vpon their horses, and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and they shall be like women: a sworde is vpon her treasures, and they shall be spoyled.

b Reade Ier. 23. 32.

38 A a drought is vpon her waters, and they shall be dried vp: for it is the lande of grauen images, and they dote vpon their idoles.

‡Ebr. the Dimms.

39 Therefore the b Dimms with the Iims shall dwell there, and the ‡ ostriches shall dwell therin: for it shall be no more inhabited, neither shall it be inhabited from generation vnto generation.

Gene. 19. 24. Iob. 18. 15.

40 As God destroyed * Sodom and Gomorah with the places thereof neere about, sayeth the Lord: so shall no man dwell there, neither shall the sonne of man remaine therein.

41 ¶ Beholde, a people shall come from the North, and a great nation, and many kings shall be raised vp from c the coasts of the earth.

c Meaning, that the Persians should gather their armie of many nations.

42 They shall holde the bowe and the buckler: they are cruell and vnmercifull: their voyce shall roare like the sea, and they shall ride vpon horses, and be put in aray like men to the battell against thee, O daughter of Babel.

43 The king of Babel hath heard the report of them, and his handes d waxed feeble: sorowe came vpon him, euen sorowe as of a woman in trauaile.

d Which is meant of Belshazzar, Dan. 5. 6.

44 Behold, he * shall come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong habitation: for I will make Israel to rest, and I will make them to haste away from her: e who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like mee, and who will appoint mee the time, and who is the * shepheard that will stand before me?

e Read Chap. 49. 19.

45 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Babel, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the land of the Caldeans: surely the least of the flocke shal drawe them out: surely hee shall make their habitation desolate with them.

46 At the noyse of the winning of Babel the earth is moued, and the cry is heard among the nations.

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 43 The vanitie of idolatrie. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Shereiah.

THus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying a winde, a The Medes & Persians that shall destroy them as the winde doeth the chaffe.

‖ Or, of the land that riseth vp.

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, and shall emptie her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her on euery side.

b Though they were forsaken for a time, yet they were not vtterly cast off as though their husband were dead.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her hoste.

c He sheweth by there remaineth nothing for them that abide in Babylon, but destruction. Chap. 17. 6. and 48. 6.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her streetes.

5 For Israel hath bene no b widow, nor Iudah from his God, from the Lorde of hostes, though their land was filled with sinne against the Holy one of Israel.

d By whom the Lord powred out the drinke of his vengeance to whom it pleased him.

6 ¶ c Flee out of the mids of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: bee not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he will render vnto her a recompense.

e For the great afflictions y they haue felt by the Babylonians. Isa. 21. 9. Reuel. 14. 8.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cup in the d Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore doe the nations e rage.

8 * Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

10 The Lorde hath brought foorth our g righteouſneſſe: come and let vs declare in Zion the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather the ſhields: the Lord hath raiſed vp the ſpirit of the king of the Medes: for his purpoſe is againſt Babel to deſtroy it, becauſe it is the h vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the ſtandard vpon the walles of Babel, make the watch ſtrong: ſet vp the watchmen: prepare the ſkoutes: for the Lorde hath both deuiſed, and done that which hee ſpake againſt the inhabitants of Babel.

16 Yet giueth he by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he cauſeth the cloudes to aſcende from the endes of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth foorth the winde out of his treaſuries.

17 Euery man is a beaſt by his owne k knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falſhood, and there is no breath therein.

18 They are vanitie, and the worke of errours: in the time of their l viſitation they ſhall perith.

19 The m portion of Iaakob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lorde of hoſtes is his Name.

20 Thou art my * hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I deſtroy kingdomes, 21 And by thee will I breake horſe and horſeman, and by thee will I breake the charet and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee alſo will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and yong, and by thee will I breake the yong man and the maide.

23 I will alſo breake by thee the ſhepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the huſbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the dukes and princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euill, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your ſight, ſayth the Lord.

25 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O deſtroying * mountaine, ſayth the Lord, which deſtroyeſt all the earth: and I will ſtretch out mine hand vpon thee, and rolle thee downe p from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 They ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for a corner, nor a ſtone for ſoundations, but thou ſhalt bee deſtroyed for euer, ſayth the Lord.

27 Set vp a ſtandard in the land: blowe the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations againſt her: call vp the kingdomes of q Ararat, Minni, and Aſchenaz againſt her: appoint the prince againſt her: cauſe horſes to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare againſt her the nations with the kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land ſhall tremble and ſorow: for the deuice of the Lorde ſhall be performed againſt Babel, to make the land of Babel waſte without an inhabitant.

30 The ſtrong men of Babel haue ceaſed to fight: they haue remained in their holdes: their ſtrength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poſte ſhall runne to meete the poſte, and a meſſenger to meete the meſſenger, to ſhewe the king of Babel, that his citie is taken on a r ſide therof, 32 And that the paſſages are ſtopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus ſayth the Lorde of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, The daughter of Babel is like a threſhing floore: the time of her threſhing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her harueſt ſ ſhall come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the king of Babel hath t deuoured me, and deſtroyed mee: hee hath made me an emptie veſſel: he ſwallowed mee vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath caſt me out.

35 The ſpoyle of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, ſhall the inhabitant of Zion ſay: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, ſhall Ieruſalem ſay.

36 Therefore thus ſayeth the Lorde, Behold, I will maintaine thy * cauſe, and take vengeance for thee, and I will dryie vp the ſea, and dryie vp her ſpring.

37 And Babel ſhalbe as heapes, a dwelling place for Dragons, an aſtoniſhment, and an hiſſing, without an inhabitant.

38 They ſhall roare together like lyons, and yell as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their x heate I will make them feaſts, and I will make them drunken, that they may reioyce, and ſleepe a perpetuall ſleepe, and not wake, ſayth the Lord.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the ſlaughter, and like rammes and goates.

41 How is y Sheſhach taken! and howe is the glory of the whole earth taken! howe is Babel become an aſtoniſhment among the nations!

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which [a] he hath swalowed vp, and the nations shal run no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her, and deliuer ye euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord.

46 Least your heart faint, & ye feare the rumor, that shall be heard in the land: the rumor shall come this yeere, and after that in the other [b] yere shal come a rumor, and cruelte in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall be confounded, and all her slaine shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the [c] earth, and all that is therein, shal reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, sayeth the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the [d] slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

51 We are [f] confounded because we haue heard reproch: shame hath couered our faces, for strangers are come into the Sanctuaries of the Lords house.

52 Wherefore beholde, the dayes come, sayth the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

54 A sound of a cry commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the lande of the Caldeans, 55 Because the Lorde hath layed Babel waste, & destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noyse:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenseth, shal surely recompense.

57 And I will [h] make drunke her princes, and her wise men, her dukes and her nobles and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, sayeth the king, whose Name is the Lord of hostes.

58 Thus sayth the Lorde of hostes, The [i] thicke wall of Babel shalbe broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shall be wearie.

60 So Ieremiah wrote in a booke al the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Ieremiah sayde to Sheraiah, When thou commest vnto Babel, and shalt see, and shalt read all these words, 63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading of this booke, thou shalt bind a stone to it, and cast it in the midst of Euphrates, CHAP. LII.

4 Ierusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiah sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought forth of prison, and fed like a king.

ZEdekiah [a] was one and twentie yeere olde when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeres in Ierusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Ieremiah of Libnah.

2 And he did euil in the sight of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 [a] Doubtlesse because that the wrath of the Lorde was against Ierusalem and Iudah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

4 [b] But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, he and all his hoste against Ierusalem, and pitched against it, and built fortes against it round about.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the city, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, & went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate betweene the two wals, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernes.

8 But the armie of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Iericho, and al his host was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king and caried him vp vnto the king Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, [c] where he gaue iudgment vpon him.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah, before his eyes: he slew also al the princes of Iudah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chains, and carried him to Babel, and put him in prison, till the day of his death.

d In the 2. king. 25.8. it is called the seuenth day, because the fire began then, and so continued to the tenth.

12 Now in the fift moneth in the d tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of the King Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which e stood before the king of Babel in Jerusalem, e That is, which was his seruant, 2. King. 25.8.

13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the kings house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of f the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the walles of Jerusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, & the residue of the people that remained in the citie, and those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

f Of these pillars, read 2. king. 7.15.

17 Also the f pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lord, & the bases, and the brasen sea that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

g Which were also made of brasse, as 1. King. 7.45.

18 The pots also and therdesoms, and the instruments of smucke, & the basins, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherwith they ministred, tooke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the aiphans, and the basins, and the pots, & the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, & that was of siluer, tooke the chiefe steward away.

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen buls, that were vnder the bases, which king Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without h weight.

h It was so much in quantitie.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eightene cubites, and a threed of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thickenes therof was foure fingers; it was hollow.

22 And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with netwoorke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of brasse: the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there went ninety and sixe pomegranates on a side; and all the pomegranates vpon the netwoorke were an i hundreth round about.

i But because of the roundnesse no more could be seen but ninetie and sixe.

24 And ỳ chiefe steward tooke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah k the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

k Which serued in the hie Priests stead, if he had any necessary impediment.

25 He tooke also out of the citie an eunuch which had the ouersight of the men of warre, and l seuen men that were in the kings presence, which were found in the city, and Sopher captaine of the hoste who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the lande, that were found in the mids of the citie.

l In the 2. kings 25.19. is read but of fiue: those were the most excellent, and the other two, which were not so noble, are not there mentioned with them.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chief steward took them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the King of Babel smote them, and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Judah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

m Which was the latter end of the seuenth yeere of his reigne, and the beginning of the eight.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchad-nezzar caried away captiue, in the m seuenth yeere, euen three thousand Iewes and three and twentie.

n In the latter end also of that yeere, and the beginning of the nineteenth.

29 In the n eighteene yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar he caried away captiue from Jerusalem eight hundreth thirty & two ‡ persons.

‡ Ebr. soules.

30 In the three and twentie yeere of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and six hundreth.

o That is restored him to libertie and honour.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuitie of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the month, Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the first yeere of his reign, o lifted vp the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah, and brought him out of prison.

p And gaue him princely apparel.

32 And spake kindely vnto him, & set his throne aboue the throne of the kings, that were with him in Babel, q That is, he had allowance in the Court, and thus at length he had rest and quietnesse, because he obeyed Ieremiah the Prophet, whereas the other were cruelly ordered, that would not obey him.

33 And changed his prison p garmentes, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion was q continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life, vntil he dyed.

Lamentations.

CHAP. I.

1 The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Ierusalem, 5 And sheweth that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and second chapter begin euery verse according to the letters of the Ebrew Alphabet. The third hath three verses for euery letter, and the fourth is as the first.

a The Prophet wondereth at the great iudgement of God, seeing Jerusalem, which was so strong and so full of people, to be now destroyed & desolate,

HOw doeth a the citie remaine solitarie that was ful of people? she is as b widdow: she that was great among the nations, and b princesse among the prouinces, is made tributarie.

b Which had chiefe rule ouer many prouinces and countries.

2 She weepeth continually in the night, and her teares run downe by her cheekes: among all her c louers, she hath none to comfort her: all her friendes haue delt vnfaithfully with her, and are her enemies.

c So that she taketh no rest.

3 Judah is caried away captiue, because of affliction, and because of great seruitude: she dwelleth among the heathen, and findeth no rest: all her persecuters tooke her in the straites.

no man commeth f to the solemne feasts: all her gates are desolate: her Priestes sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and shee is in ‡ heauinesse.

5 Her aduersaries g are the chiefe, & her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her, for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed: her princes are become h like Harts that finde no pasture, and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, & all her pleasant things, that shee had in times past, when her people i fell into the hande of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries saw her, and did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned, therefore she is ‖ in derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, she sigheth and turneth backeward.

9 l Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembred not her last ende, therefore shee came downe wonderfully: shee had no comforter: O Lord, beholde mine affliction: for the enemie ‡ is proud.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hande vpon all her pleasant things: for shee hath seene the Heathen enter into her Sanctuarie, whome m thou diddest commaund, that they should not enter into thy Church.

17 Zion stretcheth out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lorde hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob round about him: Ierusalem is r as a menstruous woman in the mids of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his ‡ commandement: heare, I pray you, all people, and beholde my sorowe: my virgines and my young men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the city while they sought their meat to refresh their soules.

20 Beholde, O Lorde, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heauinesse: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord a darkned the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footestoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob, and not spared: hee hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudah: hee hath cast them downe to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: he hath drawen backe his e right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 Hee f hath bent his bowe like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersary, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemie: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: hee hath destroyed his strong holdes, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For hee hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden, he hath destroyed his congregation: the Lord hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: he hath abhorred his Sanctuarie: hee hath giuen into the hand of the enemie the walles of her palaces: they haue made a g noyse in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a line: he hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore hee made 11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children & sucklings ‖ swoone in the streetes of the citie.

13 i What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? What thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 The prophets haue k looked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false ‖ prophesies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clappe their handes at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beauty, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainely this is the day that we looked for: we haue found and seene it.

17 * The Lord hath done that which hee had purposed: hee hath fulfilled his worde that hee had determined of old time: he hath throwen downe, and not spared: hee hath caused thine enemie to reioice ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart * cryed vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, crie in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lorde: lift vp thine handes toward him for the life of thy young children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streetes.

20 Behold, O Lord, & consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruit, and children of a ‖ span long? shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

I Am the man that hath seene a affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darkenesse, but not to light.

3 Surely her is turned against me: her turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skin hath he caused to ware olde and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath b builded against me, and compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath hedged about mee, that I can not get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crie and shout, he shutteth out my c prayer.

9 He hath d stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

10 e He was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lion in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my wayes, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bowe, and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused ✣ the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternesse, and made me drunken with f wormwood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie.

18 And I sayd, My strength and mine hope g is perished from the Lord, 20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled h in me.

The prayer of Ieremiah.

REmember, O Lord, what is come vpon vs: [a] consider, and behold our reproch.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliants.

3 Wee are fatherlesse, euen without father, and our mothers are as widowes.

4 Wee haue dunke our [b] water for money, and our wood is sold vnto vs.

5 Our necks are vnder persecution: we are weare, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our [c] hands to the Egyptians, and to Assyr, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their [d] iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none would deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 Wee gate our bread with the perill of our liues, because of the [e] sword of the wildernesse.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen, because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Zion, and the maydes in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by [f] their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They tooke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder [g] the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the [h] gate, and the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioy of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: woe now vnto vs that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauie for these things, our [i] eyes are dimme, 18 Because of the mountaine of Zion which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 But thou, O Lord, remainest for [k] euer: thy throne is from generation to generation.

20 Wherefore dorst thou forget vs for euer, and forsake vs so long time?

21 [l] Turne thou vs vnto thee, O Lord, and we shall be turned: renue our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angry against vs.

a This prayer as is thought, was made when some of the people were caried away captiue, others, as the poorest, remained, and some went into Egypt and other places for succour: albeit it seemeth that the Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage.

Ezekiel.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that Iehoiachin by the counsell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himselfe to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes and of the people, certaine beganne to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counsell, as though the thing which they had prophesied should not come to passe, and therefore their estate should bee still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophesies, declaring by newe visions and reuelations shewed vnto him, that the citie should most certainely be destroyed, and the people grieuously tormented by Gods plagues, in so much that they that remained, should be brought into cruell bondage. And lest the godly should despaire in their great troubles, hee assureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other should chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whom in this Booke are many notable promises, and in whom the glory of the new Temple should perfectly be restored. Hee prophesied these things in Caldea, at the same time that Ieremiah prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Ezekiel prophesied, and in what place. 3 His kinred. 5 The vision of the foure beastes. 26 The vision of the throne.

IT came to passe in the a thirtieth yeere in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captives by the riuer b Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I saw visions of c God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of King Ioiachins captivitie)

3 The worde of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the d hand of the Lorde was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, e a whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloude and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnesse was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenesse of f amber.

5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likenesse of foure f beastes, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were streight feete, and the sole of their feete was like the sole of a calues foote, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foure partes of them, and they four had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were g ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went foorth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as h the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right side, & they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their ‡ spirite led them, and they returned not when they went foorth.

13 The similitude also of the beastes and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beastes, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ranne, and i returned like vnto lightening.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beastes, beholde, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The facion of the wheels, and their worke was like vnto a k chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their facion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also l rings, and height, and were fearefull to behold, and their rings were full of eyes, round about them foure.

19 And when the beastes went, the wheeles went with them: & when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirite led them, they went, & thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheeles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stoode, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderfull, like vnto chrystall, spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which couered them, and euery one had two, which couered their bodies.

24 And when they went foorth, I heard the noyse of their l wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almightie, euen the voice of speech, as the noise of an hoste: and when they stoode, they m let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a saphire stone, and vpon the likenesse of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I sawe as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire n round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vpwarde, and to looke to, euen from his loynes downewarde, I sawe as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lorde: and when I sawe it, I fell o vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their errour.

a After that the booke of the law was found, which was the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twentie yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after saw these visions.

2 c And the Spirit entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are ‡ impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I do send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither indeede will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that d there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, e feare them not, neither bee afraid of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes bee with thee, and thou remaynest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor bee afraide at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and f eate that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, an hand was sent vnto me, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, g Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: a eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as honie.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an ‡ vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel:

6 Not to many people of an vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, whose words thou canst not vnderstande: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face h strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither bee afraide at their lookes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, i receiue in thine heart all my wordes that I speake vnto thee, & heare them with thine eares, 11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, & tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeede cease.

12 Then the Spirit tooke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noise of a great rushing, saying, d Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beastes, that touched one another, and the rattling of the wheels that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, and tooke me away, and I e went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to f Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them seuen dayes.

16 And at the ende of seuen dayes, the worde of the Lorde came againe vnto mee, saying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a h watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the worde at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 (When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a i righteous man turne from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a k stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shal die in his sinne, and his l righteous deedes, which he hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuity of Israel. 16 An hunger is propheſied to come.

THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, and portray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem,
2 And lay siege against it, and builde a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it round about.
3 Moreouer, take an * yron panne, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shalbe a signe vnto the house of Israel.
4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the b house of Israel vpon it: according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.
5 For I haue layd vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the dayes, euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israel.
6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy * right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.
7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine * arme shall be vncouered, and thou shalt propheſie against it.
8 And beholde, I will lay * bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.
9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheate, and barley, & beanes, and lentiles, and millet, and ‖ fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread therof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen s three hundreth and ninetie dayes shalt thou eate therof.
10 And the meate wherof thou shalt eate, shall bee by weight, euen t twentie shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate therof.
11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the iust part of an ‖ Hin from time to time shalt thou drinke.
12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it * in the dung that commeth out of man, in their sight.
13 And the Lord sayd, So shall the children of Israel eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whither I will cast them.
14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not bene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any ‖ vncleane flesh in my mouth.
15 Then hee said vnto mee, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullocks = dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.
16 Moreouer, he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde, I will breake * the staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eate bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the doues of the valeis: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

f By these signes he would that the Prophet should signifie the great destruction to come.

g That is, all nations, when you shall see my iudgements. Chap.5.14.

h Some reade more desolate then the wildernesse of Diblath, which was in Syria, and bordered vpon Israel, or from the wildernesse, which was South vnto Diblath which was North, meaning the whole countrey.

CHAP. VII.

The ende of all the land of Israel shall suddenly come.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lord God, An ende is come vnto the land of Israel: the end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I will send my wrath vpon thee, and wil iudge thee according to thy waies, and wil lay vpon thee all [a] thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy waies vpon thee: and thine abomination shalbe in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus sayth the Lord God, ‖ Beholde, one euill, euen one euill is come.

6 An ende is come, the end is come, it [b] watcheth for thee: behold, it is come.

7 The [c] morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, & not the [d] sounding againe of the mountaines.

8 Nowe I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy waies, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy waies, and thine abominations shall bee in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the [e] rod flourisheth: [f] pride hath budded:

11 [g] Cruelty is risen vp into a rod of wickednes: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shal there be [h] lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere: let not the buier [i] reioyce, nor let him that selleth, [k] mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For the that selleth, shall not [l] returne to that which is sold, although they were yet aliue: for the [m] vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, & they returned not, [n] neither doeth any encourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 [o] They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: hee that is in the field, shal die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shall be in the mountaines, like the doues of the valeis: all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 [p] All handes shall bee weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

18 [q] They shal also gird themselues with sackcloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

19 They shal cast their siluer in [r] y streets, and their gold shall bee cast farre off: their [s] siluer and their golde cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shal not satisfie their soules, neither fil their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquity.

20 Hee had also set the beauty of his [t] ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the handes of the [u] strangers to be spoyled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my [x] secret place: for the destroyers shal enter into it, & defile it.

23 ¶ Make a [y] chaine: for the land is ful of the [z] iudgement of bloud, and the citie is full of cruelty.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, & they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mighty to cease, and their [a] holy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shal seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamitie, and rumour shalbe vpon rumour: then shall they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shal perish from the Priest, and counsel from the Ancient.

27 The king shal mourne, and the prince shalbe clothed with desolation, & the handes of the people in the land shalbe troubled: I will do vnto them according to their waies, and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

1 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the Spirit, 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

AND in the [a] sixt yere, in the [b] fift moneth, & in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before mee, the hand of the Lorde God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and lo, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of [c] fire to looke to, from his loynes downeward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And he stretched out the likenesse of an hand, & tooke me by an hairie locke of mine head, and the Spirite lift me vp betweene the earth, and the heauen, and brought mee [d] by a Diuine [e] vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner [f] gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the [g] idole of [h] indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field.

5 Then

a I will punish thee as thou hast deserued for thine idolatrie. ‖ Or, behold, euill commeth after euill.

b He sheweth y the iudgements of God euer watch to destroy sinners, which notwithstanding he delayeth till there be no more hope of repentance.

c The beginning of his punishments is already come.

d Which was a voice of ioy and mirth.

e The scourge is in a readinesse.

f That is, the proud tyrant Nebuchad-nezzar hath gathered his force & is ready.

g This cruel enemie shall bee a sharpe scourge for their wickednesse.

h Their owne affliction shalbe so great, that they shall haue no regard to lament for others.

i For the present prosite.

k For he shall lose nothing.

l In the yere of the Iubile, meaning that none should enioy the priuiledge of the Law, Leui. 25. 13. for they should all be caried away captiues.

m This vision signified, that all should be caried away, and none should returne for the Iubile.

n No man for all this endeuoureth himself, or taketh heart to repent for his euill life. Some reade, for none shalbe strengthened in his iniquitie of his life: meaning, that they should gaine nothing by flattering themselues in euill.

o The Israelites made a brag, but their hearts failed them. Isa. 13. 7. Iere. 6. 24. Isa. 13. 3. Iere. 48. 37.

p Meaning, the Sanctuary.

q That is, of the Babylonians.

r Which signifieth the most holy place, whereinto none might enter but the hie Priest.

s Signifying, that they should be bound and led away captiues.

t That is, of sinnes that deserue death.

u Which was the Temple, that was deuided into three parts, Ps. 68. 35.

a Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah.

b Which containeth part of August, and part of September.

c As Chap. 1. 27.

d Or, in the visions of God.

d Meaning, that he was thus caried in spirit, & not in body.

e Which was the porch of y court, where the people assembled.

f So called, because it prouoked Gods indignatiō, which was the idole of Baal.

g Read chap. 43. 3.

5 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift vp thine eyes nowe toward the North, So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and beholde, Northward at the gate of the [h] altar, this idole of indignation was in the entrie.

h That is, in the court where the people had made an altar to Baal.

6 He sayd furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they do? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from [i] my Sanctuary? but yet turne thee & thou shalt see greater abominations.

i For God will not be where idoles are,

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he sayd vnto me, Goe in, and behold the wicked abominations that they doe here.

10 So I went in, and sawe, and behold, there was euery similitude of creeping things and [k] abominable beastes, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

k Which were forbidden in the Law, Leuit. 11.4

11 And there stoode before them seuentie [l] men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the mids of them stood Jaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censor in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like [m] a cloud.

l Thus they that should haue kept all the rest in the feare & true seruice of God, were the ringleaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others frō God.

m It was in such abundance.

12 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel [n] doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagery? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

n For besides their common idolatry, they had particular seruice, which they had in secret chambers.

13 Againe hee sayd also vnto me, Turne thee againe, & thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entry of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold there sate women mourning for [o] Tammuz.

o The Iewes write that this was a prophet, of the idoles, who after his death was once a yeere mourned for in the night, 15 Then sayd he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, & behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne, toward the East.

17 Then he sayd vnto me, Hast thou seen this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they do here? for they haue filled the land with cruelty, and haue returned to prouoke me: and lo, they put the [p] stinke before their noses.

p Declaring that the censings, and seruice of the idolaters are but infection & villany before God.

18 Therfore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, and [q] though they crye in mine eares with a loud voyce, yet will I not heare them.

Pro. 1.28. Isa. 46. 7. ierr. 11.11. micah. 3.4.

q Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap. 8.17.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shall be saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

HE cried also with a lowd voyce in mine eares, saying, The visitations of the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

1 The time to take vengeance.

2 And behold, sixe [a] men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers [b] inkehorne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brasen altar.

a Which were Angels in the similitude of men,

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was [c] gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon hee was, and stoode on the [1] doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers inkehorne by his side.

b Signifying, that the Babylonians should come from the North to destroy the citie and the Temple.

4 And the Lorde sayde vnto him, Goe through the mids of the citie, euen through the mids of Jerusalem, and [d] set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that [e] mourne, and crie for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

c Signifying, that the glory of God would not dwell in the Temple.

5 And to the other he sayd, that I might heare, Go ye after him through the city, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

d To marke them that should be saued.

6 Destroy vtterly the old, and the yong, and the maids, and the children, & the women, but touch no man, vpon whom is the [f] mark, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the [g] Ancient men, which were before the house.

e Which declared, that he was not bound thereunto, neither would remaine any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednes, and worship him aright.

[1] Or, threshold.

[f] Or, marke with Thau.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, then goe forth: and they went out, and slew them in the city.

f He sheweth what is the manet of Gods children, whom hee marketh to saluation: to wit, to mourne & cry out against the wickednesse, which they see committed against Gods glory.

8 Now when they had slayne them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Jerusalem?

g Thus in all his plagues the Lord preserueth his small number, which he marketh, as Exod. 12. 22. reue. 7. 3. but the chiefe marke is the Spirite of adoption, wherewith the heart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.

9 Then sayd he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah is exceeding great, so that the land is full [h] of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching mee also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, but will recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linnen which had the inkehorne by his side, made report, and sayd, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

h Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap. 8.17.

i This declareth, that the seruants of God haue a compassion, when they see his iudgements executed.

k That is, with all kind of wickednesse, read Isa. 1.21.15.

CHAP. X.

1 Of the man that tooke burning coales out of the middle of the wheeles of the Cherubims. 8 A rehearsal of the vision of the wheeles, of the beastes, and of the Cherubim.

And

Chap. 1. 22.

a Which in the first chap. vers. 5. he called the foure beasts.

b This signified that the citie should be burne.

c Meaning, that the glory of God should depart from the Temple.

d Reade Chap. 1. 24.

And as I looked, beholde, in the a firmament that was above the head of the a Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a Saphir stone.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and sayd, Goe in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, & fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer b the citie. And he went in in my sight.

3 Nowe the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house, when the man went in, and the cloude filled the inner Court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord c went vp from the Cherub, and stoode ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloude, and the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glory.

5 And the d sound of ỹ Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter Court, as the voice of the Almightie God, when he speaketh.

6 And when hee had commaunded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched foorth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, the likenesse of a mans hande vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a e Chrysolite stone.

a Reade Chap. 1. 16.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had bene in another wheele.

11 When they went foorth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they f turned not as they went.

f Vntil they had executed Gods iudgements. Or, streets.

12 And their whole bodie, and their ſrings, and their handes and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub, cryed to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lyon, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

Chap. 1. 5.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: g this is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the h spirite of the beast was in them.

g There was one consent betweene the Cherubims and the wheeles.

h Reade Chap. 9. 3.

18 i Then the glorie of the Lord departed from about the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were beside them: and euery one stood at the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

Chap. 1. 15.

20 k This is the l beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knewe that they were the Cherubims.

i That is, the whole body of the foure beasts, or Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the self same, and they went euery one straight forward.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel, 5 Against those he propheseth, shewing them how they shalbe dispersed abroad, 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God. 21 How threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

Moreouer, the Spirite lift me vp, and brought me vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lyeth Eastward, and beholde, at the entry of the gate were fiue and twenty men: among whom I sawe Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errors, & therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.

2 Then sayd he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsel in this citie.

3 For they say, a It is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the b caldron, and we be the flesh.

b Wee shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, till the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sod.

4 Therefore prophesie against them, sonne of man, prophesie.

5 And the Spirit of the Lorde fell vpon me, and sayd vnto me, Speake. Thus sayth the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue yee sayde, and I knowe that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue ye murthered in this citie, and yee haue filled the streetes thereof with the slaine.

c Contrary to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murthered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, They that ye haue slaine, and haue layde in the middes of it, they are c the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the middes of it.

8 Yee haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst thereof, and deliuer you into the d handes of strangers, and will execute iudgement among you.

d That is, of the Caldeans.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword, and I will iudge you in the border of e Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

e That is, in Riblah. Reade 2. King. 25. 6.

11 This citie shall not be your caldron, neither shal ye be the flesh in the midst thereof, but I will iudge you in ỹ border of Israel.

12 And

12 And ye shal know that I am the Lord: for ye have not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgments, but have done after the manners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of [f] Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cried with a loude voyce, and sayd, Ah Lorde God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whom the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue sayde, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lorde God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreys, yet will I be to them as a litle [h] Sanctuarie in the countreys where they shall come.

17 Therefore, thus sayeth the Lorde God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where ye haue bene scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shall take away all the idoles therof, and all the abominations therof from thence.

19 * And I wil giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: and I will take the [i] stonie heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, & execute them: and they shall be my people, and I will bee their God.

21 But vpon them, whose heart is toward their idoles, and whose affection goeth after their abominations, I wil lay their way vpon their owne heads, sayth the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheeles beside them, and the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glorie of the Lorde went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountaine which is towarde the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke mee vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were [k] led away captiues, all the things that the Lords had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

1 The parable of the captiuitie, 18 Another parable whereby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuitie, and go forth by day in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou through the wall in their sight, and carry out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy shoulders, and cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a [b] signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was cõmanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hande, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house, layd vnto thee, What [c] doest thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God, This [l] burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel, that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them: they shall goe into bondage and captiuitie.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall dig through the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that hee see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon [d] him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the lande of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.

14 And I wil scatter toward every wind all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

16 But I will leaue a [e] litle number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse,

19 And say vnto the people of the lande, Thus sayth the Lorde God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with care-f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgement of God toward the rest of y people.

g They that remained stil at Ierusalem, thus reproched them that were gone into captiuitie, as though they were cast off, and forsaken of God.

h They shall be yet a litle church, shewing that the Lord will euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whom he will preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted.

i Meaning, the heart, whereunto nothing can enter, and regenerate them anew, so that their heart may be soft, and ready to receiue my graces.

k When Ieconiah was led away captiue.

a That is, they receiue not the fruite of that which they see and heare.

‡ Or, make thee vessels to goe into captiuitie.

b That as thou doest, so shall they doe, and therefore in their they shall see their owne. plague and punishment.

c Doe not they deride thy doings? ‖ Or, prophesie.

d When the King shall thinke to escape by fleeing, I will take him in my net, as Chap. 17. 20. and 32. 3.

e Which should beare his name, and should be his Church, reade Chap. 11. 16.

carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shall be desolate from her abundance, because of the cruelitie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shal be left voyde, and the land shall bee desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes f are prolonged, and all visions faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall bee any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lorde: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shal come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and will performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, beholde, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that he seeth, is for many dayes to come, and he prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, All my words shal no longer bee delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shalbe done saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

The words of the Lorde against false prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the prophets of a Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, that prophesie out of their b owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord,

3 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Woe vnto the foolish prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes b in the waste places.

5 c Ye haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battell in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanitty, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord sayeth it, and the Lorde hath not sent them: and they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? d yee say, The Lord sayeth it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, Because yee haue spoken vanitie, and haue seene lies, therefore beholde, I am against you, sayth the Lord God, 9 And mine hand shall be vpon the prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not bee in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the e writting of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, f Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a g wall, and beholde, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that ye shal fall: for there shall come a great shower, and I will send haile stones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Lo, when the wall is fallen, shal it not bee sayd vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, I will cause a stormie winde to breake forth, in my wrath and a great shower shall bee in mine anger, and haile stones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I will destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fall, and yee shall be consumed in the middes thereof, & ye shall know that I am the Lord.

15 Thus will I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with h vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophesie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, sayeth the Lord God.

17 Like wise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophesie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Woe vnto the wome that sow i pillowes vnder all armeholes, and make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will ye hunt the soules of my people, and will ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will yee pollute mee among my people for handfuls of k barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and l to giue life to the soules that should not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherewith yee hunt the m soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules go, euen the soules, that yee hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hands, and they shall be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lies yee haue made the heart of the n righteous sad, whome I f Because they did not immediatly see the prophesies accomplished, they contemned them, as though they should neuer be fulfilled. Or, take none effect.

g That is, it shall not come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benignitie.

f Reade Ierem. 6. 14.

g Whereas the true Prophets prophesied the destruction of the city to bring the people to repentance, the false prophets spake the contrary, and flattered them in their vanities, so that what one false prophet sayd, (which is here called the building of the wall) another false prophet would affirme, though he had neither occasion nor good ground to beare him.

h Whereby is meant whatsoeuer man of himselfe setteth forth vnder the authoritie of Gods word.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophesie and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon, and kerchiefes to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

k Will ye make my word to serue your bellies?

l These forcerers made the people beleeue that they could preserue life or destroy it, and that it should come to euery one according as they prophesied.

23 Therefore ye shall see no more vanitie, nor diuine diuinations: for I wil deliuer my people out of your hand, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false prophets for the ingratitude of the people, 22 He reserueth a small portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and a sate before me.

a Heesheweth the hypocrisie of the idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the prophets of God, though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also howe by one meanes or other, God doth discouer them.

2 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their b heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthie idoles openly, which leade them in blindnesse, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that he will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Ier. 11.15.

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the c Prophet, I the Lorde will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude d of his idoles:

c To inquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come to passe.

5 That e I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

d As his abomination hath deserued: that is, he shalbe led with lies: according as he delighted therein, 2. Thess. 2.10.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus sayeth the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

e That is, conuince them by their owne conscience.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lorde will answere him f for my selfe,

Or, by my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the midst of my people, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

f The Prophet declareth that God for mans ingratitude raiseth vp false prophets to seduce them that delight in lies rather then in the truth of God, and thus he punisheth sinne by sinne, 1. King. 22.20, 22. and destroyeth aswell those prophets as that people. g Thus Gods iudgements against the wicked are admonitions to the godly to cleaue vnto the Lord, and not to defile themselues with like abominations.

9 And if the prophet be g deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the midst of my people of Israel.

10 And they shal beare their punishment: the punishment of the prophet shall bee euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of Israel may goe no more astray from mee, neither bee polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may bee my people, and I may be their God, sayth the Lord God.

12 ¶ The worde o the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against me by committing a treespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, h and will breake the staffe of the bread thereof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

14 Though these three men i Noah, Daniel, & Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their k righteousnesse, saith the Lord God.

h Reade Chap. 4.16. and 5.17. Isa. 3.1.

15 If I bring noysome beastes into the land, and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe thorowe, because of beastes, i Though Noah and Iob were now aliue, which in their time were most godly men, (for at this time Daniel was in captiuitie with Ezekiel) and so these three together should pray for this wicked people, yet would I not heare them, reade Iere. 15.1.

16 Though these three men were in the midst thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shall bee deliuered, but the land shalbe waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe thorow the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, k Meaning, that a very few (which hee calleth the remnãt, ver. 39.) should escape these plagues, whom God hath sanctified and made righteous, so that this righteousnesse is a signe that they are the Church of God, whom he would preserue for his own sake.

18 Though these three men were in the middes thereof, As I liue, saith the Lorde God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they only shall bee deliuered themselues.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast,

Chap. 5.17.

20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middes of it, As I liue, saith the Lorde God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnesse.

21 For thus sayeth the Lorde God, How much more when I send my foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sword, and famine, and the noysome beast, & pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shalbe left a l remnant of them that shall be carried away both sonnes and daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and yee shall see their way, and their enterprises: and yee shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises: and yee shall know, that I haue not done without cause all that I haue done in it, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

AND the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree aboue all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the a trees of the forest?

a Which bringeth forth no fruit, no more then the other trees of the forest doe: meaning, that if Ierusalem, which bare the name of his Church did not bring forth fruit, it should be vtterly destroyed.

3 Shall wood be taken thereof to doe any worke? or will men take a pinne of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Beholde, it is cast in the fire to be consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it meet for any worke?

5 Beholde, when it was whole, it was meete meete for no worke: how much lesse shall it be meete for any worke, when the fire hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, As the vine tree, that is among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire to be consumed, so will I give the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

b Though they escape one danger, yet another shall take them.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one [b] fire, and another fire shall consume them: and ye shall know, that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them,

8 And when I make the land waste, because they have greatly offended, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnes. 46 Her resemblith the wickednes of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercie is promised to the repentant.

AGaine, the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation & thy kinred is of the lande [a] of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

a Thou boastest to be of the seede of Abraham, but thou art degenerate and followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children doe the maners of their fathers, Isa.1.4. and 57.3.

4 And in thy nativitie when thou wast [b] borne, thy navell was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in cloutes.

b When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to have compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open fielde to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

c Being thus in thy filthinesse and forsaken of all men, I tooke thee and gave thee life: whereby is meant that before God wash his Church, and give life, there is nothing but filthines and death.

6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine [c] owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt live: even when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt live.

7 I have caused thee to multiply, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

d These words, as blood, pollution, nakednes, and filthines, are oftentimes repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God restored them to mercy, favored them, and entered their shame.

8 Nowe when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirtes ouer thee, and covered [d] thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a covenant with [e] thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

e That thou shouldest be a chaste wife vnto me, and that I should maintaine thee and endue thee with all graces.

9 Then washed I thee with water, yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broydred worke, and shod thee with badgers skinne, and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I covered thee with silke.

f I washed away thy sinnes.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull [h] crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou decked with gold and silver, and thy raiment was of fine linnen, and silke and broidred worke: thou diddest eate fine flourr, and hony and oile, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfect through my [i] beautie which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Nowe thou didst [k] trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowme, and hast powred out [l] thy fornications on every one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with diuers colours, [m] and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my golde and of my silver, which I had given thee, and [n] madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookest thy broidred garments, and coveredst them: and thou hast set mine oile and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also which I gave thee as fine flourr, oile and honie wherewith I feede thee, thou hast even set it before them for a sweet sauor: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Moreover, thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto me, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to [o] bee devoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, and delivered them to cause them to passe thorow fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes, thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse, (woe, woe vnto thee, saith the Lord God)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery street.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery [p] corner of the way, & hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feet to every one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the [q] Egyptians thy neighbors, which have great members, and hast increased thy whoredome to provoke me.

27 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and wil diminish thine ordinarie, and deliver thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, even to the [r] daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyrians, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the lande of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 Howe weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest al these things, euen the worke of a ‖ presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery streete, and hast not bene as an harlot q that despiseth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall bee after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no rewarde is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Because thy ‖ shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou didest offer vnto them,

37 Beholde, therefore I will gather all s thy louers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

38 And I will iudge thee after the maner of them that are t harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and iealousie.

39 I wil also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine hie place, and shall breake downe thine hie places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, and shall take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

41 And they u shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgments vpon thee in the sight of many women: x I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath towarde thee to rest, and my y iealousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue z brought thy way vpon thine head, saieth the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Beholde, all that vse prouerbes, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, a so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husbande and her children, and thou art the sister of thy b sisters, which forsooke their husbandes and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amoite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, and her c daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and d thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodom, e her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou f not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had beene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I liue, saieth the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, h Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenes was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

50 But they were haury, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither i hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast k iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sins, that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe l their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodoms, and her daughters, & with the captiuitie of Samaria, & her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the midst of them, 54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast m comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, n when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom o was not heard of p by thy report in the day of thy pride,

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

AND the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man put forth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, The great eagle with great wings, & long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the hiest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the toppe of his twigge, and carried it into the lande of marchants, and set it in a citie of merchants.

5 He tooke also of the seede of the land, and planted it in a fruitful ground: he placed it by great waters, & set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, & was like a spreading vine of lowe stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots thereof were vnder it, so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruite, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? shall he not pull vp the rootes thereof, and destroyethe fruite thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither? when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches, where it grew.

11 Moreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say nowe to this rebellious house, Knowe ye not what these things meane? tell them, Beholde, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken k the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him into Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the kings seed, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken an l othe of him: hee hath also taken the princes of the land,

14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall hee escape, that doeth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe hee despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shall Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the warre, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the othe, and broken the couenant: (yet lo, he had giuen his hand) because hee hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 And I will spread my net vpon him, and hee shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, and will enter into iudgement with him there for his trespasse that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall be scattered toward all the windes: and ye shall know that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take off the toppe of this hie cedar, and will set it, and cut off the toppe of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an hie mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the hie mountaine of Israel will I plant it: & it shall bring forth boughs and beare fruite, and bee an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birdes, and euery foule shall dwell in the shadowe of the branches thereof.

24 And all the trees of the fielde shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the lowe tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lorde haue spoken it, and haue done it.

sinne. 21 To him that amendeth, it saluation promised. 24 Death is prophesied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THE worde of the Lorde came vnto mee againe, saying,

2 What meane yee that yee speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, a The fathers haue eaten soure grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, ye shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Beholde, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man bee iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten b vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath c defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath d lien with a e menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtour: hee that hath spoyled none by violence, f but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen foorth vpon g vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgement betweene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, hee shall surely liue, sayeth the Lord God.

10 If he beget a sonne, that is h a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if hee doe any one of these things,

11 Though he do not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath spoyled by violence, or hathnot restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall hee liue? hee shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, i he shal die the death, and his blood shalbe vpon him.

14 If but if hee beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which hee hath done, and feareth, neither doth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neyther hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawen his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but hee shal surely liue.

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgement and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 k The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousnesse of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my l statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not be mentioned vnto him, but in his m righteousnesse that he hath done, he shall liue.

23 n Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? yea shall hee not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall hee liue? all his o righteousnesse that hee hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that hee hath sinned, in them shall he die.

25 Yet yee say, The way of the Lord is not p equall: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednesse that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall saue his soule alyue.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue and shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equal, O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore q and cause others to turne away from all your transgressions: so iniquity shal not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, wherein ye haue transgressed, and make r you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, sayeth the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

3 The Lord denieth that hee will answere them when they pray, because of their wickednes. 33 He promiseth that his people shall returne from captiuitie. 46 By the forest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

AND in the [a] seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, Speak vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man? wilt thou iudge them? cause [b] them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and [c] lift vp mine hand vnto the seed of the house of Iaakob, and made my selfe knowne vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayde, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eies, and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of [d] their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I did respect to my [e] Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernesse.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, [f] which if a man do he shall liue in them.

12 Moreouer, I gaue them also my [g] Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But [h] house of Israel rebelled against me in the wildernes: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shall liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them [i] in the wildernes to consume them.

14 But I did respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheles I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernes, that I would not bring them into the lande, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them.

20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shalbe a signe betweene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernesse.

22 Neuertheles I withdrew mine hand, and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp my hande vnto them in the wildernesse, that I should scatter them among the heathen, & disperse them throwe the countreys, 24 Because they haue not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbath, and their eyes were after k their fathers idoles.

k Meaning, that they set their delight vpon them.

25 Wherefore I l gaue them also statutes that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

l Because they would not obey my lawes, I gaue them vp to themselues, that they should obey their owne fantasies, as vers. 39. Rom. 1. 21, 24.

26 And I polluted them in their owne m gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the womb, that I might destroy them, to the ende that they might know that I am the Lord.

m I condemned those things, and counted the as abominable which they thought had bene excellent, & to haue declared most zeale, Luke 15. 15. for that which God required as most excellent, that gaue they to their idoles.

27 Therefore sonne of man speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto the, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grieuously transgressed against me.

28 n For when I had brought them into the land, for y which I lifted vp mine hande to giue it to them, then they sawe euery high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their sweete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

n Not onely in the wildernesse, when I brought them out of Egypt, but since I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompe mans heart is to idolatrie, seeing that by no admonitions he can be drawne backe.

29 Then I sayd vnto them, What is the high place whereunto ye go? And the name thereof was called o Bamath vnto this day.

o Which signifieth an high place, declaring that they vanted themselues of their idolatrie, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had commanded them expressly that they should haue no aulter lifted vp on hie by staires, Exod. 20. 26. & Deut. the way. p Here she weth that the ingratitude of the people deserueth that God should cut them off, and that they should not haue the comfort of his word.

30 Wherefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the maner of your fathers? and commit ye not whoredom after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with al your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, sayth the Lorde God, p I will not answere you when I am asked.

32 Neither shall that bee done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreys, and serue wood and q stone.

q He declareth that man of nature is wholy enemie vnto God and to his owne saluation, and therefore God calleth him to the right way, partly by chastening, but chiefly by his mercie in forgiuing his rebellion and wickednesse.

33 As I liue sayth the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I wil bring you into the r wildernes of the people, & there will I plead with you face to face.

r I wil bring you among strange nations, a into a wildernesse, and there will visite you, and so call you to repentance, and then bring the godly home againe, Isai. 65. 9.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernesse of the land of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And I wil s chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me: I wil bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shal know that I am the Lord.

s figuifying, that he will not burne the corne with the chaffe, but chuse out the wicked to punish them when he will spare his.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, Thus sayeth the Lord God, t Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey me, & pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

t This is spoken to the hypocrites,

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, sayth the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land, serue me: there will I accept them, & there wil I require your offerings, and the first frutes of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I wil accept your sweet sauour, when I bring you from the people, & gather you out of the countreys, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shal know, that I am y Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp my hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shal ye remember your waies, and all your workes, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye u shal iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils, that ye haue committed.

u Your owne consciences shall conuict you after that you haue felt my mercies.

44 And ye shal know that I am y Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my names sake, & not after your wicked wayes, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, sayeth the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, & drop thy word toward x the South, and prophesie toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I will kindle a fire in thee, & it shall deuour all the y greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the continual flame shall not be quenched, and euery face

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therfore ſhall my ſwoyd goe out of his sheath againſt all fleſh from the South to the c North.

5 That all fleſh may knowe that I the Lorde haue drawen my ſwoyde out of his sheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

6 ¶ Bourne therefore, thou ſonne of man, as in the paine of thy d reines, & mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they ſay vnto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? then anſwere, Becauſe e of the hearte: for it commeth, and every heart ſhall melt, and all hands ſhall be weake, and all minds ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and ſhal be done, ſayth the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the woyde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, and it is furbiſhed that it may f glitter: how ſhall we reioyce? for it contemneth the g rod of my ſonne, as h all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to bee furbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſwoyd is ſharpe, and is furbiſhed, that he may giue it into the hand of the i ſlater.

13 For it is a triall, l and what ſhall this be, if the ſworde contemne euen the rod? It ſhall be no more, ſaith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, propheſie, and ſmite m hand to hand, & let the ſwoyd bee doubled: let the ſwoyd that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the ſwoyd of the great ſlaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the ſwoyd vnto all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah it is made bright, & it is dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee alone: go to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whitherſoeuer thy face turneth.

17 I wil alſo ſmite mine hands together, and wil cauſe my wrath to ceaſe. I the Lord haue ſayd it.

18 ¶ The woyde of the Lord came vnto me againe, ſaying, 19 Alſo thou ſonne of man, appoint thee n two wayes, that the ſwoyd of the King of Babel may come: both twaine ſhall come out of one land, and chuſe a place, and chuſe it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the ſwoyde may come to Rabbah of the Ammonites, and p to Iudah in Ieruſalem the ſtrong citie.

21 And the King of Babel ſtoode at the q parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, conſulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he conſulted with idols, and looked in r the liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ieruſalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the ſlaughter, and to lift vp their voice with ſhouting, to lay engines of warre againſt the gates, to caſt a mount, and to build a fortreſſe.

23 And it ſhall bee vnto them ſ as a falſe diuination in their ſight for the othes made vnto them: t but he wil call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they ſhould bee taken.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye haue made your iniquitie to bee remembred, in diſcouering your rebellion, that in all your works your ſinnes might appeare: becauſe, I ſay, that yee are come to remembrance, ye ſhall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou u prince of Iſrael polluted, and wicked, whoſe day is come, when iniquitie ſhall haue an ende.

26 Thus ſayth the Lorde God, I will take away the x diademe, and take off the crowne: this ſhall be no more the ſame: I will exalt the humble, and will abaſe him that is hie.

27 I will ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, & it ſhalbe no more vntill he y come, whoſe right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou ſonne of man, propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſayth the Lorde God to the z children of Ammon, and to their blaſphemie: ſay thou, I ſay, The ſwoyde, the ſwoyde is drawen foorth, and furbiſhed to the ſlaughter, to conſumme, becauſe of the glittering:

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reproued for cruelty. 25 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets & priests, and of their vnstaiable conuersation. 27 The tyranny of rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

MOreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Nowe thou sonne of man, wilt thou [a] iudge, wilt thou iudge the bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The citie sheadeth blood in the mids of it, that her [b] time may come, & maketh idoles [c] against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therfore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shal mock thee, which art vile in [d] name, and sore in affliction.

6 Behold, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shead blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee [e] haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to shead blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountains: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 [*] In thee haue they discouered their father's shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one [e] hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in lawe, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his father's daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shead blood: thou hast taken vsury and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten mee, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therfore I haue [f] smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countries, and will cause thy [g] filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine [h] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, The houle of Israel is vnto mee, as [i] drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and iron, and lead in the mids of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as drosse, beholde, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and iron, and lead, and tinne into the mids of the fornace, to blowe the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, & will put you there [k] and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall be melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the mids of the fornace, so shall ye be melted in [l] mids thereof, and ye shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, [m] and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a [n] conspiracie [o] of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the praie: they haue deuoured soules: they haue take the riches & precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy & prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their [p] eies from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the [q] mids thereof, are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her [r] prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saieth the Lord God, when the Lorde hath not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needie: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Jerusalem, under the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe word of the Lord came againe unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one a mother.

3 And they committed fornication b in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breastes pressed, and there they bruised the teates of their virginitie.

4 And the names of c them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Jerusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot d when she was mine, and she lusted on fire with her lovers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blewe silke, both captaines and princes, they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding upon horses.

7 Thus she committed her whoredome with them, even with all them that were the chosen men of Ashur, and with all on whome she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they e lay with her, and they bruised the breastes of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome upon her.

9 Wherefore I delivered her into the handes of her lovers, even into the handes of the Assyrians, upon whom she doted.

10 These discovered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, f she had an evill name among women: for they had executed judgement upon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah sawe this, she marred her selfe with inordinate lust, more then she, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 She doted upon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with divers sutes, horsemen riding upon horses: they were all pleasant young men.

13 Then I sawe that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when she sawe men g painted upon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles upon their loynes, and with died attire upon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativitie)

16 Assoone as she saw them, she doted upon them, and sent messengers unto them in Caldea.

17 Now were the Babylonians come to her into the bed of love, they defiled her with their fornication, and she was polluted with them, and her mind departed from them.

18 So she discovered her fornication, and disclosed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredom more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For she doted upon their servants, whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the papes of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise up thy lovers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on every side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, h Pekod, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captaines and princes: all they were valiant and renowned, riding upon horses.

24 Even these shall come against thee with charets, wagons, and wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee, buckler and shield, and helmet round about: and i I will leave the punishment unto them, and they shall judge thee according to their judgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation upon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy k nose and thine eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall carry away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy remnant shall be devoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire tewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the lande of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift up thine eyes unto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliver thee into the handes of them whom thou hatest: even into the handes of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitefully, and shall take away all thy l labour, and shall leave thee naked & bare, and the shame of thy fornications shall be discovered, both thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things unto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister, therefore will I give her cup into thine hand.

32 Thus a Meaning Israel and Iudah, which came both out of one familie.

b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.

c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her self, meaning Samaria, which was the royall citie of Israel: And Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, whereby is meant Jerusalem where Gods Temple was.

d Ebr. under me.

e When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God, and put their trust in the Assyrians.

f The holy Ghost useth these termes which seeme strange to chaste eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatry to be abhorred, that whereby any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

g Meaning, the Assyrians.

h This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of Idolaters, and therefore the holy ghost here compareth them to those which in their raging loue and filthy lustes dote vpon the images and paintings of the after whom they lust.

h These were the names of certaine Princes and captaines vnder Nebuchad-nez-zar, i Ebr. I will giue judgement before them.

k Or, lawes,

l They shall destroy thy princes and priestes with the rest of thy people, k All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labour.

l All the world shall see thy shame of full forsaking of God to serue idoles.

m I will execute the same judgements and vengeance against thee, & that with greater fiercenesse, 32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe and large: thou shalt be laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

a Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great, that they should cause them to lose their senses and reason.

33 Thou shalt be filled with [a] drunkennesse and sorowe, even with the cup of destruction, and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt even drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheardes thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast me behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord sayd moreover unto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou judge Aholah, and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they have played the whoores, and blood is in their handes, and with their [b] idoles have they committed adulterie, and have also caused their sonnes, whome they bare unto mee, to passe by the fire to be their [c] meat.

c That is, to be sacrifices to their idoles. Reade Chap. 16, 20.

38 Moreover, this have they done unto me: they have defiled my sanctuarie in the same day, and have prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus have they done in the middes of mine house.

40 And yet much more is it that they sent for men to come from [p] farre: unto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whome thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments, p They sent into other countreys to have such as should teach the service of their idoles.

41 And satest [q] upon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, whereupon thou hast set mine incense and mine oyle.

q He meaneth the altar, that was prepared for the idoles.

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the company great were brought men of [r] Saba from the wildernesse, which put bracelets upon their handes, and beautifull crownes upon their heads.

r Which should teach the maner of worshipping their gods.

43 Then I sayd unto her that was olde in adulteries, Now shall shee and her fornications come to an ende.

44 And they went in unto her as they go to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And [s] righteous men they shal judge them, after the maner of [t] harlots, and after the maner of murtherers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their handes.

s That is, worthy death, read chap. 16, 38.

46 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude upon them, and will give them unto the tumult, and to the spoile, t Meaning, all other cities, and countreys.

48 Thus will I cause wickednesse to cease out of the lande, that all women may bee taught, not to doe after your wickednesse.

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse upon you, and ye shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shal know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of the seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

AGaine in the [a] ninth yeere, in the tenth [b] moneth, in the tenth day of the moneth came the worde of the Lorde unto me, saying, a Of Ieconiahs captivitie, and of the reigne of Zedekiah, 2. King. 25. 1.

b Called Tebeth, which containeth part of December and part of Ianuarie: in the which moneth and day Nebuchad-nezzar besieged Ierusalem.

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable unto the rebellious house, and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a [c] pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

c Whereby was meant Ierusalem.

4 Gather the [d] pieces thereof into it, even every good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

d That is, the citizens, and the chiefe men thereof.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and [‖] burne also the [e] bones under it, and make it boyle well, and let the the bones of it therein,

e Meaning, of the innocents, whom they had slaine, who were the cause of the kindling of Gods wrath against them.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloodie citie, even to the pot, [f] whose skomme is therin, and whose skomme is not gone out of it: bring it out [g] piece by piece: let no [h] lot fall upon it.

f Whose iniquities, and wicked citizens there yet remaine.

g Signifying, that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by little & little,

h Spare none estate or condition.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: she set it upon an high [i] rocke, and powred it not upon the ground to cover it with dust, i The citie shewed her cruelty to all the worlde, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I have set her blood upon an high rocke that it should not be covered.

9 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, [k] Woe to the bloody citie, for I will make [‖] the burning great.

k Nahum 3. 1. Habak. 2. 12.

‖ Or, an heape of wood.

10 Heape on much wood: [l] kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

l Meaning that the citie should bee utterly destroyed, and that hee would give the enemies an appetite thereunto.

11 Then set it empty upon the coales thereof, that [‖] the brasse of it may bee hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skomme of it may be consumed.

12 She hath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skomme went not out of her: the fire her skomme shalbe consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthinesse & wickednesse: because I would [m] have purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not bee purged from thy filthinesse, till I have caused my wrath to light upon thee.

m I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldest not.

14 I the Lorde have spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy waies, and according to thy workes shall [n] they judge thee sayth the Lord God.

n That is, the Babylonians.

o Meaning, his wife in whom he delited, as verse 18.

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away from thee the o pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares run downe.

q For in mourning, they went bare headed and barefooted, and also couered their lips.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, p and put on thy shoes vpon thy feete, and couer not thy lips, and eate q not the bread of men.

r That is, which the neighbours sent to them that mourned.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in r the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people sayde vnto mee, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

r Meaning, the morning following.

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lorde God, Beholde, I will s pollute my sanctuary, euen the t pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom ye haue left, shall fall by the sword.

s By sending the Caldeans to destroy it, as Chap. 7.22.

t Wherein you boast and delite.

22 And ye shall doe as I haue done: ye shall not couer your lippes, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire shalbe vpon your heads, and your shoes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but ye shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall doe: and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the u desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, u Ebr. lifting vp of their soules.

26 That hee that escapeth in that day, shal come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shal know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

THe word of the Lorde came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus sayth the Lord God, Because thou saydest, a Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie, a Because ye reioyced when the enemie destroied my citie and Temple.

4 Beholde, therefore I will deliuer thee to the b men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their c palaces in thee, & make their dwellings in thee: they shall eate thy fruite, and they shall drinke thy milke.

b That is, to the Babylonians.

c They shall chase thee away and take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in.

5 And I wil make d Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepecoate, and ye shall knowe that I am the Lord.

d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites, and full of conduits, 2. Sam. 12.27.

6 For thus sayth the Lorde God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the lande of Israel,

7 Beholde, therefore I will stretch out mine hande vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoyled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to bee destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Beholde, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities e of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-iehimoth, Baal-meon, and Kiriathaim.

e So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde God, I will also stretch out mine hande vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I wil execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hande of my people Israel, and they shal do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despiteful heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the f Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

f Which were certaine garisons of Philistims, wherby they oftimes molested the Iewes. Of the Cherethims Dauid also had a gard, 2. Sam. 8. 18.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He propheseth that Tyrus shall be ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

And

AND in the a eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the b gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing she is desolate, I shall be c replenished,

3 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the midst of the sea: for I haue spoken it, sayth the Lord God, and it shall bee a spoyle to the nations.

6 And her d daughters which are in the fielde, shall be slaine by the sworde, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of kings, from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the fielde, and hee shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engins of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shal couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noyse of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when hee shall enter into thy gates, as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horses shall hee treade downe all thy streetes: he shal slay thy people by the sworde, and the e pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoyle thy marchandise, & they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water.

13 * Thus will I cause the sounde of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thine harpes shalbe no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: f thou shalt bee for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more: for I the Lorde haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the yles tremble at the sound of thy fall, and at the crie of the wounded, when they shall bee slaine and murthered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the g sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broydred garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shal sit vpon the ground, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amased at thee.

17 And they shall take vp a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited b of the sea men, the renowmed citie which was strong in the sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the yles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shalbe troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus sayth the Lorde God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shal bring the deep vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descende into the pitte, with the people i of olde time, and shall set thee in the lowe parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not bee inhabited, and I shall shewe my glory in the lande of the k liuing, 21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be founde againe, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXVII.

The Prophet bewaileth the desolation of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power and authoritie thereof in time past.

2 The word of God againſt the king of Tyrus for his pride, 21 The word of the Lord againſt Zidon. 25 The Lord promiſeth that he will gather together the children of Iſrael.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, ſaying, 10 Thou shalt die the death of the [e] vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the King of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of [d] wisedome and perfect in beautie.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the rubie, the topaze & the ‖ diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, ‖ emeraud, and the carbuncle and gold: the workemanship of thy tymbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy waies from the day that thou wast [h] created, till iniquitie was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the mids of thee with cruelte, and thou hast sinned: therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the [i] mountaine of God, and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the middes of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted vp, because of thy beautie, and thou hast corrupted thy wisedome by reason of thy brightnesse: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy [k] sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring footh a fire from the mids of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

CHAP. XXIX.

He propheseth against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promiseth that he will restore Egypt after fourty yeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of king Nebuchad-nezzar for the labor which he tooke against Tyrus.

IN the [a] tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee Pharaoh King of Egypt, the great [b] dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath sayd, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy lawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will drawe thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wildernesse, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall knowe that I am the Lorde, because they haue bene a staffe of [d] reed to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned vpon thee, thou brakest & madest all their loynes to [e] stand vpright.

8 Therefore thus sayeth the Lorde God, Behold, I will bring a sword vpon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee,

9 And the land of Egypt shalbe desolate, and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because he hath sayd, [f] The riuer is mine, and I haue made it,

The destruction of Egypt, and the exiles thereof.

THe worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

‖ By Phut and Lud are meant Aphrica and Lybia.

8 And they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe forth from mee in ships, to make the careleſſe Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for lo, it commeth.

10 Thus sayth the Lorde God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel.

11 For hee and his people with him, euen the terrible nations shall bee brought to destroy the land: and they shall drawe their swordes against Egypt, and fill the lande with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the handes of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the king of Babel, and the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe: and they shall know that I am the Lorde, h when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall stretch it out upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and disperse them among the countreys, and they shall knowe, that I am the Lord.

AND in the a eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, and in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, & to his multitude, Whome art thou b like in thy greatnesse?

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the king of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians ouercame.

3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughs, and of a high stature, and his top was among the thicke boughs.

c Many other nations were vnder their dominion.

d Or, countrey.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, & his boughs were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughs, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring foorth their yong, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was hee faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

d Signifying, that there were no greater power in the world then his was.

8 The cedars in the garden e of God could not hide him: no faire tree was like his branches, and the chesnut trees were not like his boughs: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden, that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

e Or, then was last vp.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because f he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughs, and his heart is lift vp in his height, f That is, of Nebuchad-nezzar, who afterward was the monarch and only ruler of the world.

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the handes of the g mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are h broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

g The deepe waters that caused him to mount so high (meaning his great abundance & pompe) shall now lament as though they were couered with sackcloth.

h Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians, 13 Upon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the field shalbe vpon his branches,

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall bee exalted by their height, neither shal shoot vp their top among the thick boughs, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether partes of the earth in the middes of the children of men, among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and i I couered the deepe for him, and I did restraine the floods thereof, & the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

i To cause this destruction of the king of Assyria, to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth other kings and Princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of such a tyrant, 16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall k be comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing so great as his was. Reade Chap. 28.10.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that bee slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his shadow in the midst of the heathen.

18 To whom l art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt bee cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt sleepe in the midst of the m vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

k That is, peecie, that shall be cast downe: thus Lord giueth Prophets power both to plant & to destroy by sword, read Iere. 10.

l Haue not I kingdoms, m beautifull thou, perishe

m That is, Egypt.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh king of Egypt. 12 He prophesieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the king of Babylon.

AND in the a twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, a Which was the first yeere of the generall captiuity vnder Zedekiah.

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a b lion of the nations, and art as a c dragon in the sea: thou castedst out thy riuers, and troubledst the waters with thy feete, and stampedst in their riuers.

b Thus the scriptures compare tyrants to cruell and huge beasts, which deuoure all that be weaker then they, and such as they may ouercome.

c Or, whale.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, * I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, & they shall make thee come vp into my net.

c Thou preparedst great armies. Chap. 12. 13. and 17, 20,

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all all the beastes of the field with thee.

5 And I wil lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, & fil thy valleis [d] with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood the land wherein thou [e] swimmest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall bee full of thee.

7 And when I shall [f] put thee out, I wil couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: * I will couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen wil I make darke for thee, and bring [g] darkenesse vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countries which thou hast not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shalbe afraid eue[r]y moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lorde God, The sword of the King of Babel shal come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the [h] pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I wil destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great water sides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofes of beasts trouble them.

14 Then wil I make [i] their waters deep, and cause their riuers to run like oile, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shal make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall bee layed waste: when I shall smite all them, which dwel therein, then shal they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere, also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and [k] cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that go downe into the pit.

19 Whom doest thou passe [l] in beautie? go downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shal fal in the mids of them that are slaine by the sworde: [m] shee is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The most mightie and strong shall speake to [n] him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

22 Asshur is there and all his company: their graues are about him: al they are slain and fallen by the sword.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to bee in the land of the liuing.

24 There is [o] Elam and all his multitude round about his graue: all they are slaine & fallen by the sword, which are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, which caused themselues to be feared in the land of the [p] liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are layed in the mids of them that be slaine.

26 There is [q] Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues are round about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant [r] of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, & haue laid their swords vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall bee vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are layed by them that were slaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the vncircumcised, & with them that go downe to the pit.

30 There be al the princes of the [s] North, with al the Zidonians, which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that bee slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and be shalbe [t] comforted ouer al his multitude: Pharaoh and all his army shalbe slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I haue caused my [u] feare to bee in the land of the liuing: & he shalbe laid in the mids of the vncircumcised with them that are slaine by the sword, euen Pharaoh and al his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that dispaire, and boldneth them with the promise of mercy. 30 The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

AGaine the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When d With heapes of the carkases of thine armie.

e As Nilus ouerfloweth Egypt, so will I make the blood of thine hoste to ouerflow it.

f The word signifieth to be put out as a candle is put out. Isa.13.10. ioel 2. 31.& 3.15. matth.24.29.

g By this maner of speech is ment the great sorow that shall be for the slaughter of the king and his people.

h This came to passe in lesse then foure yeeres after this prophesie.

i To wit, of the Caldeans thine enemies, which shall quietly enioy all thy commodities.

k That is, prophecie, that they shall be cast downe: thus the Lord giueth his Prophets power both to plant and to destroy by his word, read Iere.1. 10.

l Haue not other kingdoms, more beautifull then thou, perished?

m That is, Egypt.

n To make the matter more sensible, he bringeth in Pharaoh, who the dead shall vse & mauel at him, read Isa. 14.9.

o Meaning, the Persians.

p Whom in this life all the world feared.

q That is, the Cappadocians & Italians, or Spaniards, as Iosephus writeth.

r Which died not by cruell death, but by the course of nature, and are honourably buried with their coat armour and signes of honour.

s The kings of Babylon.

t As the wicked reioyce whē see others partakers of their miseries.

u I wil make the Egyptians afrayd of me, as they caused others to feare them.

I bring the sworde vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man ‖from among them, and make him their a watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sworde come vpon the land, he blowe the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, & will not be warned, if the sworde come, and take him away, his blood shall bee vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sonne of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shalbe vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sworde come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people be not warned: if the sworde come, and take any person from among them, hee is taken away for his b iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 So thou, O sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the worde at my c mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie, but his blood will I d require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he do not turne from his way, he shall die for his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou son of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions and our sinnes be vpon vs, and wee are consumed because of them, e how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, I f desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you frō your euill wayes, for why will ye die, O yee house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The g righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fal therin, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that hee sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shal surely liue, if he trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall bee no more remembred, but for his iniquitie that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Againe when I shal say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death, if hee turne from his sinne, and do that which is lawfull and h right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, & walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him, because he hath done that which is lawfull & right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of thy people say, Chap.18.25.
The way of the Lord is not equall: but their owne way is vnequall.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnes, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, the way of the Lord is not equall. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of i our captiuity, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, came vnto me, and sayd, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the k hand of the Lord had bene vpon me in the euening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, vntill he came to me in the morning: and when he had opened my l mouth, I was no more dumbe.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and sayd, 24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke & say, m Abraham was but one, and he possessed the land: but we are many, therefore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yee eate with the n blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood: should yee then possesse the land?

26 Yee leane vpon your o swordes: yee worke abomination, and ye defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God. As I liue, surely they that are in the desolate places, shal fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that be in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the p pompe of her strength shall cease: and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe thorow.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layed the land desolate and waste, because of all their abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that q talke of thee by the wals and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make r iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a ‖ iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voice, and can sing well: for they heare thy wordes, but a He sheweth that the people ought to haue continually gouernours and teachers which may haue a care ouer them, and to warne them euer of the dangers which are at hand.

b Signifying, that the wicked shall not escape punishment though the watchman be negligent: but if the watchman blow the trumpet, & then he wil not obey, he shall deserue double punishment. Chap.3 17.

c Which teacheth that he that receiueth not his charge at the Lords mouth, is a spy, and not a true watchman.

d The watchman must answere for the blood of all that perish through his negligence.

e Thus the wicked when they heare Gods iudgements for their sinnes, despaire of his mercies & murmure. Read Chap. 18. 23.

f Read of this righteousnesse, Chap. 18.22,34.

g Hereby he condemneth all them of hypocrisie, which pretend to forsake wickednesse, and yet declare not themselues such by their fruits, that is, in obeying Gods commandements and by godly life.

l Whereby is signified that the ministers of God cannot speake till God giue them courage & open their mouthes, Cha.34.27.& 29 21.ephe.6.19.

m Thus the wicked thinke themselues more worthy to inioy Gods promise then the Saints of God, to whom they were made: and would binde God to be subiect to them, though they would not be bound to him.

q This declareth that we ought to heare Gods word with such zeale and affection that we should in all points obey it, els we abuse the word to our own condemnation, and make of his ministers as though they were iestes to serue mens foolish fantasies.

but they doe them not.

33 And when this commeth to passe (for loe, it will come) then shall they know that a Prophet hath bene among them.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

1 Against the shepheards that despised the flock of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lord sayeth that he will visit his despersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promiseth the true shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepheards of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them. Thus sayeth the Lorde God vnto the shepheards, [a] Woe be vnto the [a] shepheards of Israel, that feede themselues: should not the shepheards feed the flocks?

3 Ye eat the [b] fat, and yee cloth you with the wooll: yee kill them that are fed, but yee feed not the sheepe.

4 The [c] weake haue yee not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue ye bound vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driuen away, neither haue ye sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, and with rigor haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were dispersed, they were [d] deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thorow all the mountaines, and vpon euery high hill: yea, my flocke was scattred thorow all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore yee shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, sayeth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, & my sheepe were deuoured of all the beastes of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fed themselues, and fed not my sheepe, 9 Therefore heare yee the words of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their handes, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feede themselues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from [e] their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus sayeth the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flocke, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe, and will deliuer them out of all places, where they haue bene scattered in [f] the cloudie and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde bee: there shall they lie in a good folde, and in fat pasture shall they feed vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feed my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, sayeth the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the [g] strong, and I will feed them with [h] iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, Beholde, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good [i] pasture, but ye must tread downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? and to haue dranke of the deepe waters, but yee must trouble the residue with your feet?

19 And my sheepe eat that which ye haue troden with your feet, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feet.

20 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God vnto them, Beholde, I, euen I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because yee haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the weake with your hornes, till ye haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore wil I helpe my sheepe, and they shal no more be spoiled, and I wil iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shal feed them, euen my seruant [k] Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shall be their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord wil be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall [l] dwel safely in the wildernesse, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I wil set them, & a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be raine of blessing.

27 And the [m] tree of the field shall yeelde her fruite, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the coards of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the handes of those that serued themselues of them.

28 And they shall no more bee spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise vp for them a [n] plant of renowme, and they shalbe no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And ye my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The destruction that shall come on mount Seir because they troubled the people of the Lord.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount [a] Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say vnto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I wil stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetuall hatred and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sworde in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an end,

6 Therefore as I liue, saieth the Lorde God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate, and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hilles, and in thy valleys, and in all thy riuers shall they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not [d] returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast sayd, [e] These two nations, and these two countreyes shall bee mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the Lord was [f] there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saieth the Lorde God, I will euen do according to thy [g] wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe knowen among [h] them when I haue iudged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord haue heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They lie waste, they are giuen vs to be deuoured.

13 Thus with your mouthes yee haue boasted against mee, and haue multiplied your wordes against mee: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saieth the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I doe vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 He promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deseruings. 26 God reneweth our hearts, that we may walke in his commandements.

ALso thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the [*] mountaines of Israel, and say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saieth the Lord God, Because the [a] enemie hath sayd against you, Aha, euen the [b] hie places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lorde God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoyled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saieth the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea, which [d] haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despightfull mindes to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophesie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Thus saieth the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, & in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the [e] shame of the heathen,

7 Therefore thus saieth the Lord God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall [g] shoot forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowen.

10 And I will multiplie the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shal be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiplie vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase and bring fruit, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestow benefits vpon you more then [h] at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon [i] you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse you, and ye shalbe their inheritance, and ye shal no more henceforth deprriue them of men.

13 Thus saieth the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou [k] land deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waster of thy people, 14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God.

15 Neither will I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shalt thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neyther shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saieth the Lord God.

a Where the Idumeans dwelt.

b When by their punishment I called them from their iniquitie.

c Except thou repent thy former cruelnie, d To wit, to their former estate.

e Meaning, Israel and Iudah.

f And so by fighting against Gods people, they should goe about to put him out of his owne possession.

g As thou hast done cruelly, so shalt thou be cruelly handled.

h Shewing, that when God punisheth the enemies, the godly ought to consider that he hath a care ouer them, and so praise his Name: and also that the wicked rage as though there were no God, till they feele his hand to their destruction.

Chap. 6. 2.

a That is, the Idumean.

b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was the chiefest of all the world.

c Ye are made a matter of talke and derision to all the world.

d They appointed with themselues to haue it, & therfore came with Nebuchadnezzar against Ierusalem for this purpose.

e Because you haue beene a laughing stocke vnto them.

f By making a solemne othe, reade Chap. 20. 5.

g God declareth his mercies and goodnes toward his Church, who still preserueth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

h Which was accomplished vnder Christ, to whom all these temporall deliuerances did direct them.

i That is, vpon the mountaines of Ierusalem.

Or, thee.

k This the enemies imputed as the reproch of the land, which God did for the sinnes of the people according to his iust iudgements.

16 ¶ Moreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne lande, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deeds: their way was before me as the filthines of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherwith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed thorowe the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 *And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted my holy Name, when they sayd of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy [l]Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, thus sayth the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine [m]holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen shal know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before [n]their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, & gather you out of all countries, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane [o]water vpon you, and ye shal bee cleane: yea from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 *A new heart also will I giue you, and a newe spirite will I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirite within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and yee shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shal be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliuer you from all your filthinesse, & I will call for [p]corne, and will increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the fielde, that yee shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selues worthy to haue bene [r]destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it knowne vnto you that I do not this for your sakes, sayeth the Lorde God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, bee ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus sayth the Lorde God, What time as I shal haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shalbe builded.

34 And the desolate land shall bee tilled, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they saide, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate & ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall [q]knowe that I the Lorde builde the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lorde haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this be sought of the house of Israel, to performe it vnto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shall the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He propheseth the bringing againe of the people being in captiuitie. 16 Hee sheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and carried me out in the spirit of the Lord, and set me downe in the mids of the [‖]fielde, which was full of [a]bones.

2 And he led mee round about by them, and beholde, there were very many in the open field, and lo, they were very drie.

3 And he sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, O Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Againe hee sayde vnto mee, Propheste vpon these bones and say vnto them, O yee drie bones heare the worde of the Lord.

5 Thus sayeth the Lorde God vnto these bones, Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall liue.

6 And I will lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, and couer you with skin, & put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shal know that I am the Lord.

7 So I propheSied as I was commanded: and as I propheSied, there was a noise, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, lo, the sinewes, and the flesh growe vpon them, and aboue the skinne couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then sayd he vnto me, PropheSie vnto the winde: propheSie, Sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the foure [b]windes, O breath, and breath vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I propheSied as hee had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they lined, and stood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel, Behold they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

12 Therefore propheSie, & say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lorde God, Beholde, my people, I will open your graues, and cause l And therefore would not suffer my Name to be had in contempt, as the heathen would haue reproched me, if I had suffered my Church to perish.

m This excludeth from man all dignitie, and meane to reserue any thing by, seeing that God referreth the whole to himselfe, and that onely for the glory of his holy Name.

q He declareth that it ought not to be referred to the soyle or plentifulnesse of the earth that any countrey is rich, and abundant, but only to Gods mercies, as his plagues and curses declare when he maketh it barren.

r Or, valley.

a He sheweth by a greater miracle, that God hath power, and also will deliuer his people from their captiuitie, in as much as he is able to giue life to the dead bones, and bodyes, and raise them vp againe.

b Signifying all parts, wherein the Israelites were scattered: that is, the faithfull shall be brought to the same vnitie of spirit, and doctrine, wheresoeuer they are scattered thorow the world.

you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israel,

13 And ye shal know that I am the Lord
c That is, when I haue brought you out of those places, & townes where you are captiues.
c when I haue opened your graues, O my people, and brought you vp out of your sepulchres, 14 And shall put my spirite in you, and yee shall liue, and I shall place you in your owne land: then yee shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it, and performed it, saith the Lord.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

16 Moreouer, thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take d another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.
d Which signifieth the ioyning together of the two houses of Israel, and Iudah.

17 And ioyne them one to another vnto one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answere them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will take the tree e of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and will put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.
e That is, the house of Israel.

20 And the pieces of wood, whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand, in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the lande, vpon the mountaines of Israel, *and one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two peoples, neither bee deuided any more hereafoorth into two kingdomes.
*Iohn 10.16.

23 Neither shall they bee polluted any more with their idoles, nor with their abominations, nor with any of their transgressions: but I will saue them out of all their dwelling places, wherein they haue sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their God.

24 And Dauid my* seruant shalbe King ouer them, and they all shall haue one shepheard: they shall also walke in my iudgements, and obserue my statutes, and doe them.
*Isa. 40.11. Iere. 23.5. ebap. 34.23. dan. 9.24.

25 And they shall dwel in the f land, that I haue giuen vnto Iaakob my seruaunt where your fathers haue dwelt, and they, shall dwel therein, euen they, & their sonnes, and their sonnes sonnes for euer, and my seruant Dauid shalbe their prince for euer.
f Meaning, that the elect by Christ shall dwell in the heauenly Ierusalem, which is meant by the land of Canaan. *Psal. 109.4. and 116.2.

26 Moreouer I will make * a couenant of peace with them: it shal be an euerlasting couenant with them, and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my Sanctuarie among them for euermore.

27 My Tabernacle also shall bee with them: yea, I will bee their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall know that I the Lord do sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuarie shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 He prophesieth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against a Gog and against the lande of Magog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesie against him, a Which was a people that came of Magog the sonne of Iaphet, Gen. 10.2. Magog also here signifieth a certaine countrey, so that by these two countreys, which had the gouernment of Grecia and Italie, he meaneth the principall enemies of the Church, Reuel. 20.8.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I will destroy thee, and put hooks in thy lawes, and I will bring thee forth and all thine hoste, both horses, and horsemen, all clothed with all sorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers & shields, all b handling swords.
b He sheweth that the enemies should bend themselues against the Church, but it should be to their owne destruction.

5 They of c Paras, of Cush, and Phut with them, euen all they that beare shield and helmet.
c The Persians, Ethiopians, and men of Affrica.

6 d Gomer and all his bandes, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bandes, and much people with thee.
d Gomer was Iaphets sonne, and Togarmah the sonne of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabit Asia minor.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and make thee readie, both thou, and al thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and bee thou their safegard.

8 After many dayes shalt thou bee visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sworde, and is gathered out of many people vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lyen waste: yet they haue bene brought out of the people, and they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloud to couer the land, both thou, and all thy bandes, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lorde God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke e euill thoughts.
e Signifying, that all the people of the worlde should assemble themselues against the Church and Christ their head.

11 And thou shalt say, I will go vp to the lande that hath no walled towers: f I will goe to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates, f Or, it: meaning the land of Israel.

12 Thinking to spoyle the praie, & to take a bootie, to turne thine hand vpon the desolate places that are now inhabited, and vpon the people, that are gathered out of the nations which haue gotten cattell and goods, and dwell in the middes of the land.
f That is, to molest and destroy the Church.

13 Sheba and Dedan, and the marchants of Tarshish with all the lyons thereof shall say vnto thee, g Art thou come to g Meaning, Israel, which had now bene destroyed, and was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the simplicitie of the godly, who seeke not so much to fortifie themselues by outward force, as to depende on the prouidence and goodnesse of God.

h One enemie shall enuie another, because euery one shall thinke to haue the spoyle of the Church.

spoyle the praie? hast thou gathered thy multitude to take a booty? to carry away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoyle a great praye?

14 Therefore sonne of man, prophesie, and say vnto Gog, Thus sayth the Lorde God, In that day when my people of Israel i dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it,

15 And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mighty armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloud to couer the land: thou shalt be in the k latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my lande, that the heathen may knowe me, when I l shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus sayth the Lorde God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in old time, m by the hande of my seruants the Prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shall bee a great shaking in the land of Israel,

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the fielde, and all that mooue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be ouerthrowen, and the n stayres shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him o throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bandes, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and haile stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be p magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, & they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Hee foreseeth the destruction of Gog and Magog. 11 The graues of Gog and his hoste. 17 They shall be deuoured of birds and beastes. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel is captiue. 24 Their bringing againe from captiuitie is promised.

THerefore thou sonne of man, prophesie against Gog, & say, Thus sayth the Lorde God, beholde, I come against thee, O Gog, the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will destroy thee, and leaue thee the fift part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North partes, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou q shalt fal vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands, and the people, that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birdes and to euery feathered fowle and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fal vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I wil send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the r iles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lorde, the holy One of Israel.

8 Beholde, s it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwel in the cities of Israel, shall t goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, and vpon the staues in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the fielde, neither cut downe any out of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shal robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog, u a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the Sea: and it shal cause them that passe by, to stoppe their x noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of y Hamon-gog.

12 z And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel bee burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land, shal burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shall chuse out men to goe continually thorowe the a lande with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, and cleanse it: they shal search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauelers that passe thorow the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it, in the valley of Hamon-gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall bee b Hamonah: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus sayth the Lorde God, Speake vnto euery feathered fowle, and to all the beastes of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: c gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice, for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh and drinke blood.

18 Ye shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the princes of the earth, of the wethers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fatte beastes of Bashan.

19 And yee shall eate fat till you bee full, and i Shalt not thou spie thine occasions to come against my Church, when they suspect nothing?

k Meaning, in the last age, and from the coming of Christ vnto the end of the world.

l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church, and destroying his enemies, as chap. 36. 23. and 37. 28.

m Hereby hee declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not bene aduertised aforetime, to teach them to indure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath so ordeined.

n All meanes whereby man should thinke to saue himselfe, shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shall be so great, and the enemies destruction shall be so terrible.

o Against the people of Gog and Magog. Chap. 36. 23. and 37. 28.

a Or, destroy thee with fiue plagues, as chap. 38. 22.

b Meaning, that by the verue of Gods word the enemie shalbe destroyed wheresoeuer he assayleth his Church.

c That is, among all nations where the enemies of my people, dwell, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsell, and cannot be changed.

e After this destruction the Church shal haue great peace and tranquillitie, and burne all their weapons because they shall no more feare the enemie: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christs kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.

f Which declareth that the enemies shall haue an horrible fall.

g For the stinke of the carkasses, Or, of the multitude of Gog.

h Meaning, a long time.

i Partly that the holy land should not be polluted, and partly for the compassion that the children of God haue, euen on their enemies. Or, multitude.

k Whereby he signifieth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the enemies of his Church.

and drinke blood, till yee be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall bee filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, sayth the Lorde God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layd vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and forth.

23 And the heathen shall knowe, that the house of Israel went into captiuity for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hande of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their vncleannesse, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lorde God, Nowe will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, & haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name.

26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am * sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

28 Then shall they knowe, that I am the Lorde their God, which caused them to bee led into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne lande, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirite vpon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the Citie and the Temple.

1 IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our bee-ing in captiuitie, in the * beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hande of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought mee thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought hee mee by a ‖ a diuine vision, and set mee vpon a very hie mountaine, wherevpon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

3 And hee brought mee thither, and behold, there was a ᵇ man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen thread in his hande, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and lay thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hether: declare al that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house rounde about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the ‖ poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and ‖ the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broad.

7 And euery chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the poste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured hee the porche of the gate of eight cubites, and the ‖ posts thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the posts had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side, and sixe cubits on that side.

13 Yet measured hee the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the toppe of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twenty cubites, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes were round about within: and vpon the posts were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court rounde about, and thirty chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 ¶ Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the court within, an hundreth cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outwarde court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the posts thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breedth fiue and twentie cubites.

22 And their windowes, & their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of the gate that looketh toward y East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steppes, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stoode euer against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and lo, there was a gate toward the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breedth fiue and twentie cubites.

26 And there were seuen steps to goe vp to it, & the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And he brought me toward the inner court by the South gate, & he measured the South gate according to these measures, 29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long and fiue and twentie cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were fiue and twenty cubits long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Againe he brought me into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, & the posts thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were towarde the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After, hee brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures, 36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breedth fiue and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it, had eight steps.

38 And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entry of the North gate stood two tables, & on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie: whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slewe the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an handbroad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate, were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was towarde the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And he sayd vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priestes that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priestes that haue the charge to keepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui which may come neere to the Lorde to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, euen foure square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward, he brought mee to the Temple, and measured the posts, fiue cubites broad on the one side, and fiue cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entry was ten cubites, and the sides of the entrie were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourtie cubites, and the breadth twenty cubites.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie fixe cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites.

4 So hee measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he sayd vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, sixe cubites, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubits round about the house, on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foot high, and they entred into the wal made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the postes might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went rounde mounting vpward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting vpward round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to the highest by the midst.

8 I saw also the house hie round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reed of sixe great cubits.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without, was sixe cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenesse of twentie cubites round about the house on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was sixe cubites round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubites long, and the separate place and the building with the walles thereof were an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house, and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundreth cubites.

15 And he measured the length of the building, ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side and on the other side an hundred cubites with the temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes & the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And frō aboue the doore vnder the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made throughout all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The alter of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he sayd vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuarie had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickes, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there was made Cherubims and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke plankes vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes & palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priestes, and the holy things.

THen brought hee me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubites, was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubites broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubits which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chamber was a gallery of tenne cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores towarde the North.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the midst of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: and loe, before the Temple were an hundreth cubites.

9 And

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the Eastside, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickenes of the wall of the court toward the East, ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said hee vnto mee, The North chambers and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they bee holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approch vnto the Lorde, shall eate the most holy things, there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, & shall put on other garments, and so shall approch to those things, which are for the people.

15 Nowe when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, hee brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, & measured it round about.

16 Hee measured the East side with the measuring rod, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the Northside, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reed round about.

18 And he measured the South‖ side fiue hundreth reeds with the measuring reed.

‖Or, wind.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reed.

20 Hee measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth reedes long, and fiue hundreth broad to make a separation betweene the Sanctuary and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 Hee mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel for the which they were consumed & brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterward hee brought mee to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And beholde, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voyce was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

Chap. 9. 3.

a When I prophesied the destruction of the citie by the Caldeans.

3 And the vision which I saw was a like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw, whe I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I sawe by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

4 And the b glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

b Which was departed afore. Chap. 10. 4. and 11. 22.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp, & brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which said vnto mee, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwel among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more c defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkases of d their kings in their hie places.

c By their idolatries.

d He alludeth to Ammon and Manasseh, who were buried in their gardens neere the Temple, and there had erected vp monuments to their idoles.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkases of their kings farre from me, and I will dwel among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this House to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the patterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the house, and the patterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

12 This is the ‡ description of the house, It shall bee vpon the toppe of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

‡ Hebr. law.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites: the cubite is a cubite and an hand breadth, euen the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof, round about shalbe a span: and this shalbe the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shal be two cubites, and the breadth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece shalbe foure cubites, and the breth one cubite.

15 So the altar shalbe fourtie cubites, and from the altar vpwards shalbe foure hornes.

16 And the altar shall bee twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, and foure squart in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall bee fourteene cubites long, and fourteene broade in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it shall bee halfe a cubite, and the bottome thereof shall bee a cubite about, and the steps thereof shall bee turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, thus sayeth the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offring thereon, and to sprincle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, & to the Leuites, that be of the seed of Zadok, which approch vnto me, to minister vnto me, sayeth the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood therof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offring, & burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offring, and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, & the Priests shal cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen daies shalt thou prepare euery day an he goat for a sinne offring: they shall also prepare a young bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shall they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and † consecrate it.

† Or, fill his hand

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offrings, and I will accept you, sayeth the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He representeth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

THen he brought mee to ward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth to ward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord vnto me, This gate shalbe * shut, & shall not be opened, & no man shal enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut.

* Meaning, from the cõmon people, but not from the Priests not the Prince, read Chap. 46.8,9.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought hee mee to ward the North gate before the House: & when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

5 And the Lord sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, † marke well, and beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the House of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of the house with euery going forth of the Sanctuary.

† Or, set thine heart.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to the house of Israel, Thus sayeth the Lorde God, O house of Israel, yet haue ynough of all your abominations,

7 Seing, that ye haue brought into my Sanctuary * strangers, vncircumcised in heart, & vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine House, when ye offer my bread, euen fat, and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of all your abominations.

* For they had brought idolaters, which were of other countreys, to teach them their idolatry, Chap. 23.40.

8 For ye haue not kept the * ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my sanctuary.

* Ye haue not offered vnto mee according to my Law.

9 Thus sayth the Lorde God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the * Leuites that are gone backe from mee, when Israel went astray, which went astray from mee after their idoles, but they shall beare their iniquitie,

* The Leuites which had committed idolatrie, were put from their dignity, and could not be receiued into the Priests office, although they had bene of the house of Aaron, but must serue in the inferior offices, as to watch and to keepe ‡ doores, read 2. King 23.9

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the house, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people: and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie: therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, sayth the Lorde God, and they shall beare their iniquitie, 13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to do the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the House, for all the seruice therof, and for all that shal be done therein.

15 But the Priestes of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that * kept the charge of my Sanctuary, when ‡ children of Israel went astray from me, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before me to offer mee the fat and the blood, sayeth the Lord God.

* Which obserued the Law of God, and fell not to idolatrie.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shal enter in at ‡ gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, & no wooll shall come vpon them while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linnen bonets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loines: they shall not gird themselues in the sweating places.

19 But when they go forth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanc-

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promiſe are three ſeperate foure portions, of which the firſt is giuē to the prieſt: and to the Temple, the ſecond to the Leuites, the third to the city, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Iſrael. 10 Of iuſt weights and meaſures. 13 Of the firſt fruits, &c.

MOreouer when ye ſhall diuide the land for inheritance, ye ſhall offer an oblation vnto the Lorde an * holy portion of the land, fiue and twentie thouſand reedes long, and ten thouſand broad: this ſhall bee holy in all the borders thereof round about.

h Of all the land of Iſrael the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Prieſts, for the citie and for the Prince.

2 Of this there ſhall be for the Sanctuarie fiue hundreth in length, with fiue hundreth in breadth, all ſquare round about, and fiftie cubites round about for the ſuburbes thereof.

3 And of this meaſure ſhalt thou meaſure the length of fiue and twentie thouſand, and the breadth of ten thouſand: and in it ſhall bee the Sanctuarie, and the moſt holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land ſhall be the prieſts, which miniſter in the Sanctuarie, which came neere to ſerue the Lord: and it ſhalbe a place for their houſes, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the fiue and twentie thouſand of length, and the ten thouſand of breadth ſhall the Leuites that miniſter in the houſe, haue their poſſeſſion for twentie chambers.

6 Alſo ye ſhal appoint the poſſeſſion of the citie, fiue thouſand broad, and fiue & twentie thouſand long ouer againſt the oblation of the holy portion: it ſhalbe for the whole houſe of Iſrael.

7 And a portion ſhall be for the prince on the one ſide, and on that ſide of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the poſſeſſion of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the poſſeſſion of the citie from the Weſt corner Weſtward, and from the Eaſt corner Eaſtward, and the length ſhalbe by one of the portions from the Weſt border vnto the Eaſt border.

8 In this land ſhall bee his poſſeſſion in Iſrael: and my princes ſhall no more oppreſſe my people, and the reſt of the land ſhall they giue to the houſe of Iſrael, according to their tribes.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Let it b ſuffice you, O princes of Iſrael: leaue off crueltie & oppreſſion, and execute iudgement and iuſtice: take away your exactions from my people, ſayth the Lord God.

b The Prophet ſheweth that the heads muſt be firſt reformed, afore any good order can be eſtabliſhed among the people.

10 Ye ſhall haue iuſt balances, and a true * Ephah, and a true Bath.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantitie, ſaue that Ephah conteined in dry things, that which Bath did in liquor, Leuit. 5. 12. 1. King. 5. 11. Exod. 30. 13. leuit. 27. 25. num. 3. 47.

11 The Ephah and the Bath ſhall bee equall: a Bath ſhall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof ſhall be after the Homer.

12 * And the ſhekel ſhalbe twenty gerahs, and twenty ſhekels, and d fiue and twentie ſhekels and fifteene ſhekels ſhall be your Maneh.

d That is, threeſcore ſhekels make a weight called Mina: for he ioyneth theſe three parts to a Mina.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye ſhall offer, the firſt part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye ſhall giue the firſt part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, yee ſhall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Coz, (tenne Baths are an Homer: for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat paſtures of Iſrael for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering & for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, ſaieth the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land ſhal giue this oblation for the prince in Iſrael.

17 And it ſhall be the princes part to giue burnt offrings, & meate offrings, and drinke offrings in the ſolemne feaſts, & in the newe moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feaſts of the houſe of Iſrael: he ſhal prepare the ſinne offring, and the meat offring, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the houſe of Iſrael.

e Which was Nilan, conteining part of March and part of April.

18 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord God, In the firſt moneth, in the firſt day of * the monath, thou ſhalt shall take a yong bullocke without blemish, and clense the Sanctuarie.

19 And the Priest shall take of the bloode of the sinne offering, and put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the foure corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

‖Or, Court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred, and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

Exod. 12.18. Leuit. 23.5.

21 * In the first moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer, a feast of seuen dayes, and yet shall eate vnleauened bread, 22 And vpon that day, shall the Prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seuen dayes of the feast, he shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seuen bullocks, & seuen rammes without blemish dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goat dayly for a sinne offering.

24 And he shall prepare a meate offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an † Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

† Reade Exod. 29.40.

25 In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he do the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the newe moones. 8 Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus sayth the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall bee shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall bee opened, and in the day of the newe moone it shall bee opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the poste of the gate, and the priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate: after, he shall goe foorth, but the gate shall not bee shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the lande shall worship at the entrie of this gate before the Lorde on the Sabbaths, and in the newe moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lorde on the Sabbath day, shalbe sixe lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meat offering shalbe an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambes * a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

* That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the newe moone it shalbe a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ramme: they shalbe without blemish.

7 And he shall prepare a meate offering, euen an Ephah for a bullock, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes ‖ according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

‖ Meaning, as he shall thinke good.

8 And when the prince shal enter, he shal goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe foorth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, hee that entereth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and he that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe foorth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but they shall goe foorth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the mids of them: he shall goe in when they go in, and when they goe foorth, they shall goe foorth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lorde, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe foorth, and when he is gone foorth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lorde of a lambe of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meate offering for it euery morning, the first part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine flower: this meate offering shal be continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus sayth the Lorde God, If the prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shal be his sonnes, and it shal be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shall bee his to the † yeere of liberties: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

† Which was at the Iubile, Leuit. 25.9.

18 Moreouer the prince shall not ‡ take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but hee shall take his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered euery man from his possession.

‡ But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45.8.

19 ¶ After, he brought me thorow the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stood toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the west side of them.

20 Then sayd he vnto me, This is the place where the priests shall seethe the trespasse offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the vtter court, and caused mee to goe by the foure corners e That the people should not haue to do with those things which appertaine to the Lord, and thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.

corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fourtie cubites long, and thirtie broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wall about them, euen about these foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then he sayde vnto me, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shall seethe the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters, that came out of the Temple. 13 The coastes of the land of promise, and the deuision thereof by tribes.

AFterward hee brought mee vnto the doore of the house: and beholde, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stoode toward the East, and the waters ranne downe from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then he brought me out toward the North gate, and led mee about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubites, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loynes.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a [b] riuer that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flowe, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he sayd vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, and caused mee to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then sayd he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and runne downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the [e] waters shalbe wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, wheresoeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall bee a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall bee wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the [f] fishers shall stand vpon it, and from En-gedi euen vnto En-eglaim, they shall spread out their nettes: for their fish shalbe according to their kindes, as the fish of [h] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places thereof, and the marises therof shall not be wholesome: they shall be made salt pits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall growe all ‖ fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shal the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth newe fruite according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuarie: and the fruite thereof shall be meate, and the leafe thereof shall be for ‖ medicine.

‖ Or, for bruises and sores.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shal be the border, whereby yee shall inherite the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions. * Gen.48.22.

14 And ye shall inherite it, one as well as an other: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance. * Gen.12.7.& 13.15.& 15.18. and 26.4. deut.34.4.

15 And this shall bee the border [k] of the land toward the Northside, from the maine sea toward Hethlon as men go to Zedadah: k By the land of promise he signifieth the spirituall land, whereof this was a figure 16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the sea shall bee Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall bee the North part.

18 But the East side shall yee measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the lande of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the Southside shall bee towarde Teman from Tamar to the waters of ‖ Merrhoth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman. ‖ Or, strife.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shalbe the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel. l Meaning, that in this spirituall kingdome there should be no difference betweene Iew nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, and they shall beget children among you, and they shall bee vnto you as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, [l] they shall part inheritance with you in the mids of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall yee giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOw these are the names of the [a] tribes: From the Northside, to the coast towarde Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northwarde the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall bee a portion for Dan. a The tribes, after that they entred into the land vnder Iosh. diuided the land somewhat otherwise then is here set foorth by this vision.

2 And by the border of Dan from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Aser.

3 And by the border of Dan from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

a Whereby are meant the spirituall graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the kingdome of Christ.
b Signifying, that the graces of God should neuer decrease, but euer abound in his Church.
c Meaning, the multitude of the that should be refreshed by the spirituall waters.
d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the world should be full therof, which is here meant by the Persian sea, or Genezareth, and the sea called Mediterraneum, Zec.14.8.
e The waters) which of nature are salt and vnholsome, shalbe made sweete and comfortable.
f Signifying, that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundance, the ministers shall by their preaching winne many.
g Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.
h They shall be here of all sorts, and in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are bred.
i That is, the wicked & reprobate,

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East part vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah, from the East part vnto the West part [b] shall bee the offering which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousande reeden broade, and of length as one of the other partes, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuarie shall be in the midst of it.

b That is, the portion of the ground, which they shall separate and appoint to the Lord, which shall be diuided into three parts: for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.

9 The oblation that yee shall offer vnto the Lorde, shall bee of fiue and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priestes shalbe this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West ten thousand broade, and toward the East ten thousand broade, and toward the South fiue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shall bee in the midst thereof.

11 It shall be for the Priests that are sanctified of the sonnes of [a] Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the lande that is offered, shall bee theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broade: all the length shall be fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor alienate the first fruites of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand, shall bee a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbes, and the citie shall be in the middes thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South part [c] fiue hundreth and foure thousande, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

c Meaning, that it should be square.

17 And the suburbes of the citie shall bee toward the North two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the South two hundreth and fiftie, and towarde the East two hundreth and fiftie, and toward the West two hundreth and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shall bee ten thousand Eastward, and tenne thousande Westward: and it shall bee ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the encrease thereof shall bee for foode vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shalbe fiue and twentie thousand with [d] fiue and twentie thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

d Euery way it shall be fiue and twenty thousand.

21 And the residue shall bee for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the citie, ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand of the oblation towarde the East border, and Westward ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against shalbe for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shalbe in the middes thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the middes shalbe the princes: betweene the border [e] of Iudah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shalbe the princes.

e So that Iudah was on the North side of the princes and Leuites portions, and Beniamin on the South side.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Beniamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward [f] Temath, the border shalbe euen from Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the [h] riuer, that runneth into the maine sea.

f Which is here taken for Idumea.

g Which was Iericho, the citie of Palme trees.

h Meaning, Nilus, that runneth into the sea called Mediterraneum.

29 This is the land, which yee shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, sayth the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, & three gates, and one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, & three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eightene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day shalbe, ‡ The Lord is there.

Daniel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe great prouidence of God, and his ſingular mercy toward his Church are moſt liuely heere ſet forth, who neuer leaueth his deſtitute, but now in their greateſt miſeries & afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom he adorned with ſuch gracts of his holy Spirite, that Daniel aboue all other had moſt ſpecial reuelation of ſuch things as ſhould come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the laſt end of the world, and to the generall reſurrection, as of the foure monarchies and empiers of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Perſians, Grecians and Romans. Alſo of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Chriſt, when all ceremonies and ſacrifices ſhould ceaſe, becauſe he ſhould be the accompliſhment thereof: moreouer he ſheweth Chriſtes office and the cauſe of his death, which was by his ſacrifice to take away ſinnes, and to bring euerlaſting life. And as from ? beginning God euer exerciſed his people vnder the croſſe, ſo he teacheth here, that after that Chriſt is offered, hee will ſtill leaue this exerciſe to his Church vntill the dead riſe againe, and Chriſt gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim King of Iudah. 4 The King chuſeth certaine yong men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 They haue the kings ordinary appointed, 8 but they abſtaine from it.

a Read 2. Kings 24.1. and Iere. 25.1.

IN the a third yere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel vnto Ieruſalem, and beſieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hande, with part of the veſſels of the houſe of God, which he carried into the land of b Shinar, to the houſe of his god, and hee brought the veſſels into his gods treaſurie.

3 And the King ſpake vnto c Aſhpenaz the maſter of his d Eunuches, that hee ſhoulde bring certaine of the children of Iſrael, of the e Kings ſeede, and of the princes:

4 Children in whome was no blemiſh, but well f fauoured, and inſtruct in all wiſedome, and well ſeene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and ſuch as were able to ſtand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the g learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

5 And the king appointed them h proviſion euery day of a i portion of the kings meate, and of the wine which hee dranke, to nourthing them k three yere, that at the end therof, they might ſtand l before the king.

6 Now among theſe were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the eunuches gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteſhezzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Miſhael, Meſhach, and Azariah, Abednego.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee would not m defile himſelfe with the portion of the kings meat, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore he required the cheife of the Eunuches that he might not defile himſelfe.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the cheife of the Eunuches)

10 And the cheife of the Eunuches ſayd vnto Daniel, n I feare my lorde the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he ſee your faces worſe liking then the other children, which are of your ſort, then ſhall ye make mee loſe mine head vnto the king.

11 Then ſayd Daniel to Melzar, whom the cheife of the Eunuches had ſet ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael and Azariah.

12 Proue thy ſeruants, I beſeech thee, o ten dayes, and let them giue vs p pulſe to eate, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

c Who was as maſter of the wards.

d He calleth them eunuches whom the King nouriſhed and brought vp to be rulers of other countreys afterward.

e His purpoſe was to keepe them as hoſtages, and that he might ſhew himſelfe victorious, and alſo by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and ſo to bee able to ſerue him as gouernours in their land: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might bee better kept in ſubiection, fearing otherwiſe to procure hurt to theſe noble men.

f The King required three things, that they ſhould bee of noble birth, that they ſhould bee wittie and learned, and that they ſhould bee of a ſtrong and comely nature, that they might doe him better ſeruice: this hee did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praiſe his liberalitie: yet in this hee is worthy prayſe, that hee eſteemed learning, and knewe that it was a neceſſary meane to gouerne by.

g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey faſhions, to ſerue him the better to his purpoſe: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points hee refuſed the abuſe of things and ſuperſtition, inſomuch that hee would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.

h That by their good entertainement, they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people, i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and alſo their tongue.

k As well to ſerue at the table, as in other offices.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of ſome point of religion: therefore this was a great tentation and a ſigne of ſeruitude which they were not able to reſiſt.

m Not that he thought any religion to be in the meate or drinke (for afterward he did eate) but becauſe the King ſhould not entiſe him by this ſweete poyſon, to forget his religion and accuſtomed ſobrietie, and that in his meate and drinke he might dayly remember of what people hee was: and Daniel bringeth this in to ſhew how God from the beginning aſſiſted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

n He ſuppoſed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he repreſenteth them which are of no religion: for neither he would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

o Meaning, that within this ſpace hee might haue the triall, and that no man ſhould be able to diſcerne it: and thus he ſpake, being moued by the Spirite of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate daintie meates and drinke wine, as before and after they did, but if they ſhould haue hereby beene wonne to the King, and haue refuſed their owne religion, that meat and drinke had bene accurſed.

the kings meat: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proued them tenne dayes.

15 And at the end of tenne dayes, their [q] countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking then all the children, which did eat the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they should drinke and gaue them pulse.

17 As for these foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning [r] and wisedome: also hee gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all [s] visions and dreames.

18 Nowe when the time was [t] expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the Eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the king communed with them: and among them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Mithael, and Azariah: therefore stood they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wisedome, and vnderstanding that the king enquired of them, he found them ten times better then all the inchanters & astrologians, that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto [u] the first yeere of King Cyrus.

q This bare feeding and that also of Moses, whē he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must liue in such sobriety as God doth call vs vnto, seeing he will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all dainties: for his blessing onely sufficeth.

r Meaning, in the liberall sciences, and natural knowledge, and not in the magicall artes which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.

s So that he only was a Prophet & none of the other: for by dreames and visions God appeared to his Prophets, Numb. 16. 6. t Of the three yeeres aboue mentioned, verse 5. u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as that common wealth stood.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchadnezzar. 13 The king commaudeth al the wise men of Babylon to be slaine, because they could not interprete his dream. 16 Daniel requireth time to solute the question. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the king, and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlasting kingdom of Christ.

AND in the second yeere of the raigne of [a] Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed [b] dreames wherewith his spirit was [c] troubled, and his [d] sleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the king commanded to call the inchanters, and the astrologians & the sorcerers, and the [e] Caldeans for to shewe the King his dreames: so they came and stood before the King.

3 And the King sayd vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then spake the Caldeans to the king in the [f] Aramites language, O king liue for euer: shew thy seruants thy dreame, and we shall shew the interpretation.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name. So that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a sort w his father.

b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare & strange a dreame that he had not had the like.

d He was so heauy with sleepe, that he began to sleep a gaine. Some read, & his sleep was broken from him.

e For all these astrologers and sorcerers called themselues by this name of honour, as though all the wisdome and knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were voyd of the same.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, and therfore the learned vsed to speake it: as the Iewish writers doe this day.

5 And the King answered and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be drawen in pieces, & your houses shalbe made a iakes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame and the interpretation of it.

7 They answered againe, and sayd, Let the King shewe [h] his seruantes the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King answered and sayde, I know certainely that yee [i] would gaine the time, because yee see the thing is gone from me.

9 But if yee will not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying & corrupt words, to speake before me til the time be changed: therefore tell mee the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare me the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and sayde, There is no man vpon earth, that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lord that asked such thinges at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

12 For this cause the King was angrie and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and they sought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisedome to Arioch the Kings [k] chiefe steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15 Yea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the Kings captaine, Why is the sentence so hastie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went and desired the king that hee would giue [l] leasure, and that hee would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiah, Mithael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they should beseech the God of heauen for grace in this secrete that Daniel and his fellowes should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19 Then was the secrete reuealed vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel prayed the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel answered and said, [m] The Name of God be prayed for euer and euer: for wisedom and strength are his.

21 And hee changeth the times and seasons: he taketh away kings: hee setteth vp kings: hee giueth wisedome vnto the wise, and g This is a iust reward of their arrogancy (which vanted of themselues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they should be proued fooles, and that to their perpetual shame and confusion.

h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge whereas but mere ignorance, & so as deluders of the people, they were worthy to dye.

i Which declareth, that God would not haue his seruant ioyned in the company of these sorcerers and astrologers, whose arts were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to die, though the king did it vpon a rage, and no zeale.

k Or, the captaine of the gard.

Psalme 113. 2. and 115. 18.

k He sheweth that man hath neither wisdome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes and ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promise, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interpret it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as verse 13 and the rest at Daniels offer were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie, because the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, and not considering if their science were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason & arte is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding only thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth the king with a certaine feare & reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receiue the high mysteries that should bee reuciled.

p Because he had said that God onely must reueile the signification of this dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it, and therefore he sheweth that he was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set foorth his glory.

q By golde, siluer, brasse and yron, are meant the Caldean Persian, Macedonian & Romane kingdome, which should successiuely rule all the world till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe, and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not end with the empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the comming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth Monarchie.

and vnderstãding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secrete things: he knoweth what is in the darknes, and the n light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and prayse thee, O thou God of my l fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisedome and m strength, and hast shewed me nowe the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordained to destroy the wisedome of Babel: he went and sayd thus vnto him, Destroy not n the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the king the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in all haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that wil declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shewe me the dreame, which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and sayd, The secrete which the king hath demaunded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the soothsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in o heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchad nezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and hee that reuealeth secrets, reuealeth thee what shall come.

30 As for mee, the secret is not shewed mee for any wisedome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but only to shewe the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine q gold, his breast and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legs of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without handes, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the Summer flowers, and the winde carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 O King, thou art a king of kings, for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the fielde, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art r this head of golde.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, s inferiour to thee, of siluer, and another t third kingdome shall be of brasse, which shal beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall bee strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron u burieth all these things, so shall it breake in v pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall bee w diuided, but there shall bee in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with x the seed of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron can not be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which y shall neuer bee destroyed: and this kingdome shall not bee giuen to another people, but it shall breake, and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest, that the z stone was cut off the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer and the golde: so the great God hath shewed the king what shall come hereafter: the dreame is certaine, and the interpretation thereof faithfull.

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonians, both because it was not a Monarchie and generall empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect among their wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonians kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning, the Persians, which were not inferiour in dignitie, power, and riches, but were worse touching ambition, cruelty, and all kinde of vice: shewing, that the world should growe worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shall be of brasse, not alluding to the hardnesse thereof, but the vilenesse in respect of siluer.

u That is, the Romane empire shall subdue all these other aforenamed, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians and Egyptians.

x They shall haue ciuill warres, and continuall discords among themselues.

y They shall by marriages and affinities, thinke to make themselues strong, yet shall they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shew that all the kingdoms of the world are transitorie, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man, whose kingdome at the beginning shoulde be small and without beautie to mans iudgement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse 35. And this kingdome which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof, shall be as small: for the spirite that is in them, is like as small, Rom. 8. 10.

the great God hath shewed the king what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and [b] bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and sayd, I know of a trueth that your [c] God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reueiler of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great [d] gifts. He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel [e] made request to the King, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the [f] gate of the king.

b Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserue commendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproued, and Daniel herein erred if he suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault, and did not suffer it.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeareth soone afterward. d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuity, and also he receiue them, lest he should offend this cruell king, which willingly gaue them. e He did not this for their priuate profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some release & ease by this benefit. f Meaning, that either he was a Iudge, or that hee had the whole authority, so that none could be admitted to the kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The king setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they disposed the Kings commaundement, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzer confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the king made [a] an image of golde, whose height was three score cubites, and the breadth thereof sixe cubites: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent [b] to gather together the nobles, the Princes and the Dukes, the Iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the [b] dedication of the [b] image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the [c] King had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cried aloud, Be it knowen to you, O people, [d] nations, and languages,

5 That when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the middes of a hote fierie fornace.

7 Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackebut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and sayde to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he should be cast into the mids of an hote fierie fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, [e] Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O King, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake, and said vnto them, [f] What diligence? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 [f] Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe, & worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediatly into the mids of an hote fierie fornace: for who is that God that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered, and sayde to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, wee are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Beholde our God whom wee serue, is able a Vnder pretence of religion and holinesse, in making an image to his idole Bel, he sought his owne ambition & vaine glorie: and this declareth, that he was not touched with [g] true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are ouercome with the greatnesse of his works. The Greeke interpreters write that this was done eighteene yeeres after the dreame and as may appeare, the king feared least the Iewes by their religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his owne quietnesse then Gods glorie.

b Shewing that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workeman: but when the ceremonies and customes are recited & vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god. c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approoue their religion, if the kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the crueltie of the punishment: for though some feared God, yet the multitude which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and here the king required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true religion.

e It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking if these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying that he would receiue them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

g For they should haue done iniurie to God if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first on the power and prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatrie.

i This declareth that the more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whom he giueth patience & constancie to abide the crueltie of their punishment: for either he deliuereth them frō death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the King called this Angel, whom God sent to comfort his in their great torments, the sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace, till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him foorth.

m He was moued by the greatnesse of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to content men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned, without the which there can be no faith.

h able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O King.

18 But if not, bee it knowen to thee, O King, that wee will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the fourme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commaunded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen i times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hot fierie fornace.

21 So these men were bounde in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the midst of the hote fierie fornace.

22 Therefore because the kings commandement was straite, that the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slewe those men that brought foorth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the midst of the hote fierie fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and said vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast three men bound into the midst of the fire? Who answered, and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And hee answered, and saide, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the fourme of the fourth is like the k sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fierie fornace, and spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruants of the High God, goe foorth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego l came foorth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: so not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and saide, m Blessed bee the God of Shadrach Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruaunts, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, and perished their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any n blasphemie against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be drawen in pieces, and their houses shall be made a iakes, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar king vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the o world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and woonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me.

33 Howe great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! p his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

i suffer double punishment. o Meaning so farre as he is extended. p Reade Chap. 2 44.

CHAP. IIII.

a Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king he should become as a beast. 31 After he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar being at a rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Sawe a b dreame, which made mee afrayd, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore I made a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto mee the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but c they could not shew me the interpretation thereof,

5 Til at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was d Belteshazzar, according to the name of my God, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, e chiefe of the inchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And beholde, I saw a f tree in the middes of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadowe vnder it for the beastes of the field, and the n If this heathen king inclosed by Gods spirit would not see blasphemie vnpunished, but made a law, and set a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that professe religion, to take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they

a There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which hee saw of the foure empires for Daniel both declared what that dreame was, and what it meant: and here he only expounded the dreame.

c In that that he sent abroad to others whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and lest Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessity, and then they seare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel, not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God. e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet to be numbred among the sorcerers, and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word. f By the tree, is signified the dignitie of a king, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinde of men, and whose state is profitable for mankinde.

foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head, vpon my bed, and beholde, a g watchman, and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cried aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches, shake off his leaues, & scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheleſſe leaue the ſtumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of iron and braſſe bind it among the graſſe of ỹ field, and let it bee wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the graſſe of the field.

13 h Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart bee giuen vnto him, and let ſeuen times be paſſed ouer him.

14 i The ſentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of ỹ holy ones: the demand was anſwered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the moſt High hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomſoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the moſt abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue ſeene: therefore thou, O Belteſhazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wiſe men of my kingdome are not able to ſhew mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whoſe name was Belteſhazzar) held his k peace by the ſpace of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King ſpake and ſayd, Belteſhazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteſhazzar anſwered, and ſaid, My lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou ſaweſt, which was great and mighty, whoſe height reached vnto the heauen, and the ſight thereof through all the world,

18 Whoſe leaues were faire and the fruite thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beaſtes of the fielde dwelt, and vpon whoſe branches the foules of the heauen did ſit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mightie: for thy greatneſſe is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the king ſaw a watchman, and an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and ſayde, Hewe downe the tree, and deſtroy it, yet leaue the ſtumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a bande of yron and braſſe binde it among the graſſe of the fielde, and let it bee wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beaſtes of the fielde, l till ſeuen times paſſe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the moſt High, which is come vpon my lord the King, 22 That they ſhall drive thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eate graſſe as the m oxen, and they ſhall wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and ſeuen times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, till thou know, that n the moſt High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whomſoeuer he will.

23 Whereas they ſayde, that one ſhoulde leaue the ſtumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome ſhall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou ſhalt know, that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counſell be acceptable vnto thee, and o breake off thy ſinnes by righteouſnes, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there be an p healing of thine errour.

25 All theſe things ſhall come vpon the king Nebuchad-nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue q moneths, he walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the king ſpake and ſayd, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the houſe of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maieſtie?

28 While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voice came downe from heauen, ſaying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee he it ſpoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they ſhall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling ſhall bee with the beaſts of the field: they ſhall make thee to eate graſſe, as the oxen, and ſeuen times ſhall paſſe ouer thee, vntill thou knoweſt, that the moſt High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomſoeuer he will.

30 The very ſame houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and he was driuen from men, and did eate graſſe as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of heauen, till his haires were growen as Egles feathers, and his nailes like birdes clawes.

31 And at the ende of theſe r dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderſtanding was reſtored vnto me, and I gaue thankes vnto the moſt High, and I praiſed and honoured him that liueth for euer, s whoſe power is an euerlaſting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: t according to his will he worketh in the army of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can ſtay his hand, nor ſay vnto him, What doeſt thou?

33 At the ſame time was mine vnderſtanding reſtored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was reſtored vnto mee, and my counſellers u and my princes ſought vnto mee, and I was eſtabliſhed in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Nowe therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar to ſtand content therewith, and giue him the glory. t By whom it ſeemeth that he had bene put from his kingdome before.

u praiſe

g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor ſleepeth, but is euer ready to do Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is euer holy: & in that that he commaundeth to cut downe this tree, he knew ỹ it ſhould not be cut downe by man, but by God.

h Hereby he meaneth ỹ Nebuchad-nezzar ſhould not onely for a time loſe his kingdome, but be like a beaſt.

i God hath decreed his iudgement, and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were ſubſcribed vnto it, like as alſo they deſire the execution of his decree againſt all them that lift vp themſelues againſt God.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he ſaw ordeined againſt the king: and ſo the Prophets vſed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compaſſion vpō man, and alſo to conſider that they ſhould be ſubiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pitie.

l Whereby he meaneth a long ſpace, as ſeuen yeeres. Some interprete ſeuen moneths, and others ſeuen weekes: but it ſeemeth he ment of yeeres.

m Not that his ſhape or forme was changed into a beaſt, but that he was either ſtriken mad, and ſo auoided mans company, or was caſt out for his tyranny, and ſo wandred among ỹ beaſts, and ate herbes and graſſe.

n Daniel ſheweth the cauſe why God thus puniſhed him.

o Ceaſe from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy ſinnes, that hee may mitigate his puniſhment, if thou ſhew by thine vpright life that thou haſt true faith and repentance.

p Suffer the errours of thy former life to be redreſſed.

q After that Daniel had declared this viſion: and this his pride declareth that it is not in man to conuert to God except his Spirit moue him, ſeeing that theſe terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

r When the terme of theſe ſeuen yeres was accompliſhed, Chap. 7. 14. micah. 4. 7. Iuke 1. 33.

s He confeſſeth Gods will to be the rule of all iuſtice, & a moſt perfit law whereby he gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, ſo that none ought to murmure or aske a reaſon of his doings, but onely praise, and extoll and magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgment, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

a He doth not onely praise God for his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault, that God may onely haue the glory and man the shame, and that he may be exalted and man cast downe.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the King cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

a Daniel reciteth this history of king Belshazzar Euil merodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgments against the wicked, for the deliuerance of his Church, and how the prophesie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuenty yeeres.

KIng a Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine b before the thousand.

b The kings of the East parties then vsed to sit alone commōly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how little he set by his enemy, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemne banker, and vsed excesse in their company, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are most dissolute and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

2 And Belshazzar ‖ whiles hee tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his c father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the d Gods house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines dranke in them.

d In contempt of the true God they prayed their idoles, not that they thought that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certaine vertue and power in them to do them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters. e That it might the better be seene. f So hee that before contemned God, was mooued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements. g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God, because they seeke not to him who is the onely comfort in all afflictions. h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

4 They dranke wine and prayed the d gods of golde and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood, and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of the kings palace, e the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his f knees smote one against the other.

7 Wherefore the King cryed loude, that they should bring g the Astrologians, the Caldeans & the soothsayers. And the king spake and sayde to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writing, and declare me the interpretation therof, shall bee clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall bee the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the king the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Nowe the h Queene by reason of the talke of the King and his Princes, came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and sayd, O king, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirite of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisedome like the wisedome of the gods, was founde in him: whom the king Nebuchad-nezzar thy father the king, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the i Inchanters, Astrologians, Caldeans, and Soothsayers,

12 Because a more excellent spirite, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were founde in him, euen in Daniel, whom the king named Beltheshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake, and sayde vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

i Reade Chap. 4. 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vse these vile practises, because he was not among them when all were called.

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that k the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding and excellent wisedome is founden thee.

k For the idolaters thought, that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophesie, and vnderstanding came of them.

15 Nowe therefore, wise men, and Astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they shoulde reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof: but they coulde not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou coulde set the interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shew me the interpretation therof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and saide before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O King, heare thou, the most High God gaue vnto l Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour and glory.

l Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be mooued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations and languages trembled, and feared before him: hee put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom hee would hee let vp, and whom hee would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his minde hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dewe of the heauen, till hee knew that the most High God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that hee appointeth ouer it whomsoeuer hee pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things,

23 But

23 But hast lift thy selfe vp against the Lorde of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue dronke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and gold, of brasse, yron, wood, and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstande: and the God in whose hande thy breath is and all thy waies, him hast thou not glorified.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

24 m Then was the palme of the hande sent from him, & hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, n MENE, MENE, TEKEL VPHARSIN.

n This word is twise written for the certaintie of the thing shewing that God had most surely counted, signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable ende shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the balance, and art found ‖ too light.

‖ Or, wanting.

28 PERES, thy kingdom is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar, they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

o Cyrus his sonne in law gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius ° of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore & two yeere old.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a den of lions by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome a an hundreth and twenty gouernours, which should bee ouer the whole kingdome, a Reade Esther, Chap. 1. 1.

2 And ouer these three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should haue no damage.

‖ Or, not be troubled.

3 Nowe this Daniel b was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirite was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and gouernours ° sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for he was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walk vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

5 Then sayde these men, Wee shall not finde an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayd thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the king, and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O king, he shall be cast into the denne of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius d sealed the writing and the decree.

d Herein is condemned the wickednes of the king, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approued for the maintenance of the same.

10 ¶ Nowe when Daniel vnderstoode that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his ° windowe being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as he did afore time.

e Because hee would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when he prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people whe they should pray toward that Temple, and also that others might see, that hee would neither consent in heart nor deed for these fewe dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the King concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any God or man within thirty dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall bee cast into the denne of lions? The king answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayd vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the King heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniell, to deliuer him: and he laboured till the Sunne went downe to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and sayd vnto the king, Vnderstand, O King, that the Law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the King confirmeth, may bee ‖ altered.

‖ Thus the wicked maintaine euill lawes by constancie and authoritie, which is oftentimes either lightnesse, or stubbornesse, when as the innocents thereby perish: and therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

16 ¶ Then the king commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layde vpon the mouth of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musicke brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lions.

20 And when hee came to the denne, hee cried with a lamentable voice vnto Daniel: and and the king ſpake, and ſayd to Daniel, O Daniel, the ſeruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway ſerueſt) able to deliuer thee from the lyons?

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledged of God, becauſe he doubted of his power.

21 Then ſayd Daniel vnto the king, O king, liue for euer.

22 My God hath ſent his Angel, & hath ſhut the lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt me: for my h iuſtice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done i no hurt.

h My iuſt cauſe and vprightneſſe in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approued of God.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commaunded that they ſhould take Daniel out of the den: ſo Daniel was brought out of the denne, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, becauſe he k beleeued in his God.

i For he did diſobey the kings wicked commandement to obey God, and ſo did no iniurie to the king, who ought to command nothing, whereby God ſhould be diſhonoured.

24 And by the commaundement of the king, theſe men which had accuſed Daniel, were brought, and were l caſt into the denne of lions, euen they, their children, and their wiues: and the lyons had the maſterie of them, and brake all their bones in pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the denne.

k Becauſe hee committed himſelfe wholly vnto God whoſe cauſe he did defend, he was aſſured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherein we ſee the power of faith, as Heb. 11. 33.

25 ¶ Afterwarde king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and feare m before the God of Daniel: for hee is the a liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome ſhall not periſh, and his dominion ſhalbe euerlaſting.

l This is a terrible example againſt all the wicked, which doe againſt their conſciences make cruell lawes to deſtroy the children of God, and alſo admoniſheth Princes how to puniſh ſuch, when their wickednes is come to light: though not in euery point, or with like circumſtances, yet to execute true iuſtice vpon them.

27 He reſcueth & deliuereth, and he worketh ſignes and woonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons.

28 So this Daniel proſpered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Perſia.

m This prooueth not that Darius did worſhip God aright, or els was conuerted: for then he would haue deſtroied all ſuperſtition and idolatry, and not onely giuen God the chiefe place, but alſo haue ſet him vp, and cauſed him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine confeſſion of Gods power, whereunto he was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

n Which hath not onely life in himſelfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickneth all things, ſo that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A viſion of foure beaſts is ſhewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beaſt. 27 Of the euerlaſting kingdom of Chriſt.

IN the firſt yere of Belſhazzar king of Babel, Daniel ſaw a dreame, and there were viſions in his head, vpon his bed: a then he wrote the dreame, & declared the ſumme of the matter.

a Whereas the people of Iſrael looked for a continuall quietneſſe after theſe ſeuentie yeeres, as Ieremiah had declared, he ſheweth that this reſt ſhall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Meſſiah bee vttered and reuealed, by whom they ſhould haue a ſpirituall deliuerance, and all the promiſes fulfilled: whereof they ſhould haue a certaine token in the deſtruction of the Babylonicall kingdom.

2 Daniel ſpake, and ſayd, I ſawe in my viſion by night, and beholde, the foure winds of the heauen ſtrene vpon b the great ſea:

b Which ſignified that there ſhould be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world in all corners of the world, and at ſundry times.

3 And foure great beaſts came vp from the ſea, one diuers from another.

4 The firſt was as a c lion, and had egles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and ſet vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

c Meaning the Aſſyrian & Caldean Empire, which was moſt ſtrong and fierce in power, and moſt ſoone come to their authoritie, as though they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Perſians, and they went on their feet, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

5 And behold, another beaſt which was the ſecond, was like a d beare, and ſtood vpon the e one ſide: and he had three ribbes in his f mouth betweene his teeth, & they ſayd thus vnto him, Ariſe, and deuoure much fleſh.

d Meaning the Perſians which were barbarous and cruell.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a g leopard, which had vpon his backe h foure wings of a fowle: the beaſt had alſo foure heads, and i dominion was giuen him.

e They were ſmall in the beginning, and were ſhut vp in their mountaines and had no breit.

7 After this, I ſawe in the viſions by night, and beholde, the k fourth beaſt was fearefull, and terrible, and very ſtrong, It had great l yron teeth: it deuoured, and brake in pieces, and ſtamped m the reſidue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beaſts that were before it: for it had n tenne hornes.

f That is, deſtroyed many kingdoms, and was inſatiable.

8 As I conſidered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little o horne, before whom there were three of g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this meanes publiſhed the ingratitude of the world.

h Meaning, Alexander the king of Macedonie.

i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the Empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Aſia the great, Antigonus the leſſe, Caſſander and after him Antipater was king of Macedonie, and Ptolemeus had Egypt.

k It was not of himſelfe, nor of his owne power, that hee gate all theſe countreys: for his armie conteined but three thouſand men, and he ouercame in one battel Darius, which had tenne hundred thouſand, when he was ſo beaſtie with ſleepe, that his eyes were ſeaſe open, as the ſtories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God.

l That is, the Romane Empire, which was as a monſter, and could not be compared to any beaſt, becauſe the nature of none was able to expreſſe it.

m Signifying the tyrranny and greedineſſe of the Romanes.

n That which the Romanes could not quietly inioy in other countreys, they would giue it to other Kings and rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberalitie is heere called the ſtamping of the reſt vnder the feet.

o That is, ſundry and diuers prouinces, which were gouerned by the Deputies and Proconſuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King.

p Which is meant of Iulius Cæſar, Auguſtus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but becauſe they could not rule, but by the conſent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot bee applyed vnto them. And alſo in this propheſie the Prophets ſpirit is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Chriſt. Some take it for the whole body of Antichriſt.

q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a parte from the whole eſtate was plucke away. For Auguſtus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chuſing the Deputies to ſend into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernment of certaine countreys to himſelfe, the first hornes pluckt away: and beholde, in this horne were [r] eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the [s] thrones were set vp, and the [t] Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snowe, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fierie streame issued, and came foorth from before him, thousande thousands ministred vnto him, and tenne thousande [u] thoulands stoode before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, [v] because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As [w] concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, beholde, [x] one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and [y] approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him, 14 And he gaue him [z] dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations, and languages, should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shal neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was [a] troubled in my spirite in the middes of my bodie, and the visions of mine head made me afrayd.

16 Therefore I came vnto [b] one of them that stoode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so hee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth, 18 And they shall take the [c] kingdom of the Saints of the [d] most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this, I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so [e] vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the [f] residue vnder his feet.

20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose [g] looke was more stout then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same [h] horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Until [i] the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saints possessed the kingdom.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shalbe the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shal be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, & shal tread it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that shall rise: & another shall rise after them, and he shalbe vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue [k] three kings,

25 And shall speake wordes against [l] the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that hee may [m] change times and lawes, and they shall be giuen into his hand, vntill a [n] time, and times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the [o] iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the [p] kingdome, and dominion, r These Romane Emperours at the first vsed a certeine humanitie, and gentlenesse, and were content that others, as the Consuls & Senate should beare the name of dignity, so that they might haue the profit, and therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselues according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies & those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

s Meaning the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgment should beginne at the first comming of Christ.

t That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement.

x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly reuealed by his Gospell.

y Meaning, that hee was astonied, when he sawe these Emperours in such dignitie and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchie was subiect to men of other nations.

z As the three former Monarchies had an ende at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enioy the promise.

a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the sonne of Dauid according to the flesthe, as hee was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being seperate from the common sort of men by the manifest signes of his diuinitie.

b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine Maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour.

c This is meant of the beginning of Christes kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee should gouerne here his Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternall life.

d Through the strangenesse of the vision.

e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4.13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdom thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an end at length.

g That is, of the most hie things, because God hath chosen them out of this world that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three Monarchies were gouerned by a king, and the Romane Empire by consuls: the Romans changed their gouernours yeerely, and the other monarchies reteined them for terme of life: also the Romans were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet amongst themselues.

i Reade verse 7.

k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other.

l Meaning the Romane Emperors, who were most cruell against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his some rest, and so obteined a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdom of God.

n Reade the exposition hereof ver. 8.

o That is, shall make wicked decrees & proclamations against Gods word, and send thorowout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it.

p These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c.

q God shall suffer them thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length hee will asswage these troubles, and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matth. 24.22. which is heere meant by the diuiding of time.

r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne that it shall neuer rise vp againe.

s Hee sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they doe not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these wordes, Vnder the heauen: and therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

and the greatnes of the kingdom vnder the whole heauen shall be giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdom, and all[s] powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many [t] cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

s That is, some of euery sort that bare rule.

t Though hee had many motions in his heart which mooued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

1 A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goate. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

[a] IN the third yere of the reigne of king Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto mee, euen vnto me Daniel, [b] after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince [c] of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Ulai.

3 Then I looked vp and saw, and behold, there stood before [d] the riuer a [e] ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was [f] higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, and against the North, and against the South: so that no [g] beasts might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, [h] a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an [i] horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being mooued against him, hee [k] smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great [l] horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that [m] appeared toward the foure windes of the heauen.

9 And out of one of them came forth a [n] little horne, which waxed very great toward the [o] South, and toward the [p] East, and toward the [q] pleasant land.

10 Yea, it grewe vp vnto the [r] hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them,

11 And [s] exalted himself against [t] the prince of the hoste from whom the [u] daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And [x] a time shall bee giuen him ouer the daily sacrifice for [y] the iniquitie: and it shall [z] cast downe the truth to the ground, & thus shall it do, and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the [a] Saintes speaking, and one of the Saints spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the [b] desolation to tread both the Sanctuary and the [c] armie vnder foote?

14 And [d] he answered me, Vnto the [e] euening, and the morning, two thousand & three hundreth: then shall the Sanctuary bee cleansed.

15 ¶ Now when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, beholde, there stood before me [f] like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voice betweene the bankes of Ulai, which called and sayde, Gabriel, [g] make this man to vnderstand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, & fell vpon my face: but he sayd vnto me, Vnderstand, O sonne of man: for [h] in the last time shalbe the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking vnto mee, I being asleepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, & set me vp in my place.

19 And he sayd, Behold, I will shew thee what shall bee in the last [i] wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the kings of [k] Mede and Persians.

21 And the goat is the king of Grecia, and the great horne that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broken, and foure stood vp for it, are foure kingdoms, which shal stand vp [l] of that nation, but not in his strength.

23 And in the ende of their kingdom, when the rebellious shalbe consumed, a king of [m] fierce countenance, and vnderstanding a After the generall vision he commeth to certaine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the Monarchie of the Persians and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

b That is, of Persia.

c Which represented the kingdom of the Persians and Medes which were ioyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle and father in law.

e That is, no kings or nations.

f Meaning, Alexander that came from Grecia with great speed and expedition.

g Though hee came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.

h Alexander ouercame Darius in two sundry battels, and so had the two kingdoms of the Medes and Persians.

i Alexanders great power was broken for when he had ouercome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia, to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so died by the way.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteen yere, there were fifteen diuers successors before this monarchy was deuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia. Seleucus, Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, and also there were other between him & the kingdome, & therefore is here called the little horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtaine this kingdome.

m That is, toward Egypt.

n Where by he meaneth Prole-mais.

o That is, Iudea.

p Antiochus raged against the elect of God, and trode his precious starres vnder feet, which are so called, because they are separated from the world.

q That is, God who gouerneth and maintaineth his Church.

r He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a little corner from all the rest of the world to haue his name there truly called vpon.

s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whom he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

t This horne shal abolish for a time the true doctrine, and so corrupt Gods seruice.

u Meaning, that he heard one of the Angels: a king this question of Christ, whom he calleth a certaine one, or a secret one, or a marueilous one.

x That is, the Iewes sinnes, which were cause of this destruction.

y That is, which suppresseth Gods religion, and his people.

z Christ answered mee for the comfort of the Church.

a That is, vntill so many naturall dayes be past, which make fiue yeeres, three moneths and an halfe: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

b Which was Christ, who in this maner declared himselfe to the old fathers how he would be God manifested in the flesh.

c This power to command the Angel declared that he was God.

d The effect of this vision shal not yet appeare, but a long time after.

e Meaning that great rage which Antiochus should shew against the Church.

f That is, out of Grecia, g They shall not haue like power as had Alexander.

h Noting that this Antiochus was impudent, and cruel, and also crafty that he could not be deceiued.

i That is, not like Alexanders strength.
k Both the Gentiles that dwell about him, and also the Iewes.
l Whatsoeuer he goeth about by his craft, he shall bring it to passe.
m That is, vnder preience of peace, or as it were in sport.
n Meaning, against God.
o For God would destroy him with a notable plague, and so comfort his Church, 2. Mac. 9. 9.
p Reade verse 24.
q For feare and astonishment.

barke sentences shall stand vp.
24 And his power shall be mighty, but not in i his strength: and hee shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practise, and shall destroy the k mighty, and the holy people.
25 And through his l policie also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand, & hee shall extoll himselfe in his heart, and by m peace shall destroy many: he shall also stand vp against the n Prince of princes, but he shall be broken downe o without hand.
26 And the vision of the p euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore seale thou vp the vision, for it shalbe after many dayes.
27 And I Daniel was striken and sicke q certaine dayes: but when I rose vp, I did the kings businesse, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstoode it.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God, which he had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the vision of the seuenty weekes. 24 The anoynting of Christ. 25 The building again of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

a Who was also called Assyages.
b For Cyrus led with ambition, went about warres in other countreys, and therefore Darius had the title of the kingdome, though Cyrus was king in effect.
c For though he was an excellent Propher, yet he daily increased in knowledge by reading of the Scriptures.
d He speaketh not of that ordinary prayer, which hee vsed in his house thrise a day, but of a rare and vehement prayer, lest their sinnes should cause God to delay the time of their deliverance prophesied by Ieremiah.
e That is, hast all power in thy selfe to execute thy terrible iudgements against obstinate sinners, as thou art rich in mercie to comfort them which obey thy word and loue thee. ‡ Ebr. him.
f Hee sheweth that whensoeuer God punisheth, hee doeth it for iust cause: and thus the godly neuer accuse him of rigour as the wicked doe, but acknowledge that in themselues there is iust cause why hee should so intreat them. ‡ Ebr. confusion of face,

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of a Ahasuerosh, of the seed of the Medes, which was made king ouer the b realme of the Caldeans,
2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by c bookes the nimber of the yeeres, whereof the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.
3 And I turned my face vnto the Lorde God, and d sought by prayer and supplications with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.
4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lorde God, which art e great and fearefull, and keepest couenant & mercie toward them which loue ‡ thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,
5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie and haue done wickedly, yea, wee haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.
6 For wee would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our Kings, to our Princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.
7 O Lord, f righteousnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs ‡ open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, & to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreys, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they haue committed against thee.
8 O Lorde, vnto vs appertaineth open shame to our g Kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because wee haue sinned against thee.
9 Yet compassion and forgiuenes is in the Lorde our God, albeit wee haue rebelled against him.
10 For wee haue not obeyed the h voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which he had laid before vs by the ministery of his seruants the Prophets.
11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy Lawe, and are turned backe, and haue not heard thy voice: therefore the i curse is powred vpon vs, and the othe that is written in the lawe of Moses the seruant of God, because wee haue sinned against him.
12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which he spake against vs, and against our iudges that ‖ iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not bene the like, as hath beene brought vpon Ierusalem.
13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the LORD our God, that wee might turne from our iniquities, and vnderstand thy trueth.
14 Therefore hath the Lord ‡ made readie the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lorde our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for wee would not heare his voyce.
15 * And nowe, O Lorde our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and hast gotten thee renowme, as appeareth this day, wee haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.
16 O Lord, according to all thy k righteousnesse, I beseech thee, let thine anger and thy wrath bee turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem & thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.
17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to l shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lieth waste for the m Lords sake.
18 O my God, incline thine eare, and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne n righteousnes, but for thy great o mercies.
19 O Lord, heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord p consider, and doe it: deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.
20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, & did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the g He doeth not excuse the Kings because of their authority, but prayeth chiefly for them as the chiefe occasions of these great plagues.

h He sheweth that they rebell against God, which serue him not according to his commandement and word.
i As Deut. 27. 15 or the curse confirmed by an othe.
‖ Or, governed vs.
‡ Ebr. watched vpon the euil, Exod. 14. 28, haruc. 2. 11.
k That is, according to all thy promises and the performance thereof.
l Shew thy selfe fauourable.
m That is, for thy Christes sake, in whom thou wilt accept all our prayers.
n Declaring, that the godly flee onely vnto Gods mercies, and renounce their owne workes when they seeke for remission of their sinnes.
o Thus he could not content himselfe with any vehemencie of words: for hee was so led with a feruent zeale, considering Gods promise made to the city in respect of his Church, and for the aduancement of Gods glory,

Chap.8.16.

p He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophesie, who prophesied that their captiuitie should be seuentie yeeres: but now Gods mercy should seuenfold exceede his iudgement which should be foure hundred & ninetie yeres, euen to the comming of Christ, and so then it should cõtinue for euer.

q Meaning, Daniels nation, ouer whome he was carefull, r To shew mercie, and to put sinne out of remembrance.

s That is, from the time that Cyrus gaue them leaue to depart.

t These weekes make 49. yeere, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and 3. to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting from the first yeere of Darius who gaue the second commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 434. yeeres, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple, vnto the Baptisme of Christ. † Ebr. In streites of time.

x In this last weeke of the seuentie, shall Christ come and preach and suffer death.

y He shall seeme to haue no beautie, nor to be of any estimation, as Isa.52.2.

z Meaning, Titus Vespasians sonne, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recouery.

a By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promise, first to the Iewes, & after † to Gentiles.

b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection.

c Meaning that Ierusalem & the Sanctuary should be vtterly destroyed for their rebellion against God, & their idolatry: or as some reade, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be astonied at them.

the holy † foundation of my God,

21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man [c] Gabriel whome I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched me about the time of the euening oblation.

22 And hee informed mee, and talked with me, and sayde, O Daniel, I am now come foorth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came foorth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seuentie [p] weekes are determined vpon [q] thy people, and vpon thine holy citie to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the [r] sinnes, & to reconcile the iniquitie, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnesse, and to seale vp the vision and prophetie, and to anoint the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from the [s] going forth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to build Ierusalem, vnto [t] Messiah the prince, shall bee seuen [u] weekes, and [x] threescore and two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a † troublous time.

26 And after threescore & two [x] weekes, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall [y] haue nothing, and the people of [z] the prince that shall come, shall destroy the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the ende thereof shall bee with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battell it shall be destroyed by desolations.

27 And he shall [a] confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the midst of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice & the oblation to [b] cease, [c] and for the ouerspreading of the abominations, hee shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shall be powred vpon the desolate.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 11 which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

In the [a] third yeere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Beltesshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was [b] long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time, I Daniel was in [d] heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoint my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the fourt and twentieth day of the [e] first moneth, as I [f] was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man [g] clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine golde of † Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightning, and his eies as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his words was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with me, saw not the vision: but a great feare fell vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, & saw this great vision, & there remained no strength in me: for my [h] strength was turned in mee into corruption, and I retained no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his words: and when I heard the voyce of his words, I slept on my face: and my face was towarde the ground.

10 And behold, an hand [i] touched mee, which set mee vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of my handes, 11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when hee had sayd this word vnto mee, I stood trembling.

12 Then said he vnto me, Feare not Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the [k] prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood me one and twenty dayes: but loe, [l] Michael one of the chiefe princes, came to helpe mee, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the [k] vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these words vnto mee, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, [l] one like the similitude of the sonnes of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and sayd vnto him that stood before me, O my Lorde, [m] by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue retained no strength.

17 For howe can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lorde being such one? for as for mee, streightway there remained no strength in mee, neither is there breath left in me.

c Called Abib, which contayneth part of March, and part of April.

d Being caryed by the spirit of prophesie to haue the light of this riuer Tygris.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophesie that followeth, Iere.10.9.

f The word also signifieth comelinesse or beauty, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformitie.

g Which declareth that when we are striken downe with the maiestie of God, we cannot rise, except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.

h Meaning, Cambyses, who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not onely for this space hinder the building of the Temple, but would haue farther raged, if God had not sent me to resist him, and therefore haue I stayed for the profite of the Church.

i Though God could by one Angel destroy al the world, yet to assure his children of his loue, he sendeth foorth double power, euen Michael, that is, Christ Iesus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel should end and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the comming of Christ for the comfort of his Church.

l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

m I was ouercome with feare and sorow, when I saw the vision, n He declareth hereby that God would be merciful vnto the people of Israel.

18 Then

o Which declareth that when God smiteth downe his children, he doth not immediatly lift them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twise) but by litle and litle.

p Meaning, that he would not only himselfe bridle the rage of Cambyses, but also the other kings of Persia by Alexander the king of Macedonia.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me, 19 And sayde, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: n peace bee vnto thee: bee strong and of good courage. And when hee had spoken vnto me, o I was strengthened, and sayde, Let my Lorde speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then sayde he, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but nowe will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the p prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shewe thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: q and there is none that holdeth with mee in these things, but Michael your prince.

q For this Angell was appoinred for the defence of the Church vnder Christ, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

1 A prophesie of the kingdomes which should be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 2 8 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romans.

ALso I, in the first yeere of Darius of the Medes, euen I, a stood to encourage and to strengthen him.

a The Angel affireth Daniel that God hath given him power to perfourme these things, seeing he appointed him to assist Darius when he ouercame the Caldeans.

2 And now will I shew thee the trueth. Beholde, there shall stande vp yet b three Kings in Persia, and the fourth shall bee farre richer then they all: c by his strength, and by his riches he shal stirre vp all against the realme of Grecia.

b Whereof Cambyses that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, the third Darius the sonne of Hystaspis, and the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and stoode against them.

3 But a d mightie King shall stande vp, that shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his pleasure.

c For he raised vp all the East countries to fight against the Grecians: and albeit hee had in his armie nine hundred thousand man, yet in foure battels hee was discomfited and fled away with shame.

4 And when hee shall stande vp, e his kingdome shall be broken, f and shall bee diuided toward the e foure windes of heauen: and not to his g posteritie, nor according to h his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shal be pluckt vp, euen to be for others beside i theirs.

d That is, Alexander the great.

e For when his estate was most flourishing, he ouercame himselfe with drinke, and so fell into a disease: or as some write, was poisoned by Cassander.

f For his twelue chiefe princes first diuided his kingdome among themselues.

g After this his monarchie was diuided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus Egypt.

h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition and crueltie, in causing his posteritie to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, and partly one of another.

i None of these foure shalbe able to be compared to the power of Alexander.

5 And the k King of the South shall bee mightie, and one of l his princes, and shall preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shall be a great dominion.

k That is, his posteritie hauing no part thereof.

6 And in the end of yeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the kings m daughter of the South shall come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but thee shall not retaine the power of the n arme, neither shall o hee continue, nor his p arme: but thee shalbe deliuered to death, q they that brought her, and r hee that begate her, and he that confforted her in these times.

m That is, Berenice the daughter of Ptolemeus Philadelphus shall bee giuen in mariage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinity that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

n That force and strength shall not continue: for soone after Berenice and her yong sonne after her husbands death, was slaine of her stepsonne Seleucus Calinicus the sonne of Laodice, the lawfull wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans sake.

o Neither Ptolemeus, nor Antiochus, p Some reade, seede, meaning the childe begotten of Berenice.

q Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succeede in the kingdome, being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

r Some reade, shee that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp 7 But out of the bande of her s rootes shall one stande vp in his stead, t which shall come with an armie, and shall enter into the fortresse of the king of the North, and doe with them as he list, and shall preuaile.

s To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

8 And shall also carry captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shall continue u moe yeeres then the king of the North.

t For this Ptolemeus reigned fiue and fortie yeeres.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shal returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his x sonnes shal be stirred vp, and shal assemble a mightie great army: and one y shall come and ouerflow, and passe thorow: then shall z he returne, and be stirred vp at his fortresse.

u Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the sonnes of Calinicus shall make warre against Ptolemeus Philopater the sonne of Philadelphus.

x For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was slaine whiles the warres were preparing.

y That is, Philopater when hee shall see Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and also ready to inuade Egypt.

z For Antiochus had fiue thousande horsemen and threescore thousande footemen.

11 And the King of the South shall bee angrie, and shall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the King of the North: for hee shall set forth a great a multitude, and the multitude shall bee giuen into his hand.

a After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolemeus Epiphanes his heire.

12 Then the multitude shall be proude, and their heart shall bee lifted vp: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but he shall not still preuaile.

13 For the King of the North b shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mighty armie, and great riches.

b Neither Ptolemeus nor Antiochus,

14 And at the same time there shall c many stand vp against the King of the South: also the rebellious children of thy d people shall exalt themselues to stablish the vision, but they shall fall.

c Some reade, shee that begate her, and thereby vnderstand her nurse, which brought her vp so that all they that were occasion of this mariage, were destroyed.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast vp a mount, and take the strong citie: and the armes of the South shall e not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to withstand.

d Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes after the death of his father Philadelphus, should succeede in the kingdome, being of the same stocke that Berenice was.

e To reuenge his sisters death against Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

16 But hee that shall come, shall doe with to him as he list, and none shall stande af Which was occasion of Seleucus flattering many men, and thereby to get the kingdom, and f He sheweth that he shall not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautifull woman, which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For he regarded not the life of his daughter, in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall loue her husband, as her duety requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the sea called Mediterraneum: for the Iewes called all countreys yles, which were diuided from them by sea.

m For whereas Antiochus was woont to contemne the Romans, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Consull, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For feare of the Romans he shall flee to his holdes.

p For when as vnder the pretence of powrtie hee would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodonæus, the countrey men slewe him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeed his father Antiochus.

r Not by forreine enemies, or battell, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell, and flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdom, and vsurped the kingdome without the consent of the people.

t Hee sheweth that great forraine power shall come to helpe the yoong sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall be ouerthrowen.

u Meaning Ptolemeus Philometor Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is heere called the prince of the couenant, because he was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battell, Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For hee came vpon him at vnawares, and when he suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning, in Egypt.

a He will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b He shall be ouercome with treason.

against him: and he shall stand in the f pleasant land, which by his hand shall bee consumed.

17 Againe hee shall s set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shal he do, and hee shall giue him the h daughter of women, to destroy i her: but k she shal not stand on his side, neither be for him.

18 After this shall hee turne his face vnto the l yles, and shall take many: but a prince m shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon m himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the fortes of his o owne land: but he shalbe ouerthrowen and fall, and be no more p found.

20 q Then shall stand vp in his place in the glory of the kingdome, one that shall raise taxes: but after fewe dayes hee shall bee destroyed, neither in r wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a f vile person, to whom they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the s armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the t couenant.

23 And after x the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a y small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers z haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall diuide among them the pray and the spoile, and the substance, yea, and hee shall forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a a time.

25 Also he shall stir vp his power and his courage against the king of the South with a great army, and the king of the South shal be stirred vp to battell with a very great and mighty armie: but he shall not b stand: for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of c his meat, shall destroy him: and his armie d shall ouer flow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall be to doe e mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auaile: for f yet the ende shall bee at the time appointed.

28 Then shall hee returne into his land with great g substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall he do and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shal returne, and come towarde the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships h of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shalbe sory and returne, and fret against the holy couenant: so shall he doe, he shall euen returne i and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.

31 And armes k shall stande on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie l of strength, and shall take away the dayly sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly m breake the couenant, shall hee cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do know their God, shal prouaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among n the people, shall instruct many: o yet they shall fall by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoyle, many dayes.

34 Nowe when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a p little helpe: but many shal cleaue vnto them q fainedly.

35 And some of them r of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white, till the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

c Signifying his princes and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his soulders shall burst out & venture their life to slay and to bee slaine for the safegard of their prince.

e The vncle and the nephew shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their hearts they shall imagine mischiefe one against another.

f Signifying, that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God who ruleth the kings by a secret bridle, that they can not do what they list themselues.

g Which hee shall take of the Iewes in spoyling Ierusalem and the Temple, and this is toldo them before, to moouе them to patience, knowing that all things are done by Gods prouidence.

h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romans name: to which thing he obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage, he came against the people of God the second time.

i With the Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first he was called against the Iewes by Iason the high Prieft, and this second time by Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall holde with Antiochus.

l So called because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God.

m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but in deede were nothing lesse: for they solde their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n They that remaine constant among the people, shall teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

o Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.

p As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet wil he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as he did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof he here prophesieth.

q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many hypocrites.

r To wit, of them that feare God, and will lose their life for the defence of true religion, signifying also, that the Church must continually be tried and purged, and ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey.

f Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchie of the Romans, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God, t So long the tyrants shall prevaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romans shall obserue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shall change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them, and prefer themselues to their gods.

x Signifying, that they should be without all humanitie: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1 26.

y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their gods, and worship it.

36 And the f king shall do what him list: he shal exalt him selfe, and magnifie him selfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, and shall prosper till the wrath t be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall hee regard the u God of his fathers, nor the desires x of women, nor care for any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the y god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not, shall he honour with x gold and with siluer, and with precious stones, and with pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the z holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge, he shall encrease his glory, and shall cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the ende of time shall the king of the a South push at him, and the king of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde, with charrets, and with horsemen, and with many shippes, and hee shall enter into the countreyes, and shall ouerflow and passe thorow.

41 Hee shall enter also into the b pleasant land, and many countreyes shall bee ouerthrowen: but these shall escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chiefe of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his handes also vpon the countreyes, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shal haue power ouer the treasures of golde and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Boyes where hee shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall c trouble him: therefore he shall goe forth d with great wrath to destroy and root out many.

45 And he shall plant the tabernacles e of his palace betweene the seas in the glorious and holy mountaine, yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the world, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power and riches. a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods, and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers thereof, that the profite euer came to the Romans. b That is, both the Egyptians and the Syrians shall at length fight against the Romans, but they shalbe ouercome. c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that when they should see the Romans inuade them, and that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as he warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserue them. d Hearing that Crassus was slaine, and Antiochus discomfited. e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost. f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelnie God shall destroy them

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

AND at that a time shall Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shal be a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there beganne to be a nation vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shalbe deliuered, euery one that shall be found written in the booke.

2 And many b of them that sleepe in the dust of the earth, shall awake, some to euerlasting life, and some to shame & perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be c wise, shall shine, as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that d turne many to righteousnes, shall shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, e shut vp the wordes, and seale the booke f till the end of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shall be encreased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the g riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one sayd vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shalbe the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his h right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and I ware by him that liueth for euer, that it shall cary for a i time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished k to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shalbe finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then sayd I, O my Lord, what shall be the end of these things?

9 And he sayd, Go thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall be purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly, and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the l dayly sacrifice shall be taken away, & the abominable desolation set vp, there m shall be a thousand two hundreth and ninetie dayes.

12 Blessed is he that waiteth and commeth to the thousand three hundreth and n fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But go o thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

a The Angell here noteth two things: first that the Church shall be in great affliction & trouble at Christs comming, & next that God will send his Angel to deliuer it whom here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel, b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrectiō, which thing hee here name.h, because the faithfull should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth there shalbe no sure comfort, c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion, d He chiefly meaneth the ministers of Gods word, & next all the faithful which instruct the ignorant, and bring them to the true knowledge of God.

e Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it sure and esteeme it as a treasure.

f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things: and then many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obteine now by the light of the Gospel, g Which was Tigris. h Which was as it were a double othe, and did the more confirme the thing. i Meaning, a long time, a longer time, and at length a short time: Signifying that their troubles should haue an end. k When the Church shall be scattered and diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power. l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shall take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the Law. m Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christs second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to bee discouraged, though it be deferred. n In this number he addeth a moneth and an halfe to the former number, signifying that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing. o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

Hosea.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that the tenne tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtill counsell of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebar, and in stead of his true seruice commaunded by his worde, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore nowe when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioath, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of fiuentie yeeres, though they remained still in their vices and wickednesse, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetenesse of Gods promises, hee setteth before them the two principall parts of the Lawe, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part hee directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, hee vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law contein these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly both the time of Gods iudgements, and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THE worde of the Lorde that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of [a] Azzi-ah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah [b] kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lorde spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and children of fornications: for the lande hath committed great whoredom, departing from the Lord.

3 So hee went, and tooke [d] Gomer, the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name [e] Izreel: for yet a little, and I will visit the blood of Izreel vpon the house [f] of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that [g] day will I also breake the bowe of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

6 She conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name [h] Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pitie vpon the house of Israel: but I will vtterly [i] take them away.

7 But I will haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will [k] saue them by the Lorde their God, and will not saue them by bowe, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Nowe when she had weined Lo-ruhamah, she conceiued, and bare a sonne.

9 Then sayd God, Call his name [l] Loammi: for yee are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the [m] children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot bee measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was sayd vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel bee [n] gathered together, and appoint themselues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the [o] day of Izreel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper, was deposed from his kingdome.

b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings, that he preached aboue three score yeeres.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but bee saw this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatrie of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.

d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figges, declaring, that they were all corrupt like rotten figges.

e Meaning, that they shoulde bee no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2. Kings 10. 8, 11.

f I will be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that hee shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for he built vp that idolatrie, which he had destroyed.

g When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.

h That is, not obteining mercy: whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauor was departed from them.

i For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.

k For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by the meanes of Cyrus, Ezra 1. 1.

l That is, not my people.

m Because they thought that God could not haue bene true in his promise, except he had preserued them, he declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the seants of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26.

n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should bee the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shall be so great, that to restore them shalbe as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatrie and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy vnto your [a] brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah.

2 Plead with your [b] mother: plead a Seeing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercy.

b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forsoke them, Isa. 50. 1.

with

with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, and her adulteries from betweene her breasts,

3 d Lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that shee was borne, and make her as a wildernes, and leaue her like a dry land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the f children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: shee that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my g louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore beholde, I will stop h thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that she shall not finde her paths.

7 Though shee follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall she say, i I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Nowe she did not know that I k gaue her corne, and wine, and oile, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, & take away l my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wool and my flaxe lene to couer her shame.

10 And nowe will I discouer her m lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feastes.

12 And n I will destroy her vines and her figtrees, whereof she hath saide, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them.

13 And I will visit vpon her the dayes of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and shee decked her selfe with her earings and her iewels, and shee followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore, beholde, I wil allure her, and bring her into the wildernes, & speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyardes from thence, & the valley of Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, & as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call mee p Ishi, and shalt call mee no more q Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembred by their names.

18 And in that day will I make a couenant for them, with the wilde beastes, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I will breake the bowe, and the sword and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I will marry thee vnto mee in righteousnesse, and in iudgement, and in mercie, and in compassion.

20 I will euen marry thee vnto mee in r faithfulnes, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare s the heauens, and they shall heare the earth, 22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oile, and they shall heare Iezreel.

23 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercy vpon her, that was not pitied, & I will say to them which were not my people, t Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shall bee cast off for their idolatrie. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

Then sayd the Lord to me, a Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and b loued the wine bottels.

2 So c I bought her to mee for fifteene pieces of siluer, & for an homer of barley and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with d mee many dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt bee to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall e remain many dayes without a king, and without a f prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lorde their God, and g Dauid their King, & shall feare the Lord, and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

c Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16.25.

d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparel & dowry & certaine signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, he would vtterly destroy them.

e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16.4.

f That is, bastards, and begotten in adulterie.

g Meaning, the idols which they serued and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.

h I will punish thee, that then thou mayest try whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such straitnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.

i This he speaketh of the faithfull which are truely conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profite of Gods rods.

k This declareth that idolaters defraud God of his honor, when they attribute his benefits to their idoles.

l Signifying, that God wil take away his benefits when man by his ingratitude doeth abuse them.

m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies, and inuentions whereby shee worshipped her idols.

n I will punish her for her idolatrie.

o By shewing how harlots trim themselues to please others, hee declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselues on their holy dayes.

p By my benefits in offering her great grace and mercie, euen in that place where shee shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort.

q Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernes, as Iosh 7.26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life.

r Shee shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant.

t That is, my master: which name was applied to their idoles.

u No idolatrie shall once come into their mouth, but they shall serue me purely according to my word.

x Meaning, that he will so bless them, that all creatures shall fauour them.

y With a couenant that neuer shalbe broken.

z Then shall the heauen desire raine for y earth, which shall bring forth for the vse of man.

Rom. 9.25. 1. Pet. 2.10.

a Heerein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before hee called her, and did not withdraw the same when she gaue herselfe to idoles.

b That is, gaue themselues wholly to pleasures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennesse.

c Yet I loued her, and payed a small portion for her, lest she perceiuing the greatnesse of my loue, should haue abused me and not bene vnder duety: for fifteene pieces of siluer were but halfe the price of a slaue, Exod. 21.32.

d I will trie thee a long time as in thy widowhood whether thou wilt be mine or no.

e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ.

f That is, they should neither haue policie nor religion, and their idoles also wherein they put their confidence, should be destroyed.

g This is meant of Christes kingdome, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternall, Psal. 72.17.

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel.

Heare

HEare the word of the Lord, yee children of Israel: for the Lord [a] hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercie, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and [b] blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowles of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shalbe taken away.

4 Yet [c] let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the [d] day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy [e] mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because [f] thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seeing [g] thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were [h] increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 [i] They eat vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their minds in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall be like people, like [k] priest: for I will visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eate, and not haue enough: they shall [l] commit aduoutrie, & shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 [m] Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine, take away their heart.

12 My [n] people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the [o] spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hils vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadowe thereof is good: therefore your daughters shall be [p] harlots, and your spouses shalbe whores.

14 I will not [q] visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet [r] let not Iudah sinne: come not ye vnto [s] Gilgal, neither goe yee vp to [t] Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly heifer. How the Lord will feede them as a [u] lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennesse stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, [x] Bring ye.

19 The winde hath [y] bound them vp in her wings, and they shall bee ashamed of their sacrifices.

a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement seat of God against whome they chiefely offended, Ier.7.13, Micah.6.1,2. Zech.12.10.

b In euery place appeareth a libertie to most heinous vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another.

c As though he would say, that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the Prophets and Priests whose office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

d Ye shall perish all together: the one, because he would not obey, and the other because he would not admonish.

e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boastest.

f That is, the Priests shall be cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge, they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut.33.3. Mal.2.7.

g Meaning, the whole body of the people which were weary with hearing the word of God.

h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.

i To wit, the Priestes seeke to eate the peoples offerings, and flatter them in their sinnes.

k Signifying that as they haue sinned together, so shall they be punished together.

l Shewing that their wickednesse shalbe punished on all sorts: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shall be deceiued of their hope.

m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like brute beasts.

n That hee speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which now for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stockes and stickes, o They are carried away with a rage.

p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idoles, therefore he will giue them vp to their lusts, that they shall dishonour their owne bodies, Rom.1.28.

q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation, r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learne by their example to returne in time, s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in time past by his presence yet because it was abused by their idolatrie, hee would not that his people should resort thither.

t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped.

u God will so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certaine place.

x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will command men to bring them vnto them.

y To carie them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and Rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is in vaine.

OYe Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue yee care, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue beene a [a] snare on Mizpah, and a net spred vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to [b] slaughter, though I haue beene a [c] rebuker of them all.

3 I know [d] Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from mee: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the midst of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the [e] pride of Israel doeth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel and Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for he hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten [f] strange children: now shall a moneth deuour them with their portions.

8 Blow yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shawme in Ramah: crie out at Beth-auen, after thee, O [h] Beniamin.

9 Ephraim shalbe desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to [i] know the truetth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that [k] remoue the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in a The Priestes and Princes catched the poore people in their snares, as the fowlers did the birds, in these two high mountaines.

b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holinesse, and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.

c Though I had admonished thē continually by my Prophets.

d They boasted themselues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning their contemning of all admonitions.

f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

g Their destruction is not farre off.

h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying that the Lords plagues should punish them from place to place, till they were destroyed.

i By the successe they shall know that I haue surely determined this.

k They haue turned vpside downe all politike order, and all maner of religion.

judgement, because he willingly walked after the [l] commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sickenesse, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto [m] Ashur, and sent vnto king [n] Iareb: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be vnto Ephraim as a lyon, and as a lyons whelpe to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoile, and go away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

[a] COme, and let vs [b] returne to the Lord: for hee hath spoiled, and hee will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.

2 After two dayes will [b] hee reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and we shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and endeuoure our selues to knowe the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vpon the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I entreate thee? for [c] your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I [d] cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and [e] thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired [f] mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like [g] men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 [h] Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues wait for a man, so the company of Priests murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene vilanie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a [i] plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

[l] To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God.

[m] In sted of seeking for remedy at Gods hand.

[n] Who was king of the Assyrians.

[a] He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord that he might call backe his plagues.

[b] Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

[c] You seeme to haue a certaine holinesse, and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, and as a morning cloud.

[d] I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my worde was not meete to feede them, but a sword to slay them.

[e] My doctrine which I taught thee, was most euident.

[f] He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice. [g] That is, like light and weake persons. [h] Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, & which should haue bene best instructed in my word. [i] That is, doth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken graffes of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

WHen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely: and the [a] theefe commeth in, and the robber spoileth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the [b] king glad with their wickednesse, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very [c] ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 This is the [d] day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue [e] deuoured their Iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength, and he knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there vpon him, yet hee knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a [h] doue deceiuable, without [h] heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Ashur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them downe as the foules of the heauen: I will chastice them as their [i] congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shal be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue cried vnto me with their hearts, [l] when they howled vpon their beds: [m] they assemble themselues for corne and wine, and they rebell against me.

15 Though I haue bound, and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bowe: their princes shall fall by the sworde, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shall be their derision in the land of Egypt.

[a] Meaning that there was no one kinde of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickednesse, both secret and open.

[b] They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.

[c] He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still till his dough be leauened and raised.

[d] They vsed all riot and excesse in their feasts and solemnities wherby their king was ouercome with surfet, & brought into diseases, and delighted in flatteries.

[e] By their occasion God hath depriued them of all good rulers.

[f] That is, he counterfeiteth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other: that is, neither through hote nor through cold, but partly a Iewe and partly a Gentile.

[g] Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.

[h] That is, without all iudgement, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.

[i] According to my curses made to the whole congregation of Israel. [k] That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death. [l] When they were in affliction, & cried out for paine, they sought not vnto me for helpe. [m] They onely seeke their owne commodity and wealth, and passe not for me their God. [n] Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psal. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie, a God encourageth the Prophet to signifie the speedy comming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.

Ser

b They shall cry like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deedes declare.

c That is, Ieroboam by whom they sought their owne libertie, and not to obey my will.

d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.

e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wildernes.

f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew, and in it selfe is but vanitie.

g They neuer cease but runne to and fro to seeke helpe.

h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.

i Thus the idolaters count the worde of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions. k Saying that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

SEt the trumpet to thy mouth: he shal come as an Egle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Lawe.

2 Israel shall [b] cry vnto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemie shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a [c] king, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knewe it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without [d] innocencie?

6 [e] For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall bee broken in pieces.

7 For they haue [f] sowen the wind, & they shal reape the whirlewinde: it hath no stalke: the bud shal bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shal they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Assur: they are as a [g] wilde asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, nowe will I gather them, and they shall sorow a litle, for the [h] burthen of the king, and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Lawe: but they were counted as a [i] strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but [k] the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will sende a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

a For although all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.

b Thou hast commited idolatrie in hope of reward, and to haue thy barnes filled, Ier. 44. 17.

REioyce not, O Israel, for ioy, [a] as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued [b] a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 [c] The floore, & the wine presse shall not feed them, & the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They wil not dwel in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Assur.

4 They shall not offer [d] wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices bee pleasant vnto him: but they shall bee vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall be polluted: for their bread [e] for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye doe [f] then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lorde?

6 For loe, they are gone from [g] destruction: but Egypt shal gather them vp, & Memphis shall bury them: the nettle shal possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the thorne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: [h] the prophete is a foole: the spirituall man is madne, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] should be with my God: but the prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the house of his God.

9 They [k] are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore he will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I founde Israel like [l] grapes in the wilderne: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figtree at her first time: but they went to Baal-peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abominations were according to [m] their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a birde: from the birth [n] and from the wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I wil depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree [o] in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lorde, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a barren wombe and dry breastes.

15 All their wickednes is in [p] Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no frute: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

c The meate offering which they offered for themselues.

d When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shall be the most grieuous point of your captiuitie, when you shall see your selues cut off from God.

e Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.

f Then they shall know that they were deluded by them who challenged to themselues to be their Prophets and spirituall men.

g The Prophets duetie is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.

h This people is so rooted in their wickednes, that Gibeah which was like to Sodome, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg. 19. 22.

i Meaning, that he so esteemed them and delited in them.

k They were so abominable vnto me, as their louers destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little and litle.

l As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserue them from the coldeaire of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I will giue him to the slaughter.

m The Prophet seing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then this great slaughter should come vpon their children.

n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little and litle.

o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserue them from the coldeaire of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I will giue him to the slaughter.

p The Prophet seing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then this great slaughter should come vpon their children.

q The chiefe cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

c These outward things that they seeke, shall be taken from thee. d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shall be reiected as things polluted.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

ISrael is an a emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the b goodnesse of their lande they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is c diuided: now shal they be found faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, d We haue no king because we feared not the Lord: and what should a king do to vs?

4 They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsly in making a e couenant: thus f iudgement groweth as wormwood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall g feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the h Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall be also brought to Ashur, for a present vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed, as the some vpon the water.

8 The hie places also of i Auen shalbe destroyed, euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shal say to the mountaines, k Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast l sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not m touch them.

10 It is my desire that I should chastice them, and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two n furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delite o in threshing: but I will passe by her q faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plowe, and Iaakob shall breake his clods.

12 Sow to your selues in righteousnes: reape after the measure of mercie: r breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lorde, till he come ſ raine righteousnes vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten ſ fruit of lyes: because thou didst trust in thine owne waies, & in the multitude of thy strong mē,

14 Therefore shall a tumult rise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall bee destroyed, as t Shalman destroyed Betharbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el doe vnto you, because of your malicious wickednes: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lorde towarde Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel a was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but b they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim, and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knewe not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cordes c of a man, euen with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I layd the meate vnto them.

5 He shall no moze returne into the land of Egypt: but Ashur shal be his d king, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though e they called them to the most High, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 f How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shal I make thee, as g Admah? how shall I set thee as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: h my repentings are rouled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenesse of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the middes of thee, and I will not enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: he shall roare like a lyon: when he shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 i They shall feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a doue out of the land of Ashur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth k with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

CHAP. XII.

Hee admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God and not in men.

EPhraim is fed a with the winde, and followeth after the East winde: he increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Ashur, and b oyle is caried into Egypt.

2 The Lorde hath also a controuersie with c Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his wayes, according to his workes will he recompense him.

d Seeing that God did thus preserue Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.
e Reade Gen. 32.31.
f God found Iaakob as he lay sleeping in Beth-el, Gene. 28.12. and so spake with him there, that the fruite of that speech appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof wee are.
g As for Ephraim, he is more like the wicked Canaanites then Godly Abraham or Iaakob.
h Thus the wicked measure Gods fauour by outward prosperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any should reproue their doings.
i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefites, I will bring thee againe to dwell in tents as in the feast of the Tabernacles, which thou doest now contemne. k The people thought that no man durst haue spoken against Gilead that holy place, and yet the Prophet saith, that all their religion was but vanitie. l If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, ye seeme to reproch your father who was a poore fugitiue and seruant. m Meaning, Moses, whereby appeareth, that whatsoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodnesse.

3 Yet tooke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his strength hee had d power with God,
4 And had e power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: hee wept and prayed vnto him: f he found him in Beth-el, and there he spake with vs.
5 Yea, the Lord God of hostes, the Lord is humielie his memoriall.
6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope still in thy God.
7 He is g Canaan: the balances of deceite are in his hand: he loueth to oppresse.
8 And Ephraim said, Notwithstanding, I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they shall finde none iniquitie in me, h that were wickednes.
9 Though I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in i the dayes of the solemne feast.
10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied visions, & vsed similitudes by the ministery of the Prophets.
11 Is there k iniquitie in Gilead? surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullockes in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 And cause of their destruction.

a Hee sheweth the excellencie and authoritie that this tribe had aboue all the rest.
b He made a king of his tribe.
c The Ephraimites are not farre from destruction, and haue lost their authority.
d The false prophets perswaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and he sheweth how they would exhort one another to the same, and to kisse and to worship these calues which were their idoles.

WHen Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: he b exalted himselfe in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, c and is dead.
2 And nowe they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmen: they say one to another whiles they sacrifice a d man, Let them kisse the calues.
3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloude, and as the morning dewe that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the floore, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.
4 Yet I am the Lorde thy God e from the land of Egypt, and thou shalt know no God but me: for there is no Sauiour beside me.
5 I did knowe thee in the wildernesse, in the land of drought.
6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.
7 And I will be vnto them as a beare lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Asshur.
8 I will meete them as a beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the hall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lyon: the wilde beast shall teare them.
9 O Israel, thee f hath destroyed thee, but in me is thy helpe.
10 g I am: h where is thy King, that should helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy Iudges, of whom thou saydest, Giue mee a king, and princes?
11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I tooke him away in my wrath.
12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is i bound vp: his sinne is hid.
13 The sorrowes of a trauailing woman shall come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, else would he not stand still at the time, euen at the i breaking foorth of the children.
14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I will deliuer them from death: O k death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will bee thy destruction: l repentance is hid from mine eyes.
15 Though hee grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shall come, euen the winde of the Lorde shall come vp from the wildernesse, and dry vp his veine, and his fountaine shall bee dried vp: hee shall spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

e He calleth them to repentance, and reproueth their ingratitude.
f Thy destruction is certaine, and my benefites toward thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatrie and vaine confidence in men must needes be the cause thereof.
g I am all one, Iames 1.17.
h It is surely laid vp to be punished, as Ier. 17.1.
i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger, wherein he is, and not tary to be stifeled.
k Meaning, that no power shal resist God when he will deliuer his, but euen in death will he giue them life.
l Because they will not turne to me, I will not change my purpose.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria, 2 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requireth praise and thankes.

SAmaria shall be desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shall fall by the sworde: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript.
2 O Israel, a returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquity.
3 Take vnto you wordes, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, b Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calues of our c lippes.
4 Asshur shall d not saue vs, neither will we ryde vpon horses, neither will wee say any more to the worke of our handes, Yee are our Gods: for in thee the fatherlesse findeth mercie.
5 e I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.
6 I will bee as the dewe vnto Israel: hee shall growe as the lillie, and fasten his a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoid all these plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

b He sheweth them how they ought to confesse their sinnes.

9 Ephraim shall say, What have I to doe any more with idoles? I a have heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene fyrre tree: vpon mee is thy fruite found.

10 Who is b wise, & he shall understand these things? and prudent, and hee shall knowe them? for the wayes of the Lorde are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

f Whosoeuer loyne themselues to this people, shall be blessed g God sheweth how prompt hee is to heare his, when they repēt, and to offer him selfe as a protection and saueguard vnto them, as a most sufficient fruit and profit.

Ioel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being nowe punished with a great plague of famine remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew dayly to a more hatdnesse of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly hee exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart, because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be mercifull, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and liberty, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophesie against the Iewes. 2 Hee exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

THe worde of the Lorde that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare yee this, O a Elders, and hearken all yee inhabitants of the lande, whether b such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shewe to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the residue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the catterpiller eaten.

5 Awake ye c drunkards, and weepe, and howle all ye drinkers of wine, because of the newe wine: for it shall bee pulled from your mouth.

6 For, d a nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lyon, and hee hath the fawes of a great lyon.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of the figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the e husband of her youth.

9 The meate offring, and the drinke offring is f cut off from the house of the Lorde: the Priestes the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The fielde is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: & the newe wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

11 Bee yee ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers for the wheat, and for the barley, because the haruest of the fielde is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the fig tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 g Girde your selues and lament, yee Priestes, howle yee ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackecloth, yee ministers of my God: for the meate offering, and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the lande into the House of the Lord your God, and crie vnto the Lord.

15 Alas: for the day, for the h day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seede is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 Howe doth the beastes mourne? the heards of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I crie: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beastes of the field cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the i fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernes.

CHAP. II.

1 How prophesieth of the comming and cruelty of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

BLowe k the trumpet in Sion, and shoute in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the lande tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

2 A l day of darkenesse, and of blackenesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon the mountaines, so is there a m great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shal be any more after it, vnto the yeres of many generations.

f Signifying the Princes, the Priestes, and the Gouernours.

b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgments, who had nowe plagued the frutes of the ground for the space of foure yeere, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.

c Meaning, that the occasion of the excesse and drunkennesse, was taken away.

d This was an other plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp the Assyrians against them.

e Mourne grieuously as a woman which hath lost her husband, to whom shee hath beene married in her youth.

f The tokens of Gods wrath in his Temple, in so much as Gods seruice was left off.

g All comfort and substance for nourishment is taken away.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to auoyd Gods wrath, and to haue all things restored is vnfained repentance.

i We see by these great plagues that vtter destruction is at hand.

k That is, drought.

a He sheweth the great iudgements of God which are at hand, except they repent.

b Of affliction and trouble.

c Meaning, the Assyrians.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behinde him a flame burneth vp: the lande is as the garden of d Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wildernesse, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, & like the horsmen, so shal they run.

5 Like the noise of charets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces e shall gather blacknesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths.

8 Neither shall one f thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the swoorde, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shal runne to and fro in the city: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the g sunne and the moone shall bee darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lorde shall h vtter his voyce: before his host: for his host is very great: for he is strong that doeth his word: for the day of the Lorde is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also nowe the Lorde saith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning, 13 And i rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth, if he wil k returne and repent and leaue a blessing behinde him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the Congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the children, and those that sucke the breastes: let the bridegroome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of his bride chamber.

17 Let the Priestes, the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lorde, and giue not thine heritage into reproch that the heathē should rule ouer them, l Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be m ielous ouer his land and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lorde will answere and say vnto his people, Beholde, I will send you corne and wine, and oyle, and you shall bee satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen, 20 But I wil remoue farre off from you the n Northerne armie, and I will drine him into a land, barren and desolate, with his face toward the o East sea, and his ende to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because hee hath exalted himselfe to doe this.

21 Feare not, O land, bee glad and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid, ye beastes of the field: for the pastures of the wildernesse are greene: for the tree beareth her fruite: the figge tree and the vine do giue their force.

23 Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of p righteousnes, * and he wil cause to come downe for you the raine, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheat, and the presses shal abound with wine & olle.

25 And I will render you the yeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worm and the caterpiller, and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

26 So you shal eate and be satisfied, and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Ye shall also knowe that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward wil I powre q out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shal prophesie: your old men shall dreame r dreames, and your young men shall see visions, 29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I will shew s wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The t sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whosoeuer shal call vpon the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued: for in mount Zion, and in Ierusalem, shalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath sayd, and in the u remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

k He speaketh this to stirre vp their slouthfulnes, and not that hee doubted of Gods mercies, if they did repent. How God repenteth, reade Iere. 18.8.

l That as al haue sinned, so all may shew forth signes of their repentance, that men seeing the children, which are not free frō Gods wrath, might be the more liuely touched with the consideration of their owne sinnes. Psalme 79.10.

q That is, in greater abundance, & more generally then in time past: & this was fulfilled vnder Christ, when as Gods graces, and his Spirit vnder the Gospel was abundantly giuen to the Church, Isa. 44.3. 32.2.17. ioh. 7.38, 39.

r As they had visions & dreames in olde time, so shall they nowe haue clearer reuelations.

s He warneth the faithfull what terrible things should come to the intent that they should not looke for continuall quietnesse in this world, and yet in all these troubles he would preserue them.

u Gods iudgements are for the destruction of the infidels, & to moue the godly to call vpon the Name of God, who will giue them saluation, x Meaning hereby the Gentiles, Rom. 10.13.

a When I shall deliuer my Church, which standeth of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

b It appeareth that he alludeth to that great victory of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chron. 20.26. also he hath respect to this word Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.

c That which the enemie gate for the sale of my people, he bestowed vpon harlots and drinke.
d Het taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemie, as though the iniurie were done to himselfe.
e Haue I done you wrong, that yee will render me the like?
f For afterward God sold them by Nebuchad-nezzar, & Alexander the great for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.
g When I shall execute my iudgments against mine enemies, I will cause every one to be ready, and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another for my Churches sake.

Iehoshaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they haue scattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue cast lots for my people, & haue giuen the child for the harlot, & sold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coastes of Palestina? will yee render me a recompense? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I render your recompense vpon your head:

5 For yee haue taken my siluer and my golde, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Iudah and the children of Ierusalem haue you solde vnto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

7 Beholde, I will raise them out of the place where yee haue solde them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head,

8 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Iudah, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

10 Beate your plowshares into swords, and your sithes into speares: let the weake say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selues, and come all yee heathen, and gather your selues together round about: there shall the Lord cast downe thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoshaphat: for there will I sit to iudge all the heathen round about.

h Thus he shall incourage the enemies when their wickednesse is full ripe, to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.
i God asswageth his against all troubles, that when hee destroyeth his enemies, his children shall be deliuered.
k The straungers shall no more destroy his Church: which if they do, it is the people which by their sinnes make the breach for the enemie.
l He promiseth to his Church aboundance of grace, reade Ezekiel 47.1. which shoulde water and comfort the most barren places, Amos 9.13.

13 Put in your h sithes, for the harvest is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepresse is full: yea, the wine pittes runne ouer, for their wickednesse is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne and moone shalbe darkned, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voice from Ierusalem, and the heauens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord, your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then shall Ierusalem be holy, and there shall no straungers go thorow her any more.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines i drop downe new wine, and the hilles shall flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah shall run with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the house of the Lorde, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 k Egypt shall bee waste, and Edom shall be a desolate wildernes, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, because they haue shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah shall dwell for euer, and Ierusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will l clense their blood, that I haue not clensed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

m The malicious enemies shall haue no part of this grace. n Hee had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthinesse, but now promiseth to clense them and to make them pure vnto him.

Amos.

THE ARGVMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednes & idolatry, he stirred vp Amos, who was an heardman or sheepheard of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and constancie to reproue all estates & degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had sinned as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfayned repentance. And finally hee comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Messiah, by whom they should haue perfit deliuerance and salvation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord against Damascus, 6 the Philistims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THe wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen a at Tecoa, which he saw vpon Israel, in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah, and in the dayes of b Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel, two yere before the c earthquake.

2 And he sayd, The Lord shall roare from Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the sheepheards shall perish, and the toy of d Carmel shall wither.

a Which was a towne fiue miles from Ierusalem in Iudea, but he prophesied in Israel.
b In his dayes the kingdome of Israel did most flourish.
c Which, as Iosephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue vsurped the Priests office, and therefore was striken with the leprosie.

d Whatsoeuer is fruitfull and pleasant in Israel shal shortly perish.

3 ¶ Thus sayeth the Lorde, For e three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue f thresshen Gilead with threshing instruments of yron.

e Hee sheweth first that all the people round about should be destroyed for their manifolde sinnes: which are meant by three and foure which make seuen, because the Israelites should the more deepely consider Gods iudgements toward them.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall deuoure the g palaces of Ben-hadad.

f If the Syrians shall not be spared for committing this cruelty against one side, it is not possible that Israel should escape punishment, which hath committed so many and grieuous sinnes against God and man. g The antiquitie of their buildings shall not auoide

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto [b] Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lorde, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish (sayth the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord for three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the [k] brotherly couenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sworde, and did [l] cast off all pitie, and his anger spoyled him euermore, and his wrath watched him [l] alway.

12 Therefore will I sende a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus sayth the Lorde, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they [m] haue ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with howting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirle winde.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, hee and his princes together, sayth the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

THus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the [a] bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore wil I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with howting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the Iudge out of the middes thereof, and will slay all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, [b] I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Lawe of the Lord, and haue not kept his commaundements, & their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of [c] Israel, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they solde the righteous for siluer, and the poore for [d] shoes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore in the [e] dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meeke: and a man and his father will go in to a mayd to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes layd to pledge [f] by euery altar: and they [g] drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the [h] Amorite before them, whose height was like the heigt of the cedars, and hee was strong as the okes: notwithstanding, I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourty yeeres thorow the wildernesse, to possesse the lande of the Amorite.

11 And I raysed vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and of your yong men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commaunded the Prophets, saying, Prophesie not.

13 Behold, I am [k] pressed vnder you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the [l] swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mightie saue his life, 15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and hee that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And hee that is of mighty courage among the strong men, shall flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

Hee reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude, 11 for the which God will punish them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against the whole familie which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You [a] only haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visite you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be [b] agreed?

4 Will a [c] lyon roare in the forest, when he hath no pray? or will a lions whelpe cry out of his denne, if he haue taken nothing?

[b] Tilgath Pileser led the Syrians captiue, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

[i] They ioyned themselues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

[k] For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Isaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admonished them of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred.

[l] He was a continuall enemie vnto him.

[m] He noteth the great cruelty of the Ammonites, that spared not the women but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the houshold of Abraham.

[a] For the Moabites were so cruel against the King of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.

[b] Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge, were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

[i] Yee contemned my benefites, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets.

[k] You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Isa. 1, 14.

[l] None shall bee deliuered by any meanes.

[c] If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more hee will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

[d] They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues.

[e] When they haue spoyled him and throwen him to the ground, they gape for his life.

[f] Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednes.

[g] They spoyle others and offer therof vnto God, thinking that he will dispense with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquitie.

[h] The destruction of their enemies, & his mercie toward them, should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

[a] I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forsaken me.

[b] Hereby the Prophet signifieth that he speaketh not of himselfe, but as God guideth and moueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

[c] Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion.

5 [d] Can

d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?
e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?
f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements, and the people not be afraide g Doeth any aduersitie come without Gods appointment? Isa.45.7.
h God dealeth not with the Israelites as he doeth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues, by his Prophets.
i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit mooued them so to speake as they did.
k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistims and Egyptians to be witnesses of Gods iudgements against the Israelites for their cruelty and oppression.
l The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches, which they haue in their houses.
m When the Lion hath satiate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge or a tip of an eare, to shewe that the sheepe hath bene woried.
n Where they thought to haue had a sure hold, and to haue bene in safetie.

5 d Can a birde fall in a snare vpon the earth where no fowler is? or will he take vp the e snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?
6 Df I shall a trumpet bee blowen in the citie, and the people be not afraide? or shall there g be euill in a citie, and the Lorde hath not done it?
7 Surely the Lorde God will doe nothing, but hee h reueileth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.
8 The lion hath roared: who will not be afraid? The Lord God hath spoken: who can but i prophesie?
9 Proclaime in the palaces at k Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so beholde the great tumultes in the middes thereof, and the oppressed in the midst thereof.
10 For they know not to doe right, sayth the Lord: they store vp violence, and robberie l in their palaces.
11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, An aduersary shall come euen rounde about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoyled.
12 Thus sayeth the Lorde, As the shepheard taketh m out of the mouth of the lyon two legges, or a piece of an eare: so shal the children of Israel bee taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bedde, and in n Damascus, as in a couch.
13 Heare, and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord God, the God of hostes.
14 Surely in the day that I shall visite the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visite the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shall be broken off, and fall to the ground.
15 And I will smite the winter house with the summer house, and the houses of yuorie shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, sayeth the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

HEare this worde yee a kine of Bashan, that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, & destroy the needie, and they say to their masters, b Bring, and let vs drinke.
2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holinesse, that loe the dayes shall come vpon you, that hee will take you away with c thornes, and your posteritie with fishhookes.
3 And yee shall goe out at the breaches, euery kowe forwarde: and ye shall cast your selues out of the palace, sayth the Lord.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefits, forgate God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beastes and not of men.
b They incourage such as haue authoritie ouer the people, to powle them, so that they may haue profite by it.
c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.

4 Come to d Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiply transgression, and bring your sacrifices in the morning, & your tithes after three yeeres.
5 And offer a thanksgiuing f of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this g liketh you, O yee children of Israel, sayth the Lord God.
6 And therefore haue I giuē you h cleannesse of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenesse of bread in all your places, yet haue yee not returned vnto me, sayth the Lord.
7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three i moneths to the harueste, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.
8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one citie to drinke water, but they were k not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your figge trees, and your olive trees did the Palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the maner of l Egypt: your young men haue I slaine with the sworde, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stinke of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrels: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, sayth the Lord.
11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodome and Gomorah: and ye were as a m firebrand pluckt out of the burning: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
12 Therefore thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to n meete thy God, O Israel.
13 For loe, hee that formeth the mountaines, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the hie places of the earth, the Lord God of hostes is his Name.

d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to their places, thinking that their great deuotion & good intention had bene sufficient to haue bound God vnto them. e Reade Deut. 14.28.
f You onely delite in these outward ceremonies, and haue none other respect.
g That is, lacke of bread and meate.
h I staied the raine till the fruits of the earth were destroyed with drought, and yet you would not confider it to returne to me by repentance.
i They could not finde water ynough where they had heard say it had rained.
k As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9.10.
l You were almost all consumed and a few of you wonderfully preserued, 2. King. 14.25.
m Turne to him by repentance.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEare ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.
2 The a virgine Israel is fallen, and shal no more rise: she is left vpon her land, and there is none to raise her vp.
3 For thus sayth the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shall leaue an b hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.
4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.
5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into c Gilgal, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuitie, and Beth-el shal come to nought.
6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shal liue, lest he a He so calleth them, because they so boasted of themselues, or because they were giuen to wantonnes and and deintines.

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saued.
c In these places they worshipped new idoles, which aforetime serued for the true honour of God: therefore he sayth that these shall not saue them, breake

g In stead of iudgement and equity, they exqure cruelty, and oppression.
z He describeth the power of God, Iob. 9. 9.
f They hate the Prophets, which reproue them in the open assemblies.
g Ye take both his money and also his goode wherewith he should liue.
h God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouthes to admonish them of their faults.
i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.
k Thus he speaketh because the wicked & hypocrites sayd they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Ier. 30. 7. Ioel 2, 2, 11. Zeph. 1. 15.
l Because yee haue corrupted my true seruice and remaine obstinate in your vices, Isa. 1, 11. Ier. 6. 10.
m Do your duetie to God and to your neighbour, & so ye shal feele his grace plentifully, if you shew your abundant affections according to Gods word.
n That idole which you esteemed as your King, and caried about as you did Chiun, in the which images you thought that there was a certaine diuinitie.

breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph, and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.
7 They turne [d] iudgement to wormwood, and leaue off right couetousnesse in the earth.
8 Hee [e] maketh Pleiades, and Orion and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and hee maketh the day darke as night: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.
9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.
10 They haue hated him, [f] that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.
11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.
12 For I knowe your manifolde transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.
13 Therefore [h] the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.
14 Seeke good and not euil, that ye may liue: and the Lorde God of hostes shall bee with you, as you haue spoken.
15 Hate the euill and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lorde God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.
16 Therefore the Lord God of hosts, the Lord sayeth thus, Mourning shall be in all streetes: and they shall say in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the [i] husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.
17 And in all the vines shall bee lamentation: for I will passe thorow thee, sayth the Lord.
18 Woe vnto you, that [k] desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darknesse and not light.
19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.
20 Shal not the day of the Lord be darknesse, and not light? euen darknesse and not light in it?
21 I hate & abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.
22 Though yee offer me burnt offerings and meate offerings, [l] I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.
23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy viols)
24 And let iudgement runne downe as [m] waters, & righteousnes as a mighty riuer.
25 Haue ye offred vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wildernesse fourtie yeeres, O house of Israel?
26 But you haue borne [n] Siccuth your king, & Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.
27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captiuity beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel living in pleasures.

WOe to [a] them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, [b] which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.
2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: be they better then these kingdoms? or the border of their land greater then your border,
3 Ye that put farre away the [c] euill day, and approch to the seat of iniquitie?
4 They lie vpon beds of yuory, & stretch themselues vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall.
5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to themselues instruments of musicke like [d] Dauid.
6 They drinke wine in bowles, & anoint themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is [e] sory for the affliction of Ioseph.
7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and [f] the sorrow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand.
8 [g] The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, sayeth the Lorde God of hostes, I abhorre [h] the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the citie with all that is therein.
9 And if there remaine tenne men in one house, they shall die.
10 And his vncle [i] shall take him vp and burne him to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him that is by the [k] sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, [l] Holde thy tongue: for wee may not remember the Name of the Lord.
11 For beholde, the Lorde commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the litle house with clefts.
12 Shall horses [m] runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the a The Prophet threateneth the wealthy, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b These two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing auaile them that were there borne why should you looke that they should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?
c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straightnesse, then yours are yet, thinke you to be better or to escape?
d Ye that continue still in your wickednesse and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but giue your selues to all idlenesse, wantonnesse and riot.
e As hee caused diuers kindes of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lustes.
f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slaine, and caried away captiue.
g Some reade, the ioy of them that stretch themselues shall depart.
h Reade Ierem. 51, 14.
i That is, the riches and pompe.
k The destruction shall be so great, that none almost shall bee left to burie the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to carie out the burnt ashes with more ease.
l That is, to some neighbour that dwelleth round about.
m They shall bee so astonished at this destruction, that they shall boast no more of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall bee dumbe when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate.
n Hee compareth them to baren rockes whereupon it is in vaine to bestowe labour: shewing that Gods benefits can haue no place among them.

13 Yee reioyce in a thing of nought: yee say, Haue not wee gotten vs P hornes by our owne strength?

14 But beholde, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, sayeth the Lorde God of hostes: and they shall afflict you, from the entring in of q Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernesse.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His crafty counsell.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, and beholde, he formed a grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth b after the kings mowing.

a To deuoure the land: and he alludeth to the inuading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen: or as some reade, when the kings sheepe were shorne.

2 And when they had made an ende of eating the grasse of the land, then I sayd, O Lord God, spare I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord c repented for this. It shal not be, sayth the Lord.

c That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and beholde, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire, d and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eat vp a part.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubburnesse of this people.

5 Then sayd I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, sayth the Lord God.

e Signifying, that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would defer his iudgement no longer.

7 ¶ Thus againe he shewed me, and beholde, the Lorde stood vpon a wall made by line ° with a line in his hand.

f That is, when Amos had prophesied that the King should be destroyed: for this wicked priest more for hatred he bare to the Prophet, then for loue toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemn him, where as none other could take place.

8 And the Lorde sayde vnto me, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayd, A line. Then sayd the Lord, Beholde, I will set a line in the mids of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the hie places of Isaak shalbe desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sworde.

10 ¶ Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired agaynst thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his wordes.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the King, he assayed by another practise, that was to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reproue their idolatrie there openly, and so hinder his profit.

11 For thus Amos sayth, Ieroboam shal die by the sworde, and Israel shalbe led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also e Amaziah sayd vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iuhah, and there eate thy bread and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the Kings chappell, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no h Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinarie vocation, that God had giuen him a charge which he must needs execute.

15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord sayd vnto me, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou saiest, Prophesie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Isaak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, i Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely go into captiuitie foorth of his land.

i Thus God vsed to approoue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements against the which were malicious enemies, Ier. 28. 12. & 29. 21, 25. as this day he doeth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lords sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lorde God shewed vnto me, & behold, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And he sayd, Amos, what seest thou? And I sayde, A basket of summer a fruite. Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, The ende is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

a Which signified the ripenesse of their sinnes, & the readinesse of Gods iudgments.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall be howlings in that day, sayth the Lord God: many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with b silence.

b There shall be none left to mourne for them.

4 Heare this, O yee that ° swallow vp the poore, that yee may make the needie of the land to fayle, c By slaying the sale of food and necessary things which you haue gotten into your owne hands, and so cause the poore to spend quickely that litle that they haue, and at length for necessity to become your slaues.

5 Saying, When will the d new moneth be gone, that we may sel corne? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, and make ° the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

d When the dearth was once come, they were so greedy of gaine, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needy for shoots: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheate?

7 The Lord hath swoone by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their works.

e That is, the measure small, & the price great.

8 Shall not the lande tremble for this, and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall bee cast out, and f drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall bee drowned, as Nilus drowneth, many when it ouerfloweth.

9 And in that day, sayth the Lord God, I will cause the g sunne to go downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

g In the mids of their prosperitie I will send great affliction.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackecloth vpon all loines, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the daies come, sayth the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they runne to and fro to seeke the h worde of the Lord, and shall not finde it.

h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not only perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word which is the food thereof.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and

the

the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

i For the idolaters did vse to sweare by their idoles: which here he calleth their sinne, as the Papists yet doe by theirs. k That is, the common maner of worshipping, and the seruice or religion there vsed.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple, 2 and against Israel, 11 The restoring of the Church.

a Which was at Ierusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Israel. b Both the chiefe of them and also the common people.

I Saw the Lorde standing vpon the [a] altar, and he said, Smite the lintell of the doore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces, euen the [b] heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: & he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they dig into the hell, thence shall mine hande take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

c He sheweth y God will declare himselfe enemie vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shall be enemies to destroy them.

3 And though they hide themselues in the toppe of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they bee hidde from my sight in the bottome of the Sea, thence will I commaund the [c] serpent, and he shall bite them.

d He declareth by the woonderful power of God by the making of the heauens, and the elements, that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgements when he punisheth.

4 And though they goe into captiuitie before their enemies, thence will I commaund the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euil, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hosts shall touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein, shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shall be drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

e Am I more bound to you then to the Ethiopians or blacke Moores? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefites.

6 Hee buildeth his [d] spheres in the heauen, & hath layd the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are yee not as the Ethiopians [e] vnto me, O children of Israel, saith the Lord? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from [f] Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

f Reade Ierem. 47.4.

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinfull kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuerthelesse I will not vtterly [g] destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord.

g Though he destroy the rebellious multitude, yet hee will euer reserue the remnãt his Church to cal vpon his name.

9 For loe, I will commaund, and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sive: yet shall not the least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

h Meaning, that none of his should perish in his wrath.

11 In that day will I raise vp the [i] tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I will raise vp his ruines, and I will builde it, as in the dayes of olde, i I will send the Messiah promised, and restore by him the spirituall Israel, Acts 15.16.

12 That they may possesse the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, saith the Lord, that doeth this.

k Meaning, that the very enemies, as were the Edomites and others, should be ioyned with the Iewes in one societie and body, whereof Christ should bee the head.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lorde, that the plowman shall [l] touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall [m] droppe sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

l Signifying, that there shall be great plentie of all things, so that when one kinde of fruit is ripe, another should follow, 14 [n] And I will bring againe the captiuitie of my people of Israel: and they shall builde the waste cities, and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof, they shall also make gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more be pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, saith the Lord thy God.

and euery one in course, Leuit. 26.5. m Reade Ioel 3.18. n The accomplishment hereof is vnder Christ, when they are planted in his Church, out of the which they can neuer bee pulled, after they are once grafted therein.

Obadiah.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Idumeans which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob, and therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kindes of cruelty, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperity, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

a God hath certeinely reueiled to his Prophets that hee will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is nowe published, Ieremie 49.14. b Thus the heathen encourage themselues to rise against Edom.

THe [a] vision of Obadiah. Thus saith the Lorde God against Edom, [b] Wee haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and let [b] vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

c Which despiseth all others in respect of thy selfe, and yet are but an handful in comparison of others, and art shut vp among the hils, as separate from the rest of the 3 The [c] pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, who shall bring mee downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as [d] egle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 [d] Came theeues to thee or robbers by world. d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though theeues when they come, take but till they haue enough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behind them, Ierem 49.9.

night? howe wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stollen, till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

6 Howe are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shal not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afrayd, because euery one of the mount of Esau shalbe cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy cruelties against thy brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the straungers carried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a straunger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue layde hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stoode in the crosse wayes to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shut vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day of the Lord is neere vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue dronke vpon mine holy mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea, they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall be as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shall bee holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions.

18 And the house of Iaakob shall bee a fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim, and the fields of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuitie of this host of the children of Israel, which were among the Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuitie of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they shall saue, shall come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shalbe the Lords.

a They in whom thou didst trust, for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shall be thine enemies and destroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friends and gheists haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

g Hee sheweth the causewhy the Edomites were so sharpely punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom now he comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h When Nebuchadnezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, and haddest part of the spoile, and so diddest reioyce, when my people, that is thy brother were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied and holpen thy brother.

i When the Lord deprived them of their former dignitie, and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

k When he will summon all the heathen, & send them to destroy thee.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shall be vtterly destroyed, and yet in despight of all the enemies I will reserue my Church, and restore it.

n God attributeth this power to consume his enemies, to his Church, which power is onely proper to himselfe, as Ila. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. heb. 12. 29.

o He describeth how the Church shall be enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder Christ, when as the faithfull are made heires and lordes of all things by him which is their head.

p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutch men, and by Zarephath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine.

q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth heere the Lord and the head of this kingdome.

Ionah.

THE ARGVMENT.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe city of the Assyrians, because hee had appoynted, that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mighty power of his worde, and that within three dayes preaching, that Israel might see howe horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, that for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lorde for so many Prophets, and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Ioash and Ieroboam, as 2. King. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah flied when he was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time hee had prophesied in Iudah, hee had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1. 1.

The worde of the Lorde came a also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to b Nineueh, that c great city, and cry against it: for their wickednesse is come before me.

b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophets to the Gentiles, that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable: for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians.

c For as authors write, it contained in circuit about eight and fourtie mile, and had a thousande and fiue hundred towers, and at this time there were an hundreth and twenty thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 11.

3 But Ionah rose vp to d flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lorde, and went downe to e Iapho: and hee found a shippe going to Tarshish: so he payed the d Whereby he declareth his weakenesse, that would not promptly follow the Lordes calling, but gaue place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that hee should nothing at all profit there, seeing he had done so small good among his owne people, Chap. 4. 2.

e Which was the hauen and port to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

face thereof, and went downe into it, that he might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the f presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into the Sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afraid, and cryed euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe g into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the Shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy h God, if so be that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they said euery one to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast i lots, that wee may knowe, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? & whence comnest thou? which is thy country? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and sayde vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because hee had told them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the Sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know, that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried vnto the Lord, and said, k We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, & the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men l feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Nowe the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the m belly of the fish three dayes and three nights.

f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein hee would haue assisted him.

g As one that would haue cast off this care and solicitude by seeking rest and quietnesse.

h As they had called on their idoles: which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certaintie, but in their troubles seeke they can not tell to whom.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremitie and doube, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not bee done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shead mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God by whom they saw themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods word.

m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was inioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God a out of the fishes belly,

2 And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and he heard me: out of the belly b of hell cryed I, and thou heardst my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottome in the midst of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I said, I am c cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottome of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my d life from the pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembred the Lord, and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that wait vpon lying e vanities, forsake their owne f mercie.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

a Being nowe swallowed vp of death, and lesing no remedie to escape, his faith brast out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell he was able to deliuer him.

b For hee was now in the fishes belly, as in a graue or place of darkenesse.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation, and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the end faith gate the victory.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish, and all these dangers, as it were raising mee from death to life.

e They that depend vpon any thing saue on God alone.

f They refuse their owne felicitie, and that goodnesse which they should else receiue of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 Thereupon the king of Nineueh.

ANd the word of the Lord came vnto Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: now Nineueh was a b great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a c dayes iourney, and he cried, and sayd, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shall bee ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh d beleeued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackecloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackecloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And hee proclaimed and said throughout Nineueh, (by the counsell of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man, nor e beast, bullocke nor sheepe taste any thing, neither feede nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sackecloth, a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiueth him againe & sendeth him foorth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmitie.

b Reade Chap. 1. 2.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.

d For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them from God, to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumbe beasles had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

cloth, and f cry mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednesse that is in their hands.

9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent & turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God sawe their h workes that they turned from their euill wayes: & i God repented of the euill that he had said that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

f He willed, that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercie.

g For partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his owne conscience, he doubted whether God would shew them mercie.

h That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceed of faith, which God had planted by the ministerie of his Prophet.

i Reade Iere. 18, 8.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

THerefore it displeased a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angrie.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto b Tarshish: for I knewe that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindenesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore nowe, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life c from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Doest thou well to be d angry?

5 So Ionah went out of the citie, and sate on the Eastside of the citie, and there made him a boothe, and sate vnder it in the shadowe e till hee might see what should be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a f gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadowe ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day: and it smote the gourd, that it withered.

8 And when the Sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the Sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that hee fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for mee to die, then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Ionah, Doest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should h not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are fiue score thousand persons, that i cannot discerne betweene their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattell?

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false prophet, and so the Name of God which he preached should be blasphemed.

b Reade Chap. 1, 3.

c Thus he praied of griefe, fearing, lest Gods Name by this forgiuenesse might be blasphemed, as though hee sent his Prophets foorth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.

d Wilt thou be iudge when I doe things for my glory, and when I doe not?

e For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercie or no: and therefore after fourtie dayes be departed out of the citie, looking what issue God would send.

f Which was a further meanes, to couer him from the heate of the Sunne, as he remained in his boothe.

g This declareth the great inconueniences whereinto Gods seruants doe fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and doe not in all things willingly submit themselues to God.

h Thus God mercifully reproueth him which would pitie himselfe and this gourd, and yet would restraine God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people.

i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

Micah.

THE ARGVMENT.

MIcah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the least thirtie yeeres, at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednesse, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this ende hee noteth the wickednesse of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false prophets, and the delighting in them. Then he setteth forth the comming of Christ, his kingdome, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab, and all his false prophets, as 1. King. 22, 8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the a Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which hee sawe concerning Samaria and Ierusalem.

2 Heare, b all yee people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God bee witnesse against you, even the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For beholde, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come c downe, and treade vpon the hie places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleaue) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednesse of Iaakob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iaakob? Is not d Samaria? and which are the hie e places of Iudah? Is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the fielde, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof shall be broken, and all the f gifts thereof shall bee burnt a Borne in Mareshah a citie of Iudah.

b Because of the malice and obstinacie of the people whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he summoneth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures and God himselfe to witnesse, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shalbe reuenged.

c Meaning hereby, that God will come to iudgement against the strong cities and holds.

d Samaria which should haue bene an example to all Israel of true religion and iustice, was the puddle and stewes of all idolatrie and corruption, and boasted themselues of their father Iaakob.

e That is, the idolatrie and infection.

f Which they gathered by euill practises, and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their seruice vnto them.

burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne g to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare yee it not at h Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of i Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at k Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: shee that dwelleth at Zaanan, shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemie shall l receive of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the m gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the beastes n of yoke: the o is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth p Gath: the houses of Achzib shalbe as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an q heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, hee shall come vnto Adullam, r the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee bald: and haue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the egle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

g The gaine that came by their idols, shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.
h Lest the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destruction.
i Which was a citie neere to Ierusalem, Iosh. 18. 23. there called Ophrah, & signifieth dust: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themselues in the dust, for their dustie citie.
k These were cities whereby the enemie shoulde passe as he came to Iudah.
l He shall not depart before he hath ouercome you, and so you shall pay for his tarying.
m For Rabshakeh had shut vp Ierusalem, that they couldenot send to succour them.
n To flee away: for Sancherib laid siege first to that citie, and remained therein when hee sent his captaines and armie against Ierusalem.
o Thou first receiuedst the idolatrie of Ieroboam, and so diddest infect Ierusalem.
p Thou shalt bribe the Philistims thy neighbours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem.
q He propheseth against his owne citie, and because it signified an heritage, he sayth that God would send an heire to possesse it.
r For so they thought themselues for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton and daintie people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WOe vnto them that imagine iniquity, and worke wickednesse vpon their beddes: a when the morning is light they practise it, because their hand † hath power.

2 And they couet fieldes, and take them by violence, and houses, & take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, Behold, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not plucke your necks, and ye shall not go so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, b We be vtterly wasted: he hath changed the portion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

a Assoone as they rise, they execute their wicked deuices of the night, and according to their power hurt others.
b Thus the Iewes lament, and say, that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are diuided among the enemies.

5 Therefore shalt thou haue none that shall cast a cord by lot, in c the congregation of the Lord.

6 d They that propheseid, Propheside ye not: e They shall not propheside to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iaakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortned? f are these his workes? are not my words good vnto him g that walketh vpright?

8 But hee that was h yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemie, they spoyle the i beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away k my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your l rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction.

11 If a man m walke in the Spirit, and would lie falsely, saying, n I will propheside vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euen be the Prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather o thee wholly, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the middes of their folde: the cities shall be ful of buit of the men.

13 The p breaker vp shall come before them: they shall breake out and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shall be q vpon their heads.

c Ye shall haue no more lands to diuide, as you had in times past, and as you vsed to measure them in the Iubile.
d Thus the people warne the Prophets, that they speake to them no more for they can not abide their threatenings.
e God saith that they shal not propheside, nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taunts.
f Are these your works according to his law?
g Doe not the godly finde my words comfortable?
h That is, afore-time.
i The poore can haue no commoditie by them, but they spoile them as though they were enemies.
k That is, their substance and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were part of his glory.
l Ierusalem shall not be your safegard, but the cause of your destruction.
m That is, shew himselfe to be a Prophet.
n Hee sheweth what prophets they delight in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.
o To destroy thee.
p The enemy shall breake their gates & walles, and lead them into Caldea.
q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes and false prophets.

AND I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: shoulde not yee knowe a iudgement?

2 But they hate the good, and loue the euil: they plucke off their skinnes from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eat also the b flesh of my people, and flay off their skinne from them, and they breake their bones, and chopp them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then c shall they crie vnto the Lorde, but hee will not heare them: hee will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their works.

a That thing which is iust and lawfull, both to gouerne my people aright, and also to discharge your owne conscience?
b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours not onely of couetousnesse, theft, and murther, but comparateth them to wolues, lions, and most cruell beasts.
c That is, when they crie, Isa. 1. 15, ezek. 8, 18 sam. 22. 13. 1. pet. 3. 12, 13. I shall visite their wickednesse: for though I heare the godly, he heareth them not, Isa. 65. 24. yet I will not heare their sighings though they crie, d They deuoure all their substance, and then flatter them, promising that all shall go well: but if one restraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischiefe.

e As you haue loued to walke in darkenesse and to prophesie lies, so God shall reward you with grosse blindnesse, and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shall as blinde men grope as in the night.

f When God shal discouer them to the world, they shalbe afrayd to speake: for all shall know that they were but false prophets, and did belie the word of God.

5 Thus saith the LORD, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and d bite them with their teeth, and crie peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him,

6 Therefore e night shalbe vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shall be vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the Prophets, and the day shalbe darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer f their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding, I am full g of power by the Spirit of the LORDE, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with h bloud, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priestes thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they i leane vpon the LORD, and say, Is not the LORDE among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee k plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the House, as the hie places of the forest.

g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing how God both gaue him giftes, abilitie and knowledge to discerne betweene good and euill, and also constancie to reproue the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houses by briberie, which hee calleth blood and iniquitie. i They will say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his name, as a pretence to cloke their hypocrisie. k Reade Ieremiah 26,18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed.

b Reade Isa. 2.2.

c Hee sheweth that there is no true Church, but whereas the people are taught by Gods pure word.

d By his corrections and threatnings, hee will bring the people into subiection, which are in the vtmost corners of the world.

e They shall abstaine from all euill doing, and exercise themselues in godlinesse and in well doing to others.

BUt in the last dayes it shal come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the LORD shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, & it shalbe exalted aboue the b hilles, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, and let vs go vp to the mountaine of the LORD, and to the house of the God of Iaakob, and he will c teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: for the Lawe shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the LORD from Ierusalem,

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and d rebuke mighty nations afarre off, and they shall breake their swords into mattockes, and their speares into e sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sworde against nation, neither shall they f learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his fig tree, and none shall make them afrayd: for the mouth of the LORD of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke g euery one in the name of his god, and wee will walke in the Name of the LORDE our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the LORD, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, h a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the LORDE shall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O i tower of the flocke, the strong holde of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen k the first dominion, and kingdome, shall come to the daughter Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou crie out with lamentation? is l there no king in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauaile.

10 Sorow & mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou goe foorth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the LORDE shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they m know not the thoughts of the LORD: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise, and thresh, n O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hooues brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the LORDE, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

g Hee sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all h would should giue themselues to their superstition and idolatrie.

h I will cause that Israel, which is now as one lame and halting, and so almost destroied, shall liue againe, and grow into a great people, i Meaning Ierusalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered.

k The flourishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ.

l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations, when they saw themselues neither to haue king nor counsell.

m He sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the bragges and threatenings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.

n God giueth his Church this victorie, so oft as hee ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shall bee at the last comming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-lehem.

NOw assemble thy garisons, O daughter o of garisons: he hath layd siege against vs: they shal smite the Iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah, art p little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall hee come foorth vnto mee, that shall bee the ruler in c He ſheweth that the comming of Chriſt and all his wayes were appoynted of God from all eternitie.

d He compareth the Iewes to women with childe, who for a time ſhould haue great ſorowes, but at length they ſhould haue a comfortable deliuerance, Iohn 16.21.

e That is, Chriſts kingdome ſhalbe ſtable and euerlaſting, & his people, aſwell the Gentiles as the Iewes ſhall dwell in ſafetie.

f This Meſſiah ſhalbe a ſufficient ſafegard for vs, & though the enemie inuade vs for a time, yet ſhall God ſtir vp many which ſhall be able to deliuer vs.

g Theſe whom God ſhall raiſe vp for deliuerance of his Church, ſhall deſtroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Aſſyrians and Babylonians which were the chiefe at that time.

h By theſe gouernors will God deliuer vs when the enemy commeth into our land.

i This remnant or Church which God ſhal deliuer, ſhal only depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the graſſe of the fielde, and not on the hope of man.

k I will deſtroy all things wherein thou putteſt thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and ſo will helpe thee.

l It ſhall be ſo terrible, that the like hath not bene heard of.

Iſrael: whoſe * goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that d ſhe which ſhal beare, ſhall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren ſhall returne vnto the children of Iſrael.

4 And hee ſhall e ſtand, and feede in the ſtrength of the Lord, and in the maieſtie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they ſhall dwell ſtill: for now ſhall hee be magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he f ſhalbe our peace when Aſſhur ſhall come into our land: when hee ſhall treade in our palaces, then ſhall we raiſe againſt him ſeuen ſhepheards, and eight principall men.

6 And they ſhall deſtroy g Aſſhur with the ſword, and the land of Nimrod with their ſwords: thus ſhall he h deliuer vs from Aſſhur, when hee commeth into our land, and when hee ſhall treade within our borders.

7 And the i remnant of Iaakob ſhall be among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the ſhowres vpon the graſſe, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the ſonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob ſhall be among the Gentiles, in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beaſtes of the foreſt, and as the lyons whelpe among the flocks of ſheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand ſhall be lift vp vpon thine aduerſaries, and all thine enemies ſhall bee cut off.

10 And it ſhall come to paſſe in that day, ſaith the Lord, that I will cut off thine k horſes out of the middes of thee, and I will deſtroy thy charets.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrow all thy ſtrong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine inchanters out of thine hand: and thou ſhalt haue no more ſoothſayers.

13 Thine idoles alſo will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou ſhalt no more worſhip the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the mids of thee: ſo will I deſtroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, l which they haue not heard.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumme creatures to heare the iudgement againſt Iſrael being vnkind. 6 What maner of ſacrifices doe pleaſe God.

a He taketh the high mountaines and hard rockes to witneſſe againſt the obſtinacie of his people.

HEarken ye now what the Lord ſaith, Ariſe thou, and contend before the a mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voyce.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarell, and yee mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarell againſt his people, and he will plead with Iſrael.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieued thee? teſtifie againſt me.

4 Surely I b brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the houſe of ſeruants, and I haue ſent before thee Moſes, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember nowe what Balak king of Moab had deuiſed, and what Balaam the ſonne of Beor anſwered him, from c Shittim vnto Gilgal, that yee may know the d righteouſneſſe of the Lord.

6 Wherewith e ſhall I come before the Lord, and bowe my ſelfe before the hie God? Shall I come before him with burnt offrings, and with calues of a yeere olde?

7 Will the Lord bee pleaſed with thouſands of rammes, or with ten thouſand riuers of oyle? ſhall I giue my f firſt borne for my tranſgreſſion, euen the fruite of my body for the ſinne of my ſoule?

8 He hath ſhewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: ſurely to doe iuſtly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy ſelfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce crieth vnto the g citie, and the man of wiſedome ſhall ſee thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treaſures of wickednes in the houſe of the wicked, and the ſcant meaſure, that is abominable?

11 Shall I iuſtifie the wicked balances, and the bagge of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men h thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue ſpoken lies, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore alſo will I make thee ſicke in ſmitting thee, and in making thee deſolate, becauſe of thy ſinnes.

14 Thou ſhalt eate and not bee ſatisfied, and k thy caſting downe ſhall be in the mids of thee, and thou l ſhalt take holde, but ſhalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuereſt, will I giue vp to the ſword.

15 Thou ſhalt ſowe, but not reape: thou ſhalt tread the olines, but thou ſhalt not anoynt thee with oyle, and make ſweete wine, but ſhalt not drinke wine.

16 For the m ſtatutes of Omri are kept, and all the workes of the houſe of Ahab, and ye walke in their counſels, that I ſhould make thee deſolate, and the inhabitants thereof a hiſſing: therefore ye ſhall beare the reproch of my people.

b Thaue not hurt thee, but beſtowed infinite benefites vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefites from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curſe, and alſo ſpared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promiſed.

d That is, the traeth of his promiſe, and his manifold benefits toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocriſie aske how to pleaſe God, and are content to offer ſacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing ſo deare to man, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they to enioyd his anger: but they will neuer bee brought to mortifie their owne affections, and to giue themſelues willingly to ſerue God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet in fewe wordes calleth them to the obſeruation of the ſecond table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, ſaying that God hath preſcribed them to doe this.

h Meaning, that when God ſpeaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his Maieſtie, and conſider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatning, but God that ſendeth it.

i That is, Ieruſalem.

k Thou ſhalt bee conſumed with inward griefe and euils.

l Meaning that the citie ſhould goe about to ſaue her men, as they that lay holde on that which they would preſerue.

m You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatry, wherewith the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his ſonne: and to excuſe your doings, you alledge the kings authoritie by his ſtatutes, and alſo wiſedome and policie in ſo doing, but you ſhall not eſcape puniſhment, but as I haue ſhewed you great fauours, and taken your ſon my people, ſo ſhall your plagues be accordingly. Luke 12.47.

and all the maner of the house of Ahab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproch of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to crueltie and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

b He sheweth that the Prince, the Iudge, and the rich man are linked together, all to doe euill and to cloke the doings one of another.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednesse, nor iniurie.

d These men agree among themselues, and conspire with one consent to doe euill.

e They that are of most estimation, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

WOe is me, for I am as a the Summer gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruites.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: b they all lie in waite for blood: euery man huntech his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, and the Iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the c great man hee speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so d they wrap it vp.

4 The best of them is as e a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of f thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shall bee their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will wait for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, h O mine enemie: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darknesse, the Lord shalbe a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then wil he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

10 Then shee that is mine enemie, shall f Meaning of the Prophet and gouernours.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedy for the godly in desperate euils, is to flee vnto God for succour.

h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemie.

looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eyes shall behold her: now shall shee bee troden downe as the mire of the streetes.

11 This is i the day that thy walles shalbe built: this day shall driue farre away k the decree.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from l Assyur, and from the strong cities, and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruits of m their inuentions.

14 n Feed thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitarie in the wood) as in the midst of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.

15 o According to the dayes of thy comming out of the land of Egypt will I shew vnto him marueilous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall p lay their hand vpon their mouth: q their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shall r licke the dust like a serpent: they shall moue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away s iniquitie, and t passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? He reteineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseth him.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: hee will subdue our iniquities, and cast all u their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy v trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

i To wit, when God shall shew himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

l When the Church shalbe restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holds, riuers, seas, nor mountaines shalbe able to let them.

m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing that the earth it selfe, which can not sinne, shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitarie places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them, as in time past.

o God promiseth to bee fauourable to his people, as hee had bene aforetime.

p They shall be as dumme men, and dare brag no more.

q They shall bee astonished, and afraid to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction.

r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare.

s As though he would not see it, but winke at it.

t Meaning of his elect.

u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promise, which hee had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

Nahum.

THE ARGVMENT.

As they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and ready to receiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroied, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath a continuall care of his Church, hee stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should bee for their consolation. And as it seemeth hee prophecied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THE [a] burden of Nineueh. [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkeshite.

2 God is [d] ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the Lorde [e] of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The [f] Lord is slow to anger, but hee is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lorde hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feete.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and hee driueth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the flowre of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountaines tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world and all that dwell therein.

6 [g] Who can stande before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rockes are broken by him.

7 The Lorde is good, [h] and as a strong holde in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will vtterly destroy the [i] place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe ye [k] imagine against the Lord? he will make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For he shall come as vnto [l] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shalbe deuoured as stubble fully dryed.

11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euil against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour.

12 Thus sayth the Lorde, Though they be [n] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they bee cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen and the molten image: I wil make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 [p] Beholde vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth and publisheth peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shal no more passe through thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a Reade Isa. 13.1.

b The vision or reuelation, which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Ninenites.

c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.

d Meaning, of his glory.

e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer aswageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.

f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.

g If all creatures bee at Gods commandement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?

h Lest the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, hee sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that hee hath care ouer them.

i Signifying, that God will suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians, in such sort, as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe.

k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore hee would so destroy them at once, that he should not neede to returne the second time.

l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thornes that pricke on all sides, yet the Lorde will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall bee nothing able to resist him.

m Which may bee vnderstoode either of Sancherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh.

n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, hee will destroy them: notwithstanding hee comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an ende of punishing them by the Assyrians.

o Meaning, Sancherib, who should haue no moe children, but be slaine in the house of his gods, 2. King. 19.36,37. Isa. 52.7. rom. 10.15.

p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Sancherib.

CHAP. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THE [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe the munition: looke to the way: make thy loines strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mighty men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in skarlet: the chariots shall bee as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they shal seeme like lampes: they shall shoote like the lightning.

5 [f] Hee shall remember his strong men: they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shalbe prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Hussah the Queene shall be led away captiue, and her maydes shall leade her as with the voyce of doues smiting vpon their breastes.

8 But Nineueh is [g] of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they cry: but none shall looke backe.

9 [h] Spoile ye the siluer, spoile the golde: for there is none ende of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [i] She is emptie and voyd, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorow is in all loynes, and the faces [k] of them all gather blacknesse.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the lyons, and the pasture of the lyons whelps? where the lyon and the lyonesse walked, and the lyons whelpe, and none made them afraid.

12 The lyon did teare in pieces ynough for his whelpes, and wooed for his lyonesse, and filled his holes with praye, and his dennes with spoyle.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians: and the Prophet derideth the enterprises of the Assyrians, which prepared to resist him.

b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies by whom hee scourged them: reade Isa. 10.12.

c Signifying, that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed.

d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie blood one of another to discourage them.

e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash toge her.

f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.

g The Assyrians will flatter themselues and say that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the banks cannot touch: but they shalbe scattered, and shall not looke backe though men would call them.

h God commaundeth the enemies to spoile Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures.

i That is, Nineueh and the men thereof shalbe after this sort.

k Reade Ioel 2.6.

l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruel like the lyons, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyrannie to prouide for their wiues and children.

13 Behold,

m That is, as soone as my wrath beginneth to kindle.
n Signifying the heraldes, which were accustomed to proclaime warre.

13 Beholde, I come vnto thee, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will burne her charets in the m smoke, and the sword shall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I will cut off thy spoile from the earth, and the voice of thy n messengers shall no more be heard.

Some reade of thy gumme teeth, wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruise the bones of the poore.

CHAP. III.

Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

O Bloody citie, it is all full of lies, and robberie: a the praye departeth not:
2 The noise of a whip, b and the noyse of the mouing of the wheeles, & the beating of the horses, and the leaping of the charets.
3 The horseman lifteth vp both the bright sword, and the glittering speare, and a multitude is slaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is none ende of their coppes: they stumble vpon their corpses.
4 Because of the multitude of the fornications of the c harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistresse of witchcraft, and selleth the people through her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcrafts:
5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, sayth the Lorde of hostes, and will discouer thy skirts vpon thy face, and will shewe the nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.
6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, & make thee vile, and wil sette thee as a gasing stocke.
7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shal flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?
8 Art thou better then d No, which was full of people, that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it, whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?
9 Ethiopia & Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende: Put and Lubim were & her helpers.

a It neuer ceaseth to spoyle and robbe.
b He sheweth how the Caldeans shall haste, and how courageous their horses shalbe in beating the ground, when they come against the Assyrians.
c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beautie and subtiltie enticeth yong men, and bringeth them to destruction.
d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in league with so many nations, and yet was now destroyed.

10 Yet was shee caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all f streetes: and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chaines.
11 Also thou shalt be dronken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe, because of the enemie.
12 All thy strong cities shall be like figge trees with the first ripe figs: for if they bee shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.
13 Beholde, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shal deuoure thy barres.
14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortifie thy strong holdes: goe into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong bricke.
15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eate thee vp like the g locusts, though thou be multiplyed like the locusts, and multiplied like the grashopper.
16 Thou hast multiplied thy marchants aboue the starres of heauen: the locust spoyleth and flieth away.
17 Thy princes are as the grashoppers, and thy captains as the great grashoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the sunne ariseth, they flee away, and their place is not knowen where they are.
18 Thy f shepheards doe sleepe, O king of Assyur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.
19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the winde of thee shall clap the hands ouer thee: for vpon h whom hath not thy malice passed continually?

or, thine.
e Signifying that Gods iudgements shall suddenly destroy the Assyrians, as these vermine are with raine or change of weather.
f Thy princes and counsellers.
g Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Assyrians had not done hurt.

Habakkuk.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and cruelty, and yet can see none ende. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none ende of their troubles as yet, because of their stubburnesse and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godly should despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by this that God will punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty shalbe at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithful to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselues.

CHAP. I.

1 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

THe burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did see.
2 O Lord, how long shal I cry, and thou wilt not heare! euen cry out vnto thee of violence, & thou wilt not helpe!
3 Why doest thou shew me iniquitie, and cause mee to beholde sorow? for spoyling, and violence are before mee: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.
4 Therefore the a law is dissolued, and iudgement doeth neuer go forth: for the wicked doeth b compasse about the righteous: therefore c wrong iudgement proceedeth.

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God, and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie: nor brotherly loue: but in stead hereof reigneth cruelty, theft, contention & strife.
b To suppresse him if any should shew himselfe zealous of Gods cause.
c Because the iudges which should redresse this excesse, are as euill as the rest.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and marueile: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: d yee will not beleeue it, though it be tolde you.
6 For loe, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which shall goe vpon the breadth of the lande to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

d As in times past you would not beleeue Gods word, so shall yee not now beleeue the strange plagues which are at hand.

7 They

e They themselues shalbe your Iudges in this cause, and none shall haue authority ouer them, to controll them, Zeph 3.3.

f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruits.

g They shalbe so many in number.

h They shall cast vp mounts against it.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithful that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victory, & become proud & insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idoles.

k He assureth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, & also that their sinnes required such a sharpe rod.

l So that the great deuoreth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world. m Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselues, & glory in their owne force, power, & wit. n Meaning, that they should not.

7 They are terrible and fearefull: e their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceede of themselues.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, & are more fierce then the wolues in the e euening: and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from far: they shall flie as the eagle hasting to meat.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shall be an f East winde, and they shall gather the captiuitie as the sand.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, and the Princes shall be a scorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong hold: for they shall gather h dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they i take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holy one? we shall k not die: O Lord, thou hast ordeined them for iudgement, & O God, thou hast established the for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eies, & canst not see euil: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous the he?

14 And makest men as the l fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things that haue no ruler ouer them?

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, wherefor they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their m net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shal they therfore stretch out their net & not spare continually to slay m the nations?

CHAP. II.

A vision, 5 against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

1 I Will stand vpon my a watch, and set me vpon the towre, and will looke & see what he would say vnto me, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne b that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the c last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tary, wait: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Behold, d he that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith,

5 Yea, in deede the proud man is as e hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and can not be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a perable against him, and a taunting prouerbe against him, and say, Ho, hee that increaseth that which is not his? f howe long? and hee that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay?

7 Shall g they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoyled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoyle thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, to the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Ho, he that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou h hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the i stone shal cry out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the k Lord of hosts, that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen weary themselues for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall be l filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour m drinke: thou powrest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame n for glorie: drinke thou also, and bee made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shall be for thy glory.

17 For the o crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoyle of the beastes, which made them afrayde, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the p image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: q beholde, it is layde a I will renounce mine own iudgement, and onely depend on God to be instructed what I shall answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.

b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth, may reade it.

c Which conteined the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hastie affections, yet the issue of both is certaine at his time appoynted. d To trust in himselfe or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the onely rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom. 1.17. Gal. 3.11. Heb. 10. 38. e Hee compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish, and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans.

f Signifying, that all the world shal with the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression & couetousnesse, they heape but vpon themselues more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

g That is, the Medes and Persians, that should destroy the Babylonians?

h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house, when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelties and oppression.

i The stones of the house shall cry, and sy that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answere and sy the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labors, as though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appeare thorow all the world.

m He reproacheth thus the King of Babylon, who as hee was drunken with couetousnesse and crueltie, so hee prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the ende brought them to shame.

n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne. o Because the Babylonians were cruell, not onely against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beastes therein, hee sheweth that the like cruelties shall be executed against them. p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing availe them: for they were but blockes or stones, reade Ieremiah 10.8. q If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

CHAP. III.

A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the [a] ignorances.

2 [b] O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afrayd: O Lord, reuiue thy [c] worke in the middes of the people, in the middes of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercie.

3 God commeth from [d] Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah. his glorie couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise.

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: [e] hee had hornes comming out of his handes, and there was the hidingof his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coles went forth before his feete.

6 He stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bow: his [f] wayes are euerlasting.

7 [g] For his iniquitie I sawe the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angrie against the [h] riuers? or was thine anger against y floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride [i] vpon thine horses? thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy [k] bowe was manifestly reuelled, and the [l] othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah. thou [m] diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water [n] passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on high.

11 The [o] Sunne and Moone stood still in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and diddest threth the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine [q] Anoynted: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discouredst the foundations vnto the [r] necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest [s] strike thorow with his owne staues the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I [t] heard, my belly trembled: my lippes shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in [u] the day of trouble: for when he commeth vp [x] vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the figge tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit be in the vines: the labour of the Olyue shall faile, and the fields shall yeeld no meat: the sheepe shalbe cut off from the fold, and there shalbe no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy [y] in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feete like hindes feete, and hee will make mee to walke vpon mine high places, [z] To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afrayd when they heard Gods threatening, and prayed.

c That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish, before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

d Teman and Paran were nere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now as it was then.

e Whereby is meant a power that was ioyned with brightnesse, which was hidde to the rest of the worlde, but was reuelled in mount Sinai to his people, Ptal. 31. 16.

f Signifying that God had woonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when hee would deliuer his Church.

g The iniquitie of this king of Syria in vexing thy people, was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 3. 10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7. 22.

h Meaning, that God was not angrie with the waters, but that by this meanes hee would destroy his enemies, and deliuer his Church.

i And so didst vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

k That is, thy power.

l For he had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renued it with his posteritie.

m Reade Num. 20. 11.

n He alludeth to the red sea and Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their hands.

o As appeareth, Iosh. 10. 12.

p According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

q Signifying that there is no saluation but by Christ.

r From the top to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.

s God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their owne weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.

t He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afrayd of Gods iudgements.

u Hee sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.

x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.

y Hee declareth wherein standeth the comfort and ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.

z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of muscke shall haue occasion to prayse God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

Zephaniah.

THE ARGVMENT.

SEeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should be vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continual care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therfore quietly to abide till God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the a foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, and I wil cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I wil also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the b Chemarims with the Priests,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Bee still at the presence of the Lorde God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests.

8 And it shall be in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visite the princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with d strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visite all those that e daunce vpon the thresholde so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelties and deceit.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the hie towers.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 * Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land shall bee deuoured by the fire of his iealousie: for hee shal make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

How mooueth to returne to God, 3 prophesying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites, and others.

GAther a your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be loued, a He exhorteth them to repentance, and willeth them to descend into themselues and gather themselues together, lest they bee scattered like chaffe.

2 Before the decree come forth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which haue b wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnesse, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that yee may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

b That is, which haue liued vprightly and godly, according as he prescribeth by his word.

4 For c Azzah shalbe forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rooted vp.

c He comforteth the faithfull in that, that God would change his punishments from them vnto the Philistims their enemies and other nations.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the sea d coast: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistims, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

d That is, Galilea: by these nations he meaneth the people that dwelt neere to the Iewes, and in steade of friendship were their enemies: therefore he calleth them Canaanites whome the Lord appointed to bee slaine.

6 And the sea coast shalbe dwellings, and cottages for shepheards and sheepefolds.

7 And that coast shall bee for the e remnant of the house of Iudah to feede thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

e Hee sheweth why God would destroy their enemies, because their countrey might bee a resting place for his Church.

8 I haue heard the reproche of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbraided my people, and f magnified themselues against their borders.

f These nations presumed to take from the Iewes that countrey which the Lord had giuen them.

9 Therefore as I liue, sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, surely Moab

ſhalbe as Sodom, and the children of Ammon as Gomorah, euen the breeding of nettles and ſalt pits, and a perpetuall deſolation: the reſidue of my folke ſhall ſpoyle them, and the remnant of my people ſhall poſſeſſe them.

10 This ſhall they haue for their pride, becauſe they haue reproched, and magnified themſelues againſt the Lord of hoſts people.

11 The Lorde will be terrible vnto them, g for he will conſume all the gods of the earth, and euery man ſhall worſhip him from his place, euen all the yles of the heathen.

12 Ye Morians alſo ſhall be ſlaine by my ſworde with them.

13 And hee will ſtretch out his hande againſt the North, and deſtroy Aſſhur, and will make Nineueh deſolate, and waſte like a wildernes.

14 And flockes ſhall lie in the middes of her, and all the beaſtes of the nations, and the h pelicane, and the ‖ owle ſhall abide in the vpper poſtes of it: the voyce of birdes ſhall ſing in the windowes, and deſolations ſhall be vpon the poſtes: for the cedars are vncouered.

15 This is the i reioycing citie that dwelt careleſſe, that ſayde in her heart, I am, and there is none beſides mee: how is ſhe made waſte, and the lodging of the beaſtes! euery one that paſſeth by her, ſhall hiſſe and wagge his hand.

g When he ſhall deliuer his people and deſtroy their enemies and idoles, his glory ſhall ſhine throughout all the world.

h Reade Iſai. 34.11. ‖ Or, hedgehogge.

i Meaning, Nineueh, which reioycing ſo much of her ſtrength and proſperitie ſhould be thus made waſte, and Gods people deliuered.

CHAP. III.

4 Againſt the gouernours of Ieruſalem. 8 Of the calling of all the Gentiles. 13 A comfort to the reſidue of Iſrael.

WOe to her that is filthie and polluted to the robbing a citie.

2 She heard not the voyce: ſhe receiued not correction: ſhee truſted not in the Lord: ſhe drew not neere to her God.

3 Her princes within her are as roaring b lyons: her Iudges are as c wolues in the euening, which b leaue not the bones till the morrow.

4 Her prophets are light, & wicked perſons: her prieſts haue polluted the ſanctuarie: they haue wreſted the Law.

5 The d iuſt Lord is in the mids thereof: hee will doe none iniquitie: euery morning doeth he bring his iudgement to light, hee faileth not: but the wicked will not learne to be aſhamed.

6 I haue e cut off the nations: their towers are deſolate: I haue made their ſtreetes waſte, that none ſhall paſſe by: their cities are deſtroyed without man and without inhabitant.

7 I ſaid, Surely thou wilt feare me: thou wilt receiue inſtruction: ſo their dwelling ſhould not be deſtroyed, howſoeuer I viſited them, but f they roſe early and corrupted all their workes.

a That is, Ieruſalem. Ezek. 22.25, 27. Moab 3.11. Habak 1.8.

b They are ſo greedy that they eate vp bones and all.

c The wicked thus boaſted that God was euer among them, but the Prophet anſwereth that that cannot excuſe their wickednes: for God will not heare with their ſinnes: yet that he did patiently abide and ſeeke his Prophets continually to call them to repentance, but he profited nothing.

d By the deſtruction of other nations, he ſheweth that the Iewes ſhould haue learned to feare God.

8 Therefore g wait ye vpon me, ſaith the Lorde, vntill the day that I riſe vp to the praye: for I am determined to gather the nations, and that I will aſſemble the kingdomes to powre vpon them mine indignation, euen all my fierce wrath: for all the earth ſhalbe deuoured with the fire of my iealouſie.

9 Surely h then will I turne to the people a pure language, that they may all call vpon the Name of the Lorde, to ſerue him ‡ with one conſent.

10 From beyond the riuers of Ethiopia, the i daughter of my diſperſed, praying vnto me, ſhall bring me an offering.

11 In that day ſhalt thou not be aſhamed for k all thy workes, wherein thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt mee: for then I will take away out of the mids of thee them that reioyce of thy pride, and thou ſhalt no more bee proud of mine holy mountaine.

12 Then will I leaue in the mids of thee an humble and poore people: and they ſhall truſt in the Name of the Lord.

13 The remnant of Iſrael ſhall doe none iniquitie, nor ſpeake lies: neither ſhall a deceitfull tongue be found in their mouth: for they ſhall be fed, and lye downe, and none ſhall make them afrayd.

14 Reioyce, O daughter Zion: be ye ioyfull, O Iſrael: be glad and reioyce with all thine heart, O daughter Ieruſalem.

15 The Lorde hath taken away thy l iudgements: he hath caſt out thine l enemie: the King of Iſrael, euen the Lorde is in the mids of m thee: thou ſhalt ſee no more euill.

16 In that day it ſhall be ſaid to Ieruſalem, Feare thou not, O Zion: let not thine hands be faint.

17 The Lorde thy God in the middes of thee is mightie: he will ſaue, he will reioyce ouer thee with ioy: he will quiet himſelfe in n his loue: hee will reioyce ouer thee with ioy, 18 After a certaine time will I gather the afflicted that were of thee, and them that bare the reproch for it.

19 Behold, at that time I will bruiſe all that afflict thee, and I will p ſaue her that halteth, and gather her that was caſt out, and I will get them praiſe and fame in all the q lands of their ſhame.

20 At that time will I bring you againe, and then will I gather you: for I will giue you a name and a praiſe among all people of the earth, when I turne backe your captiuitie before your eyes, ſaith the Lord.

e They were moſt earneſt and ready to doe wickedly.

f Seeing ye will not repent, you ſhall looke for my vengeance aſwell as other nations.

g Leſt any ſhould thinke, then that Gods glory ſhould haue periſhed when Iudah was deſtroyed, hee ſheweth that he will publiſh his grace through all the world.

h That is, the Iewes ſhall come as well as the Gentiles: which is to be vnderſtood vnder the time of the Goſpel.

i For they ſhall haue full remiſſion of their ſinnes: and the hypocrites which boaſted of the Temple, which was alſo thy pride in time paſt, ſhall be taken from thee.

k That is, the puniſhment for thy ſinne.

l As the Aſſyrians, Caldeans, Egyptians and other nations.

m To defend thee, as by thy ſinnes thou haſt put him away and left thy ſelfe naked, as Exod. 33.25.

n Signifying, that God delighteth to ſhew his loue and great affection toward his Church.

o That is, them that were had in hatred and reuiled for the Church, and religion.

p I will deliuer the Church which now is afflicted, as Micah 4.6.

q As among the Aſſyrians and Caldeans which did mocke them, and put them to ſhame.

Haggai.

Haggai.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie prophesied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes, and to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures, and commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iust rewarde of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that he hath begun, and send Christ whom he had promised, & by whom they should attaine to perfit ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 3 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of king [a] Darius, in the first moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the word of the LORD (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto [b] Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak, the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the LORD of hosts, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, [c] that the LORDS house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the LORD by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your [d] ceiled houses, & this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore thus sayth the LORD of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 [e] Yee haue sowen much, and bring in little: yee eate, but ye haue not ynough: yee drinke, but yee are not filled: ye clothe you, but yee bee not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus sayth the LORD of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe [f] vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and [g] I will be fauourable in it, and I will [h] bee glorified, sayth the LORD.

9 Yee looked for much, and lo, it came to little: and when yee brought it home, I did blowe [i] vpon it. And why, saith the LORD of hosts? because of mine house that is waste, and ye run euery man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oile, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 Then Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the [k] voyce of the LORD their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as the LORD their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the LORD.

13 Then spake Haggai the LORDS messenger in the LORDS message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the LORD.

14 And the LORD stirred vp the [l] spirit of Zerubbabel, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the LORD of hostes their God.

a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis, & the third king of the Persians, as some thinke.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had need to be stirred vp and admonished of their duties, what shall we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the building thereof, but they preferred policie, and priuate profite to religion, being content with small beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures, before Gods honour.

e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policie to his religion, and because yee seeke not him first of all.

f Meaning, that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion.

g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promise, 1. King. 8. 21, 29.

h That is, my glory shall be set forth by you.

i And so bring it to nothing.

k This declared that God was the author of the doctrine, and that he was but the minister, as Exo. 14. 31. Iudg. 7. 20. Act. 15. 28.

l Which declareth that men are vnapt and dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new spirits, Ioha 6. 44.

CHAP. II.

Hee sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the first moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the LORD by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that saw this [a] House in her first glorie, and how doe you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it, as nothing?

5 Yet now bee of good courage, O Zerubbabel, sayeth the LORDE, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the LORD, and [b] do it: for I am with you, saith the LORD of hosts,

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when yee came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shal remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the LORD of hosts, [c] Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land:

a For the people according as Isai. 32, 11. and Ezek. 41. 1. had prophesied, thought this Temple should haue bene more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but [§] Prophets meant the spirituall Temple, the Church of Christ.

b That is, go forward in building the Temple.

c Hee exhorteth them to patience though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

8 And

8 And I wil moue all nations, and [d] the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glory, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

9 The [e] siluer is mine, and the golde is mine, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

10 The glory of this last house shall bee greater then the first, sayeth the Lorde of hosts: and in this place will I giue [f] peace, sayth the Lord of hostes.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lorde vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Aske now the priests concerning the Law, and say, 13 If one beare [g] holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt doe touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it be holy? and the Priests answered, and sayd, No.

14 Then sayd Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, and sayd, It shal be vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, sayth the Lord: and so are all the workes of their handes, and that which they offer here is vncleane.

16 And nowe, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this [h] day, and afore, euen afore a stone was layed vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 [i] Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but tenne: when one came to the wine presse for to drawe out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to mee, sayth the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your minds, from [k] this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the [l] seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought foorth: from this day will I bleſſe you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I [m] will shake the heauens and the earth,

23 And I will ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the [n] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrowe the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, and will make thee as a [o] signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

d Meaning, Christ, whom all ought to looke for and desire: or by desire, he may signifie all precious things, as riches and such like.

e Therfore when his time cõmeth, he can make all the treasures of the world to serue his purpose: but the glory of this second Temple doeth not stand in material things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all spirituall blessings and felicitie purchased by Christ, Phil. 4. 7.

g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that that thing, which of it selfe is good, cannot make an other thing so: and therfore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary, he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doth corrupt those things, and make them detestable vnto God, which else are good and godly.

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would bleſſe them: and albeit as yet the fruit was not come foorth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harueſt came, and then they should see Gods blessings.

m I will make a change, and renew all things in Christ of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby hee sheweth that there shall be no let or hinderance when God will make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.

o Signifying, that his dignitie should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

Zechariah.

THE ARGVMENT.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in his labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore he putteth them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfeinedly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse and coldenesse to set forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this means be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, & to eschew the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of [a] Darius came the worde of the Lorde vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lorde hath bene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, [d] Turne yee vnto mee, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whom a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2. Chro. 24. 20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as hee was, because he came of those progenitors, as of Iaala or Berechiah and Iddo.

c He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements that they shoulde not prouoke him, as their fathers had done, whome hee so grieuously punished.

d Let your fruites declare that you are Gods people, and that hee hath wrought in you by his spirit, and mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ierem. 31. 18. Lament 5. 21. Isaiah 21. 8. and 31. 6. and 45. 22.

Ier.3.3.12.c&c. 18.34.bo/o.14. 2.zec/2.12.

e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the Prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2 Pet.1.15.

f Seeing ye saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe not ye feare the threatnings conteined in the same and declared by my Prophets?

g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

h Which conteineth part of Ianuarie and part of Februarie.

i This vision signifieth there staturation of the Church, but as yet it should not appeare to mans eyes, which is here meant by the night, by the bottome and by the myrrhe trees, which are blacke, and giue a darke shadow: yet he compareth God to a King, who hath his postes and messengers abroad, by whom he still worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.

k Who was the chiefe among the rest of the horsemen.

l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels, by whome God sometime punisheth and sometime comforteth, and bringeth forth his works in diuers sorts.

m That is, Christ the mediator prayed for the saluation of his church, which was now troubled when all the countreys about them were at rest.

n Though for a time God deferre his helpe and comfort from his Church, yet this declareth that he loueth them still most deerely, as a most mercifull father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.

o In destroying the reprobate I shewed my selfe but a little angrie toward my Church, but the enemie would haue destroyed them also, and considered not the end of my chastisements.

the former * Prophets haue cried, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Turne you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare, nor hearken vnto mee, sayeth the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where *are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of f your fathers? And g they returned, and sayd, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth h Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I i saw by night, and beholde k a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrte trees that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there l red horses speckled and white.

9 Then sayd I, O my Lord, What are these? and the Angel that talked with mee, sayd, vnto mee, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrte trees answered, and sayd, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to go thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the myrte trees, and sayd, We haue gone thorow the world: and beholde, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the m Angel of the Lord answered and sayd, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lorde answered the Angell that talked with me, with good wordes and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, sayd vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, I am n iealous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careleſſe heathen: for I was angrie but *a litle, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shall be builded in it, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and a line p shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet q be broken with plentie: the Lorde shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and saw, and beholde, r foure hornes.

19 And I sayde vnto the Angel that talked with me, What bee these? And hee answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure s carpenters.

21 Then sayd I, What come these to do? And he answered, and sayd, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

16 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercy: mine house shall be builded in it, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and a line p shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet q be broken with plentie: the Lorde shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and saw, and beholde, r foure hornes.

19 And I sayde vnto the Angel that talked with me, What bee these? And hee answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure s carpenters.

21 Then sayd I, What come these to do? And he answered, and sayd, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

p To measure out the buildings.

q The abundance shalbe so great that the places of store shall not be able to conteine these blessings, that God will send, but shall euen breake for fulnesse.

r Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South.

s These carpenters, smithes are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies borne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces,

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and beholde, a a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then sayd I, Whither goest thou? And he sayd vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breadth therof, and what is the length therof.

3 And behold, the Angel that talked with me, went foorth: and another Angel went out to meet him,

4 And sayd vnto him, Runne, speake to this b yong man, and say, c Ierusalem shall be inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of d fire round about, and will e bee the glory in the middes of her.

6 Ho, ho, come f foorth, and flee from the land of the North, sayeth the Lorde: for I haue scattered you into the foure g winds of the heauen, sayth the Lord.

7 h Saue thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, After this i glory hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for hee that toucheth a That is, the Angel, who was Christ for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in respect of his eternall essence, is God, and so called.

b Meaning himselfe Zechariah.

c Signifying the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel thorow all the world, and should needs no materiall walles, nor trust in any worldly strength, but should be safely preserued, and dwell in peace among all their enemies.

d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approch neere.

e In me they shall haue their full felicitie and glory.

f He calleth to them, which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease remained still in captiuitie, and so preferred their owne priuate commodities to the benefits of God promised in the Church.

g As it was I that scattered you, so haue I power to restore you.

h By flying from Babylon and comming to the Church

i Seeing that God hath begun to shew his grace among you by deliuering you, hee continueth the same still toward you, and therefore sendeth mee his Angell, and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way nor at home.

k Yee are so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psal. 17. 8.
l Vpon the heathen your enemies.
m They shall be your seruants as you haue bene theirs.
n This must necessarily be vnderstoode of Christ, who being God equall with his Father, was sent as hee was Mediatour to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

you, toucheth the k apple of his eye.
9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand l vpon them: and they m shall be a spoile to those that serued them, and yee shall know, that the Lord of hosts hath n sent me.
10 Reioyce, and bee glad, O daughter Zion: for lo, I come, and will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the Lord.
11 And many nations shall bee ioyned to the Lorde in that day, and shalbe my people: and I will dwell in the middes of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto thee.
12 And the Lord shall inherit Iudah his portion in the holyland, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.
13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

CHAP. III.

A prophesie of Christ and of his kingdome.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church.
b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephe. 6. 12.
c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preserver of his Church.
d Meaning, that Iehoshua was wonderfully preserved in the captiuitie, and nowe Satan sought to afflict and trouble him, when he was doing his office. e In respect of the glorious garments, and the precious stones that the Priests did weare before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should bee made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of his Church. f Hee sheweth of what apparell he speaketh, which is when our filthie sinnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution. g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obteineth it.
h That is, haue rule and gouernement in my Church as they predecessours haue had. i Whereby hee meaneth, to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church.

AND he shewed mee Iehoshua the high Priest, a standing before the Angell of the Lorde, and b Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.
2 And the c Lord said vnto Satan, The Lorde reproue thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reproue thee. Is not this a d brand taken out of the fire?
3 Nowe Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.
4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the e filthie garments from him. And vnto him he said, Beholde, I haue f caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of rayment.
5 And I said, Let them e set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angell of the Lord stood by.
6 And the Angell of the Lorde testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,
7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also h iudge mine house, and shalt also keepe my i courts, and I will giue thee place among k these that stand by.
8 Heare nowe, O Iehoshua the high Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they l are monstrous persons: but beholde, I will bring forth the m Branch my seruant.
9 For loe, the n stone that I haue layde before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shall be seuen eyes: beholde, I will o cut out the grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hosts, and I will take p away the iniquity of this land in one day.
10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery man his neighbour vnder the q vine, and vnder the figge tree.

k That is, the Angels who represented the whole number of the faithfull signifying, that all the godly should willingly receive him.
l Because they follow my word, they are contemned in the world, & esteemed as monsters, Isa. 8. 18.
m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa. 11. 1. Iere. 23. 5. and 33. 14, 15. n Hee sheweth that the ministers can not builde, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because he giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap. 4. 10. o That is, I will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God.
p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visit their sinnes no more. q Yee shall then liue in peace and quietnes, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, Isa. 2, 3. micah. 4. 4. hag. 2, 10.

CHAP. IIII.

The vision of the golden candlesticke, and the exposition thereof.

AND the Angell that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,
2 And sayd vnto me, What seest thou? and I sayd, I haue looked, and beholde, a a candlesticke all of golde with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen b pipes to the lampes, which were vpon the top thereof.
3 And two olyue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.
4 So I answered, and spake to the Angell that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord?
5 Then the Angell that talked with me, answered and sayd vnto me, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I sayd, No, my Lord.
6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto c Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by d an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saieth the Lord of hosts.
7 Who art thou, O e great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine, and f hee shall bring forth the head stone a Which was euer in the midst of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirite should shine there in most abundance, and in al perfection.

b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithful that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe, though he had no helpe of man.
c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members. d Hee sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preserue his Church, though hee vse no mans helpe thereunto. e Hee compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindred Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daily labour to let, in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.

thereof,

thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The handes of Zerubbabel haue layd the foundation of this house: his handes shall also finish it, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of tinne in the hande of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lorde, which goe thorowe the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What bee these two olive branches, which thorowe the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the golde?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

14 Then said hee, These are the two olive branches, that stande with the ruler of the whole earth.

g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the building and preseruation of my spirituall Temple.

h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the smal and poore beginning of the Temple.

i Whereby he signifyeth the plummet & line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ should go forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly, though the world be against him, and though his for a while bee discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning a continuall prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap.3.9. l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that stil they powred foorth oyle into the lampes: Signifying, that God wil continually maintaine and preserue his Church, and indue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theeues, & such as abuse the Name of God, 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

THen I turned mee, and lifted vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then sayde hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth foorth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that stealeth, shall bee cut off a well on this side, as on that: and euery one that sweareth shall be cut off, a well on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it foorth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the theefe, and into the house of him, that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went foorth and said vnto me, Lift vp nowe thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth foorth.

6 And I said, What is it? And he saide, This is an Ephah that goeth foorth. Hee sayd moreouer, This is the sight of them, thorow all the earth.

7 And beholde, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that sitteth in the midst of the Ephah.

8 And he sayd, This is wickednes, and he cast it into the middes of the Ephah, and he cast the weight of leade vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholde, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with me, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And hee sayde vnto me, To builde it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall be established and set there vpon her owne place.

1 Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, and casting off all iudgement and equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them, and their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

b That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour.

c Meaning, wheresoeuer he be in the world. d Hee that transgresseth the first table, & seeketh not God aright, but abuseth Gods Name. e Which was a measure in dry things, containing about ten pottels.

f That is, all the wickednesse of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and cap shut it, or open it at his pleasure.

g To couer the measure.

h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.

i Signifying that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes. l To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets hee describeth the foure monarchies.

AGaine, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked, & beholde, there came foure charets out from betweene two mountaines, & the mountaines were mountaines of brasse.

2 In the first charet were red horses, and in the second charet blacke horses,

3 And in the third charet white horses, and in the fourth charet horses of diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and sayd vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto mee, These are the foure spirits of the heauen, which go forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth towarde the South countrey.

7 And the reddish went out, and required to goe, and passe thorow the world. And he sayd, Goe, passe thorow the world. So they went thorow out the world.

8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Beholde, these that goe toward a By charets here, as by horses afore, bee meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.

b By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the eternall counsell and prouidence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

c Which signified the great cruelties and persecutions that the Church had endured vnder diuers enemies. d Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie. f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Nineueh and Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods spirit, which according to his inchangeable counsell bee causeth to appeare thorow all the world.

h That is, toward Egypt, and other countreys thereabout. i That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leaue, to signifie that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God giue it him, Iob.1.12.

k By punishing the Caldeans mine anger ceased, and you were deliuered.

l To receiue of him and the ouer three, money to make the two crownes which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, & doubted of the restitution of the kingdome and of the priesthood, and hurt others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Lawe, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning Christ, of whom both called Iesus.

o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man.

p Which declareth that none could build this temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Haggai 2.10.

q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadowe.

r The two offices of the kingdome and priesthood shalbe so ioyned together, that they shall bee no more desseuered.

s Who was also called Heldai.

t He also was called Ioshiah.

u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, Acts 1.6.

x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel shall helpe towarde the building of this spirituall Temple.

y If ye will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

the North countrey, haue pacified my k spirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobiiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go vnto the house l of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer and golde, and make crownes, and set them vpon the m head of Iehozuah, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest.

12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lorde of hostes, and saith, Beholde the man whose name is the n Branch, and hee shall grow vp out of his place, and he shall p build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shal build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall bee a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shalbe betweene them both.

14. And the crownes shall bee to q Helem, and to Tobiiah, and to Iedaiah, & to r Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a s memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are t farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall know that the Lorde of hostes hath sent mee vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if yee will y obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people & the cause of their affliction.

a Which conteined part of November and part of December.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these feastes were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the moneth that the Temple was destroyed, and the other, when Godaliah was slaine, Ier. 41.2.

c By weeping and mourning appeare what exercises they vsed in their fasting.

d That is, prepare my selfe with all deuotion to this fast.

e Which was now since the time the Temple was destroyed.

AND in the fourth yeere of king Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in a Chisleu,

2 For b they had sent vnto the house of God Sharezer, and Regem-melech, and their men to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lorde of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I c weepe in the fift moneth, and d separate my selfe as I haue done these so many e yeeres?

4 Then came the worde of the Lorde of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto al the people of the land, and to the f Priestes, & say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fift and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? do I approue it?

6 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate h for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the words, which the Lord i hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophetes when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, k Execute true iudgement, and shew mercie and compassion, euery man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and l pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should heare the law and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his m spirit by the ministery of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cried, and I would not heare, sayth the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whome they knew not: thus the land was desolate n after them, that no man passed thorowe nor returned: for they layed the pleasant land o waste.

f For there were both of the people, and of the Priestes, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserued toward God, because of this fast, which they inuented of themselues: and though fasting of it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reproued.

h Did ye not eate and drinke for your owne commodity and necessitie? and so likewise ye did abstaine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the prescript of my Law.

i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded.

k Hee sheweth that he did not fast with a sincere heart, but for an hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charity, which should haue declared that they were godly, Matth. 23.23.

l And would not obey the Lords burden, which was sweete and easie, but would beare their owne, which was beauie and grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehem. 9.29.

m Which declareth that they rebelled not only against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them.

n That is, after they were carried captiue.

o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good workes. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGain the word of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, I was a ielous for Zion with great iealousie, and I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus sayeth the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the middes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a b citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord a I loued my citie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any iniury.

b Because shee shall be faithfull & loyall toward me her husband,

Lord of hostes, the holy mountaine.

4 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, There shall yet [c] old men and old women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streets of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles, playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it bee [d] vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, sayeth the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West country.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall [e] dwell in the midst of Ierusalem, and they shall bee my people, and I will be their God in trueth and in righteousnesse.

9 Thus sayeth the Lorde of hostes, let your [f] hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the House of the Lorde of hostes was layde, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for a man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, every one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I will not intreat the residue of this people as afore time, sayeth the Lorde of hostes.

12 For the seede shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all their things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shalbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish [h] you, when your fathers prouoked mee vnto wrath, sayeth the Lord of hosts, and repented not,

15 So againe I haue determined in these dayes [i] to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shal doe. Speake yee every man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oth: for all these are the things that I hate, sayth the Lord.

18 And the worde of the Lorde of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the [k] tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous high feastes: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come [l] people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, [m] Vp, let vs goe and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lorde of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iew, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and encrease their children in great abundance.

d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Gene. 18 14. Rom. 4. 20.

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shall be sure and stable.

f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant, and obey the Prophets, which encourage you thereunto.

g For God cursed your workes, so that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours.

h Reade Ezek. 18. 20.

i Which declareth that man can not turne to God till he change mans heart by his Spirit, and so begin to doe well, which is to pardon his sinne, and to giue him his graces.

k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, and was the first fast of these foure: & here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Iewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of bemuinesse: for God will send them ioy & gladnesse.

l He declareth the great zeale that God shoulde giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should bee in the kingdome of Christ. Isa. 2. 2. micah. 4. 1.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burden of the worde of the Lorde in the land of [a] Hadrach: and Damascus shall be his [b] rest: when the [c] eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shalbe toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border [d] thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they bee [e] very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and golde as the mire of the streetes.

4 Beholde, the Lord will spoile her, and he will smite her [f] power in the Sea, and she shalbe deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shalbe ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the [g] stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his [h] teeth: but hee that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shall be as a prince in Iudah, but [i] Ekron shalbe as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about [k] mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shall come vpon them a Whereby he meaneth Syria.

b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare so much as that.

c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

d That is, by Damascus meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

e Hee secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft and subtilties, which they clocked with this name of Wisedome.

f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible by reason of the Sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements. g Meaning, that all should bee destroyed saue a very fewe, that should remaine as strangers. h Hee promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them. i As the Iebusites had bene destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims. k Hee sheweth that Gods power onely shall bee sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries, bee they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.

l That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue beene afflicted by their enemies.
m That is, he hath righteousnesse and saluation in himselfe for the vse and commoditie of his Church.
n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Matt. 21.5.
o No power of man or creature shall be able to let this kingdome of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word.
p That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syricum: and by these places which the Iewes knew he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole world. q That is, from Euphrates. r Meaning, Ierusalem, or the Church which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifice was a figure, and is heere called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that hee bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great. t That is, into the holy land, where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you. u Meaning, the faithfull, which seemed to bee in danger of their enemies one euery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefits and prosperity, in respect of that which your fathers inioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which bee heere meaneth by the Grecians. z Hee promiseth that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies & haue abundance and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: which things are not to mooue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankeful remembrance of Gods great liberalitie. a The faithfull shalbe preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great, when he met Iadi the hie Priest.

any more: for nowe I haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: beholde, thy king commeth vnto thee: m he is iust, and saueth himselfe, poore, and riding vpon an n asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the o chariots from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battel shall be broken, and he shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall bee from p sea vnto sea, and from the q riuer to the end of the land.

11 r Thou also shalt bee saued through the blood of thy couenant. I haue loosed thy f prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the s strong holde, yee u prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the x double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I y bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shalbe seene ouer them, and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the z Lorde God shall blowe the trumpet, and shall come forth with the whirle windes of the South.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, a and subdue them with sling stones, & they shall drinke, and make a noise as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the [illegible]rde their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall bee as the b stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For howe great is his goodnesse! and howe great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cheerefull, and new wine the mayds.

sith to visit and comfort the house of Israel.

A Aske you of the c Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lorde make white cloudes, and giue you showres of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely d the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the soothsayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue told a vaine thing: they comfort in vaine: therefore e they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visit the f goates: but the Lorde of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and wil make them as g his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out f of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battell, and out of him euery h appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall be as the mighty men, which treade downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders and horses shalbe confounded.

6 And I wil strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house i of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shalbe as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lorde their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: and their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I wil k hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall encrease, as they haue encreased.

9 And I will l sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreys: and they shall liue with their children, and l returne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assur: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead, and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And hee m shall goe into the sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shall drie vp: and the pride of Assur shall bee cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes, because by their owne infidelitie they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoid this plague, he willeth them to returne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he wil giue them abundance.
b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him, but in their idoles and sorcerers who euer deceiued them.
c That is, the Iewes went into captiuitie.
d Meaning, the cruell gouernous which did oppresse the poore sheepe, Ezek. 34.16,17.
e Hee will be mercifull to his Church, and cherish them as a King or Prince doeth his best horse, which shall be for his owne vse in the warre.
f Out of Iudah shall the chiefe gouernour proceed, who shall be a corner to vphold the building, and as a naile to fasten it together.
g Ouer their enemies.
h That is, the tenne tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.
i Whereby hee declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when hee will deliuer him for with a becke or hisse hee can call them from all places suddenly.
k Though they shall bee yet scattered and seeme to be lost, yet it shall bee profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospell, among whom it was first preached. l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but be gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospell. m Hee alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angell smote the floodes and riuers.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A gracious vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountaine that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shal shew it selfe ready to receiue them.

b Shewing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.

c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.

d That is, the renowne of Iudah and Israel should perish.

e Which being now destinate to be slaine, were deliuered as out of the Lions mouth.

f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.

g He noteth the hypocrites, which euer haue the name of God in their mouthes, though in their life and doings they deny God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoile of their brethren.

h I will cause one to destroy another.

i Their gouernors shall execute cruelty euer them, k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthy to shew mercy vnto.

l God sheweth his great benefits towarde his people to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither bee ruled by his most beautifull order of gouernment, neither continue in the bands of brotherly voitie, and therefore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade, for Bands destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed.

m Whereby hee sheweth his care and diligence that he would suffer them to haue no euil rulers, because they should consider his great loue.

n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefits of God, o He sheweth that the least part euer profit by Gods iudgements.

p Besides this ingratitude God accuseth them of malice and wickednes, which did not onely forget his benefits, but esteemed them as things of nought.

q Shewing that it was too little to pay his wages, which could scarce suffice to make a few tiles for to couer the Temple, OPen thy doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle, b firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: howle ye, O okes of Bashan, for the c defenced forest is cut downe.

3 There is the voice of the howling of the shepheards: for their d glory is destroyed: the voice of the roaring of lions whelps: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the e slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them, f and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, g Blessed bee the Lorde: for I am riche, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely I wil no more spare those that dwell in the lande, saith the Lorde: but loe, h I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hande of his i king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the k poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me l two staues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 m Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed n them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I wil not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disannull my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the o poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the worde of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me p my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lorde saide vnto mee, Cast it vnto the q potter: a goodly price, that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might dissolue the brotherhood betweene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto mee, Take to thee yet r the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing, that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp: but he shal eate the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shewe of gouernment: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolues, and deuouring beasts in stead of shepheards.

s And is in health and sound.

t By the arme hee signifieth strength, and iudgement by the eye, that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building again of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the word of the Lord vpon a Israel, saith the Lorde, which stretched the heauens, and layd the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirite of man within him,

2 Behold, I wil make Ierusalem a b cup of poyson vnto all the people rounde about: and also vnto Iudah will bee be, in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shalbe rent, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lorde, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The c inhabitants of Ierusalem shalbe my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand and on the left: and Ierusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shal preserue the d tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shal not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lorde defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lorde before them.

9 And in that day wil I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I wil powre vpon the house of a That is, the ten tribes which neglected Gods benefit in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remain in captiuitie, then to returne home, when God called them.

b Ierusalem shal be defended against all her enemies, so shal God defend all Iudah also, and shal destroy the enemies.

c Euery captaine that had many vnder him afore, shal now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shalbe sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.

d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preferred by my power, then if they were vnder their kings, (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.

Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ieruſalem the Spirit of c grace and of compaſſion, and they ſhal looke vpon me, whom they haue d pearced, and they ſhall lament for e him, as one mourneth for his onely ſonne, and be ſory for him as one is ſory for his firſt borne.

11 In that day ſhall there bee a great mourning in Ieruſalem, as the f mourning of g Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the h land ſhall bewaile euery family i apart, the family of the k houſe of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the houſe of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the houſe of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the family of l Shemei apart, and their wiues apart:

14 All the families that o remaine, euery family apart, and their wiues apart.

c They ſhall haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compaſſion on them.

d That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obſtinacie, and grieued my Spirit, Iohn 19. 37. where it is referred to Chriſtes body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

e They ſhall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had ſo grieuouſly offended by their ingratitude.

f They ſhall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences againſt God.

g Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo where Ioſias was ſlaine, 2. Chro. 35. 22.

h That is, in al places where the Iewes ſhall remaine.

i Signifying, that this mourning or repentance ſhould not bee a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe ſhall lament.

k Vnder theſe certaine families hee conteineth all the tribes, and ſheweth that both the Kings and the Prieſts had by their ſinnes pearced Chriſt.

m To wit, which were elect by grace, and preſerued from the common deſtruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly againſt falſe prophets.

1 IN that day there a ſhall bee a fountaine opened to the houſe of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, for ſinne and for vncleanneſſe.

2 And in that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, I will cut off the b names of the Idoles out of the lande: and they ſhall no more bee remembred: and I will cauſe the c prophetes, and the vncleane ſpirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any ſhall yet d propheſie, his father and his mother that begate him, ſhall ſay vnto him, Thou ſhalt not liue: for thou ſpeakeſt lies in the Name of the Lorde: and his father and his mother that begate him, e ſhall thruſt him through, when hee propheſieth.

4 And in that day ſhall the prophets f be aſhamed euery one of his viſion, when hee hath propheſied: neither ſhall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But hee ſhall ſay, I am no g Prophet: I am an huſbandman: for man taught me to be an heardman from my youth vp.

6 And one ſhall ſay vnto him, What are theſe h woundes in thine handes? Then he ſhal anſwere, Thus was I wounded in the houſe of my friends.

7 Cattle, O ſword, vpon my i ſhepheard, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes: ſmite the ſhepheard, and the ſheepe ſhall bee ſcattered, and I will turne mine hand vpon the litle ones.

8 And in all the lande, ſaith the Lorde, k two parts therein ſhall bee cut off, and die: but the third ſhall be left therein.

9 And I wil bring that third part through the fire, and will fine them as the ſiluer is fined, and will try them as golde is tried: they ſhall call on my Name, and I wil heare them: I will ſay, It is my people, and they ſhall ſay, The Lord is my God.

a He ſheweth what ſhall be the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remiſſion of ſinnes by the blood of Chriſt, which ſhalbe a continuall running fountaine, and purge them from all vncleanneſſe.

b He promiſeth that God wil alſo purge them from all ſuperſtition, and that their religion ſhalbe pure.

c Meaning, the falſe prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane ſpirits.

d That is, when they ſhall propheſie lies, and make God, who is the authour of trueth, a cloke thereunto.

e He ſheweth what zeale the godly ſhal haue vnder the kinglome of Chriſt, Deut. 13. 6. 9.

f God ſhall make them aſhamed of their errours and lies, and bring them to repentance, and they ſhall no more weare Propheters apparell to make their doctrine ſeeme more holy.

g They ſhal confeſſe their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

h Hereby he ſheweth that though their parents and friendes delt more gently with them and put them not to death, yet they would ſo punish their children, that became falſe prophets, that the markes and ſignes ſhould remaine for euer.

i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort ſhould come vnder Chriſt, there ſhould be an horrible diſſipation among the people: for their gouernours and paſtours ſhould bee deſtroyed, and the people ſhould bee as ſcattered ſheepe: and the Euangeliſt applieth this to Chriſt, becauſe he was the head of all paſtors, Matth. 26. 31.

k The greateſt part ſhall haue no portion of theſe bleſſings, and yet they that ſhall enioy them, ſhall be tried with great afflictions, ſo that it ſhall be knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preſerue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the doctrine that ſhall proceede out of the Church, and of the reſtauration thereof.

BEholde, the day of the Lorde commeth, and thy ſpoyle ſhall bee a diuided in the midſt of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations againſt Ieruſalem to battell, and the citie ſhalbe taken, and the houſes ſpoyled, and the women beſtiled, and halfe of the citie ſhall goe into captiuitie, and the reſtoue of the people ſhall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then ſhal the Lord go forth, and fight againſt thoſe nations, as when b hee fought in the day of battel.

4 And his feete ſhall ſtande in that day vpon the c mount of oliues, which is before Ieruſalem on the Eaſt ſide, and the mount of oliues ſhall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the Eaſt & toward the Weſt there ſhall be a very great d valley, and halfe of the mountaine ſhall remoue towarde the North, and halfe of the mountaine towarde the South.

5 And ye ſhall flee vnto the e valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines ſhal reach vnto Aſal: yea, ye ſhall flee like as ye fled from the f earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord my God ſhall come, and al the ſaints with thee.

6 And in that day ſhal there be no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there ſhalbe a day (it is knowen to a He meeteth the godly againſt great tentations that ſhould come before they enioyed this proſperous eſtate promiſed vnder Chriſt, that when theſe dangers ſhould come, they might know that they were warned of them afore.

b As your fathers and you haue had experience both at the red ſea, and at all other times.

c By this maner of ſpeach the Prophet ſheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he wil as it were by miracle ſaue it.

d So that out of all the parts of the world they ſhall ſee Ieruſalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this hee meaneth of the ſpirituall Ieruſalem the Church.

e Hee ſpeaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods preſence, but ſhould flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines.

f Reade Amos 1. 1.

g Becauſe they did not credite the Prophets wordes, hee turneth to God, and conforteth himſelfe in that that he knew that theſe things ſhould come, and ſaith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

h Signifying, that there should be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is here meant by ‡ euening) God would send comfort.

‡ That is, the spiritual graces of God, which should euer continue in most abundance.

k All idolatry and superstition shall be abolished, and there shall be one God, one faith, and one religion.

l This new Ierusalem shall be seene through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellencie, wealth and greatnesse.

m God will not onely raise vp war without, but sedition at home to trie them.

n To hurt and oppresse him.

the Lord) h neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shalbe light.

8 And in that day shall there ‖waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them towarde the East sea, and halfe of them towarde the vttermost sea, and shall be both in sommer and winter.

9 And the Lord shall be king ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one k Lord, and his Name shall be one.

10 All the land shalbe turned l as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shal be lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel, vnto the kings wine presses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall bee no more destruction, but Ierusalem shalbe safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague, wherewith the Lorde will smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day m a great tumult of the Lord shalbe among them, and euery one shall take the n hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shal fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered rounde about, with o golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparel.

15 Yet this shalbe the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the asse, and of all the beasts that be in their tents as this p plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that euery one ‡ is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worship the king the Lord of hostes, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so wil not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the family of q Egypt goe not vp, & come not, it shall not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shall bee the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be written vpon the ‖ bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lorde, and the ‖ pots in the Lordes house shalbe like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shalbe holy vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seethe therein: and in that day there shall be no more the r Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

o The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a pray, but to destroy and shed blood.

p As the men should be destroyed, vers. 12.

q By the Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to what seruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to serue in warre) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

‡ As precious the one as the other, because they shal be sanctified.

s But all shalbe pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, or any that shall corrupt the true seruice of God.

Malachi.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuitie, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more feruent desires looke for the comming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former doe, but chiefly hee reproueth the Priestes for their couetousnesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. Hee also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impatience, and such like. Notwithstanding, for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the Couenant should bee accomplished, whose comming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.

THe ‖ burden of the worde of the Lord to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, b Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iakobs brother, saith the Lorde? yet I loued Iakob,

3 And c hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wildernesse for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impouerished, but we will returne, and builde the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people with whom the Lorde is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lorde will be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A son honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honor? And if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hosts vnto you, d O Priests that despise my Name? and yet say, e Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

a Reade Isa. 13. 1.

b Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge this loue, which was so euident in that he chose Abraham from out of all the world, and next chose Iakob the yonger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the Elder.

c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when he was made seruant vnto his yonger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterward in that hee was put from his birthright, yet euen nowe before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that his countrey lyeth waste, and he shall neuer returne to inhabite it, whereas ye my people, whom the enemy hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, reade Rom. 9. 13.

d Besides the rest of the people he condemneth the Priestes chiefly, because they should haue reproued others for their hypocrisie, and obstinacie against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.

e He noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently couered them, and so were blinde guides.

7 Ye

f Ye receiue all maner offrings for your owne greedinesse, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.
g Not that they laid thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse.
h You make it no fault: where by he condemneth them, that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie, and so come not to that pureuesse of religion, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so serued.
i He deuideth the Priests who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.
k Will God consider your office and state, seeing you are so couetous and wicked? l Because the Leuites who kept the doores, did not trie whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Lawe, God willeth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receiue such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice, shall be the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Lawe, framed his wordes to the capacitie of the people, and by the altar and sacrifice hee meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which should bee vnder the Gospell, when an ende shall be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice. n Both the Priestes, and the people were infected with this errour, that they pulled not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fatte: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which hee required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and couetousnesse. o The Priests and people were both weary with seruing God, and pulled not what manner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God, so that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lorde. p That is hath ability to serue the Lord according to his worde, and yet will serue him according to his couetous minde.

7 Yee offer [f] vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue wee polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not to be regarded.
8 And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is [h] not euill: and if yee offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it nowe vnto thy Prince: will hee bee content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lorde of hostes?
9 And nowe, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that hee may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regarde [k] your persons, sayeth the Lorde of hostes?
10 Who is there euen among you, [l] that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.
11 For [m] from the rising of the Sonne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall bee offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lorde of hostes.
12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.
13 Yee sayd also, Beholde, it is a [o] wearinesse, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and yee offered that which was torne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offered an offering: shoulde I accept this of your hand, sayth the Lord?
14 But cursed bee the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke [p] a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lorde a corrupt thing: for I am a great king, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priestes being seducers of the people.

AND nowe, O ye [a] Priests, this commaundement is for you.
2 If yee will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory [b] vnto my Name, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, and will curse your [c] blessings: yea, I haue cursed them alreadie, because yee doe not consider it in your heart.
3 Beholde, I will corrupt [d] your seede, and cast dung vpon your faces, euen the [e] dung of your solemne feasts, and you shall be like vnto it.
4 And yee shall knowe, that I haue [f] sent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant which I made with Leui, might stand, sayth the Lord of hosts.
5 [g] My couenant was with him of life and peace, and I [h] gaue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was afrayde before [i] my Name.
6 The law of [k] truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lippes: hee walked with mee in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.
7 For the Priests [l] lips shoulde preserue knowledge, and they should seeke the Lawe at his mouth: for hee is the [m] messenger of the Lord of hostes.
8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Lawe: yee haue broken the couenant of Leui, sayeth the Lord of hosts.
9 Therefore haue I also made you to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Law.
10 Haue we not all one [n] father? hath not one God made vs? why doe wee transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of [o] our fathers?
11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed [p] in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord, which he loued, and hath married the [q] daughter of a strange god.
12 The Lorde will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that [r] offereth an offering vnto the Lorde of hosts.
13 And this haue yee done againe, and [s] couered the altar of the Lorde with teares, with weeping and with mourning: because a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.

b To serue mee according to my word.
c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.
d Your seede lowen shall come to no profite.
e You boast of your holines, sacrifices & feasts, but they shall turne to your shame, and be as vile as doung.
f The Priests obiected against the Prophet that hee could not reproone them, but hee must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but hee sheweth, that the office is nothing slandered, when these villaines and doung are called by their owne names.
g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui on Gods part, that he would giue them long life & felicitie, and on their part, that they should faithfully serue him according to his worde.
h I preferibed Leui a certaine Lawe to serue me.
i He serued me and set forth my glory with all humilitie and submission.
k Hee sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct others in the worde of the Lord.
l He is as the treasure house of Gods word and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie, and not to reserue it for himselfe.
m Shewing, that whosoeuer doeth not declare Gods will is not his messenger, and Priest.
n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to bee his holy people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.
o Whereby they had bound themselues to God to bee an holy people.
p They haue ioyned themselues in mariage with them that are of another religion.
q That is, the Priestes.
r Ye cause the people to lament, because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.

the

f This is another fault, whereof he accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of mariage.
t As the one halfe of thy selfe.
u She that was ioyned to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods name.
x Did not God make man and woman as one flesh and not many?
y By his power & vertue he could haue made many women for one man.
z Such as should be borne in lawfull and moderate mariage wherein is no excesse of lusts.
a Conteine your selues within your bounds, and be sober in minde, & bridle your affections.
b Not that he doth allow diuorcement, but of the two faules, hee sheweth which is the lesse.
c Hee thinketh sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit he take others, and so as it were coureth his fault.
d Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you assoone as yee called.
e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him.
f Thus they blaspheamed God in condemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fansies.

the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee say, f Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whome thou hast transgressed: yet is she thy t companion, and the wife of thy t couenant.

15 And did not x he make one? yet had he y abundance of spirite: and wherefore one? because hee sought a godly z seed: therefore keepe your selues in your a spirite, & let none transgresse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, b put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet her couereth c the iniurie vnder his garment, saieth the Lord of hosts: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue d wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that d doth euill, is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them. Or where is the God of e iudgement?

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messinger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, and of Christes office.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expoundeth it, Luke. 7. 27.
b Meaning, Messias, as Psal. 40. 1, 7. dan. 9. 17. 25.
c That is, Christ by whō the couenant was made & ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant, because he reconcileth vs to the father: and is Lord or King, because he hath the gouernment of his Church.
d He sheweth what f hypocrites which wish so much for f Lords comming, will not abide when he draweth nere: for he wil consume them, and purge his, and make them cleane.
e He beginneth at the Priests, that they might be lights & shine vnto others.
f They murmured against God, because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, & sheweth that in that they are not daily consumed, it is a token that he doth defend them, and so his mercy toward them neuer changeth.

BEholde, a I will send my b messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and the c Lord whom ye seeke, shal speedily come to his Temple: euen the c messenger of the couenant whom ye desire: beholde, he shall come, saieth the Lord of hosts.

2 But who d may abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when hee appeareth? for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And he shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: hee shall euen fine the sonnes of e Leui, and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offrings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.

4 Then shal the offrings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time, and the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come nere to you to iudgement, and will be a swift witnesse against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, and against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widowe and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hosts.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob f are not consumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, yee are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: g returne vnto mee, and I will returne vnto you, saieth the Lorde of hostes: but ye saide, Wherein shall wee returne?

8 Will a h man spoile his gode? yet haue ye spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein haue wee spoyled thee? In i tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoiled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring yee all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may bee meate in mine House, and proue mee now herewith, saith the Lorde of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and powre you out a blessing k without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the l deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the field, saith the Lord of hosts.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shalbe a pleasant land, saith the Lorde of hostes, 13 Your words haue bene stout m against me, saieth the Lord: yet yee say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Yee haue sayd, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profite is it that wee haue kept his commandement, and that wee walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore wee count the proude blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse, are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are n deliuered.

16 o Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a p booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lorde, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shall be to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that day q that I shall doe this, for a floke, and I will q spare them, as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked, betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

g Reade Zech. 1. 3.
h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that wil defraude their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them.
i Whereby the seruice of God should haue bene maintained, and the priests, and the poore relieued.
k Not hauing respect how much ye needs, but I will giue you in all abundance, so that yee shall lacke place to put my blessings in.
l Meaning, the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer deuoureth corne and fruits.
m The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemie against God: first in that they seyd that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.
n They are not onely preserued to honour, but also deliuered from danger.
o After these admonitions of the Prophet some were finely touched, and incouraged others to feare God.
p Both because the thing was strange that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies, to all penitent sinners.
q When I shall restore my Churche according to my promise, they shall be as mine owne proper goods.
r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my spirit.

6 And hee shall g turne the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come h and smite the earth with curling.

e This Christ expoundeth of Iohn Baptist, Mat. 11. 13, 14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion is aptly compared to Eliiah. f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doeth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance. g Hee sheweth wherein Iohns office shoulde stand: in the turning of men to God and ioyning the father and children in one vnitie of faith: so that the father shall turne to the religion of his sonne which is converted to Christ, and the sonne shall imbrace the faith of the true fathers Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob. h The second point of his office was to denounce Gods iudgements against them that would not receiue Christ.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the newe Testament, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, bookes, which were not receiued by a common consent to bee read and expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, saue in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonical to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to bee read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the history, and for the instruction of godly maners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

CHAP. I.

2 Iosias appointeth Priests, and keepeth the Passouer. 7 Offrings for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vprights life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appointed king. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

2.King.23.21. 2.chron.35.1.

AND Iosias kept the* Passouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offred the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayly courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Leuites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lorde in the house, which Salomon the sonne of king Dauid had built,

4 And sayd, Yee shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: nowe therefore serue the Lorde your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passouer, & make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passouer after the Lordes commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and ‖ Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the priests for the Passouer two thousande fiue hundreth sheepe, and three hundreth calues.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samarias and Nathanael his brother, and ‖ Sabias, and ‖ Ochins, and ‖ Ioram captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passouer fiue thousand sheepe, and seuen hundreth calues.

10 And when these thing were done, the Priests & the Leuites stood in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passouer with fire as* appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots, Exod.12.8.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priestes offered the fat vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make ready for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Nzarias, and ‖ Eddinus, which was of the kings appointment.

[Or, Iedithun.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lorde, according to the commandement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passouer, and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offer such a Passouer, as did Iosias, and the priests, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before before his Lord with a heart full of godliness.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, about euery nation and kingdome, and grieued him with ‖ sensible things, so that the words of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

‖ Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moue war at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

2. Chron. 35. 20.

26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the words of Jeremias the Prophet, by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megeddo, and the Princes came downe to king Iosias.

30 And the king sayde to his seruants, Conuey me out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vp on his second chariot, & being come againe to Jerusalem he changed his life, & was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Jeremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kindred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, & euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the lawe of the Lord, and the things which hee did before, and the things now rehearsed are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Joachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in steade of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twenty yeere olde.

2. King. 23. 30. 2. Esdr. 36. 1.

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Jerusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Jerusalem.

36 Hee tared also the people of an hundreth talents of siluer, & one talent of golde.

37 And the king of Egypt made Joacim his brother king of Iudea and Jerusalem.

38 And hee bounde Joachaz and his gouernours: but when hee had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twenty and fiue yere olde was Joacim, when he reigned in Iudea and Jerusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lorde, and caried them away, & set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproch are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Joacim his son reigned for him: and when hee was made king, hee was eighteene yeeres olde.

44 And hee reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Jerusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Jerusalem, when he was one and twentie yere olde, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the wordes spoken * by Jeremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

Iere. 38. 21.

48 For after that hee was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, he forswore himselfe by the name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernors of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Jerusalem.

50 Neuertheles the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them back, because he spared them, and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lorde spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets, 52 So that he, being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commaunded the kings of the Caldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sworde round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor mayden, neither old man nor childe among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lorde, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they tooke, and caried away the kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, and brought them to nought and those that were left by the sword, hee caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the worde of the Lorde by the mouth of * Jeremias,

2. Chron. 36. 22. Esra. 1. 1.

1 ¶ * The first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias,

2 The

2 The Lord raised vp the spirite of Cyrus King of the Persians, and he made proclamation throughout all his kingdome, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus sayth Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most hie Lord, hath made me King ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath cõmanded me to build him an house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, and let him go vp to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places rõnd about, thofe, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and siluer,

7 With gifts, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought, according to the vowes, vnto the Temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Judea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuites, & all whose minde the Lord had moued to go vp, and build an house to the Lord in Jerusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose minds were stirred vp.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Jerusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Nowe when Cyrus King of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whome they were giuen to Abassar the gouernour of Judea.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twentie violes, of golde thirtie, and of siluer two thousand foure hundreth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which they caried away, were fiue thousand foure hundreth, threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanaballar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians ‖ Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and ‖ Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them that dwelt in Judea and Jerusalem.

TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD,

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsell, and the Judges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it nowe therefore knowen to our lord the king, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Jerusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walls thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie bee built, and the walles be finished, they will not only not indure to pay tribute, but will also resist Kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meet to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt find in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this citie did alwaies rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O Lord the king, we declare it, that if this citie be built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Semellius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this city hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Jerusalem, which tooke tribute of Coelosyria, and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, & that it be taken heed that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the Secretary, and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speede to Jerusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Jerusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius King of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

NOw when Darius reigned, he made a great feast to all his subiects, and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twenty prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and dronke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ Then at that time three yong men of the the garde, keepers of the kings body, ſayd one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs ſpeake a ſentence, and he that ſhall ouercome, and whoſe ſentence ſhall appeare wiſer then the others, Darius the king ſhall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie.

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in golde, and to ſleepe in golde, and a chariot with bridles of golde, an head tire of fine linnen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he ſhall ſit next to Darius for his wiſedome, and ſhalbe called Darius couſin.

8 Then euery man wrote his ſentence and ſealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of King Darius, 9 And ſaid, when ꝑ king roſe, they would giue him the writting, and whoſe ſentence the king and the three princes of Perſia ſhould iudge to be wiſeſt, to him ſhould the victorie be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is ſtrongeſt.

11 The other wrote, The king is ſtrogeſt.

12 The other wrote, Women are ſtrongeſt, but trueth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the king roſe, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And ſent and called all the noble men of Perſia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the conſuls, 15 And ſate him downe in the Councell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he ſaid, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne ſentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he ſayd vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So ꝑ firſt began, which had ſpoken of the ſtrength of wine, 18 And ſayd on this maner, O yee men, howe ſtrong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherleſſe both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth alſo euery thought into ioy and gladneſſe, ſo that one remembreth no maner of ſorow nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, ſo that one remembreth neither king nor gouerner, and cauſeth to ſpeake all things by talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no mind to loue either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out ſwords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they do not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye me, is not wine ſtrongeſt, which compelleth to doe ſuch things? and he held his peace when he had thus ſpoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the ſtrength of a king. 13 Of the ſtrength of women. 34 Of the ſtrength of trueth, whoſe ſentence is approued, 47 and his petition graunted.

THen the ſecond which had ſpoken of the ſtrength of the king, began to ſay,

2 O ye men, are not men ſtrongeſt, which beare rule by land and by ſea, and ouer all things which are in theſe?

3 But the king is ſtrongeſt, for he ruleth all things, and is Lord of them, ſo that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one againſt another, they do it: if he ſend them out againſt the enemies, and goe & breake downe mountains, and walls, and towers.

5 They kil & are killed, and do not paſſe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, aſwell the ſpoiles as all other things.

6 And thoſe alſo which go not to warre and beare all, but till the earth: for when they haue ſowen it againe, they reape it, & bring it to the King, and compell one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he ſay, Spare, they ſpare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they ſmite: if hee bid them, Make deſolate, they make deſolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people, and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he ſitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and ſleepeth.

11 For theſe keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne buſineſſe, neither are they diſobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, how ſhould not the king be ſtrongeſt, ſeeing he is thus obeyed! So hee held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had ſpoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to ſpeake.

14 O ye men, neither the mighty King, nor many men, nor wine is ſtrongeſt: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the king, & all the people which beare rule by ſea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nouriſhed them which planted the vines of which the wine is made.

17 They alſo make mens garments and make men honourable, neither can men be without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together golde and ſiluer, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Do they not leaue all thoſe things and giue themſelues wholly vnto her, and gape, and gaze vpon her, & all men deſire her more then golde or ſiluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nouriſhed him, and his owne country, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he ꝓpardeth his life, and neither remembreth father nor mother nor country.

22 Therefore by this yee may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe yee not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his ſword and goeth forth to kill and to ſteale, and to ſaile vpon the ſea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he ſeeth a Lion & goeth in darkneſſe, and when he hath ſtolen, rauiſhed and ſpoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea

26 Yea, many haue run mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Nowe therefore doe you not beleeue mee? is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King, 30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and stroke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him he laughed: and if shee were angrie with him, hee did flatter her, that he might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, O ye men, are not women moze strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King and the Princes looked one vpon another, and hee began to speake of the truth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, and the Sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the truth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for truth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked works are such, and there is no truth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But truth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but she doth the things which are iust, & abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her works.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of truth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and then al the people cried and sayde, Truth is great and strongest.

42 Then the king said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides that which is appointed, and wee will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he saide to the King, Remember the vowe that thou hast vowed to builde Jerusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome.

44 And to send again al the vessels that were taken out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vowe to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to builde the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Judea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.

46 And nowe, O Lorde the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to do to the king of heauen.

47 Then king Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the Stewards, and lieutenants, and captains, and gouernours, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Jerusalem.

48 And hee wrote letters to all the Lieutenants in Coelosyria, and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Jerusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Jewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Judea, concerning their liberty, that no prince nor Lieutenant, nor gouernor, nor Steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Jewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents vntill it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer seuentene) other ten talents euery yeere:

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue liberty, as wel they as their posteritie, and all the Priestes that went away.

54 Yea wrote also touching the charges, and the Priestes garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges, vntill the house were finished, and Jerusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away al the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, he also commanded to do it, and to send to Jerusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towardes Jerusalem, and gaue thankes to the King of heauen, [Or, Zorobabel, 59 Saying, of thee is the victorie, and of thee is wisedome, and of thee is glorie, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wisdome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 ¶ So he tooke the letters, & went out and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedome and liberty

63 To goe vp and to builde Jerusalem, and the Temple, where his name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of musicke and ioy seuen dayes.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladnesse, 55 And chartes to the Sidonians, and to those of Tyrus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should bee brought by flotes to the hauen of Joppe, according to the commaundement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second yeere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedec, and their brethren, and the Priests and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Jerusalem, 57 And * layed the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yeere, after their returne into Judea and Jerusalem. Eccles.49. 12.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere olde ouer the workes of the Lord, and Jesus and his sonne and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Oeliadun, with their sonnes and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accorde did followe after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests stoode clothed with their long garments with musicall instruments, and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid king of Israel.

61 And they sung with loud voice songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cried with loud voice, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients, which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping & great crying, and many with trumpets and ioy cried with loud voice,

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard far off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Juda and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was,

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families, sayd vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the daies of ‖ Asbasareth King of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

‖Or, Assaraddon, or, Asachadon.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families of Israel sayd to them, It doeth not appertein to vs, and to you to build an house to the Lord our God.

71 For we alone will build it to the Lord God

Ezr.4.3.4. of Israel, as it becommeth vs, & as *Cyrus the king of the Persians hade vs.

72 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Judea, and letted them to build the worke, and by their ambushments and sedditions and conspiracies hindred the finishing of the building, 73 All the time of King Cyrus life: so that they were let from the building two yeere, vntil the reigne of Darius.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sisinnes would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The Kings answere to the contrary.

Ezra 5.1. agge.1.1. BVt *in the seconde yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophesied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Judea and Jerusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which ‡ Greeke vpon them. they called ‡vpon.

2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Iosedec stoode vp, and began to build the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, the Prophetes of the Lorde being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisinnes the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement builde you this house and this building, and enterprise all these other things? and who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lorde, after that hee had visited the captiuitie, 6 That they were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answere was receiued.

7 ¶ The copy of the Epistle, which he did write and send to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius.

8 It may please the king our master plainely to vnderstand, that when wee came to the countrey of Judea, and entered into the city of Jerusalem, wee found in the citie of Jerusalem the ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lorde great and newe, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already laid vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their handes, so that it will be finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then wee asked their ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore wee demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruants of the Lorde, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

1. King. 6.2. 14 And *this house was built vp many yeres agoe by a King of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, *he deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon of the Chaldeans, 2. King. 24.1

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of golde and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house at Jerusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to ‖ Sanaballarus ruler. ‖ Or, Shasbasar.

19 And a commaundement was giuen vnto him, that he should carry away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Jerusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanaballarus, being come hither, layed the foundations of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished. Ezra.6.11

21 Nowe therefore if it please the King, let it be sought vp in the kings librairies concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem hath bin done by the consent of king Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the lord our King, let him make vs answere concerning these things. Ezra.6.13

23 Then King Darius commaunded to search in the Kings librairies that were in Babylon, and there was founde in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were layed vp for memory.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commaunded the house of the Lord at Jerusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of three score cubittes, the breadth of threescore cubittes, with three rowes of hewen stones, and one rowe of new wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payed out of the house of King Cyrus.

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Jerusalem, and brought into Babylon, should be restored to the house, which is in Jerusalem, and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also he commaunded that Sisinnes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, and those which were constitute captains in Syria and Phenice, should take heede to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Judea, and the elders of the Iewes to builde that house of the Lorde in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished,

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelosyria losyria and Phenice should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oile continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priests which are in Ierusalem shal testifie to be spent euery day, 31 That offrings may be made to the hie God for the king and his children, and that they may pray for their liues.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoeuer should transgresse any thing afore spoken or written, or derogate any thing therof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods should bee the kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose name is there called vpon, destroy euery king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or do euill to that house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

Ezra.6.12. 34 * I Darius the King haue ordeyned that it should bee diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisinnes and his companions follow the Kings commandement, and helpe the Iewes to builde the Temple, 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Passeouer.

Ezra.6.13. THen Sisinnes the * gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions obeying King Darius commandements, 2 Aided diligently the holy works, working with the ancients & gouernors of the Sanctuary.

3 And the holy workes prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.

4 So they finished all things by the commandement of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy house was finished in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the sixt yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyses.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lorde, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambes,

8 And twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests and the Leuites stood according to their kinred, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the book of Moyses, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And ‖ the children of Israel offred the Passeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren, the Priests, and for themselues.

13 Then al the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselues from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Because he had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towardes them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdras commeth from Babylon to Ierusalem. 10 The copie of the commission giuen by Artaxerxes. 29 Esdras giueth thankes to the Lord. 32 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

AND after these things when Artaxerxes King of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of ‖ Sareias, the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne ‖ Or, Azarias of Helcias, the sonne of Salum,

2 The sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob, ‖ Or, Azarias the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of ‖ Esias, the ‖ Or, Maraioth. sonne of ‖ Merimoth, the sonne of ‖ Zaraias, with. the sonne of ‖ Saulas, the sonne of Boccas, ‖ Or, Sauia. the sonne of Abiüm, the sonne of Phinees, the ‖ Or, Abi- sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron was the hie sue. Priest.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a scribe wel taught in the Law of Moyses, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the King gaue him great honour, and hee founde grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priestes and Leuites, and of the holy singers, and of the Porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem.

6 In the seuenth yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the sixt moneth: this was the seuenth yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speede in their iourney.)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that hee would let nothing passe that was in the Lawe of the Lorde, and in the commaundements, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the Commission written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 For as much as I consider things with pitie, I haue commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Iewes, & of the priests and Leuites, which are in our kingdoom, should goe with thee vnto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to me and my seuen friends the counsellers,

13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, and it is contained in the Law of the Lord,

14 And carry the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also al the gold and siluer, which shalbe found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Ierusalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, as well siluer as gold, for bulles, and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lorde their God, which is in Ierusalem.

17 And whatsoeuer thou & thy brethren will doe with the golde or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commaunded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoeuer Esdras, the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the highest God, shall send for, they shoulde giue it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundreth talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundreth cores of cornes, and an hundreth pieces of wine and other things in abundance.

22 Let al things be done to the highest God, according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commaunded that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy singers or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor tare be taken, nor that any haue power to take them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisedome of God, ordeine iudges and gouernours that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Lawe of God and the King, bee diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the Scribe said, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his house which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured mee before the King, and the counsellers, and all his friends and gouernours.

Ezra 8.1. 28 ¶ * Therefore I was incouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to go vp with me.

29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with mee out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the King.

31 Of the sonnes of Sechenias, of the sonnes of Pharez, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundreth and fiftie men.

32 Of the sonnes of ‖ Salomon, Abelliacnias the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundreth men.

33 Of the sonnes of Zathoe, Sechenias the sonne of ‖ Iezolus, and with him three hundreth men: of the sonnes of Adin, ‖ Obeth sonne of Jonathas, and with him two hundreth and fifty men.

34 Of the sonnes of Elam ‖ Iesias sonne of Gotholias, and with him seuentie men.

35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias, sonne of ‖ Bachael, and with him seuentie men.

36 Of the sonnes of Joab, ‖ Badias sonne of Jezelus, and with him two hundreth and twelue men.

37 Of the sonnes of ‖ Banid, Assalimoth sonne of Iosaphias, and with him an hundreth and threescore men.

38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and with him twentie and eight men.

39 Of the sonnes of ‖ Astath, Johannes sonne of Acatan, and with him an hundreth and tenne.

40 Of the sonnes of Adonicam the last: and these are the names of them, Eliphalat, ‖ Jeuel and ‖ Patas, and with them seuentie men: of the sonnes of ‖ Bagouthi sonne of Iscacorus, and with him seuentie men.

41 And I gathered them together to the flood called * Theras, and pitched our tents there three dayes, and numbred them.

Ezra 8.15.

42 But when I had found there none of the Priests nor Leuites, 43 I sent to Eleazar, and behold, there came ‖ Haalman, and Alnathan, and Samaian, and ‖ Joribon, and Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, and Mololiamon the chiefe, and best learned.

44 And I bade them to goe to Daddeus the captaine which was in the place of the treasurie, 45 With charge to bid Daddeus and his brethren, and the treasurers that were there, to send to vs them, which should offer sacrifice in the house of our Lord.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lorde learned men of the sonnes of Moli, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ‖ Silebethan and his sonnes, and his brethren being eighteene.

47 And Alebia, and ‖ Annon, and Olaian his brethren of the sonnes of ‖ Canaineus, with their sonnes, twentie persons.

48 And of the ministers of the temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundreth and twentie, of whome all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And * there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lorde to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell.

gard against our enemies,

51 Because we had said to the King, that the power of our Lorde shoulde bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore we prayed our Lord againe according to these things, whom wee found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, ‖Or, Serabias. ‖Elephias and Asamias, and with them tenne of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the golde, and the holy vessels of the House of our Lorde, which the King and his counsellers, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them, sixe hundreth and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of golde, 56 And twenty golden basins, & twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like gold.

57 And I saide to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the siluer is a vowe to the Lorde of our fathers.

58 Watch and keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And wee departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lorde with vs: and the Lorde deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So wee came to Jerusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the house of our Lorde to ‖ Marimoth the Priest, the sonne of Joure, ‖Or, Marimoth the sonne of Urie of Urie. ‖Or, Noadia, sonnes sonne of Banne.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Jesabad the sonne of Jesus, and ‖ Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwardes those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rams fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernours of Coelosyria and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

Ezra 9.1. 67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, and Chettites, and Perrites, and Jebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Ismeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seed is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire of mine head, and of my beard, and sate mee downe sorowfull, and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel came to mee whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, ‘O Lorde, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face. Ezra 9.6.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers wee are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings & Priests haue bene giuen vp to the Kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and for a praye with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercie bene, O Lorde, that there should be left vs a roote and name in the place of thine holinesse!

78 And that thou shouldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our scruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, wee were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they shoulde honour the Temple of our Lorde, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Judea and Jerusalem.

81 And nowe, O Lorde, what shall wee say, hauing these things? for wee haue transgressed thy Commaundements, which thou hast giuen by the handes of thy seruants the Prophetes, saying, 82 ‘Because the lande, which yee goe to inherite, is a lande polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse, Deut. 7.2.

83 Therefore nowe yee shall not ioyne your daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters, 84 Neither shal you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that yee may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lorde, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but we againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mixe vs with the vncleannes of the people of the land.

87 Mightest not thou bee angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote, nor stede, nor name?

88 But, O Lorde of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Behold, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for these things.

Ezr 10.1. 90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Jerusalem of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

‖Or, Iuel. 91 Then Jechonias the sonne of ‖ Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, said, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lorde God: we haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtfull: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away al our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it appertaine, and wee are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, and made al the chiefe of the families of the Priestes and Leuites of al Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the law for the strange wiues,
10 they promise to put them away.

Ezr.10.6. THen * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, and went to the chamber of Joanan the sonne of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, hee did eate no bread nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Judea and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Jerusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda & Beniamin, came together within three dayes, into Jerusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broade place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Nowe therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strang wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cried out and sayd with a loude voyce, We will doe so as thou hast saide.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that wee cannot stande without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and al they which haue strange wiues of our families, carry:

13 And let the Priests and Judges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lorde against vs for this matter.

37 And the Priests and the Leuites dwelt in Ierusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

Nehe.8.1. 38 ¶ * Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent vnto the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, 39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that hee should bring the Lawe of Moyses, which had bin giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Esdras ỳ chiefe Priest the Lawe to all the multitude, both man & woman, and to all the Priests, that they might heare the Lawe the first day of the seuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Lawe.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stood vpon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

45 Then Esdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for he sate honourably before them all)

46 And they all stood vpright when hee rehearsed the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lorde the most High God, the most mighty God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

‖Or, Bani. 48 Then Iesus, and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Iacobus, Sabbatas, Auitanas, Maiantas, and Calitas, Azarias, and Iozabdus and Ananias, & Biatas the Leuites lift vp their handes, and fell downe on the ground, and worshipped the Lord, 49 And taught the Lawe of the Lorde, and stoode also earnestly vpon the reading.

‖Or, Nehemias. 50 Then sayde ‖ Aththarates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and Reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lorde, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fatte meates, and drinke the sweete drinkes, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and be not sory: for the Lord God will glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commaunded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eate and drink, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherwith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

II. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

1 The people is reproued for their vnfaithfulnesse.
30 God will haue another people, if these will not be reformed.

Ezr.7.1. THe second booke of the Prophet * Esdras, the sonne of Saratas, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sadamias, the sonne of Sadoc, the son of Achitob,

2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Aze, the sonne of Marimoth, the sonne of Arna, the sonne of Ozias, the sonne of Bocith, the sonne of Abiel, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,

3 The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Leui) which Esdras was prisoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Persia.

Isa.58.1. 4 * And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Goe, and shew my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednes, which they haue committed against me, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the lande of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off from the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not been obedient vnto my Lawe, but they are a rebellious people.

9 Howe long shall I forbeare them, vnto whom I haue done so much good?

10 * Many kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe. Exod.14.31.

11 All the nations haue I destroyed before them: * I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countries, Tyrus and Sidon, I haue slaine all their enemies. Num.21.24 Iosh.8.12.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, 13 * I haue led you through the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure ‖ way, since the beginning: * I gaue you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest. Exod.14.29. ‖Or. streete. Exod.3.10. and 4.14.

14 * I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, sayth the Lord. Exod.13.21.

15 Thus sayth the Almighty Lorde, The quailes * were a token vnto you: I gaue you tents for safegard, wherein ye murmured: Exod.16.13. psal.104.40.

16 And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure still.

17 Where are the benefits that I haue done for you? when ye were hungry in the wildernes, * did ye not crie vnto me, Num.14.3.

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wildernesse, to kill vs? It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderne.

19 I had pitie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eate: * so yet did eate Wisd.16.20.

leaues of the trees,

Isa. 5.4. before you: * What shall I doe more for you,

Exod. 15.23 22 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, * When ye were in the wildernesse at the bitter waters, being a thirst, and blaspheming my Name,

23 I gaue you not fire for the blasphemies, but cast a tree into the water, and made the ruer sweete.

24 What shall I doe vnto thee, O Iacob?
Exod. 32.8. thou * Iuda wouldest not obey: I will turne me to other nations, and vnto those will I giue my Name, that they may keepe my lawes.

25 Seeing yee haue forsaken me, I will also forsake you: when ye aske mercie of me, I will not haue pitie vpon you.

Isa. 11.5. 26 * When yee call vpon mee, I will not heare you: for ye haue defiled your hands with blood, and your feete are swift to commit mur-ther,

27 Although ye haue not forsaken mee, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the Almighty Lorde, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her young babes,

29 That yee would bee my people, as I am your God, and that ye would be my children, as I am your Father?

Mat. 23.37 30 * I gathered you together as an henne ga-thereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shall I doe vnto you? I will cast you out from my sight.

Isa. 1.13. 31 * When you bring gifts vnto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemne feast dayes, your newe moones, and your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophets, whom ye haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the Almighty Lorde, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the winde doth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not haue generation:
for they haue despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleeue me though they heare mee not, and they, vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioice in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene mee with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, & see the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whom I wil giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Jonas,

40 Nahum, Abacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called also the * messenger of the Lord.) Malac. 3.1.

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children.
18 The Gentiles are called.

Tobit. 1.1

THus saith the Lorde, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my com-mandements by my seruants the Prophets, whome they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widowe and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorrowe and heauinesse haue I lost you: for yee haue sinned against the Lorde your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I nowe doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe yee, O my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kindred bee not continued.

7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hiddest the vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remembre * what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorah. Gen. 19.24.

9 Whose land is mixed with clouds of pitch and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 ¶ Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tel my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Jerusalem, which I would, haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and giue them the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at will the tree of life smelling of ointment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 Go ye, and ye shall receiue it: pray that the time, which is long, may be shortned: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good:
for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feete as fast as a pillar: For I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that bee dead, will I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for
I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esai and Jeremie to help thee, by whose counsel I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits,

19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and honie, and seuen mighty mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies: whereby
I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the cripple, and let the blind come into the light of my clearenesse.

22 Keepe the old and the yong that are within thy walles.

Tobit.1.17. 23 * Wheresoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and bury them, and I will giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide still, O my people, and rest: for thy quietnesse shall come.

25 Nourish thy children, O thou good nurse: stablish their feete.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shall perish: for I will seeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not wearie: for when the day of trouble and heauinesse commeth, other shal weep and be sorowfull, but thou shalt be merrie, and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shall enuie thee, and shall do nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine handes shall couer thee, so that thy children shall not see hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother with thy children: for I will deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleepe: for I will bring them out of the dores of the earth, and will shew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull saith the Lord Almightie.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and shew mercie vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shall not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lorde vpon the mount Horeb, that I should go vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Waite for your shepheard, who shal giue you euerlasting rest: for he is neere at hand, that shall come in the ende of the world.

35 Be readie to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerlasting light shall shine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the shadowe of this worlde: receiue the ioy of your glorie: I testifie my Sauiour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thankes vnto him that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Arise and stand vp, and behold the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadowe of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseech the power of the Lorde, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

Reuel.7.9. 42 *I Esdras saw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the mids of them there was a yong man higher in stature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heades he set crownes, and was higher then the others, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and said, Who are these, my Lord?

45 Who answered, and said vnto me, These bee they that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortal, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it that setteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their handes?

47 And he answered, and said vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confessed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had stood so stoutly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel saide vnto mee, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and howe great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous worke, which God did for the people, are vttered. 31 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are sinners also.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the city, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart,

2 Because I saw the desolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirite was sore moued, so that I began to speak fearefull words to the most High, and said,

4 O Lorde, Lorde, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest commandement vnto the people,

5 * And a bodie vnto Adam, without soule, Gen.2.7. who was also the workmanship of thine handes, and hast breathed in him the breath of life, so that he liued before thee,

6 And ledst him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth. [Or, were formed.]

7 Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him & his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kinreds out of number.

8 * And euery people walked after their owne will, and did wonderfull things before thee, and despised thy commandements. *Gen.6.12.

9 * But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those that dwelt in the world and destroyedst them, *Gen.7.10.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by Death vnto Adam, 11 Yet thou leftest one, euen * Noe, with his houshold, of whom came all righteous men. *1.Pet.3.20.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiplie, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increased, they began to be more vngodly then the first.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, * thou diddest chuse thee a man from among them, whose name was * Abraham. *Gen.12.1. Gen.17.5.

14 Whom thou louedst, and vnto whom onely thou shewedst thy will,

15 And madest an euerlasting couenant with him promising him that thou wouldest neuer forsake his seede. *Gen.21.1,3. Gen.25.25, 26.

16 * And vnto him thou gauest Isaac, * vnto Isaac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau, * and *Mal.1.2,3. rom.9.13.

didst chuse Jacob, and cast off Elau, and so Jacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou ledst his seed out of Egypt, Exod.19.1. * thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina. deut.4.10.

18 And inclinedst the heauens, and bowedst downe the earth, & didst moue the ground, and caused the depths to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And thy glory went thorowe foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Jacob, & that whiny the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Lawe might bring foorth fruit in them.

Gen.3.6. 21 For * Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenesse ioyned with the Lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeeres were brought to an end, * til thou didst raise vp 1.Sam.16.13 a seruant called Dauid, 24 * Whom thou commandedst to build a cite vnto thy Name, to cal vpon thee therin with 2.Sam.5.1. and 7.5,13. incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forsooke thee, 26 Following the wayes of Adam & all his generation: for they had also a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest the cite ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and sawe their wicked deedes without number (for this is the thirteeth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue howe this commeth to passe. Are the deeds of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee beside Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy testimonies as Jacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here & there thorowout the heathen: & I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.

34 Weigh thou therfore our wickednes now in the ballance, and theirs also that dwell in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it? they that dwel on the earth haue not sinned in thy sight: or what people hath so kept thy commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely find that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reproueth Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

AND the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And sayde, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the highest.

3 Then said I, Yea, my Lord. And he answered me, & said, I am sent to shew thee three wayes, and to set foorth three similitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canst declare mee one, I will shew thee also the way that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I sayd, Tell on, my Lord. Then sayd he vnto me, Goe thy way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the wind, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne, that can do that which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the midst of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not bee separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answere of them.

10 Yet sayd moreouer vnto me, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 Howe shoulde thy vessell then bee able to comprehende the wayes of the Highest, and howe ourwardly in the corrupt worlde, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then sayd I vnto him, It were better that we were not all, then that wee should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to knowe wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and sayd, * I came Iudg.9.8. to a forrest in the plaine where the trees helde a 2.chron.25.18 counsell, 14 And sayd, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the sea tooke counsell and sayd, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine: for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the floods of the sea: for the sand stood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and sayde, Verely it is a foolish purpose, that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the Sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered hee me, and saide, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the grounde is appointed for the the wood, and the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are about the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and sayde, I beseeche thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine high things, but of such as wee daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whome thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the law of our fathers is abolished, & the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grashoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthy to obteine mercy.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered he mee, & sayd, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt marualle: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this worlde is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things wherof thou askest, the euil is sowen, but the destruction therof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowen, be not turned vpside down, and if the place where the euill is sowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come, that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seede hath bin sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlines hath he brought vp vnto this time? And how much shall hee bring foorth vntill the harueste come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, howe much fruite of wickednesse the corne of euill seede bringeth foorth, 32 And when the stalkes shall bee cut downe which are without number, how great an harueste must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, Howe, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeeres fewe and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Haste not to bee aboue the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to be aboue him, though thou endeuour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, Howe long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Jeremiel the Archangel answered, and sayde, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the ballance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be moued or shaken, till the measure therof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I and said, O Lord, Lord we are euen full of sinne, 39 And for our sake peradventure the harueste of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So he answered me and sayd, Goe and aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her.

41 Then sayd I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall be shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and sayd, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meete therefore, 45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he sayd vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stoode, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a watrie cloude, & sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand, and the drops and the smoake were much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayde, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? Or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me and sayd, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to the we thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times truth shall be hid. 10 Vnrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reiected, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

NEuertheleste concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth, shall bee taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth shall be hid, & the land shall be barren from faith,

2 And * iniquitie shall bee increased more then thou hast seene nowe, or hast heard in time past. Mark. 24. 12.

3 And it shall come to passe that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the lande desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voice, and the people shal be moued.

6 And he shall rule, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, & the soules shall change place.

7 And

7 And the sea of Sodome shall cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shal not knowe, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shall bee a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake foorth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters,

9 And salt waters shalbe found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another, then shall wit hide it selfe, and understanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall unrighteousnes and voluptuousnes haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorowe thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obteine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shewe thee such tokens I haue leaue, and if thou wilt pray againe, and weepe as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorowe all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted mee, and set mee vp vpon my feete.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the lande of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eate, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flock in the hands of the cruel wolues.

19 Then sayd I vnto him, Goe thy wayes from mee, and come not neere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning, and weeping, as Uriel the Angel had commaunded me.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grieuous vnto me againe,

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I began to talke with the most High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euery forrest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all landes of the worlde thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lilie.

25 And of all the depthes of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattell that are made, thou hast appoynted thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a lawe, that is prooued of all.

28 And now, O Lorde, why hast thou giuen this one people vnder many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, & hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstoode thy promises, and beleeue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they should haue beene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And sayd vnto me, Heare me, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I sayde, Speake on, my Lord. Then sayd he vnto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better, then he doeth that made them?

34 And I sayd, No, Lord: but of very sorrow haue I spoken: for my reines paine mee euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgment.

35 And hee sayd vnto mee, Thou canst not. And I sayd, Wherefore, Lorde, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iacob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he sayd vnto me, Number vnto mee the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe, 37 Open mee the places that are closed, and bring mee foorth the windes, that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and labourest to knowe.

38 And I sayd, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, howe can I speake of these thinges, wherefof thou askest mee?

40 Then sayd he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgment, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I sayd, Beholde, O Lorde, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall they doe that haue beene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And he sayd vnto mee, I will compare my iudgment vnto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayd, Couldest thou not make at once those that haue beene, those that are nowe and those that shall come, that thou mightest shewe thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered hee me, The creature, sayd hee, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I sayde, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it nowe now also contayne all men at once.

46 And he sayde vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, & say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest foorth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then sayd he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seed is sowen vpon it.

49 For as a young childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordayned the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and sayd, Seeing then thou hast now shewed mee the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother, whome thou hast tolde mee is young, draweth she neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and sayd, Aske a woman that trauaileth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought foorth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And thee shall answere thee, Some were borne in the flowre of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, howe that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now beginne to bee olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then saide I, Lorde, I beseech thee, if I haue founde fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whom doest thou gouerne thy workemanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsel, and is authour thereof, and hath created them for his children. 26 The subtilties of the age to come.

AND hee sayd vnto mee, In the beginning when the rounde world was made, and before the bounders of the worlde were set, and before the windes blewe one against another:

2 Before the noise of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine foorth, before the foundations of Paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire flowers did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimnets in Sion were hote:

5 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that nowe sinne, were turned away, and they that haue laied vp the treasure of fayth, were sealed,

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall bee ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and sayd, What shall be the diuision of times? or when shall bee the ende of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And hee sayd vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, * Jacobs hand held first the heele of Esau. Gen. 25. 24.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hande of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, & said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an ende to shew thy seruaunt thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me part the last night.

13 So he answered me, and sayd, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mightie sounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest shall not bee moued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, bee not afrayd: for of the ende shall be the worde, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee vnderstood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth that it must be changed at the ende.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood vp vpon my feete, and hearkened, & behold, there was a voyce that spake, and the sounde of it was like the sounde of many waters:

18 And it sayde, Behold, the dayes come, that I will come and inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I beginne to enquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurte others, and when the affliction of Sion shall be fulfilled,

20 And the world that shal vanish away, shal be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the bookes shalbe opened before the heauen, and they shal see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere old shal speake with their voyces: the women with child shall bring foorth vntimely children of three or foure monthes olde, and they shall liue that are raysed vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sowen places appeare as the vnsowen, and the full storehouses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friendes fight with friendes, as with enemies, and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoeuer remaineth from all these things that I haue tolde thee, shall be saued and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitantes shall bee changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shalbe put out, and deceit shalbe quenched.

28 But faith shal flourish: corruption shall be ouercome, and the trueth which hath ben so long without fruite, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And

29 ¶ And when hee talked with me, beholde, I looked a little vpon him before whome I stood.

30 And these words said he vnto mee, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen dayes more, I will tell thee more things, & greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the highest: surely the mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing: he hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Bee of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe and fasted seuen daies in like maner, that I might fulfil the three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the night night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most high.

37 For my spirite was greatly set on fier, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen & the earth should be made, and the worke followed thy word. Gen.1.1.

39 And then was there the spirite, and the darkenes was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly ayre, and commandedst it, that going betweene, it should make a diuision betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should bee gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: sixe parts diddest thou drie, & kept them to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being sowen of God and tilled.

43 Assoone as thy word went forth, the work was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruite did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, & flowres of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderful smel, and these things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the starres. Gen.1.14.

46 And gauest them a charge, to doe * seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made. Gen.1.14,15 deut.4.19.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saidst vnto the seuenth part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, * foules and fishes: and it was so. Gen.1.20.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life brought forth liuing things at the commaundement of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous works.

49 The didst thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst † Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leuiathan, † Or, Enoch.

50 And didst separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part where the water was gathered, could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hils.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part, that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuour what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the first day thou gauest commaundement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the works which thou hast created, of him come we al, & the people also, whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessel. Dan.8.1.

57 And now, O Lord, beholde, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the only begotten, and thy feruent louer) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then be created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or howe long shall wee suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation no man can come to felicity. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement, 43 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

AND when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto mee an Angel, which had bene sent downe to mee the nights afore.

2 And hee sayd vnto mee, Vp, Esdras, and heare the wordes that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I sayd, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto me, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great,

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could goe into the Sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come vnto the broade?

6 There is also another thing: a citie is builded, and set vpon a broade fielde, and is ful of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betwixt them, euen betwixt the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if hee neuer went thorowe the perill before it, howe could hee receiue his inheritance?

10 And

10 And I sayd, It is so, Lord. Then sayd he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes have I made the worlde: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the worlde made narrow, full of sorow and trauaile: they are but few and euill, and full of perils, and very painfull.

13 For the entrances of the forewoorlde were wide and sure, and wrought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are living, labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

Deut.8.1. 17 Then sayd I, O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Lawe, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things? yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he sayd vnto me, There is no iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue to auoyd punishment.

22 Nevertheless, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the empete are empty things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and shee shall come foorth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoeuer shall escape these euils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundreth yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres shall my sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shalbe turned into the olde silence for seuen dayes, as in the forejudgements, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised vp: and that shall die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those, that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shall banish away, and long suffering shall haue an end.

34 Iustice only shall continue: the truth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow and the reward shalbe shewed: the good deeds shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no rule.

36 Then sayd I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moyses for the fathers that sinned in the wildernesse:

Gene.18.23. Exod.32.31.

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz and Samuel,

2.Sam.24. 17.

38 And * Dauid for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie, 2.Chro.6.14. 1.King.17. 21. and 18.

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 42.45.

40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers other for many.

2.King.19. 15.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered mee, and sayd, This present life is not the ende: oft times honour is reteined in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shall be the end of this worlde, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancy shall passe away: infidelitie shall be cut off: righteousnesse shall grow vp, and the verity shall spring vp.

45 Then shal no man be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and sayd, This is my first and last saying, that it had beene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redoundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

Rom.5.12.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortall life, when we doe the works that bring death?

50 And that an euerlasting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that we deceiue our selues to deadly vanity?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safety if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glorie of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall paradise should bee shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safety and health, if we will not enter into life?

54 (For we haue beene conuersant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abſteined, ſhould ſhine more then ſtarres, if our faces be blacker then darkeneſſe?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteouſly, that we ſhould ſuffer after death.

57 Then anſwered he me, and ſayd, This is the maner of the battel, which man, that is borne in the earth, ſhall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he ſhould ſuffer as thou haſt ſayd, but if he get the victory, he ſhould receiue the thing that I ſayd.

59 For this is the life, whereof Moyſes ſpake
Deut.30.19. vnto the people, while he liued, ſaying, * Chuſe thee life that thou mayeſt liue.

60 Neuertheleſſe, they beleeued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me alſo which haue ſayd vnto them, 61 That heauineſſe ſhoulde not be to their deſtruction, as for ſhould come vnto them, to whom ſalnation is perſwaded.

62 I anſwered then and ſaid, I know, Lord, that the moſt High is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world,

63 And that he hath pitie on thoſe that walke in his Law,

64 And that * he is patient: for he long ſuffereth thoſe that haue ſinned as his creatures, Exo.34.6.

65 And that he is liberall: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercy: for he ouercommeth in mercy thoſe that are preſent, and that are paſt, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the poſſeſſion thereof.

68 He pardoneth alſo: for if he gaue not of his goodneſſe, that they which haue done euill might be relieued from their wickedneſſe the ten thouſand part of men ſhould not remaine aliue.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgaue not thoſe that are healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of ſinnes, 70 There ſhould peraduenture be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is ſmall. 6 The works of God are excellent. 20 Eſdras prayeth for him and for his people. 39 The promiſe of ſalnation to the iuſt. 55 The deſtruction of the vniuſt.

AND he anſwered me, ſaying, The moſt high made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a ſimilitude, O Eſdras. As when thou aſkeſt the earth, it ſhall ſay vnto thee, that it giueth much earthy matter to make pots, but little duſt that gold commeth of, ſo is it with the worke of this world.

Mat.20.16. 3 * There be many created, but few ſhall be ſaued.

4 Then anſwered I, and ſayd, Then ſwallow vp the wit, O my ſoule, and deuoure vnderſtanding.

5 For thou haſt promiſed to heare, and thou wilt prophecie: for thou haſt no longer ſpace, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou ſuffer not thy ſeruant, that we may entreat thee, that thou mayeſt giue ſeed vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderſtanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can ſet him-ſelfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, & we all are one worke-manſhip of thine hands as thou haſt ſayd.

8 For when the body is faſhioned now in the wombe, and thou haſt giuen it members, thy creature is preſerued by fire & water, and the worke created by thee, doeth ſuffer nine moneths the creature, which is faſhioned in it.

9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is conteined, ſhall both be preſerued, and when time is come, the wombe, being preſerued, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou haſt commanded the members, euen the breaſts, to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breaſts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nouriſhed for a time, till thou diſpoſeſt it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringeſt it vp with thy righteouſneſſe, nurtureſt it in thy law, & reformeſt it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou ſlayeſt it as thy creature, and giueſt it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou deſtroyeſt him, which with ſo great labours is faſhioned, it is an eaſie thing to appoint by thy commandement, that the thing alſo which is made, might be preſerued.

15 Nowe therefore, O Lord, I will ſpeake (as touching men in generall thou ſhalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whoſe ſake I am ſory,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whoſe cauſe I mourne: for Iſrael, for whom I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whoſe ſake I am grieued:

17 For them will I pray before thee, aſwell for my ſake as for them: for I ſee our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the ſudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therfore heare my voyce, and vnderſtand my words, which I will ſpeake before thee. The beginning of the words of Vſias, before he was taken vp:

20 O Lord, thou liueſt for euer, which beholdeſt from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whoſe throne is ineſtimable, and his glorie incomprehenſible, before whoume the hoſt of the Angels ſtand with trembling,

22 Whoſe keeping is turned in winde and fire, whoſe worde is true, and ſayings ſtedfaſt, whoſe commandement is ſtrong, and gouernement terrible,

23 Whoſe looke dieth vp the depthes, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth witneſſe, 24 Heare the prayer of thy ſeruaunt, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will ſpeake, and ſo long as I haue vnderſtanding, I will anſwere.

26 Looke not vpon the ſinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull ſeruants.

27 Haue not reſpect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy teſtimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon thoſe that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beastes, but looke vpon them which haue clearely taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beastes, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse and glory.

31 For we and our fathers haue all the same sickenesse: but became of vs that are straners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt be called mercifull towardes vs which haue no workes of righteousnesse.

33 For the righteous, which haue layd vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deedes.

34 But what is man that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest bee so grieued toward it?

1. King. 8. 46. 2. chron. 6. 36. 35 * For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, O Lorde, thy righteousnesse and thy goodnesse shalbe prayed, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according to thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not verely consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

Gen. 44. 39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I wil remember the pilgrimage, the saluation & the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now so, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seed vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet al way the thing that is sowen, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then & said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine;

44 So perisheth man which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his patterne, because he is created in thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seede.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lorde, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, & said, The things present are for the present, & the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marueilous before the Highest.

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them, that shal liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnes made ready: the citie is builded: and rest is prepared, perfect goodnes and absolute wisedome.

53 The root of euil is sealed vp from you: the weakenes and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorrowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therfore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish:

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High: they contemned his Law, and forlooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue trodden downe his righteous,

58 * Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die. Psal. 14. 1. and 53. 1.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made readie for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue vsed the name of him that made them, and are vnthankefull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Beholde now, O Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this worlde haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude: 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall bee seene an * earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people, Mat. 24. 7.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, & shall bee deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleeued,

8 Shall be preserued from the said perils and shall see my saluation in my lande, and within my borders: for I haue kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselues, which nowe haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstande but despised it,

12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more carefull, to know how the vngodly shall be punished, but inquire how the righteous shall be saued, & whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore saide that which I say nowe and will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shal be* saued, Chap. 8.3. matt. 20,16.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seede: as the flowers bee, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared my world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but nowe the maners of them that are created in this worlde, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetual seede, and by a lawe, whereout they cannot rid themselues.

20 So I considered the world, and behold, there was perill, because of the deuices, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue digested with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen dayes moe (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire fielde, where no house is buildned, and shalt eate onely of the flowers of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely,

25 And pray vnto the most High continually) then will I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commanded mee, into the field, which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eat of the herbes of the fielde, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore, 28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say.

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shewe thy selfe vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wildernesse, in a place where Exod. 19.9. and 24.3. Deut. 4.12.

no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt.

30 And expressely spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my words, thou seede of Jacob.

31 For beholde, I sowe my lawe in you, that it may bring foorth fruite in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 * For they that receiued it, perished be- Exod. 32, 28.
cause they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sowen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Lawe, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it:

37 But the Lawe perisheth not, but remaineth in his his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the right side * I sawe a woman, which mourned sore, and Chap. 10, 44.
lamented with a loude voyce, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and the had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And saide vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And she said vnto me, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, and increase sorow: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought very lowe.

42 Then I said vnto her, What ayleth thee? tell me.

43 And she sayd vnto me, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no childe, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, and euery day these thirtie yeeres I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard mee thine handmayde, and looked vpon my misery, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almightie.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell.

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BVt when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort mee: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort me, that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fledde, and am come into this field field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here and neither to eate nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast, vntill I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and sayd, 6 Thou foolish woman aboue all other, seest thou not our heauinesse, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing wee be all now in heauinesse, and make our mone (for we be all sorowfull) art thou sory for our sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and she shall tell thee that it is she which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shall come, and beholde, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sory but for one.

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto mee, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruite of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorowes,

13 But the earth (according to the maner of the earth, the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauel, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboureth her.

15 Nowe therefore withholde thy sorow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I will not, I will not go into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and sayd, 20 Do not so, but be counselled: for how many falles hath Sion? Bee of good comfort, because of the sorrow of Jerusalem.

21 For thou seest that our sanctuarie is layde waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our Psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Arke of our Couenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priestes are burnt, and our Leuites are caried into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake,

23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorrowes, that the Almightie may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might be.

26 And beholde, immediatly shee cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shooke at the noise of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, & a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cryed with a loud voyce, and sayd, 28 Where is Uriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. Chap.4.2.

29 And as I was speaking these words, beholde, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he tooke mee by the right hand and comforted mee, and set mee vpon my feet, and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sory?

32 And I sayd, Because thou hast forsaken mee, and I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the fielde, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse. Chap.5.20.

33 Then said he vnto mee, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knewe not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doth my minde being hastie, erre?

37 Nowe therefore I beseech thee, that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sory continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a litle while ago.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou begannest to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas she told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, thee is Sion: and whereas she told thee (euen she which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that thee said vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the city, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she told thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabitting of Jerusalem.

48 But whereas she told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou begannest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced, these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For nowe the most High seeth, that thou art sore in thy minde, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearnesse of her glorie, and the fairenesse of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knewe that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the fielde, where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building can not stand in that place where the citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraide, but goe in, and see the beautie and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the most High shall shew thee visions of high things, which the most High will do vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and mother, as hee had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an eagle comming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a Lion comming out of the forest.

THen saw I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the sea an eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I saw, & behold, hee spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the windes of the aire blew on her and gathered themselues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the midst was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreouer, I saw that the eagle flewe with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I sawe that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the eagle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers saying,

8 Watch not altogether: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads bee preserued for the last.

10 Neuertheless, I saw that the voyce went not out of her heads, but from the midst of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and beholde, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then their came a voyce vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and beholde, in processe of time the feathers that followed, stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, & beholde, the twelue feathers apeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the eagles body, but two heads that rested, and fiue wings.

24 Then saw I also, that two wings deuided themselues from the fiue, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnder wings thought to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselues to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the midst: for that was greater then the two.

30 Then I saw that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And beholde, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eate vp the two vnder wings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and beholde, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled like wise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwele therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which sayd vnto mee, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I sawe, and beholde, as it were a lyon that roareth, running haistily out of the wood: and I sawe that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and spake, and said,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that, that of the foure beasts remained, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the ende of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulnesse, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the earth with trueth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought foorth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mightie.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and beholde, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, and that thee may hope for the iudgement and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

AND when the Lion spake these words to the Eagle, I saw,

2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselues to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproares.

3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and traunce of my minde, and from the great feare, and sayd vnto my spirit, 4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto mee in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Lo, yet am I weary in my minde, and very weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for ỹ great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore nowe, I will beseech the most High, that he will comfort me vnto the ende.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deed be come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew mee thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule, 9 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthie to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto mee, This is the interpretation of the vision, 11 The Eagle whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. *Dan.7.7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Beholde, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall bee feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue Kings reigne one after another, 15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie which thou sawest.

17 As for the voice that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not go out from the heads, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome, there shall arise great strife, and it shalbe in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shall bee but small, and their yeeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time, vntil his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the ende.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation.

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle.

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall her fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preserued for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the words that thou hast heard,

32 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the ende, and hee shall reprooue them, and cast before them their spoyles.

33 For hee shall set them alone in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserued vpon my borders, and he shall make them ioyfull, vntil the comming of the day of iudgement, wherof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou onely hast bene meete to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke, and hide them, 38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seuen dayes moe, that it may bee shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euil haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, & as a candle in the darke place, and as an hauen or ship preserued from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, sufficient?

44 If thou haue forsaken vs, how much better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For wee are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loud voyce. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie thou house of Iacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the lowe estate of your sanctuarie.

49 And now goe your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the fielde seuen dayes, as he had commanded mee, and did eate onely of the flowers of the fielde, and had my meate of the hearbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The vision of the winde comming foorth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His properties and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and beholde, there was a mightie man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of the heauen, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, he graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was grauen, and I could not.

8 I sawe after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuertheleſſe, when hee saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, hee lifted not vp his hand: for hee held no sword nor any instrument of warre.

10 But onely as I sawe, hee sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, & fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but onely dust and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 ¶ Afterward sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offred: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Woe vnto them that shall bee left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are layd vp in the latter dayes, which shal come both vnto them and to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils, and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that hee that is in danger, should fall into these, and foreſee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world, 21 ¶ Then answered he mee, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shewe thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

23 He that shal beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith

faith toward the moſt highe.

34 Knowe therefore, that they which bee left behinde, are more bleſſed then they that be dead.

35 Theſe are the meanings of the viſion, Whereas thou ſaweſt a man comming vp from the mids of the ſea, 36 The ſame is he whom the moſt High hath kept a great ſeaſon, who by his owne laſe ſhall deliuer his creature, and he ſhall order them that are left behinde.

37 ¶ And whereas thou ſaweſt, that out of his mouth there came as a blaſt with fire and ſtorme,

38 And that he neither helde ſword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenelle bee deſtroyed the whole multitude that came to fight againſt him, this is the interpretation,

39 Beholde, the dayes come that the moſt High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee ſhall aſtoniſh the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one ſhall prepare to fight againſt an other, citie againſt citie, and place againſt place,

Mat.24.7. * and nation againſt nation, and realme againſt realme.

32 When this commeth to paſſe, then ſhall the tokens come, that I ſhewed thee before, and then ſhal my ſonne bee reuealed, whom thou ſaweſt goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man ſhal in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one againſt another.

34 And an vnnumerable multitude ſhalbe gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, to fight againſt him.

35 But hee ſhall ſtand vpon the top of mount Sion.

36 And Sion ſhall come, and ſhall be ſhewed to all, being prepared & builded, as thou ſaweſt the hill graven forth without any hands.

37 And this my ſonne ſhal rebuke the wicked inuentions of thoſe nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempeſt, 38 And vnto torments like to flame, whereby they ſhall be tormented: and without any labour will he deſtroy them, by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou ſaweſt that hee gathered another peaceable people vnto him,

40 Thoſe are the ten tribes which were caried away captiues out of their owne lande * in

2.King.17.3. the time of Oſeas the King, whom Salmanaſar the king of the Aſſyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: ſo were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counſel to themſelues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt.

42 That they might there keepe their ſtatutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow paſſages o the riuer Euphrates.

Exod.14.21. Ioſh.3.15, 16. 44 For the moſt High then ſhewed them ſignes, & ſtayed the ſprings of the flood till they were paſſed ouer.

or, Ara. 45 For thorow the countrey there was a great iourney, euen of a yeere and a halfe, and the ſame region is called Ararath.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The moſt High ſhall hold ſtill the ſprings of the riuer againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore ſaweſt thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that bee left behinde of thy people, are thoſe that be found within my borders.

49 Now when hee deſtroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he ſhal defend the people that remaine, 50 And then ſhall he ſhew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then ſaid I, O Lord, Lord, ſhewme this, wherefore haue I ſeene the man comming vp from the mids of the ſea?

52 And he ſayd vnto me, As thou canſt neither ſeeke out, nor know their things, that are in the deepe of the ſea, ſo can no man vpon earth ſee my ſonne, or thoſe that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou ſaweſt, and whereby thou onely art lightened.

54 For thou haſt forſaken thine owne lawe, and applyed thy diligence vnto mine, and ſought it.

55 Thy life haſt thou ordered in wiſdome, and haſt called vnderſtanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I ſhewed thee the rewards with the moſt High: and after three other dayes I will ſpeake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praiſing the moſt High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, & ſuch things as come in their ſeaſons: and there I ſate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moſes in the buſh. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worſe then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Iſrael. 35 Their correction and iudgement.

VPon the third day I ſate vnder an oke, and beholde, there came forth a voyce vnto mee out of the buſh, and ſayde, Eſdras, Eſdras.

2 And I ſayd, Here am I, Lord, and ſtood vp vpon my feete.

3 Then ſayd he vnto me, * In the buſh I re- Exod.3.2, uealed my ſelfe, and ſpake vnto Moyſes, when my people ſerued in Egypt,

4 And I ſent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long ſeaſon,

5 And I told him many wonders, & ſhewed him the ſecrets of the times and the ende, and commanded him, ſaying,

6 Theſe words ſhalt thou declare, and theſe ſhalt thou hide.

7 And now I ſay vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the ſignes that I haue ſhewed, and the dreames that thou haſt ſeene, and the interpretations which thou haſt heard.

8 For thou ſhalt be taken away from all, and thou ſhalt remaine henceforth with my counſell, and with ſuch as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath loſt his youth, and the times

times begin to waxe olde.

10 For the worlde is deuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature, 14 And let alone thy most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the worlde is by reason of age, the more shall the euils be encreased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall be borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the worlde is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy lawe is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shalbe done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into mee, and I will write all that hath bene done in the worlde since the beginning, which was written in thy Lawe, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fourtie dayes.

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these men, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly, 25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, til the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And when thou shalt declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I foorth, as hee commanded me, and gathered all the people together, & sayd,

28 Heare these words, O Israel,

Gene. 47. 4. 29 *Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

Act. 7. 53. 30 And receiued the Law of life, *which they kept not, which yee also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and yee also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as he is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he hath giuen you.

33 And now are yee here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall be kept aliue, and after death ye shall obteine mercie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fourtie dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as hee commanded me, and we went into the fielde, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, saying, Esdras, *open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. Ezek. 3. 2.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached me a full cuppe, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had dranke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grew in my breast: for my spirite was strengthened in memorie.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the hie things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eate bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fourtie dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the fourtie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.

46 But keepe *the seuenty last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophecie of Esdras is ended. 5 The euils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition, 20 and punishment vpon the Kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnesse.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, sayth the Lord, I will hold my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,

Reuel 6.10. and 19.2.

8 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood crieth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people, is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt, 11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the lande thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall raise through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sworde, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swordes in their hands.

16 For there shall be sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regard their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall bee troubled, the houses shall be afraid, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with y sword, and their goods shal be spoyld for lacke of bread, and became of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the ‖East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

‖Or, West.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God, 22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shead innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like straw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth her them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, and ye shal remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because yee haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible villon commeth from the East, 29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, and the multitude of them shall be carried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Caemanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the Boares of the forrest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemie besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shall bee feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Beholde cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and sloume.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, and the blood shall bee from the sword vnto the belly, 36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shalbe great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, & they that see the wrath, shalbe afrayd, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shal windes arise, and shall open it with the cloude, which he raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West winde, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty cloudes shal be lift vp, ful of wrath, and the starre that they may make all the earth afrayd, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation, 41 As fire and haile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fieldes may be full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, & the grasse of the meadowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afrayd.

44 They shall come to her & besiege her, and shal powre forth the constellation, & all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke go vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall be waile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shal doe seruice vnto them, that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glorie of her person, 47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast decked thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to committe whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God,

49 I will

49 I will send plagues vpon thee, wilde wood, pouertie, and famine, and the sworde, and pestilence, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glorie of thy power shall be dried vp, as a flowre when the heate riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty and the lowers shal not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alway flatne my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and laid ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beauty of thy countenance:

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, sayeth the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shal be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines shall die of hunger, and eate their own flesh, and drink their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappie, shalt come thorow the Sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the flame citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as sindle, and they shall be to thee as fire.

62 And they shal destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: all thy woodes and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shal they carry away captiue, and shall spoile thy substance, & marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, Egypt and Syria, 13, 38 Of the euils that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselues to the Lord, 55 whose mightie prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon, and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Girde your selues with sacke and haire-cloth, and mourne your children, and be sory: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, & who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away an hongry Lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begunne to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not vtterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with wanes from the deepe, and the wanes thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bowe: his arrowes that he shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe, till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shal not be put out, till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrowe which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backeward, so the plagues that shall bee sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorrowes, and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shal I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendement.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednes, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, victailes shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselues to be in good case: but then shall the euils bud forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, & the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall bee cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shalbe wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shalbe no man left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shal giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shal tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shall be ten left, and two of the field which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine three or foure oliues in the place where olives grow, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of the that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall be three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword.

26 And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shal waxe olde, and her wayes and all her paths shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauaile there thorow.

27 The

27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, ye seruants of the Lorde, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Beholde the word of the Lorde, receiue it: beleeue not the gods of whome the Lorde speaketh: beholde, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauailing woman which in the ninth moneth hasteth to bring forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe commeth to the birth, they tary not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and the sorowes shall come vpon it on every side.

33 O my people, heare my worde: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles bee men as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth, let him be as hee that fleeth his way: and he that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandize, as he that winneth not: and he that buildeth, as he that shall not dwell therein:

36 He that soweth, as one that shal not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as hee that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children: and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoyle their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandize with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, & their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angry against them, for their sinnes, sayth the Lord.

42 As a whore enticeth an honest and vertuous woman:

43 So shall righteousnes hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when he shall come that shall iudge the authour of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shall bee taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which sayth, I haue not sinned before the Lorde God and his glory.

Luke 16, 16. 46 Beholde, the Lord *knoweth al the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughtes and their hearts.

Gene. 1. 47 * For assoone as he sayd, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them. Psal. 147. 4.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his word hath he hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vaute vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the high rockes to water the earth.

53 He made man, and put his heart in the middes of the bodie, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the spirit of the almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hidde things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lorde searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought foorth before men, yee shall be confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will yee hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Beholde, God himselfe is the Iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For beholde, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meat to the soules.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproch, & troden vnder foote.

62 For in every place & cities that are neere, there shalbe great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shal the tryall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lorde, Beholde, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: be not yet afraide: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a fielde is hedged in with bushes, & the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

Tobit.

Tobit.

CHAP. I.

1 Tobits parentage. 3 His godlinesse. 6 His equity. 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 13 Hee feareth, and his goods are confiscate. 25 And after restored.

Tobits being captiue among the Assyrians did not leaue the way of trueth.

THe booke of the wordes of Tobit the sonne of Tobiel, ‖ sonne of Ananeel, the sonne of Aduel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seed of Asael, and of the tribe of Nephthalim,

2 Who in the time of ‖ Enemessar king of the Assyrians was* led away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of that citie, which is called properly Nephthalim, in Galile aboue Aser.

‖ Or, Salmanasar. 2. King. 17. 3.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with me to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

Tobias was mercifull.

4 And when I was in mine owne countrey in the land of Israel, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most High was consecrated, and built vp for all ages.

5 *Now all the tribes, which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the calfe called Baal.

1. King. 12. 30 He fled from idoles. Exod. 22. 29. deut. 12. 6.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Jerusalem, at the feastes, * bringing the first fruites, and the tenth of beastes, with that which was first shorne, and offered them at the altar of the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Jerusalem: the other tenth part I solde, and came and bestowed it euery yere at Jerusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meet, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupill.

9 ¶ Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

He marieth to wife Anna, which beareth to him Tobias. Num. 36. 7. Gen. 43. 32.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren, and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating,

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

Hee found grace in the sight of Salmanasar. ‖ Or, sonne.

13 Therefore the most High gaue mee grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purueyour.

14 ¶ And I went into ‖ Media, and I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael, the ‖ brother of Gabrias ‖ in the land of Media.

‖ Or, in Rages a city of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not go into Media.

‖ Or, Salmanasar.

16 ¶ ‖ But in the time of Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry.

True charitie of Tobias.

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any, when he* was come and fled from Jurie, I buried them priuily (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

2. King. 19. 35, 36. isa. 37. 36, 37. ecclus 48. 18, 22. 1. mac. 7. 41. 2. mac. 8. 19.

19 Therefore when a certaine Ninevite had accused me to the King, because I did burie them, I hid my selfe: and because I knewe that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

Tobit fleeth from the face of Sennacherib.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left mee besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheles * within fiue and fifty daies, two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accompts and ouer all his domesticall affaires Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

2. King. 19. 37. 2. chro. 32. 21.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Nineue: now Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouerlawe the accompts: So Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

Tobit returneth.

CHAP. II.

2 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to burie the dead. 10 Heare bee became blinde. 13 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reproacheth him bitterly.

NOwe when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto mee with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eate.

2 And when I sawe abundance of meate, I saide to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt finde of our brethren, which doeth remember God, and loe, I will tary for thee.

Tobit doeth bid to dinner those which feare God.

3 But hee came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into mine house vntill the going downe of the Sunne.

Tobit leauing his guests, taketh vp the dead body into his house to bury it. Amos 8. 10.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heauinesse,

1. mac. 1. 40.

6 Remembring that prophesie of * Amos which hath said, Your solemne feastes shall bee turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wayling.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the Sunne I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and said, Doeth he not feare to die for this cause, who * fled away, and yet loe, he buryeth the dead againe?

Tobit is rebuked of his neighbours. Chap. 1. 19.

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered,

10 And

He is made blinde for an example of patience to his posterite.

10 And I knew not that sparrowes were in the hall, and as mine eyes were open, the sparrowes cast downe warme dung into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes. ¶ I went to the Physitians, but they helped me not. Moreouer Achiacharus did nourish me, vntill I went into Helemais.

The wife of Tobit laboureth for her liuing.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens works to do.

12 And when shee had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages, and gaue a kidde.

The innocencie of Tobit.

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to bleate, I sayd vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stollen? render it to the owners: * for it is not lawfull to eate any thing that is stollen.

*Deut.22.1.

14 But she said, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleeue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blush because of her. Furthermore, she sayd, * Where are thine almes, and thy righteousnes? beholde, they all now appeare in thee.

*Iob.2.9.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sara Raguels daughter, & the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

THen I being sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy workes, and all thy wayes are mercie and trueth, and thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember me, and looke on me, neither punish me according to my sinnes or mine ignorances, or my fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commandements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs * for a spoile, and vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a Prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and now ‖ thou hast many and iust causes,

*Deut.28. 15,37.

‖Or, thy iudgements are many and true.

5 To doe with mee according to my sinnes, and my fathers, because wee haue not kept thy commandements, neyther haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with me as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirit to be taken from me, that I may be vnloosed, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorowfull: commaund therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and go into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

Sara is checked of her fathers maides.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media, Sara the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maides,

8 Because shee had beene married to seuen husbands, whom Aſmodeus the euill spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not know, sayd they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had nowe seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

Or, when she beat them for their faults, they said.

9 Wherefore doest thou beate vs for them? if they bee dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, she was very sorowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled herselfe. And she said, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I do this, I shal slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorow.

Sara prayeth and fasteth, that she may be deliuered from shame.

11 Then she prayed toward the window, and sayd, Blessed art thou, O Lorde my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And nowe, O Lord, I set mine eyes, and my face toward thee.

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

The innocencie of Sara. Her chastitie.

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath he any man childe to be his heire, neither any ‡ neere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, and why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, commaund to looke on mee, and to pitie mee, that I do no more heare reproch.

‡Greeke, any brother.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

The prayers of Tobit and Sara are heard both at a time.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sara the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to binde Aſmodeus the euill spirit, because shee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfesame time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sara the daughter of Raguel came downe from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

THat day Tobit remembred * the siluer, which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media,

*Chap.1.14.

2 And said with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when he had called him, he sayd, My sonne, after that I am dead, burie mee, and despise not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

Tobits exhortation to his sonne, when hee thought he should die.

The mother is to be reuerenced.

*Exod.20.12. Leuit.19.3.

4 Remember my sonne, how many dangers she sustained, when thou wast in her woombe,

5 And when she dieth, burie her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, let our Lord God alwayes be fore thine eyes, and let not thy will bee set to sinne, or to transgresse the Commandements of God. Doe iustly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succeede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

God must be in our hearts.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

Almes. *Prouer.3.9. Ecclus.4.1. & 14.13. Eccles.35. 10.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou hast but a little, bee not afraide to giue a little almes.

9 For

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessitie.

Eccle. 29.13. 10 *Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darkenesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which vse it.

Adultery. 1. Thes. 4.3. 12 Beware of all *whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for wee are the children of the Prophets: Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember, my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherit the land.

Pride. 13 Nowe therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcitie and great penurie: for ‖fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

Mat. 7.12. luke 6.31. 14 Let not the *wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tarie with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conuersation.

Luke 14.13. The hungry. Mat. 6.1. 15 *Doe that to no man which thou hatest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkennesse go with thee in thy iourney.

‖Or, be liberal to the iust, euen to their goods. Counsell. God is to be blessed. 16 *Giue of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and *of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be enuious, when thou giuest almes.

17 ‖Powre out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

18 Aske counsell alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

19 Blesse the Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be made streight, and that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements, neither let them at any time be put out of thy mind.

Chap. 1.14. 20 *Furthermore, I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered tenne talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media.

Pouerty with the feare of God. 21 And feare not my sonne, for asmuch as we are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and do that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages, 4 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conduct him.

Tobias sent by his father to Rages, seeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael whom he bringeth to his father.

TObias then answered, and sayde, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the handwriting, and sayd vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may go with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when he was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media? and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I will goe with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias sayd to him, Tary for me, till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Go, and tary not: so he went in, and sayd to his father, Beholde, I haue found one, which will go with me. Then he sayde, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithfull to go with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doest thou seeke a stocke or familie, or an hired man to go with thy sonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I would know, brother, thy kinred and thy name.

12 Then he sayde, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

‖Or, thou commest happily. 13 Then Tobit saide, ‖Thou art welcome, brother: bee not now angrie with mee, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kinred and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knowe Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for wee went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenthes of the fruites, and they were not deceiued with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell me, what wages shal I giue thee? wilt thou a groat a day, and things necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreouer, if ye returne safe, I will adde something to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father sayde, Goe thou with this man, & God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went foorth both, and departed, and the dog of the young man with them. Tobias goeth foorth the Angel keepeth him company.

17 But *Anna his mother wept, and sayd to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs? Chap. 10.4. His mother weepeth.

18 Would to God wee had not layed money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doeth iustice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Bee not carefull, My sister: he shall returne in safety, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney shall bee prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then he made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias debarred from the fish. 7 Raphael forsooth him certaine medicines. 10 He conducteth him forward home.

And

Tobias is ded of a f is deliuer by the An gell.

Num. 27. and 36.8.

AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.

Tobias inuaded of a fish, is deliuered by the Angell.

2 And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel sayd vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man tooke the fish, and drew it to land.

4 To whome the Angel sayd, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

7 So the yong man did as the angel commanded him: and when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way, till they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the yong man sayd to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he saide vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirite trouble any, wee must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he shall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoynt a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel sayd to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: hee also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that she may be giuen thee for a wife.

Num.27.8. and 36.8.

11 For to thee doth the * right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kinred.

12 And the mayde is faire and wise: nowe therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father, that we may make the marriage when we are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marrie her to another, according to the Law of Moyses: else he should deserue death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayde hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the marriage chamber.

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid, least I go in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirite loueth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare least I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of me to the graue with lowd weping: they haue no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Doest thou not remember the preceptes which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldest marry a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore, heare me, O my brother: for she shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirite: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt go into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hote coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish, 17 Which if the spirite do smell, he will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, & pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pitie on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall go with thee: moreouer, I suppose that she shal beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another she brought them into the house. Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? To whom they sayd, that they were of the tribe of Nephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Ninive.

4 Then he said to them, Do ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they sayde, We know him. Then sayd he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias sayd, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, & kissed him, & wept,

7 And blessed him, and sayd vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest & good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorowfull, and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, & Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer, they receiued them with a ready minde, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meate on the table. Then said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched. Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel sayd to Tobias, Eate, and drinke, and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marry my daughter: neuertheles, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheles, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias sayd, I will eat nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, and herroth her to me.

12 Raguel sayd then, Marry her then according to the customs: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and thee came to her father, and her tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Beholde, take her after the * Law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them. Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias. Num.36.8.

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a boode, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and sayd vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as her had bidden her, she brought her thither, then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And sayd vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lorde of heauen and earth gine thee ioy for this thy sorow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a grane for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsell, as Chap. 6.7.

2 And as he went, he remembred the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the ‖ vtmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

‖ Or, vpmost.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, & said, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

Tobias prayer.

5 Then beganne Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.

Gen. 2.7, 18, 22.

6 Thou madest Adam, & gauest him * Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankind: thou hast sayd, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an ayde like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And she sayd with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him,

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He sayde to his wife Edna, Send one of the maides, and let them see whether he bee aliue: if not, that I may burie him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe, 14 And came foorth, and tolde them that hee was aliue.

Raguel praiseth God for Tobias.

15 Then Raguel praised God, & said, O God, thou art worthy to be prayed with all pure and holy praise: therefore let the Saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be prayed, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: graunt them mercie, O Lord, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And he kept the wedding feast foureteene dayes.

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods towarde the mariage of his daughter to Tobias.

20 For Raguel had sworn vnto him by an othe, that he should not depart before that the foureteene dayes of the marriage were expired, 21 And then hee should take the halfe of his goods and returne in safetie to his father, and should haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and sayd vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and go to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sory.

Tobits care for his sonne. The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOwe Tobit his father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

The father and mother are in heauinesse for Tobias tarrying. Chap. 5, 17.

3 Therefore he was very sory.

4 Then his wife sayd to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarieth: and she beganne to * bewaile him, and sayd,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit sayd, Holde thy peace: be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Holde thy peace, and deceiue me not, my sonne is dead: and she went out euery day by the way which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the foureteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn, that he should tary there. Then Tobias sayd to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will send to thy father, and they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me go to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattell, and money, Raguel giueth Tobias and his wife leaue to depart.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

Sarra is instructed by his parents.

12 And he sayd to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law, which are nowe thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and he kissed them. Edna also sayd to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my deare brother, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Beholde now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not entreate her euill.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How he was receiued. 10 His father hath his sight restored, and praiseth the Lord.

After

AFter these things Tobias went his way, praysing God that he had given him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael sayde to Tobias, Thou knowest brother, how thou didst leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house.

The Angels counsell to Tobias.

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna sate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when she saw comming, she sayde to his father, Beholde, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoynt his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne foorth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and sayde vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went foorth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke holde of his father, and sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Bee of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes beganne to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke, 14 And he wept, and sayd, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pitie on me: for beholde, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, and tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meete his daughter in lawe, reioycing and praysing God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him got, marvelled, because he had received his sight.

17 But Tobit confessed before them all, that God had had pitie on him. And when hee came neere to Sarra his daughter in lawe, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren, which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nabas his brothers sonne came,

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasure that Raphael had done him. 5 The wicke he would recompence. 11, 15 Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

THen Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and sayde vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And he said vnto him, O father, it shall not seeme meet to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man sayde, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and said vnto him, Take halfe of all that yee haue brought, and go away in safety.

6 But hee tooke them both apart, and sayd vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which he hath done vnto you before al them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shewe foorth his excellent workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reuealе the workes of God: doe that which is good, and no euill shal touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, and righteousnesse. A little with righteousnesse is better then much with vnrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes, then to lay vp golde.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge al sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousnesse, shalbe filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I sayde it was good to keepe close the secret of a King, but that it was honourable to reuealе the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou didst pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to remembrance your prayer before the holy One: And when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hid from me: but I was with thee.

He that will be acceptable to God, must be reproued with tentation.

14 And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael one of the seuen holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe foorth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he sayde vnto them, Feare not, for it shall go well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision. Gen. 18, 8. and 19, 3. Iudges 13, 20.

20 Now therefore giue God thankes: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they sawe him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and howe the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thanksgiuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and sayde, Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his kingdome.

2 * For he doeth scourge and hath pitie: he leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoyd his hand.

Deut.32.39. 1.sam.2.6. wisd.16.13.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, yee children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 He hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom wee are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vprightly before him, then will hee turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what hee will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and prayse the Lorde of righteousnesse, and extoll the euerlasting King. I wil confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and will declare his power, and greatnesse to a sinfull nation. O ye sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if hee will receiue you to mercy, and haue pitie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let al praise him for his righteousnesse.

9 O Jerusalem the holy citie, he will scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but hee will haue pitie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue prayse to the Lorde duely, and praise the euerlasting King, that his Tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee thole that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer thole that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lorde God, with gifts in their handes, euen giftes to the King of heauen: all generations shall prayse thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shalbe gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue been sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Jerusalem shall be built vp with Saphires, and Emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towers, and thy bulwarkes with pure golde.

17 And the streetes of Jerusalem shall be paued with Berall, and Carbuncle, and stones of ‖ Ophir.

‖ Or, Saphir. ‖ Or, praise ye the Lord.

18 And all her streetes shall say, ‖ Hallelujah, and they shall prayse him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled it for euer.

‖ That is, Jerusalem.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophesieth the destruction of Nineue, 5 And the restoring of Jerusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of prayeing God.

2 And hee was eight and fiftie yeere olde, when hee lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and hee gaue almes, and hee continued to feare the Lorde God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and sixe of his sonnes sonnes, and sayd to him, My sonne, take thy children (for beholde, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life)

4 Goe into Media my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Jonas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good lande, and Jerusalem shall bee desolate, and the house of God in it shall bee burned, and shall be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pitie on them, and bring them againe into the land where they shall builde a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age bee fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, and builde vp Jerusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

Esra.3.8. and 6.14.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and shall bury their idoles.

7 So shall all nations prayse the Lorde, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, & all those which loue the Lord in trueth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercy to our brethren.

8 And now my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Jonas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the commandements, and shewe thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury me honestly, and thy mother with mee: but tary no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, howe Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, howe out of light hee brought him into darknesse, and howe hee rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for he went downe into darknesse. Manasses gaue almes, & escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousnesse doeth deliuer. When he had sayde these things, ‖ he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere olde, and he buried him honourably.

‖ Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel gnel his father in law.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he buried his father and mother in law honorably, and he inherited their substance & Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death he reioyced for Nineue.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the daies of Arpharad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane the walles rounde about of hewen stone, three cubits broad, and fiue cubits long, and made the height of the wall seuenty cubits, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubits,

3 And made the towers thereof in the gates of it of an hundreth cubits, & the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubits,

4 And made the gates thereof euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuentie cubits, & the breadth of them fourtie cubites, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen)

5 Euen in those dayes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad in the great field, which is the fielde in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwell in the mountaines, & all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris, & Hydaspes, & the countrey of Arioch the king of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselues to the battel of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galile, & the great field of Esdrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, & the cities therof, and beyond Jorden vnto Jerusalem, and Betane, and Chelus, and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem, 10 Until one come to Tanis, & Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, & sware by his throne and kingdome, that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, & that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against king Arphaxad in the seuenteenth yeere, and he preuailed in his battell: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arphaxad, & all his horsemen, and all his charets.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, and spoyled the streets therof, and turned the beauty thereof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, & smote him thorow with his dartes, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So he returned afterward to Nineue, both he, and all his companie with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there he rested the time, and banketted, both he and his armie, an hundreth and twenty dayes.

CHAP. II.

1 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should be brought into subiection. 6 and to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Holofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eighteenth yeere, the two & twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his Officers and all his Nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Holofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next to him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus sayeth the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe foorth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundreth and twenty thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, becaus they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou ſhalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will go forth in my wrath againſt them, and will couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine armie, and I will giue them as a ſpoile vnto them,

8 So that their wounded ſhall fill their valleyes, and their riuers, & the flood ſhal ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuity to the vtmoſt parts of the earth.

10 Thou therefore ſhalt depart hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou ſhalt reſerue them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye ſpare them, but put them to death, and ſpoile them wherſoeuer thou goeſt.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, whatſoeuer I haue ſpoken, that will I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou heede that thou tranſgreſſe not any of the commaundements of thy lord, but accompliſh them fully, as I haue commaunded thee, and deferre not to do them.

14 ¶ Then Holofernes went forth from the preſence of his lord, and called all the gouernors, and captaines, and officers of the army of Aſſur, 15 And hee muſtered the choſen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth & twentie thouſand, and twelue thouſand archers on horſeback.

16 And hee ſet them in aray according to the maner of ſetting a great armie in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and aſſes for their burdens, a very great number, and ſheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their proviſion, 18 And vitaile for euery man of the armie, and very much golde and ſiluer out of the Kings houſe.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonoſor, and to couer all the face of the earth Weſtward, with their charets, and horſmen, and choſen footmen.

20 A great multitude alſo of ſundry ſortes came with them like graſhoppers, and ſlike the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dayes iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched fro Bectileth, neere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he tooke all his armie, his footemen and horſmen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he deſtroyed Phud & Lud, and ſpoiled all the children of Raſſes, and the children of Iſmael, which were toward the wildernes at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went thorow Meſopotamia, and deſtroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntil one come to the ſea.

25 And he tooke the borders of Cilicia, and deſtroyed all that reſiſted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the South, and ouer againſt Arabia.

26 He compaſſed alſo all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and ſpoiled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damaſcus, in the time of wheat harueſt, and burnt vp all their fields, & deſtroyed their flocks and the heards: he robbed their cities, and ſpoiled their countrey, and ſmote all their young men with the edge of the ſword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the Sea coaſt, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Iemnaan: and they that dwelt in Azotus and Aſcalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people ſubiect to Holofernes. 8 He deſtroyed their gods that Nabuchodonoſor might onely be worſhipped.

SO they ſent ambaſſadours to him with meſſages of peace, ſaying,

2 Behold, we are the ſeruants of Nabuchodonoſor the great King: wee lie downe before thee: vſe vs as ſhalbe good in thy ſight.

3 Behold, our houſes & all our places, and all our fields of wheat, and our flocks & our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vſe them as it pleaſeth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy ſeruants; come, & take them, as ſeemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Holofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he down toward the ſea coaſt, both he and his army, and ſet gariſons in the hie cities, and tooke out of them choſen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them with crownes, with dances, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was enioyned him to deſtroy all the gods of the lande, that all nations ſhould worſhip Nabuchodonoſor onely, and that all tongues and tribes ſhould call vpon him as God.

9 And he came againſt Thamaron, nere vnto Judea, ouer againſt the great ſtrait of Judea, 10 And he pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there he tarried a moneth, that he might aſſemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Iſraelites were afraid and defended their country & Ioacim the Prieſt writeth to Bethulia, that they ſhould fortifie themſelues. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themſelues before him.

NOwe the children of Iſrael that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Holofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonoſor King of the Aſſyrians had done to the nations, and howe hee had ſpoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they greatly feared his preſence, and were troubled for Jeruſalem, and for the temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was aſſembled assembled in Judea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoio, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the tops of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouision of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 And Joacim the high Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomesthaim, which is ouer against Esdraelon, toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Judea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was straite for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the high Priest had commanded them with the ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Jerusalem.

9 Then cryed every man of Israel to God with great feruencie, and their soules with great affection.

10 Both they and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and every stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackecloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus every man and woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spred out their sackecloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackecloth about the altar, 12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Joacim the high Priest, and all the Priestes that stoode before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, & offered the continuall burnt offring, with prayers, and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had ashes on their mitres, and cryed vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that hee would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doth declare to Olofernes of the maner of the Israelites.

THen was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the hie hils, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith he was very angry, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And hee sayd vnto them, Shew me, O yee sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what King or captaine is ruled among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 ¶ Then *said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. Chap.11.7.

6 This people come out of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And *they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not followe the gods of their fathers, which were in the lande of Chaldea. Gene.11.31.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then *their God commanded them to departe from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattell. Gene.12.5.

10 But when a famine entered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

11 *Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues. Exod.1.8.

12 Then they cryed vnto their God, and hee smote all the lande of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the *Egyptians cast them out of their sight. Exod.12.33.

13 And *God dried the red sea in their presence, Exod.14.21.

14 And *brought them into mount Sina and Cades Barnea, and cast foorth all that dwelt in the wildernesse. Exod.19.1.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Jordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they *cast foorth before them the Chananites, and the Pherezites, and the Jebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes. Iosh.23.8.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them.

18 But *when they departed from the way which hee appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, *and were ledde captiues into a lande that was not theirs: and the Temple of Judg.2.12. and 3.8. 2.King.25.

their God was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

Nehe. 1.1,3. 19 But * now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Nowe therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there bee any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall bee their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there bee none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore go vp, O lord Holofernes, and they shalbe meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell was ceassed, Holofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, sayd vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, and of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast sayde that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, * because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor? Chap. 5.5,21.

3 Hee will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our hostes.

4 For we will treade them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fieldes shall be filled with their dead bodies, and their footesteps shall not bee able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor lord of all the earth hath sayd, euen hee hath sayd, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words, in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day, vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall carry thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind, that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Holofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the mids of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went foorth of the city vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stoode about him, and looked him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie, 15 (Which were in those dayes, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the wordes of the counsell of Holofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Holofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercy on the basenesse of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Holofernes doth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THE next day Holofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their campes against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streits of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their campes in that day, and the armie of warre men of warre was an hundreth thousande and fiuetie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were were aboote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spread abroade toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they sawe the multitude, were greatly troubled, and sayd euery one to his neighbour, Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day Holofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them and set garisons of men of warre ouer them, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and sayd, 9 Let our captaine now heare a worde, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the countrey, that commeth forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kill them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and wee and our people will goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shall be consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall bee ouerthrowen in the streetes where they dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Holofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselues towarde the South, and towarde the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the fielde, and couered the whole land: for their tentes and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remayned about them, both their footemen, charioes and horsemen, foure and thirty dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water ynough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swooned, and their wiues and yong men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, and sayd before all the Elders, 24 The * Lorde iudge betweene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Assur. * Exod.5.21.

25 For now wee haue no helper: but God hath solde vs into their hands that we should be throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore cal them together, and deliuer the whole city for a spoyle to the people of Holofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to bee made a spoyle vnto them, then to die for thirst: for we will bee his seruants, that wee may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 Wee take to witnesse against you the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers which punisheth vs according to our sinnes, and the sinnes of our fathers, that bee lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great cry of all with one content in the middes of the assembly, and they cryed vnto the Lorde God with a loude voyce.

30 Then sayd Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fiue dayes, in the which space the Lorde our God may turne his mercy toward vs: for hee will not forsake vs in the ende.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towers of their city, and sent their wiues and their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the city.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life, and conuersation of Iudith. 11 She rebuketh the gouernours. 12 She forewarneth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 How to preuaile against the enemies.

Now

NOw at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari, the sonne of Ox, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salasadai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kinred, who dyed in the barly harvest.

3 For as he was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and he fell vpon his bed, and dyed in the citie of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the fielde betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her house a widowe three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And shee made her a tent vpon her house, and put on sackecloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feastes and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 Shee was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to beholde: and her husband Manasses had left her golde and siluer, and men seruants, and maide seruants, and cattell, and possessions where she remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when shee heard the euill wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had *sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiue dayes.) *Chap.7.26, 31.

10 Then she sent her mayde that had the gouernement of all things that shee had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the ancients of the citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and shee sayde vnto them, Heare me, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that ye haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which ye made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the citie to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lorde turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now yee seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that hee thinketh: then how can you search out God, that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lorde our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe vs within these fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs when hee will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe nor familie, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with handes, as hath bene afore time.

19 For *the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sworde, and for a spoyle, & had a great fall before our enemies. *Iudg.2.11, and 4.1. and 6.1.

20 But we know none other God: therefore wee trust that hee will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shall be taken, shall Iuda be so famous: for our Sanctuary shall bee spoyled, and hee will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will he turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, whereseuer wee shall be in bondage, and we shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs. Ezec.34.3. 25.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauour, but the Lorde our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depende vpon vs, and the Sanctuarie, and the House, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thankes to the Lord our God, which tryeth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things he did to *Abraham, and how hee tryed Isaac, and all that hee did to *Iacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when he kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother. *Gene.22.1. *Gen.28.7.

27 For hee hath not tryed vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lorde punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then saide Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisedome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuise of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, & compelled vs to doe vnto them as wee haue spoken, and haue wrought vs to an othe which we may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then sayde Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stande this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmayde, and within the dayes that ye haue promised to

to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But enquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things be finished that I doe.

35 Then sayde Oziah & the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth herselfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assirians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

THen Iudeth fell vpon her face, & put ashes vpon her head, & put off the sackecloth wherewith shee was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that euening was offered in Ierusalem in the house of the Lord, Iudeth cried with a loud voice, and sayd,

Gen.34.2. 25. 2 O Lord God of my father *Simeon, to whom thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the mayd, & defiled her, & discouered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproach (for thou hadst commaunded that it should not so be,

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, (for they were deceiued and washed their beds with blood) and hast stricken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to bee captiues, and all their spoiles for a bootie to the children that thou louedst: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayd, O God, O my God, heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Behold, we are here: for all thy wayes are readie, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.

7 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselues with horses and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footemen: they trust in shield, speare, and bow, and sling, and doe not knowe that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and weake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuarie, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceiued.

Isay.4 27. and 5.26. Isay.7.2. Ezech.14. Heb 16.8. and 20.6. 10 *Smite by the deceit of my lips the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

11 *For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the sauiour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the Creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And graunt mee wordes and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy Couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the toppe of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of al power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her selfe, and goeth forth of the citie. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians & brought to Olofernes.

NOw after shee had ceased to crye vnto the God of Israel, and had made an ende of all these words,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maid, and went downe into the house, in the which shee abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes.

3 And putting away the sackecloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, shee washed her body with water, and anointed it with much ointment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith shee was clad, during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, & sleeues, and rings, and earerings, and all her ornaments, and shee decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her maide a bottle of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with flowre, and with dry figges, and with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together, & layd them vpon her.

6 Thus they went foorth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her, that her face was changed, & that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beautie, and sayd vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she sayd vnto them, Commaund the gates of the citie to bee opened vnto mee, that I may goe foorth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to mee. So they commaunded the yong men to open vnto her, as shee had spoken.

10 And

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, she, & her mayd with her, and the men of the city looked after her, vntill she was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went streight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her,

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commest thou? and whither goest thou? and thee sayd, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall bee given you to bee consumed.

13 And I come before Holofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shew before him the way whereby he shall goe and winne all the mountaines without losing the bodie or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and sayd vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, bee not afeayde in thine heart, but shewe vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will intreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her mayd, and brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro throwout the campe: for her comming was hunted among the tents: and they came and stoode round about her: for shee stood without the tent of Holofernes vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beautie, & wondered at the children of Israel, because of her, & euery one sayd vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Holofernes gard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Nowe Holofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was woven with purple and golde and emeraudes, and pretious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lamps of siluer before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and she fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

2 Holofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 and asketh the cause of her comming. 5 She discouereth him by her fore words.

THen sayd Holofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the King of the earth.

2 Nowe therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselues.

3 But nowe tell mee wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well, as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth sayd vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaid to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not only men shall bee made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared throughout the whole earth, that thou only art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in feates of warre marueilous,

9 Now as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in the counsell, we haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and hee declared vnto them all that hee had spoken vnto thee. Chap. 5. 5.

10 Therefore, O lorde and gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore lest my lorde should be frustrate, and voide of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may bee taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they do that which is not beseeming,

12 (For because their victailes faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes: Gen. 43. 32. Lam. 1. 8. 10, 11.

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruites of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them worde, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be vnlapped the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmayd, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shal wonder, and whosoeuer shal heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lorde, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reuelle vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes,

18 And I will come and shewe it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall bee none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee thorow the middes of Iudea, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will set thy throne in the midst thereof, and thou shalt drive them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shewe thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Holofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueiled at her wisedome, and sayd, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisedome of words.

22 Likewise Holofernes sayd vnto her, God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might be in our handes, & destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

Or, hath done well.

23 And nowe thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and witte in thy wordes: surely if thou do as thou hast spoken, thy God shal be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and shalt be renowned thorowout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 5 She maketh her request that she might goe out by night to pray. 11 Holofernes enuiteth her to come to the banquet.

THen he commaunded to bring her in where his treasures were layed, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth sayd, If I may not eate of them, least there should be an offence, but I can sufficie my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

Gene. 43. 32. Exo. 8. 26. & 10. 11.

3 Then Holofernes sayde vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmayd shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntill midnight, and arose at the morning watch.

6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord commaund that thy handmayd may go forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Holofernes commanded his garde that they should not stay her: thus she abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lorde God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day, Holofernes made a feast to his owne seruants only, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuche who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe and perswade thes Hebrewe woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs and eate, and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and saide, Let not this faire mayd make difficulte to goe in to my lord, and to be honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs toyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then saide Iudeth vnto him, Who am I nowe, that I should gainesay my lorde? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So she arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her mayde went, and spread foorth her skinnes on the ground ouer against Holofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her dayly vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Nowe when Iudeth came and sate downe, Holofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirite was mooued, and he desired greatly her company: for he had watted for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then said Holofernes vnto her, Drinke nowe and be merie with vs.

18 So Iudeth saide, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke and ate, and dranke before him the things, that her mayde had prepared.

20 And Holofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had dranke at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Holofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOwe when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lorde, and they went to their beds, for they were al weary, because the feast had been long.

2 And

3 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with * wine.

Ecclus. 31. 30, 25.

3 Now Iudeth had commanded her maydes to stande without her chamber, and to waite for her comming forth as thee did dayly: for thee sayd, the would go forth to her prayers, and thee spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So al went forth of her presence, and none was left in the chamber, neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, sayde in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behelde at this present the workes of mine handes for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For nowe is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed, which was at Holofernes head, and tooke downe his tachin from thence,

7 And approched to the bed: and tooke holde of the haire of his head, and sayde, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel this day.

8 And thee smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him,

9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went forth, and gaue Holofernes head to her mayd,

10 And shee put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and passing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 Then sayde Iudeth a farre off to the watchmen at the gates, Open, open this the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Nowe when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to go downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ranne all together both small and great: for it was alone their expectation, that shee should come: So they opened the gate and receiued her, & made a fire for a light, and stoode round about them twaine.

14 Then she sayd to them with a loud voyce, Prayse God, prayse God: prayse God: he hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrippe, and shewed it, and sayd vnto them: Behold the head of Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, and behold the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkennesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hands of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath perswaded him to his destruction, and hee hath committed sinne with me, to my pollution & dishonor.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, and worshipped God, and sayd with one accorde, We blesse thee, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then sayd Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thing hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall prayse, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a streight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iudeth counseleth to hang vp the head of Holofernes, to whom cometh himself to the people of God. 11 The Israelites go out against the Assyrians.

THen sayd Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, also my brethren, and * take this head, and hang it vpon the best place of your walles: 2. Mac. 15. 35.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the Sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the fielde, towarde the watche of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shal take their armour, and shal goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall come to the tent of Holofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coasts of Israel shall pursue them, and ouerthrowe them as they go.

5 But before you doe these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may see, and knowe him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and saw the head of Holofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, hee fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, hee fell at Iudeths feete, and reuerenced her, and sayde, Blessed art thou in all the Tabernacle of Iuda, and all nations, which hearing thy name shal be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the thinges, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that shee had done from the day that shee went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.

9 And when shee had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnes through their citie.

10 And Achior, seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God verie nesse, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was joyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ Assoone as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes out at the walle, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bandes vnto the straits of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Holofernes tent, and sayd to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Judeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floure, & his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mightie crie, and rent his garments.

17 After, he went into the tent of Judeth, where she vsed to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people, and cried, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame vpon the house of King Nebuchodonozor: for beholde, Holofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crie and a very great noise thorowout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afrayd & flie. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioacim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia to see Judeth and to praise God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare & trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had campes in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Vzias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto the the things that were done, and that all should rush foorth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Nowe when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Chobai: likewise also they that came from Jerusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad, and in Galile, chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus, and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur, and spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest, & the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great booty, for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Joacim the hie Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Jerusalem, came to consider the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almighty Lord for euermore: and all the people sayd, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirty dayes, and they gaue vnto Judeth Holofernes tent, and all his siluer, and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and she tooke it, and layed it on her mules, and made ready her charrets, and layd them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with olives, and her that was with her, & they went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Judeth praiseth God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Holofernes stuffe. 23 Her commendacie, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Judeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voice.

2 And Judeth sayd, Beginne vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalme: exalt his name, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the mids of the people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines foorth of the North: he came with thousands in his armie, whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleyes. Chap.2,13, 15.

5 He sayde that he would burne vp my borders, and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the grounde, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the almighty Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mighty did not fall by the young men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the high Giants inuade him, but

Judeth

Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfit him by the beauty of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound up her hair in a coife, and took a linnen garment to deceive him.

9 Her slippers ravished his eyes: her beauty took his mind prisoner, and the sword passed through his neck.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldness, and the Medes were troubled with her hardiness.

11 Then mine afflicted rejoyced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted up their voyce, and turned backe.

12 The children of mayds pearced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing unto the Lord a song of praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marvellous and invincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serve thee: for thou hast spoken, and they were made: thou hast sent thy spirite, and he made them up: and there is none that can resist thy voyce.

15 For the mountaines shall be up from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like wax: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweet savour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise up against my kinred: the Lord almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of judgement, in sending fire and wormes upon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for ever.

18 After, when they went unto Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judeth also offered all the stuffe of Holofernes, which the people had given her, and gave the canopie which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people rejoyced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuarie for the space of three moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time, every one returned to his owne inheritance, & Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honourable in all the country.

22 And many desired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life, after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ his people.

‖Or, her people.

23 But she increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her husbands house, being an hundreth and five yeeres olde, and made her mayd free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the grave of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seven dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were nerest of kinred to Manasses her husband, & to them that were the nerest of her kinred.

* Gen. 50. 10.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraide in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

Esther.

Certaine portions of the storie of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latine translations: which follow the tenth Chapter.

Then Mardochens sayd, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I saw concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the same, and as much water, this flood was Esther whom the King married, and made Queene.

7 And the two Dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Jewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saved: for the Lord hath saved his people, and the Lord hath delivered us from all these evils, and God hath wrought signes and great wonders, which have not been done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for ‖ people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

‖Or, people.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, to the houre and time appointed, and in the day of judgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and justified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shalbe vnto them in the moneth Adar the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and joy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for ever among his people.

CHAP. XI.

In the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolomeus and Cleopatra Dositheus, who said he was a Priest & Levite, and Ptolomeus his sonne, that brought the former letters of ‖ Phurim, which the name Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolomeus, which was at Jerusalem, interpreted,

‖Or, Lysimachus.

2 In the seconde yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardochens the sonne of Jairus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame:

3 A Jewe dwelling in the citie of Susis, a noble man, that had office in the kings court.

4 He was also one of the captivitie which Nabuchodonosor the King of Babylon brought from Esther 2, 21 and 6, 2.

from Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Beholde a noise of a tempest with thunders & earthquakes, and vprore in the land.

6 Beholde, two great Dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenesse and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed, and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the litle well grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light & the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Nowe when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, he awoke & rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would do, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the kings Court with Bagathas & Thara, the kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.

Esther 2,21. and 6,2. 2 *But when he heard their purpose, & their imaginations, he perceiued that they went about to lay their handes vpon the king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the king to examine the two eunuches with torments, & when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to bee put in the Chronicles, Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the Court, and for the aduertisement, he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the Letters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardochaeus.

Ioseph. Antiq. lib. 11. cap. 5. THE copie of the Leters was this. The great king Artaxerxes writeth these things to the princes and gouernors that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had stablished the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equity allway, and gentlenesse, to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely goe thorow on euerie side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellers howe these things might be brought to passe, one that was countersant with vs of excellent wisedome, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to beare sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrarie to all people, and haue alway despised the commaundements of Kings, and so that this generall empire, that we haue begunne, can not be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing nowe wee perceiue that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue wee commaunded that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordained ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children bee destroyed and rooted out with the swoorde of their enemies without all mercie, and that none bee spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of olde, & now also haue euer beene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the king almighty (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lorde, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bow downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the saluation of Israel to haue kissed the sole of his feete.

14 But I did it, because I would not prefer the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therefore, O Lord God & King, haue mercie vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despise not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and bee mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorrow into ioy, that wee may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like manner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliverance of her, and her people.

QUeen Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,

2 And layd away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious ointment, she scattered ashes and dung vpon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioy filled she with the haire that she plucked off.

3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our king: helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my father, that thou, O Lord, tookest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predecessours for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou didst promise them.

6 Now Lord, wee haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the handes of our enemies,

7 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Nenertheless, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue stroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and be magnified a fleshly king for euer.

11 O Lorde, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, least they laugh vs to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuice vpon themselues, and make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shew thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O king of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue mee an eloquent speech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to destroy him, and all such as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am solitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lorde: thou knowest, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, and that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate the token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, and that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe,

17 And that I thine handmaide haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the kings feast, nor dronke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18 And that I thine handmaide haue no ioy since the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mighty God aboue all, heare the voice of them, that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in to the king, and make intercession for her people. 9 And she performeth his request.

MArdocheus also bade Esther to goe in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, sayth he, the dayes of thy low estate, howe thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vnto the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when she had ended her prayer, she laid away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And decked her selfe goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Sauior of all things, and tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one shee leaned herselfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beauty made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheereful & amiable, but her heart was sore vnfull for great feare.

9 Then shee went in thorow all the doores, and stood before the king, & the king sate vpon his royall throne, and was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold & precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lift vp his face that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned herselfe vpon the head of the mayde that went with her.

11 Nenertheles, God turned the kings minde that he was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till she came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and sayd,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere, 13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come neere.

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and layd it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and sayd, Talke with me.

16 Then said she, I saw thee, O lord, as an angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the King was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee reuoketh those which he first sent forth.

The

Esth. Ant. 11. cap. 6.

THe great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces, sendeth vnto the princes and rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnes of princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proude,

3 And indeuour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good,

4 And take not onely all thankefulnes away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that bee vnmindfull of benefits, they thinke to escape ỹ vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euil.

5 And oft times many, which be set in office, and vnto whom their frendes causes are committed, by vaine intilements doe wappe them in calamities, that cannot be remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may be proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences as are not worthie to beare rule.

8 Therefore wee must take heede hereafter that we may make the kingdoms peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenes.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in deede a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath prooued the friendship that we beare toward all nations, so that hee was called our father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the king.

12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to depriue vs of the kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifolde deceits also hath he desired to destroy Mardochens our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we finde that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might bee destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust Lawes, 16 And that they be the children of the most High and Almightie and euerliuing God, by whom the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitours in very good order.

17 Wherefore ye shall doe well, if ye doe not put in execution those letters that Aman the son of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that inuented them, hanged at Susis before the gates with all his family, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deseruing.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And yee shall aide them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar, they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day, wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes, ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse, 23 That both now and in time to come, this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreys that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not only not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foules for euer.

The Wisedome of Salomon.

5 For the holy * Spirite of discipline fleeth from deceite, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughes that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednes commeth. Prou. 9. 22.

7 For the Spirit of the Lorde filleth all the world: and the same that maintaineth al things, hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot be hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sounde of his wordes shal come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the eare of iealouſie heareth al things, and the noyſe of the grudgings ſhall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, & refraine your tongue from ſlander: for there is no word ſo ſecret, that ſhall goe for nought, and the mouth that ſpeaketh lies, ſlayeth the ſoule.

despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisedome and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, and their labours are foolish, & their works unprofitable.

12 Their wives are undiscreet, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

16 But the children of adulterers shal not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, & their last age shall be without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous and the commoditie of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrennesse with vertue: for the memorial thereof is immortall: for it is known with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned & triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they budde foorth in the branches for a time, *yet they shall be shaken with the winde; for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the winde they shalbe rooted out. *Matt.7.19.

5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broken, and their fruit shall be vnprofitable and sowre to eate, and meet for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witnesse of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous bee preuented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisedome is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

10 *He pleased God, and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners he translated him. *Gen.5.24. Heb.11.5.

11 Yee was taken away, least wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, & the vnstedfastnesse of concupiscence peruerteth the simple minde.

13 Though he was soone dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: & the youth that is soone brought to an ende, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preserued him in safety.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne, 19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voice shall he burst them, & cast them downe, and shake them from the foundations, so that they shal be vtterly wasted, and they shalbe in sorow, and their memorial shall perish.

20 So they being afraid, shal remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednes shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecuters, 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15. The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

THen shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shalbe vexed with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderfull deliuerance,

3 And shall change their minds, and sigh for greefe of mind, and say within themselues, This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.

4 *We fooles thought his life madnesse, and his end without honour. *Chap.3.2.

5 How is hee counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of trueth, and the light of righteousnesse hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and wee haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profit hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are *passed away like a shadow, and as a poste that passeth by: *1.Chron.29. 15.chap.2.5.

10 As a shippe that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the path of it in the floods:

11 Or *as a bird that flieth through in the aire, and no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the aire through the vehemencie of her going, and flieth on, shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found: *Pro.30.19.

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the ayre, which immediately commeth together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went thorow.

13 Euen so wee, assoone as wee were borne, we began to draw to our end, and haue shewen no token of vertue, but are consumed in our own wickednesse.

Iob.8.9. psal. 1.4. and 143. 4. pro. 10. 25. & 11. 7. iam. 4. 10, 11.

14 For * the hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blowen away with the [illegible], and like a thinne foame that is scattered abroad with the storme, and as the smoake which is dispersed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarrieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, and the most Hie hath care of them.

16 Therfore shal they receiue a glorious kingdome, & a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall he couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shall take his iealousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousnesse for a brestplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He wil take holines for an inuincible shield.

20 He wil sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the vnwise.

21 Then shall the thunderbolts goe straight out of the lightnings, & shall flie to the marke as out of the bent bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke haile be cast, & the water of the sea shalbe wroth against them, and the floods shall mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mighty wind shall stand vp against them, & like a storme shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wildernesse, and wickednesse shall ouerthrowe the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisedome.

HEare therefore, O ye Kings, and vnderstand: learne ye that be Iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes and glory in the multitude of people.

Rom.13.2. 3 For the * rule is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the most High, which will trie your works, and search out your imaginations.

4 Because that ye being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God.

5 Horribly and suddenly will he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most low, is worthy mercie, but the mighty shalbe migtily tormented.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no Deut.10.17. 2.chron.19.7 iob.34.19. eccles.35.12. 1.6. acts 10. 34. rom.2.11 gal.2.6. ephe. 6.9. colos.3. 25. 1. pet. 1. 17. * person, neither shall he feare any greatnes: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike,

8 But for the mighty abideth the surer triall.

9 * Vnto you therfore, O tyrants, do I speake, that ye may learne wisedome, and not go amisse.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holily, shall be holy, and they that are learned therin, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherfore set your delight vpon my words and desire them, and ye shall be instructed.

12 Wisdome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, & found of such as seeke her, 13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew herselfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trauaile: for he shall finde her sitting at his doores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfite vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shall be soone without care.

16 For she goeth about, seeking such as are meet for her, and sheweth herselfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitie:

19 And immortalitie maketh vs neere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delight be then in thrones, & scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisedome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I wil tell you what wisdome is, and whence it commeth, and wil not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her nativitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the truth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with consuming enuie: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisdome.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the world, and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisdome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to be flesh in ten moneths: I was * brought together into bloud of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe. Iob.10.10, 11.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

Hebr.1.3.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All * men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out. Iob.1.21. 1.tim.6.7.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the spirite of wisedome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters & thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 * Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all golde is but a little grauell in respect of her, and siluer shall bee counted Iob.28.15.

but

but clay before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beautie, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

1.King.3.13 matth.6.33. 11 All * good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisedome was the author therof, and I knewe not that shee was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfainedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my mind, and to iudge worthily of the things, that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisedome, and the directer of the wise.

16 For in his hande are both wee and our words, and all wisedome, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the worlde was made, and the powers of the elements,

18 The beginning and the end, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, & the change of the seasons,

19 The course of the yeere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnes of beastes, the power of the windes, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knowen do I knowe: for wisedome the worker of all things hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirite of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, subtil, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot bee letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisedome is nimbler then all nimble things: she goeth through & attaineth to all things, because of her pureneſſe.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almightie: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

Hebr.1.3. 26 For * she is the brightneſſe of the euerlasting light, the vndefiled mirrour of the Maiestie of God, and the image of his goodneſſe.

27 And being one, she can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, renueth all, and according to the ages she entreth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisedome.

29 For she is more beautifull then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night commeth vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The office of Wisedome.

SHee also reacheth from one end to another mightily, and comely doeth she order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such loue had I vnto her beautie.

3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the Schoolemistresse of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.

5 If riches be a possession to bee desired in this life, what is richer then wisedome, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudencie worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then she?

7 If a man loue righteousnesse, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth sobernesse and prudencie, righteousnes, and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, and discerne things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of wordes & the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my companie: knowing that she would counsell me good things, and comfort me in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, & honour among the Elders though I be yong.

11 I shall be found of sharpe iudgement, & in that I shall bee marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leasure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreouer, by her, I shal obteine immortalitie, and leaue an euerlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants hauing afraide when they heare me: among the multitude I shall be found good, and mightie in battell.

16 When I come home I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitternesse, and her fellowship hath no tedioufneſſe, but mirth and ioy.

17 Nowe when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to bee ioyned vnto wisedome is immortalitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking howe I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.

21 Neuertheleſſe, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her, except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisedome also, to knowe whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lorde, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisedome.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercie, which hast made all things with thy worde,

2 And ordained man through thy wisedome, that he should haue * dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made,

Gen.1.1, 28.

3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousnesse, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 Giue me * that wisedome, which sitteth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

1.King.3.9.

5 For I, * thy seruant, and sonne of thine handmayde, am a feeble person, and of a short time, & yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes.

Psa.116.16.

6 And though a man bee neuer so perfite among the children of men, yet if thy wisedome be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

1.Chr.28.5. 2.chro.1.9.

8 Thou hast commaunded mee to builde a Temple vpon thine holy mount, and an altar in the citie, wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning,

9 And thy * wisedome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knewe what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements.

Pro.8.22. iohn 1.1,2, 3, 10.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy Maiestie, that she may be with mee, and labour, that I may knowe what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For shee knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and shee shall leade mee soberly in my workes, and preserue me by her glory.

12 So shall my workes bee acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meete for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is he that can knowe the counsell of God? or who can thinke what the will of God is?

Isa.40.13. rom.11.34. 1.cor.2.16.

14 For the thoughts of mortal men are fearefull, and our forecasts are vncertaine,

15 Because a corruptable body is heauie vnto the soule, & the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares:

16 And hardly can wee discerne the things that are vpon earth, & with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heauen?

17 Who can knowe thy counsell, except thou giue him wisedome, and sende thy holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued through wisedome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and the destruction of the enemies vnmuzzled through wisedome.

SHe preserued the first father of the worlde, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things,

Gen.2.20. Gen.4.8.

3 * But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie.

4 For whose cause the * earth was ouerflowen, but wisedome preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a litle wood.

Gene.7.21.

5 Moreouer, * when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knewe the righteous, and preserued him faultlesse vnto God, and || kept him sure, because he loued him tenderly as a sonne.

Gen.11.1, 31. and 12.1. ||Or, kept him strong in his tender loue toward his sonne.

6 She preserued the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell downe vpon the fiue cities.

7 Of whose wickednes the waste lande that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruite that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

Gen.19.26.

8 For al such as regarded not wisedome, han not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisedome deliuered them ‖ serued her.

10 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him ‖ right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him riche in his labours, and made his paines profitable.

Gen.28.5.

11 Against the couetousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12 She saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waite, and she gaue him the price in mightie battell, that hee might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 * When the righteous was solde, shee forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeon, Gen.37.28, and 39.7. actes.7.10.

14 And failed him not in the bands, till she had brought him the scepter of the Realme, and power against those that oppressed him, & them that had accused him shee declared to bee lyars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 *Shee deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

Exod.1.10. and 12.42.

16 She entred into the soule of the seruant of the Lorde, and stoode * by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings.

Exod.5.1.

17 She gaue the saints the reward of their labours, and led them foorth a marueilous waye on the day time shee was a shadowe vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * She brought them through the red sea, and carried them through the great water, Exod.14.21, 22. psal.78. 13.

19 But shee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoyles of the vngodly, * and prayed thy holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hande with one accord.

Exod.15.1.

21 For wisedome openeth the mouth of the dumbe, & maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Iſrael. 13 The vengeance of ſinners. 18 The great power and mercie of God.

SHee proſpered their workes in the handes of thine holy Prophet.

Exod.16.1. 2 * They went through the wildernes that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

Exod.17.10, 11. Num.20.11. 3 * They ſtoode againſt their enemies, and were auenged of their aduerſaries.

4 * When they were thirſtie they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the hye rocke, and their thirſt was quenched out of the hard ſtone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the ſame were the Iſraelites helped in their neede.

6 For in ſtead of a fountaine of running water the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gaueſt vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for,

Exod.7.20. 7 Declaring by the thirſt that was at that time, * howe thou haſt punished thine aduerſaries.

8 For when they were tried and chaſtiſed with mercie, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For theſe haſt thou exhorted as a father, and proued them; but thou haſt condemned the other as a righteous king, when thou didſt examine them.

10 Whether they were abſent or preſent, their puniſhment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things paſt.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And ſeeing the things that came to paſſe, at the laſt they wondred at him, whome afore they had caſt out, denied and derided: for they had another thirſt then the reſt.

13 Becauſe of the fooliſh deuices of their wickednesſe wherewith they were deceiued, and worſhippe * ſerpents, that had not the vſe of reaſon, and vile beaſtes, thou ſendeſt a multitude of vnreaſonable beaſtes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might knowe, that wherewith a man ſinneth, by the ſame alſo ſhall he be punished.

Chap.12.24 rom.1.23.

14 For vnto thine almighty hand, that made the world of * nought, it was not vnpoſſible to ſend among them a multitude of * Beares, or fierce Lions,

Gen.1.1. hebr.11.3. Leuit.26.22. 1er.8.16,17. Ecclu.16.1.

15 Or furious beaſtes newly created and vnknowen, which ſhoulde breathe out blaſtes of fire, and caſt out ſmoke as a tempeſt, or ſhoote horrible ſparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not only deſtroy them with hurting, but alſo kill them with their horrible ſight.

17 Yea, without theſe might they haue bene caſt downe with one winde, being perſecuted by thy vengeance, and ſcattered abroade through the power of thy Spirite: but thou haſt ordered all things in meaſure, number, and weight.

18 For thou haſt euer had great ſtrength and might, and who can withſtand the power of thine arme?

19 For as the ſmall thing that the ballance weigheth, ſo is the worlde before thee, and as a drop of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou haſt mercie vpon all: for thou haſt power of all thinges, and makeſt as though thou ſaweſt not the ſinnes of men, becauſe they ſhould amend.

21 For thou loueſt all the things that are, and hateſt none of them whom thou haſt made: for thou wouldeſt haue created nothing that thou haddſt hated.

22 And howe might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or howe could any thing bee preſerued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou ſpareſt all: for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of ſoules.

CHAP. XII.

1 The mercie of God toward ſinners. 14 The workes of God are vnrepreueable. 19 God giueth leaſure to repent.

FOr thine incorruptible Spirite is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chaſteneſt them meaſurably that goe wrong, and warneſt them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesſe, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

Deut.9.3. and 12.31. and 18.12. 3 * As for thoſe olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou didſt hate them.

4 For they committed abominable workes, as ſorceries and wicked ſacrifices,

5 And ſlaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans fleſh in banketting, where the raging Prieſtes ſhed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the ſoules, deſtitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldeſt deſtroy by the handes of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou loueſt aboue all other, might bee a meete dwelling for the children of God.

Exod.33.2. deut.3.22. 8 * Neuertheleſſe, thou ſpareſt them alſo, as men, and ſendeſt the forerunners of thine hoſte, euen hornets to deſtroy them by little and little,

9 Not that thou waſt vnable to ſubdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beaſtes, or with one rough worde to deſtroy them together.

10 But in puniſhing them by little and little, thou gaueſt them ſpace to repent, knowing well that it was an vnrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a curſed ſeede from the beginning: yet haſt thou not ſpared them when they ſinned, becauſe thou feareſt any man.

Rom.9.20 12 For who dare ſay, * What haſt thou done? or who dare ſtand againſt thy iudgement? or who dare accuſe thee for the nations that periſh, whom thou haſt made? or who dare ſtande againſt thee to reuenge the wicked men?

1.Pet.3.7. 13 For there is none other God but thou, * that careſt for all things, that thou mayeſt declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight, require accounts of them whom thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou ordrest all things righteously, Iob.10.2,3. * thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to bee punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousnesse, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to bee of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reprouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shewe thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes nowe hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with so great consideration, and requesting vaco them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednes,

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when wee iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

Chap.11.23. rom.1.23. 24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they should bee in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornefull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whom they counted godly, when they saw themselues punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God whome afore they had denied to knowe: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

Deut.4.19. and 17.3. 2 * But they thought the fire or the winde, or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to bee gouernors of the world, and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beauty that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen, how much more excellent he is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueiled at the power, & operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, how much he that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnes of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, and yet peraduenture doe erre.

12 And the chinges that are cut off from his worke, hee bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe,

13 And that which is left of these chinges, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood and full of knobs) hee carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, hee giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and coureth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: hee is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake, for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: hee requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all,

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe, and for gaines, and worke, and successe of his affaires, hee requireth furtherance of him that hath no maner of power.

3 But thy prouidence, O father, gouerneth it: * for thou hast made a way, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the wawes, Exod.14.22.

4 Declaring therby that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Meuertheleſſe thou wouldeſt not, that the works of thy wiſedome ſhould be vaine, & therefore doe men commit their liues to a ſmall piece of wood, and paſſe ouer the ſtormie ſea in a ſhip and are ſaued.

Gen.6.4. and 7.10.

6 * For in the olde time alſo when the proud giants periſhed, the hope of the world went into a ſhip which was gouerned by thine hand, and ſo left ſeed of generation vnto the world.

7 For bleſſed is the tree wherby righteouſneſſe commeth.

8 But that is curſed that is made with hands, * both it and he that made it: he becauſe he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, becauſe it was called god.

Pſal.115.8. baruch 6.3.

Pſal.5.5.

9 * For the vngodly and his vngodlines are both like hated of God: ſo truely the worke and he that made it, ſhalbe punished together.

10 Therefore ſhal there be a viſitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and ſtumbling blocks vnto the ſoules of men, and a ſnare for the feet of the vnwiſe.

Ierem.10.8. Habac.2.18.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither ſhall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore ſhall they come ſhortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grieuouſly for his ſonne that was taken away ſuddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whome now he worſhippeth as a god, and ordeined to his ſeruants ceremonies and ſacrifices.

15 Thus by proceſſe of time this wicked cuſtome preuailed, and was kept as a lawe, and idoles were worſhipped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for thoſe that were ſo farre off that men might not worſhip them preſently, they did counterfeit the village that was farre off, and made a goorgious image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was abſent, as though he had bene preſent.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftſman thruſt forward the ignorant to increaſe the ſuperſtition.

18 For hee peraduenture willing to pleaſe a noble man, labourd with all his cunning to make the image of the beſt faſhion.

19 And ſo through the beautie of the worke, the multitude was allured, and ſo tooke him now for a god, which a litle afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in ſeruitude through calamitie and tyrannie aſcribed vnto ſtones, and ſtocks the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warres of ignorance, thoſe ſo great plagues called they peace.

22 For either * they ſlew their owne children in ſacrifice, or vſed ſecret ceremonies, or raging diſſolutenеſſe by ſtrange rites, Deut.12.16. Ierem.7.9. and 19.4.

23 And ſo kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one ſlew another by treaſon, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and ſlaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulneſſe, tumults, periury, 25 Diſquieting of good men, vnthankfulnes, defiling of ſoules, changing of birth, diſorder in marriage, aduulterie and vncleannеſſe.

26 For the worſhipping of idoles, that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cauſe, and the end of all euill.

27 For either they be mad when they be merrie, or prophecie lies, or liue vngodly, or els lightly forſweare themſelues.

28 For in ſo much as their truſt is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they ſweare falſly, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two cauſes ſhall they iuſtly be punished, becauſe they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themſelues vnto idoles, and becauſe they ſweare vniuſtly to deceiue, and deſpiſe holineſſe.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they ſweare, but the vengeance of them that ſinne, which puniſheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voice of the faithfull, praiſing the mercie of God, by whoſe grace they ſerue not idoles.

BVt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long ſuffering, and gouerneſt all things by mercy.

2 Though wee ſinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but we ſinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to knowe thee, is perfect righteouſneſſe, and to know thy power is the roote of immortalitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image ſpotted with diuers colours,

5 Whoſe ſight ſtirreth vp the deſire of the ignorant: ſo that hee coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue ſuch wicked things, are worthy to haue ſuch things to truſt to, and they that make them, and they that deſire them, and they that worſhip them.

Rom.9.21.

7 The * potter alſo tempereth ſoft earth, and faſhioneth euery veſſell with labour to our vſe: but of the ſame clay hee maketh both the veſſels that ſerue to cleane vſes, and the contrary likewiſe: but whereto euery veſſell ſerueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labor he maketh a vaine god of the ſame clay: euen hee, which a litle afore was made of earth himſelfe, and within a litle while after goeth thither againe whence hee was taken, * when he ſhall make account for the loane of his life.

Luke 12.20.

9 Notwithſtanding hee careth not for the labour hour hee taketh, not that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiueable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say wee ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noles to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feete are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirite, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like to himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom he worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, & which are the worst, if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to be desired in respect of other beasts, for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefits done vnto the faithfull.

THerefore by such things they are worthily punished and * tormented by the multitude of beasts. Chap. 11.13, 14. numb. 21,6,

2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meat of a strange Num.11,31. taste, euen * quailes,

3 To the intent that they that desired meat, by the things which were shewed & sent among them, might turne away their necessary desire, and that they, which had suffered penurie for a space, should also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreme powertie, and that to these onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

Numb.21.6. 1.cor.10.9. 5 * For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of crueli serpents,

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a litle season, that they ‖ The figure of the brasen serpent. might be reformed, hauing a ‖ * signe of saluation to remember the commaundement of thy Num.21.9. Law.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauiour of all.

8 So in this thou hewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 * For the biting of grashoppers and flies Exod.8.24. and 10.4. reuel.9.7. killed them, and there was no remedie found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercie came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy wordes, and were speedily healed, least they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnesse, that they could not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and Deut.32.39. 1. sam.2.6. iob,13.2. bringest vp againe.

14 A man indeed by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 * For the vngodly that would not know Exod.9,23. thee, were punished by ‖ strength of thine arme, with strange raine & with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they could not auoid, and were consumed with fire.

‖ That is, the mighty visite. Exod.7.12. and 8.7,19.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the worlde is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beasts, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see, and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

20 * In the stead whereof thou hast fed thine Exod.16.14. numb.11.7. psal.78.25. ioh 6.31. owne people with Angels foode, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had aboundance of all pleasures in it, and was meet for all tastes.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnesse vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meete to that that euery man would.

22 Moreouer, the * snowe & yce abode the fire Exod.9,23. and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruite of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished:

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to do good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need thereof,

26 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, * that it is not the increase Deut.8.3. matth.4.4. of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, worth, which preserueth them that trust in thee.

27 For that which could not bee destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the simne beames, melted, 28 That it might be knowen that wee ought to prevent the simne rising to give thankes vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, and flowe away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

FOr thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thme holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkenes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to bee hid in their darke simnes, they were scattered abroade in the darke couering of forgetfulnes, fearing horrible and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might give light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afrayde of this vision, ‖ which they coulde not see, they thought the things which they sawe to bee worse. ‖ That is, the mighty visit. Exod. 7.12. and 8.7, 19.

7 * And the illusions of the Magicall artes were brought downe, and it was a most shamefull reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraide at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they dyed for feare, and sayd they sawe not the ayre, which by no meanes can bee auoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing else, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was incollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoeuer fell downe, hee was kept, and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether hee was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoide:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenes were they all bound) whether it were an hissing winde or a sweete song of the birdes among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water,

18 Or a great noise of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not be seene, or the noyse of cruell beastes, that roared, or the ‖ sound that answereth againe in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone. ‖ Or, Echo.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fel an heauy night an image of that darkenes that was to come vpon them: yet, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darkenes.

4 But they were worthy to bee depriued of the light, and to be kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the vncorrupt light of the lawe should bee giuen to the world.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reproue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them all together in the mighty water. * Exod. 1.16.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they, knowing vnto what oathes they had giuen credite, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed. * Exod. 14.24, 25.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a law of righteousnes by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good and euil in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing prayses.

10 But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the king. * Exod. 11.5. and 12.29.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in the twinckling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because cause of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the middes of her swift course,

15 Thine almighty worde lept downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a sterre man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine vnfained commaundement, as a sharpe sworde, and stood vp, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the sight of the fearefull dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulnesse came vpon them vnwares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the dreames that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.

20 Now tentation of death touched the righteous also, and * among the multitude in the wildernes there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his ministration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and set himselfe against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an ende, declaring that he was thy seruant.

22 For hee ouercame not the multitude, with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the worde hee subdued him that punished, alledging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stoode in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the liuing.

24 * For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the stones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraide of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.

2 That they (when they had consented to let them goe, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent and pursue them.

3 For while yet sorowe was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuised another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had * cast out afore with prayer.

4 For the destinie whereof they were worthy, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments.

5 Both that thy people might fetch a marueilous passage, and that theis might find a strange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was fashioned of new, and serued in their owne offices entoyned them, that thy children might bee kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tents, and the dry earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red Sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hande, seeing thy wonderous marueiles.

9 For they ‖ neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praising thee, O Lord, which hadst deliuered them.

10 For they were yet mindefull of those things which were done in the laude where they dwelt, howe the grounde brought foorth flies in stead of cattell, and howe the riuer trembled with the multitude of frogs in steade of fishes.

11 * But at the last they saw a newe generation of birdes, when they were intised with lust, and desired delicate meates.

12 * For the quailes came foorth of the Sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the ‖ sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred towarde strangers.

13 For theone sort would not receiue them when they were present, because they knewe them not: the other sorte brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not suffer, that any regarde should be had of them: for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banketting, and ordained them to bee partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were striken with blindnesse, as in olde time certaine were at the doores of the * righteous, so that euery one being compassed with darknesse, sought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musicke, and the melodie still remaineth, which may easily bee perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did swimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

The

The wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, & he lived in the latter times after the people had bene led away captive, & brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisedome among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the grave sentences of wise men that had bene before him, but her himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisedome. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it VVisedome, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of wisedome, to allure the Reader to reade this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke conteineth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes, with certaine divine histories which are notable and ancient, even of men that were approoved of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the author himselfe: moreover, what benefits the Lord had bestowed upon his people, and what plagues he had heaped upon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no little famous in wisedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in deed.

The Prologue of the wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

WHereas many and great things have bene given us by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that have followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisedome, whereby the readers ought not only to become learned themselves, but also may be able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable unto strangers, both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had given himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient judgement, he purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisedome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would give themselves to these things, might profit much more in living according to the Law. Wherefore, I exhort you to receive it lovingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to come in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for y things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, have another force in themselves then when they are translated into another tongue: and not only these things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes have no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yeare, when I came into Egypt under king Euergetes, & continued there, I found a copy full of great learning, and I thought it necessarie to bestow my diligence and travell to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching & studie I gave my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselves unto good maners, & live according to the Law.

5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisedome, and the everlasting commandements are the entrance unto her.]

6 Unto whom hath the roote of wisedome beene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels?

7 [Unto whome hath the doctrine of wisedome beene discovered & the words and who hath understood the manifolde entrance unto her?]

8 There is one wise, [even the most high Creatour of all things, the Almightie, the king of power] and very terrible, which sitteth upon his throne.

9 He is the Lord that hath created her [through the holy Ghost:] he hath seene her, numbered her, [and measured her.]

10 Her hath powred her out upon all his works, and upon all flesh, according to his gift, and giveth her abundantly unto them that love him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glorie, and gladnesse, and rejoycing, and a joyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lorde maketh a merrie heart, & giveth gladnesse, and joy, and long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shall goe well with him at the last, and he shall finde favour in the day of his death.

14 [The love of God is honourable wisedom, and unto whome it appeareth in a vision, they love it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.]

15 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisedome, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [she goeth with the chosen women, and is known with the righteous and faithfull.

16 The feare of the Lorde is an holy knowledge.

17 Holinesse shall preserve, and justifie the heart, and giveth mirth and gladnes.

18 [Who is feareth the Lord, shall prosper, and in the day of his end he shalbe blessed.]

19 Shee hath built her everlasting foundations with men, and is given to be with their seed.

20 To feare God is the fulnesse of wisedome, and filleth men with her fruits.

21 Shee filleth her whole house with [all] things desireable, & the garners with the things that thee willeth for it, and hath treasure are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisedome, and giveth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her and numbred her.

23 ‖She ruleth downe knowledge, and understanding of wisedome, and hath brought vnto honour them that possessed her. ‖Or, wisedome.

24 The feare of the Lord is the root of wisedome, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisedome is understanding, and holy knowledge, but wickedome is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driveth out sinne: and when she is present, she driveth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked anger cannot be iustified: for his rathnesse in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 He will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisedome.

30 In the treasures of wisedome, are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdom, keepe the commandements, and the Lord shall give her vnto thee, (and will fill her treasures.)

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdome & discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meekenes.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ Be not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, lest thou fall and bring the soule to dishonour: and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the midst of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousnesse, loue, vnderstanding, and patience, 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are fainthearted and impatient.

MY sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God [stande fast in righteousnesse & feare, and] prepare thy soule to tentation.

2 Settle thine heart, and be patient: bowe downe thine eare, & receiue the wordes of vnderstanding [and] shrinke not away when thou art assailed, [but wait vpon God patiently.]

3 Ioyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayst be increased at thy last end.

4 Whatsoever commeth vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

Wisd. 3.6. Ecclus. 17.3. 5 * For as golde [and siluer are] tried in the fire, euen so are men acceptable in the fornace of aduersitie.

6 Beleeue in God, and he will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [holde fast his feare, and grow olde therein.]

7 Ye that feare the Lord, wait for his mercie: shrinke not away from him that ye fall not.

8 Yee that feare the Lord, beleeue him, and your reward shall not faile.

9 O yee that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the everlasting ioy and mercy.

10 [Ye that feare the Lord, loue him, & your hearts shalbe lightened.]

11 Consider the olde generations [of men, ye children,] & marke them well: * was there euer any confounded that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whom did he euer despise, that called vpon him? * Psal. 37.25,

12 For God is gracious & mercifull, and forgiueth sinnes, and saueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the truth.]

13 Woe vnto them that haue a ‖fearefull heart, [and to the wicked lips] and to the faint hands, and to the sinner that goeth two * maner of wayes. ‖Or, double. * 1. King. 18. 21.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted: for he beleeueth not: therefore shall he not be defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right waies, and are turned backe into frowarde waies:] for what will ye doe when the Lord shall visit you?

16 They that feare the Lord, will not disobey his word, and they that * loue him, will keepe his waies. * John 14.23, 24.

17 They that feare the Lorde, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his law.

18 They that feare the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 [They that feare the Lord, keepe his commandements, and will be patient till he see them, 20 Saying, if we do not repent] we shall fall into the hands of the Lorde, & not into the hands of men.

21 For as his greatnesse is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

1 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honour. 19 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought curiously to search out the secretes of God.

[THe children of wisedome are the Church of the righteous, & their offspring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and do thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honored of the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiuen him, [and he shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his dayly desires.]

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father, shall haue a long long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

Exod.20.12. deut.5.16. matth.15.4. ephe.6.2,3.

9 * Honour thy father and mother in deede and in worde, [and in all patience,] that thou mayest haue ‖ Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide in the end.]

Or, the blessing of men.

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seeing that mans glory commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 ¶ My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not, as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a fortresse for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompenced with good, and it shal be founded for thee in righteousnesse.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, performe thy doings with meekenesse so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

Phil.2.3.

19 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renowme: but the secrets are reuealed vnto the meeke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is honoured of the lowly.

Psal.131.1. pro.25.27. rom.12.3.

22 * Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are too mighty for thee.

23 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his works:] for it is not needfull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath decreased their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubburne heart shal fare euil at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and hee that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shal be laden with sorrowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proude is without remedy, and his steps shalbe plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, [and he shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding, shal perceiue secret things, and an attentiue eare is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the works of righteousnesse.]

33 Water quencheth burning fire, * and almes taketh away sinnes. Dan.4.24. psal.41.1.

MY sonne, defraud not the * poore of his liuing, and make not the needy eyes to waite long. Deut.15.7.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorowfull, neither vexe a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieued, and deferre not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore. Tobit.4.7.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitternesse of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bow downe thy head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt:] and giue him a friendly answere.

9 ¶ Deliuer him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressor, and be not faint hearted ‖ when thou iudgest. Or, to defend him.

11 Wisedome exalteth her children, and receiueth them that seeke her. [and will go before them in the way of righteousnesse.]

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherite glory: for vnto whom she entreth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shalbe seruants of the holy One, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and hee that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 He that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first she will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him into feare and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill she haue tried his soule, and haue prooued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will she returne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shewe him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderſtanding of righteouſneſſe.]

21 And be not aſhamed [to ſay the trueth] for thy life: for there is a *ſhame that bringeth ſin, and a ſhame that bringeth worſhip and fauour.

a To be aſhamed to confeſſe thy God, thy faith, to teſtifie the trueth, and to reproue ſinne, doth bring ſhame vnto thee: the contrary ſhame bringeth worſhip.

22 Accept no perſon againſt thine owne conſcience, that thou bee not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counſell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wiſedome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wiſdome knowen, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counſell, wiſdome, and learning by the talking of the wiſe, and ſtedfaſtneſſe in the works of righteouſneſſe.]

25 In no wiſe ſpeake againſt the word of trueth, but be aſhamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not aſhamed to confeſſe thy ſinnes, and reſiſt not the courſe of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy ſelfe vnto a fooliſh man, neither accept the perſon of the mighty.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iuſtice for thy life,] and the LORD God ſhall fight for thee [againſt thine enemies.]

29 Be not haſtie in thy tongue, neither ſlacke and negligent in thy works.

30 Be not as a lyon in thine owne houſe, neither beat thy ſeruants for thy fantaſie, [nor oppreſſe them that are vnder thee.]

Act. 20.35.

31 *Let not thine hand be ſtretched out to receiue, and ſhut when thou ſhouldeſt giue.

CHAP. V.

1 Ryches may not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

TRuſt not vnto thy * riches, and ſay not, I haue enough for my life: [for it ſhal not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Follow not thine owne minde and thy ſtrength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither ſay thou, [Howe haue I had ſtrength?] or who will bring mee vnder for my works? For God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And ſay not, I haue ſinned, and what euill hath come vnto me? for the Almightie is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpuniſhed.

5 Becauſe thy ſinne is forgiuen, be not without feare, to heape ſinne vpon ſinne.

6 And ſay not, The mercy of God is great: he will forgiue my manifolde ſinnes: for mercy and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon ſinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the LORD, and put not off from day to day: for ſuddenly ſhall the wrath of the LORD breake forth, and in thy ſecuritie thou ſhalt be deſtroyed, and thou ſhalt periſh in time of vengeance.

8 Truſt not in wicked riches: for they ſhall not helpe thee in the day of puniſhment [and vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with euery wind, and goe not into euery way: for ſo doeth the ſinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand faſt in thy ſure vnderſtanding [and in the way & knowledge of the LORD] and haue but one maner of word, [and follow the word of peace and righteouſneſſe.

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayeſt vnderſtand it, and make a true anſwere with wiſedome.]

12 *Be ſwift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient anſwere.

Iames 1.19.

13 If thou haſt vnderſtanding, anſwere thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [leaſt thou be trapped in an vnwiſe word, and ſo be blamed.

14 Honour and ſhame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man cauſeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a * talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for ſhame [and repentance] follow the theefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backbiter ſhalbe hated, enuied and confounded.

Leuit.19.16.

16 Do not raſhly, neither in ſmall things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the propertie of a ſinner to bee euill tongued. 6 Of friendſhip. 33 Diſcretion to be taught.

BE not of a friend [thy neighbours] * enemy: for ſuch ſhall haue an euill name, ſhame and reproch, and he ſhall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

a For that is againſt the rule of charitie, which loueth all, and hateth nothing but only ſinne. b As a bull teareth in pieces a yong tree with his hornes, ſo thou truſting in thine owne wiſdome, and ſtanding in thine owne conceit, becauſe of thy wit, thy power, or riches, ſhouldeſt deſtroy thy ſelfe.

2 Bee not proud in the deuice of thine owne minde, leaſt thy ſoule rent thee as b a bull,

3 And eate vp thy leaues, and deſtroy thy fruit, and ſo thou bee left as a dyie tree [in the wildernes.]

4 For a wicked ſoule deſtroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to ſcorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A ſweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a ſweet tongue increaſeth much good talke.

6 Hold friendſhip with many, neuertheleſſe, haue but one counſeller of a thouſand.

7 If thou getteſt a friend, proue him firſt, and be not haſtie to credit him.

8 For ſome man is a friend for his owne occaſion, & will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is ſome friend that turneth to enmitie, and taketh part againſt thee, and in contention he will declare thy ſhame.

10 Againe ſome * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction bee continueth not.

Pſal.12.2,3.

12 If thou be brought low, he will be againſt thee, and will hide himſelfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a ſtrong defence, and he that findeth ſuch a one, findeth a treaſure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of golde and ſiluer] is not to be compared to the goodneſſe [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friende is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] & they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lorde, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receive doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisedome [which shall endure] till thine olde age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but thou shalt eate of her fruits right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is shee to the vnlearned? he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisedome, but there be but few that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that knowe her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Giue eare, my sonne: receive my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bowe downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and she shalbe shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shalbe turned to thy ioye.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] & her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receive [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

Chap.8.9. 36 *Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

DOe no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnesse, least that thou reape them seuen folde.

4 Aske not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the King the seate of honour.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemie, but remember that we muſt die all, [and ſo enter into ioy.]

8 * Deſpiſe not the exhortation of the [Elders] Prou.6.35. that be wiſe, but acquaint thy ſelfe with their wiſe ſentences: for of the thou ſhalt learne wiſedome, [and the doctrine of vnderſtanding,] and howe to ſerue great men [without complaint.]

9 Goe not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, and of them thou ſhalt learne vnderſtanding, and to make anſwere in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coales of ſinners, [when thou rebukeſt them,] leaſt thou be burnt in the fierie flames [of their ſinnes.]

11 Riſe not vp againſt him that doth wrong, that he lay not waite as a ſpie for thy mouth.

Chap.29.4. 12 * Lend not vnto him that is mightier then thy ſelfe: for if thou lendeſt him, count it but loſt.

13 Be not ſurettie aboue thy power: for if thou be ſurettie, thinke to pay it.

14 Goe not to lawe with the Iudge: for they will giue ſentence according to his owne honour.

15 * Trauaile not by the way with him that Gen.4.8. is raſh, leaſt he doe thee miſchiefe: for he followeth his owne wilfulneſſe, and ſo ſhalt thou periſh through his folly.

16 * Strine not with him that is angrie, and Prou.22.24. goe not with him into the wildernes: for blood is as nothing in his ſight, and where there is no helpe, he will ouerthrow thee.

17 Take no counſell at a fooles: for he cannot keepe a thing cloſe.

18 Doe no ſecret thing before a ſtranger: for thou canſt not tell what he goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, leſt hee be vnthankefull vnto thee, [and put thee to reproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of iealouſie. 12 An old friend is to be preferred before a new. 18 Righteous men ſhould be hidden to thy table.

BE not iealous ouer thy wife of thy boſome, neither * teach her by thy meanes an euill leſſon. a Let her not haue rule ouer thee, for then will ſhe be contrary vnto thee, take away thy heart & ſtrength, and bring thee to confuſion among thine enemies, as did Heuah to Adam, Dalilah to Samion, and ſtrange women to Salomon.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, leaſt ſhe ouercome thy ſtrength, [and ſo thou bee confounded.]

3 Meete not an harlot, leaſt thou fall into her ſnares.

4 Vſe not the company of a woman that is a ſinger, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] leaſt thou be taken by her craftineſſe.

5 Gaze not on a * maid, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.

6 * Caſt not thy mind vpon harlots [in any maner of thing,] leaſt thou deſtroy [both thy ſelfe and] thine heritage.

7 Goe not about gazing in the ſtreetes of the citie, neither wander thou in the ſecret places thereof.

8 * Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beautie: for many * haue periſhed by the beautie of women: for through it loue is kindled as a fire.

9 [Euery woman that is an harlot, ſhall be troden vnder foote as doung, of euery one that goeth by the way.

10 Many wondering at the beautie of a ſtrange woman, haue bene caſt out: for her words burne as a fire.]

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, [neither lie with her vpon the bed,] nor banket with her: leaſt thine heart incline vnto her, and ſo through thy deſire fall into deſtruction.

12 ¶ Forſake not an olde friend: for the new ſhall not be like him: a newe friende is as new wine: when it is olde, thou ſhalt drinke it with pleaſure.

13 * Deſire not the honour [and riches] of a Iudg.9.3. ſinner: for thou knoweſt not what ſhall bee his 2.ſam.15.12. ende.

14 Delight not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleaſure in, but remember that they ſhall not be found cleare vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to ſlay: ſo ſhalt thou not houlde the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no faile, leaſt he take away thy life: remember that thou goeſt in the middes of ſnares, and that thou walkeſt vpon the towers of the citie.

16 Try thy neighbour as neere as thou canſt, Chap.6.36, 38. and 8.8. and 37.12. Deut.6.7. and 11.19. *and aske counſell of the wiſe.

17 * Let thy talke be with the wiſe, and all thy commu-communication in the Law of the moſt Highe.

18 Let iuſt men eat and drinke with thee, and let thy reioycing be in the feare of the Lord.

for, the workman is praiſed according to the worke.

19 In ‖ the handes of the craftſmen ſhall the workes be commended, and the wiſe prince of the people by his word, [and the word by the wiſedome of the Elders.]

20 A man full of wordes is dangerous in his citie, and he that is rath in talking, ſhall be hated.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and vnrighteouſneſſe are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praiſed.

A Wiſe man will inſtruct his people with diſcretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the Iudge of the people is himſelfe, ſo are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, ſuch are all they that dwell therein.

1.King.12. 1,13,14. 3 *An vnwiſe King deſtroyeth his people, but where they that be in authoritie, are men of vnderſtanding, there the citie proſpereth.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will ſet vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hande of God is the proſperitie of man, and vpon the Scribes will he lay his honour.

Leuit.19.17. 6 *Bee not angrie for any wrong, with thy neighbor, and do nothing by iniurious practiſes.

7 Pride is hatefull before God and man, and by both doth one commit iniquitie.

Ieremi.27.6. dan.4.14. 8 *Becauſe of vnrighteous dealing, and wrongs and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is tranſlated from one people to another.

9 There is nothing wooſſe then a couetous man: [why are thou proud, O earth, and aſhes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for ſuch one would euen ſell his ſoule, and for his life euery one is compelled to put out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of ſmall indurance, and the diſeaſe that is hard to heale is grieuous to the Phyſitian.]

11 The Phyſitian cutteth off the ſore diſeaſe, and hee that is to day a King, to morow is dead.

12 [Why is earth and aſhes proud, ſeeing that when a man dieth, hee is the heire of ſerpents, beaſts, and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the originall of ſinne, and he that hath it, ſhall powre out abommation, till at laſt he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perſwaſions [of the wicked] to diſhonour, and deſtroyeth them in the ende.

Luke 1.52. & 14.11. & 18.14. 1.ſam. 2.7,8. 15 The Lord hath *caſt downe the thrones of the [proud] princes, and ſet vp the meeke in their ſtead.

16 The Lorde plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lorde ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, and deſtroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: hee cauſeth them to wither away, and deſtroyeth them, and maketh their memoriall to ceaſe out of the earth.

18 [God deſtroyeth the memoriall of the proud, and leaueth the remembraunce of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a ſeede of man, which is an honourable ſeed: the honourable ſeed are they that feare the Lord: there is a ſeede of man, which is without honour: the ſeed without honour, are they that tranſgreſſe the commandements of the Lord: it is a ſeed that remaineth, which feareth the Lord, and a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a ſeed without honour, that deſpiſe the law, and a deceiuable ſeed that breake the commandements.

21 Hee that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: ſo are they that feare the Lorde in his ſight.

22 The feare of the Lorde cauſeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdoms is loſt by cruelitie and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meete to deſpiſe the poore man that hath vnderſtanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge, and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then he that feareth the Lord.

*Prou.12. 2.Sam.12. 13.

26 *Vnto the ſeruant that is wiſe, ſhall they that are free, doe ſeruice: *hee that hath knowledge, will not grudge when hee is rebuked, [and the ignorant ſhall not come to honour.]

27 Seeke not excuſes when thou ſhouldeſt do thy worke, neither be aſhamed thereof through pride in the time of aduerſitie.

*Pro.12.9. 11. 28 *Better is he that laboureth, and hath plenteouſneſſe of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My ſonne, get thy ſelfe prayſe by meekeneſſe, and eſteeme thy ſelfe as thou deſerueſt.

30 Who will count him iuſt that ſinneth againſt himſelfe? or honour him that diſhonoureth his owne ſoule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation becauſe of his riches.

32 Hee that is honourable in powertie, how much more ſhall he be when he is rich? and he that is vnhoneſt being rich, how much more will he be ſo when he is in powertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praiſe of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought wee not to iudge. 7 Of raſh iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine houſe.

WIſedome *lifteth vp the head of him that is lowe, & maketh him to ſit among great men. Gen.41.40. dan.6.3.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, neither deſpiſe a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but ſmall among the foules, yet doth her fruit paſſe in ſweetneſſe.

4 Be not proud of clothing and rayment, *and exalt not thy ſelfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lorde are wonderfull [and glorious,] ſecret, [and vnknowen] are his *Act.12. 21,23.

red into other mens hands.

Deut.13.14. 7 ¶ * Blame [no man] before thou hast inand 17.4,6. quired the matter: vnderstand first, and then re-iosh.7.22. proue [righteously.]

Prou.18.13. 8 * Giue no sentence before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the mids of their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 My sonne, meddle not with many mat-
Mat.19.22, ters: * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not be 1.tim.6.9. blameless, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

Prou.10.3. 11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthfull, and Iob 42.10. * hath neede of helpe: for hee wanteth strength, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his low estate,

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men marueile at him, [and giue honour vnto
God.]

Iob 1.21. 14 * Prosperitie and aduersity, life and death, ecclus.28.4. pouertie and riches, come of the Lord.

15 Wisdome and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good works come of him.

16 Errour and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselues in euill, ware olde in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godly, and his good will giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and nigardship, and this is the portion of his wages,

Luke 12.19. 19 In that he sayth, * I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not that the time draweth nere, that hee must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Marueile not at the works of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour, for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord suddenly to make a poore man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperitie soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?

24 Againe, say not, I haue enough, and pos-sesse many things, and what euill can come to me hereafter?

Chap.18.24. 25 * In thy good state remember aduersitie, and in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lorde in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersity of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans ende, his works are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe knowen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a partridge is taken vnder a basket, [& the hind is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good vnto euill, and in things worthy prayse he will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire,
[and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man layeth wait for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee vnto a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger, and hee will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

1 Vnto whom we ought to do good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

WHen thou wilt doe good, know to whome thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefits.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou Galat.6.10, shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, 1.tim.5.8.
yet of the most High.

3 Hee cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most high hateth the sinners, and hath mercie vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: holde backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, lest he ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euill for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, and keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend can not be knowen in prosperitie, neither can an enemie be vnknowen in ad-uersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauines and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemie: for like as an yron rusteth, so doth his wickednesse.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as hee that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, least he seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and bee pricked with my sayings.

14 * Binde not two sinnes together: for there Chap.7.8.
shall not one be vnpunished. and 21.3.

15 Who

15 Who will haue pitie on the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come neere the beastes? so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

Iere.41.6. 17 *An enemie is sweete in his lips: hee can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, hee can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth howe to throwe thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shall hee vndermine thee: he will shake his head, and clap his hands, & will make many words, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The company of the proud and of the rich are to be eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Lake doe company with their like.

Deuter.7.2. HE* that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proud, shalbe like vnto him.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for howe agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shalbe broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, & threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the rich haue done wrong, he must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, hee shall straightwayes be threatned.

4 If thou be for his profite, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, hee will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If he haue neede of thee, hee will defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntil he haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterward when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou bee not deceiued in thine owne conceite, and brought downe by thy simplenesse: [be not too humble in thy wisedome.]

10 ¶ If thou be called of a mighty man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Presse not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speech, but beleeue not his many words: for with much communication will hee tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.

13 Hee is vnmercifull, and keepeth not promise: hee will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good heede: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath ‖ hyena with a dog? and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore?

‖ Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voyce of men, and so entiseth them out of their houses and deuoureth them.

20 As the wilde asse is the Lions pray in the wildernesse, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proud hate humilitie, so do the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, hee hath many helpers: hee speaketh proud words, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though hee speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what he saith, they praise it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if he doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and powertie is euill in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A cheerefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happy is he that continueth in wisedome.

BLessed is the man * that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorrow of sinne. Chap.19.6, 26, num.3.2.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a nigarde, and what should an enuious man do with money.

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheere with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will he bee good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a rewarde of his wickednesse.

7 And if hee doe any good, hee doeth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer enough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A * wicked eye enuieth the bread, & there is scarcenesse vpon his table. Prou.23.6.

14 Defraud not thy ſelfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good deſires ouerpaſſe thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take, and ſanctifie thy ſoule: [worke thou righteouſneſſe before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, ſome fall, and ſome grow, ſo is the generation of fleſh and blood: one commeth to an ende, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things ſhall faile, and the worker thereof ſhall go withall.

21 * Bleſſed is the man that doeth meditate honeſt things by wiſedome, [and exerciſeth himſelfe in iuſtice,] and hee that reaſoneth of holy things by his vnderſtanding, 22 Which conſidereth in his heart her waies, and vnderſtandeth her ſecrets.

23 Goe thou after her as one that ſeeketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.

24 Hee ſhall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.

25 He ſhall abide beſide her houſe, and faſten a ſtake in her walles: hee ſhall pitch his tent beſides her.

26 And hee ſhall remaine in the lodging of good men, and ſhall ſet his children vnder her couering, and ſhall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her hee ſhalbe couered from the heate, and in her glory ſhall he dwell.

HE that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it ſure.

5 She ſhall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the congregation ſhall ſhee open his mouth: [with the ſpirit of wiſedome, and vnderſtanding ſhall ſhe fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She ſhall cauſe him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladneſſe, and an euerlaſting name.

7 But fooliſh men will not take hold vpon her: [but ſuch as haue vnderſtanding will meete her:] the ſinners ſhall not ſee her.

8 For ſhe is farre from pride [and deceite,] and men that lye, cannot remember her: [but men of trueth ſhall haunt her, and ſhall proſper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praiſe is not ſeemely in the mouth of the ſinner: for that is not ſent of the Lord. Chap. 5.6.

10 But if praiſe come of wiſedome, [and be plenteous in a faithfull mouth] then the Lord will proſper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughteſt not to doe the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath cauſed me to erre: for he hath no neede of the ſinfull man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error:] and they that feare God, loue it not.

14 * Hee made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of the counſel, [and gaue him his commandements and precepts,] Gen. 1.27.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnhappy and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himſelfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiuing of inſtruction.

DEſire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Truſt not thou to their life, neither reſt vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iuſt, is better then a thouſand ſuch, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderſtanding, ſhall the citie be inhabited: but the ſtocke of the wicked ſhalbe waſted incontinently.

5 Many ſuch things haue I ſeene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then theſe.

6 *In the congregation of the vngodly ſhall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaithfull people ſhall the wrath be ſet on fire. Chap. 21.9, 10.

7 *Hee ſpared not the olde gyants which were rebellious, truſting to their owne ſtrength, Gen. 6.4.

8 *Neither ſpared hee whereas Lot dwelt, thoſe whom he abhorred for their pride. Gen. 19.23, 25.

9 He had no pitie vpon the people that were deſtroyed, and puffed vp in their ſinnes.

10 *And ſo hee preſerued the ſixe hundreth thouſand footemen, that were gathered in the hardneſſe of their heart, in afflicting them and Num. 14.15, 16, 20. and 26, 51.

2. Pet. 3.10. 1. king. 8.27. 2. chro. 6.18.

and pitying them, in ſmiting them and healing them, with mercy, and with chaſtiſement.

11 Therfore if there be one ſtiffnecked among the people, it is marueile if hee ſcape vnpuniſhed: for mercy and wrath are with him: hee is mightie to forgiue, and to powre out diſpleaſure.

Chap.5.6. 12 *As his mercy is great, ſo is his puniſhment alſo: hee iudgeth a man accoꝛding to his woꝛkes.

13 The vngodly ſhall not eſcape with his ſpoyle, and the patience of the godly ſhall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one ſhall finde accoꝛding to his woꝛkes, [and after the vnderſtanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharao, that hee ſhoulde not knowe him, and that his woꝛkes ſhould bee knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercy is knowen to all creatures: he hath ſeparate his light from the darkeneſſe with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my ſelfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I ſhal not be knowen in ſo great an heape of people: for what is my ſoule among ſuch an infinite number of creatures?

2.chro.6.18. earth, and all that therein is, ſhall bee mooued when he ſhall viſite.

19 All the woꝛld which is created and made by his wil, the mountaines alſo, and the foundations of the earth ſhall ſhake for feare, when the Lord looketh vpon them.

20 Theſe things doeth no heart vnderſtand woꝛthily, [but hee vnderſtandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderſtandeth his wayes? and the ſtoꝛme that no man can ſee? for the moſt part of his woꝛkes are hid.

22 Who can declare the woꝛkes of his righteouſneſſe? oꝛ who can abide them? for his ordinance is far off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 Hee that is humble of heart, will conſider theſe things: but an vnwiſe and erroneous man caſteth his minde vpon fooliſh things.

24 My ſonne, hearken vnto mee, and learne knowledge, and marke my woꝛdes with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weighty doctrine, and I will inſtruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath ſet his woꝛkes in good oꝛder from the beginning, and part of them hath hee ſundꝛed from the other when hee firſt made them.

27 Hee hath garniſhed his woꝛkes for euer, and their beginnings ſo long as they ſhal endure, they are not hungry noꝛ wearied in their labours, noꝛ ceaſe from their offices.

28 None of them hindereth another, neyther was any of them diſobedient vnto his woꝛdes.

29 After this the Lord looked vpon the earth, and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beaſts hath hee couered the face therof, and they returne into it againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 The creation of man, and the goodnes that God hath done vnto him. 20 Of almes, 22 and repentance.

THe *Lord hath created man of the earth, and turned him vnto it againe. Gen.1.27. and 5.2. wiſd.2.23.

2 Hee gaue him the number of dayes and certaine times, and gaue him power of the things that are vpon earth. and 7.1,6. 1.cor.11.7.

3 Hee clothed them with ſtrength, as they had neede, and made them accoꝛding to his image. eccl.3.10.

4 Hee made all fleſh to feare him, ſo that hee had the dominion ouer the beaſtes, and foules.

5 [*He created out of him an helper like vnto himſelfe,] and gaue them diſcretion, and tongue, and eyes, eares, and an heart to vnderſtand, and ſiꝛtly hee gaue them a ſpiꝛite, and ſeuentbly hee gaue them ſpeache to declare his woꝛkes, Gen.2.22. 1.cor.11.9.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderſtanding, and ſhewed them good and euil.

7 He ſet his eye vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble woꝛkes,

8 And gaue them occaſion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they ſhould prudently declare his woꝛkes, and that the elect ſhould praiſe his holy Name together.

9 Beſide this, hee gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Lawe of life for an heritage, that they might now knowe that they were *moꝛtall.

10 Hee made an euerlaſting couenant with them, and ſhewed them his iudgements. a Through their owne tranſgreſſion.

11 Their eyes ſaw the maieſtie of his glory, and their eares heard his glorious voyce.

12 And hee ſayde vnto them, Beware of all vnrighteous things. *Hee gaue euery man alſo a commaundement concerning his neighbour. Exod.20.16, 17. and 22, 23.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their ſtone heartes cannot become *fleſh. b That is, ſoft and gentle, for the holy Ghoſt to write his lawes in.

15 Hee appoynted a ruler vpon euery people, when hee diuided the nations of the whole earth.

16 *And hee did chuſe Iſrael, as a peculiar people to himſelfe, whom hee nouriſheth with diſcipline as his firſt borne, and giueth him moſt louing light, and doeth not forſake him. Deut.4.20, and 10.15.

17 All their woꝛkes are as the ſunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteouſneſſe is hidde from him, but all their ſinnes are before the Lord.

19 And as he is merciſull, and knoweth his woꝛke, he doeth not leaue them noꝛ forſake them, but ſpareth them.

20 *The almes of a man is as a thing ſealed vp before him, and hee keepeth the good deedes of man as the apple of the eye, and giueth repentance to their ſonnes and daughters. Chap.29.13.

21 *At the laſt ſhall hee ariſe, and reꝛwarde them, and ſhall repay their reꝛward vpon their heads. Mat.25.35.

22 *But vnto them that will repent, hee giueth them grace to returne, and exhoꝛteth Acts 3.19.

ſuch

such as faile, with patience, [and lendeth them the portion of the veritie.]

Iere.3.12. 23 *Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darkenesse to wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Knowe the righteousnesse & iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set foorth for thee, and in the prayer of the most his God, and goe in the parts of the holy worlde with such as be liuing, and confesse God.]

Psal.6.5. esai.38.18, 19. 26 *Who can praise the most High in the hel, as doe all that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the errour of the vngodly, but prayse the Lord before death.]

28 Thankefulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though hee were not: but the liuing, and hee that is sound of heart, prayseth the Lorde, [and reioyceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the loving kindnesse of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holinesse!

30 For all things cannot bee in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the Sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euil, [shal be reproued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 *The marueilous workes of God. 6. 7 The miserie and wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

Gen.1.1. HE that liueth for euer, *made all things together: the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious king for euer.]

2 Hee ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath he giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble actes?

4 [Who shall declare the power of his greatnesse? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lorde, there may nothing bee taken from them, neyther can any thing bee put vnto them, neyther may the ground of them bee found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, hee must beginne againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an ende, hee must goe againe to his labour.

7 [What is man? whereto serueth hee? what good or euill can he doe?

Psal.90.10. 8 *If the number of a mans dayes bee an hundreth yeeres, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

9 As drops of raine are vnto the Sea, and as a gravell stone is in comparison of the sand, so are a *thousande yeeres to the dayes euerlasting. 2.Pet.3.8.

10 Therefore is [God] patient with them, and powreth out his mercy vpon them.

11 Hee sawe and perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euill: therefore heaped hee vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousnesse.]

12 The mercy that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercy of the Lorde is vpon all flesh: he chastneth, and nurtureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 Hee hath mercy on them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14 [My sonne, when thou doest good, reproue not: and whatsoeuer thou giuest, vse no discomfortable words.

15 Shall not the dewe assuage the heate? so is a word better then the gift.

16 Lo, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them both.

17 A foole will reproch churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousnesse before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and vse physicke or euer thou be sicke.

19 *Examine thy selfe before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercie. 1.Cor.11.31

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whiles thou mayest yet sinne, shew thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vowe in time, and deferre not vnto death to bee reformed: [for the rewarde of God endureth for euer.

22 Before thou prayest, prepare thy selfe, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the *wrath, that shall be at the ende, and the houre of vengeance, when hee shall turne away his face. Chap.7.37, 36.

24 *When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke vpon pouertie and neede. Chap.31.25. Chap.32.32, and 27.17.

25 From the morning vntill the euening the time is changed, and all such things are soone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time. Leuit.19.17. matt.18.15.

27 [Euery wise man knoweth wisedome, and knowledge, and prayseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in wordes: [they vnderstand the trueth and righteousnesse,] and powre out wise and destite graue sentences for mans life.

29 The chiefe authoritie of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortall man hath but a dead heart. Iames 3.2.

30 [*Follow not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites. Rom.6.6. and 13.14

31 For if thou giuest thy soule her desires, it shall make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnesse, ouſneſſe, and intangle not thy ſelfe with ſuch companie.

33 Become not a begger by making bankets of that that thou haſt borrowed, and ſo leaue nothing in thy purſe: els thou ſhouldeſt ſlanderouſly lie in waite for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whoredome bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy words vſe diſcretion. 22 The difference of the wiſedome of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayeſt knowe what is in him.

A Labouring man that is giuen to drunkenneſſe, ſhall not be rich: and he that contemneth ſmall things, ſhall fall by little and little.

Geneſ.19.33. 1.king.11.1, 2,4. 2 *Wine and women leade wiſe men out of the way, [and put men of vnderſtanding to reproofe.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, ſhall become impudent: rottenneſſe and wormes ſhall haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bolde, ſhall be taken away, and be made a publike example.

Joſh.22.21, 22. 4 *He that is haſtie to giue credit, is light minded, and he that erreth, ſinneth againſt his owne ſoule.

5 Who ſo reioyceth in wickednеſſe, ſhall be punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life ſhalbe ſhortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of words, quencheth wickedneſſe:] but he that reſiſteth pleaſures, crowneth his owne ſoule.

6 Hee that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troubleſome man, and he that hateth babbling, ſhall haue leſſe euill.

7 Rehearſe not to another that which is told vnto thee: ſo thou ſhalt not be hindred.

8 Declare no other mens matters, neither to friend nor foe: and if the ſinne appertеine not vnto thee, reueile it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, he will hate thee.

Chap.22,22, and 27.17. 10 *If thou haſt heard a word [againſt thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be ſure, it will not burſt thee.

11 A foole trauaileth when he hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring foorth a childe.

12 As an arrow that ſticketh in ones thigh, ſo is a word in a fooles heart.

Leuit.19.17. matt.18.15. 13 *Reprooue a friend, leſt hee doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reprooue a friend, that hee may keepe his tongue: and if he haue ſpoken, that he ſay it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a ſlander is raiſed, and giue no credence to euery word.

Iames 3.2. 16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his will: *and who is he, that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the moſt High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the firſt degree to be receiued of him, and wiſedome obteineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, ſhall receiue the fruite of immortality.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wiſdome, and the performing of the Lawe is perfit wiſedome, and the knowledge of his Almightie power.

21 If a ſeruant ſay vnto his maſter, I will not doe as it pleaſeth thee, though afterward he do it, he ſhall diſpleaſe him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednеs is not wiſdome, neither is there prudencie whereas the counſell of ſinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is void of wiſedome.

23 Hee that hath ſmall vnderſtanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wiſdome, and tranſgreſſeth the Law of the moſt High.

24 There is a certaine ſubtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wreſteth the open and manifeſt lawe: yet there is that is wiſe, and iudgeth righteouſly.

25 There is ſome, that being about wicked purpoſes, doe bowe downe themſelues, and are lad, whoſe inward parts burne altogether with deceit: he looketh downe with his face, and fayneth himſelfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will be be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be ſo weake, that he can do thee no harme, yet when he may finde opportunitie, he will doe euill.

27 ¶ A man may be knowen by his looke, and one that hath vnderſtanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 *A mans garment, & his exceſſiue laughter, and going, declare what perſon he is. Chap.22. 20,23.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To ſpeake and keepe ſilence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The theeſt and the murtherer. 28 Giftes blinde the eyes of the wiſe.

THere is ſome rebuke that is not comely: againe, ſome man holdeth his tongue, and he is wiſe.

2 It is much better to reproue, then to beare euill will, and he that acknowledgeth his fault, ſhalbe preſerued from hurt.

3 As *when a gilded man thorough luſt would deſile a mayde, ſo is he that vſeth violence in iudgement. Chap.30, 20.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to ſhew repentance! for ſo ſhalt thou eſcape wilfull ſinne.

5 Some man keepeth ſilence, and is found wiſe, and ſome by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, becauſe he hath not to anſwere: and ſome keepeth ſilence, waiting a conuenient *time. Eccleſ.3.7.

7 *A wiſe man will holde his tongue till he ſee opportunity: but a triffler and a foole will regard no time. Chap.32.4.

8 He that vſeth many wordes, ſhall be abhorred, and hee that taketh authoritie to himſelfe, ſhalbe hated.

9 Some man hath oft times proſperitie in wicked things, and ſometime a thing that is found, bringeth loſſe.

10 There is ſome gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is ſome gift, whoſe reward is double.

11 Some

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

Chap.6.5. 13 *A wise man with his words maketh himselfe to be loued, but the mery tales of fooles shal be powred out.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for hee looketh to receiue many things for one: he giueth little, and he vpbraideth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne crier: to day he lendeth, to morow asketh he againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole sayth, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eat my bread, speake euill of me.

16 Howe oft, and of howe many shall he be laughed to scorne? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for he speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouerty, and yet is not grieued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for nought.

Chap.25.2. 23 *A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise.

24 A thiefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of lyers are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shal bring himselfe to honour with his wordes, and he that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

Pro.22.11. and 28.19. 27 *He that tilleth his land, shall increase his heape: [he that worketh righteousnesse, shall be exalted,] and hee that pleaseth great men, shall haue pardon of his iniquitie.

Exod.23.8. deut.16.19. 28 *Rewards and gifts blinde the eyes of the wise, and make them dumbe, that they can not reprooue faults.

29 Wisdome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profite is in them both?

30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisedome.

31 The necessary patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reproued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

Chap.5.5. Psal.41.4. Luke 15.21. MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, *but pray for the foresinnes [that they may be forgiuen thee.]

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou commest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proud shalbe desolate.

5 *The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently. Exod.3.9. and 22.23.

6 Who so hateth to bee reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen afarre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 *The congregation of the wicked, is like towe wrapped together: their end is a flame of fire to destroy them. Chap.16.6.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darkenesse and paines.]

11 He that keepeth ‖ the Law of the Lord, ruleth his owne affections thereby: and the increase of wisedome is the ende of the feare of God. ‖ Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof.

12 Hee that is not wise, will not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

14 *The inner parts of a foole are like a broken vessell: hee can keepe no knowledge whiles he liueth. Chap.33.5.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise word, he will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he will disallow it, and cast it behinde his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They inquire at the mouth of the wise man in the Congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroied, so is wisedome vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles, is as fetters on the feete, and like manicles vpon the right hand.

20 *A foole lifteth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wise man doth scarse smile secretly. Chap.19.27,28.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewell of golde, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foot is soone in his [neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but hee that is well nurtured, will stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for he that is wise, will be grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lippes of talkers will be telling such things as perteine not vnto them, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding are weighed in the ballance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 13 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience seareth not.

a.b. That is, like as the idle stone gathereth mosse and filth: so doth the slouthfull both sickenes of body and corruption of minde. And as euery man doth auoyd the filthines of dung, and shaketh it off: so doth he auoid the company of idle loiterers, lest he be accounted like vnto them.

A Slouthfull man is like a a filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slouthfull man is to bee compared to the b dung of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but shee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 Shee that is bolde, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly,] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that glueth a potsheard together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepeth, from a sounde sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children bee proude, with hautinesse and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kinred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisedome, is as a man which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he sayth, What is the matter?

Chap.38.16. 11 *Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for hee is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

Chap.13.12. 13 Talke not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding, *beware of him least it turne thee to paine, and lest thou bee defiled when he shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorow by his foolishnes.

14 What is heauier then leade? and what other name should a foole haue?

Prou.27.3. 15 *Sand and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man.]

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot bee loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreete wisedome, is as a fayre plastering on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on high, cannot abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 Hee that pricketh the eye bringeth foorth teares, and he that pricketh the heart, bringeth foorth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birdes, frayeth them away: and hee that vpbraydeth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sworde at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbraiding or pride or disclosing of secrets, or a traiterous wound doe not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Bee faithfull vnto thy friend in his poouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest bee heire with him in his heritage: for pouerty is not alwayes to bee contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill words [rebukes and threatnings] goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should do me harme: whosoeuer heareth it, shall beware of him.

Psal.141.3. 26 Who shall set *a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisedome vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of other, blasphemie and vnmete communication. 16 Of three kinds of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceede of adultery. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue mee not to their counsell, and let me not fall by ‖ them.

‖Or, my lips.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisedome in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let ‖ their faults passe?

‖ That is, of the tongue and lips.

3 Least mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer mee, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, father and God of my life, [leaue me not in their imagination] neither giue mee a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout minde.

5 Take from mee vaine hope, and concupiscence, and retaine mee in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold mee, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 ¶ Heare, O yee children the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truely: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips, [nor bee hurt by wicked workes.]

8 The sinner shall be taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proude doe offend by them.

Exod.20.7. chap.27.15. matth.5.33. 34. 9 *Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take by for a custome the naming of the Holy one:

one: [for thou shalt not bee unpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot be without some smart, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not bee cleansed.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednesse, & the plague shall neuer goe from his house: when hee shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his fault, he maketh a double offence: and if hee sweare in vaine, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ‖ ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

‖ Or, inordinate swearing.

14 [Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, least thou bee forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou hadst not bene borne, and curse the day of thy nativitie.

15 * The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer bee reformed all the dayes of his life.

* Sam. 16.7.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a minde hote as fire that cannot bee quenched, till it be consumed: an aduulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perish)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, * Who seeth me? I am compassed about with darkenes: the walles couer me: no body seeth me: whom needs I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.

Isa. 29.15.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lorde are ten thousande times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the waies of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secrete parts.

20 Hee knewe all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

Leuit. 20.10. deut. 22.23.

21 * The same man shall bee punished in the streetes of the citie, [and shall bee chased like a yong horse foale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall hee be put to shame of euery man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

23 * For first shee hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly shee hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, shee hath played the whore in aduultery, and gotten her children by another man.

Num. 30.14.

24 She shal be brought out into the Congregation, and examination shall bee made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull reporte shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shal knowe that there is nothing better then ‖ feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heede vnto the commandements of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

Psal. 19.10, 11.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A praise of wisdome proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her workes and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

WIsedome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the midst of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most High shall shee open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the midst of her people shall she be exalted, and wondered at in the holy assembly.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shalbe commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be praised, and shall say,]

Exod. 20.1. and 24.3. deut. 4.1. and 29.9.

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloude.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the depth.

Prou. 8.23. Exod. 31.3. Psal. 132.8. ‖ Or, in Cades a Terebinth is a hard tree spread abroad with long bough, whereout runneth the gumme called a pure turpentine, which cleanseth the stomacke of putrified humours, and purifieth the eares: so the wisedome of God declared in his Scriptures, spreadeth abroad her manifolde branches of knowledge and vnderstanding, to purge the inward eares and corruption of the soule.

Gene. 2.11. Iosh. 3.15.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nation, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of al, both high and lowe.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creatour of all things gaue mee a commandement, and he that made me appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

12 * He created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: * In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I stablished in Sion.

13 * In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on high like a cedar in Libanus, and as a Cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree ‖ about the banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire olive tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plaine tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinamom, and as a bagge of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrre, as Galbanum, and onix, and sweete storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the ‖ Terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 * As the vine haue I brought forth [fruit] of sweete sauour, and my flowers are the fruite of honour and riches.

Ecclus. 15.1. Iohn 15.1.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I give eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all yee that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruits.

Psal. 19.10, 11. 23 * For the remembrance of me is sweeter then hony, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the hony combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate me, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shal not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shal not offend: [they that make me to be knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life] and the Couenant of the most High God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] * and the Lawe that Moses [in the precepts of righteousnesse] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertening vnto Israel.]

Exod. 20.1. and 24.3. Deut. 4.1. and 29.9.

27 Be not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that hee may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lorde Almightie is but one God, and beside him there is none other Sauiour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant hee ordeined to raise vp a most mightie King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 He filleth all things with his wisedome, as * Phyſon, and as Tygris in the time of the new fruits.

Gene. 2, 11.

30 He maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as * Iordan in the time of the harueſt.

Iosh. 3.15.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfitly: no more shall the last finde her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisedome [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I said, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorowe all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

Ecclus. 33.16. 39 * Beholde that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not to be suspected, 14 Of the malice of a woman.

THese things reioyce mee, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.

Gen. 13.8, 9. rom. 12.10.

2 Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an olde adulterer that doteth.

3 If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 Oh how pleasant a thing is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the Elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisedome vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudencie to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men, is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glory.

7 There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

Chap. 14.1. and 19.16. iames 3.2.

9 Well is him that findeth prudency, and he that speaketh in þ eares of them that will heare.

10 Oh, how great is he that findeth wisedome! yet is there none aboue him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whom shal he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [The greatest beautinesse is the beautinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any affault, saue the affault of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖ enemie.

‖ Or, woman. Prou. 21.19.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lion and a dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednes of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as ‖ a sacke.

‖ Or, a bear.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her he sigheth sore and bewaile.

21 All wickednesse is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climing vp of a sandy way, is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

Chap. 42.12. 2. sam. 11.2. and 13.2.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, she is angry and impudent, and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sory heart, an heauie vile countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feeble knees, and cannot comfort her husband in beautifie.

Gene.3.6. 1.Tim.2.14. 26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a little,] neither giue a wicked woman libertie to go out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [shee shal confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] Cut her off then from thy flesh: * Giue her, and forsake her.

a To wit, the bill of diuorcement.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the iealous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeeres shalbe double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shalbe giuen for a gift vnto such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shal at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a city, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is iealous ouer another: and the that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euillwife is as a yoke of oxen that draw diuers wayes: he that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman, and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be known in the pride of her eyes, and eye lids.

Chap.42.11. 10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, least she abuse herselfe through ouermuch libertie.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirsty, so shall she open her mouth, & drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shal she sit downe, and open her quiuer against euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman, and of a good heart, is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast & faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to bee compared vnto her continent mind.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleere light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be layde vpon a strong rocke: so are the commandements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitful possession thorow all the fields, sow it with thine owne seed, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shal liue after thee, shal growe, trusting in the great liberality of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a lowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a tower against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

Chap.33.9, 10.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

Chap.19.10, and 23.22.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be iudged wise of all: but shee that despiseth him, shall be blazed for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman and a babbler, let her bee sought out to driue away the enemies: the minde of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh mee angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouertie: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousnesse vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sworde.

30 [There be two things which mee thinke to bee hard and perilous,] a marchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

Pro.10.10.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill which turneth vpon himselfe.

BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: and * he that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

Prou.23.4. 1.Tim.6.9.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betweene the ioyntes of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lorde, his house shall soone bee ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sieue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace prooueth the potters vessell: * so doth [temptation] trie mens thoughts.

Psal.7.15. Pro.26.27. eccles.10,8, 6 * The fruit declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the worde [declareth] what man hath in his heart.

Prou.27.21. Matt.7.17.

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the tryall of men.

8 ¶ If

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and thee shall defend thee for ever: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt find stedfastnesse.]

9 The birdes resort vnto their like, so doeth the trueth turne vnto them, that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisedome: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscreete, obserue the time, but haunt still the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, & their sport is in the pleasure of sinne.

14 * The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and to stirre with such, stoppeth the eares. Chap.23.9, 10.

15 The strife of the proude is bloodshedding, and their scoldings are grieuous to heare.

16 * Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will. Chap.19.10, and 22.22.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithfull vnto him: but if thou betrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroieth his enemy, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a birde goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy kinde, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for hee is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may be bound vp againe: and an euill word may be reconciled: but who so betrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credite.

22 * Hee that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone. Prou.10.10.

23 When thou art present, he will speak sweetly, and praise thy words: but at the last he will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on hie, casteth it vpon his owne head: and hee that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

26 Who so * diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumble thereon,] and hee that layeth a snare for another, shalbe taken in it himselfe. Psal.7.15. prou.26.27. eccles.10,8.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euill, and shall not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockery and reproch follow the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous, shalbe taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despite & anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

HE * that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his sinnes. Deu.32.35, rom.12.19,

2 † Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also when thou prayest. †Man ought not to seeke vengeance.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and * desire forgiuenesse of the Lord? Mat.6.14.

4 He will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will he aske forgiuenesse of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, [and aske pardon of God,] who will intreate for his sinnes?

6 Remember the end and let enimity passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but persuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not bee rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the Couenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angrie man kindleth strife. Chap.8.2.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friendes, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 * As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is hee inflamed. Pro.26.21.

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheadeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witnesse, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 †* Abhorre the slanderer and double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace. †The tõgue, Chap.21.28. a That is, the tongue which saith, and vnsaith, or speaketh one thing, & thinketh an other.

14 The a double tongue hath disquieted many, & driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrown the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and beene the decay of mighty nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours. Or, † tongue which speaketh neither out of the new or old Testament, but of their owne braine.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it shall neuer find rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger thereof, which hath not drawn in that yoke, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of braste.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shall not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shal fal therein and it ſhall burne them, and no man ſhalbe able to quench it: it ſhall fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy poſſeſſion with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy ſiluer and golde, and weigh thy words in a ballance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a ſure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou ſlide not by it and ſo fal before him that lieth in waite, [and thy fal be incurable euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, and doe almes. 15 Of a faithfull man anſwering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

† Of well-doing.

HE that will ſhewe mercie † lendeth to his neighbour: and he that hath power ouer him ſelfe, keepeth the commandements.

Deu.15.7,8. mat.5.42. luke,6.35.

2 *Lende to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due ſeaſon.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou ſhalt alway find the thing that is neceſſary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieued them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kiſſe his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they ſhould pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a careleſſe anſwere, and make excuſes by reaſon of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet gmeth he ſcarce the half againe, & reckoneth the other as a thing found: elſe he deceiued him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without a cauſe: he paieth him with curſing and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deed.

7 There bee many that refuſe to lende becauſe of this inconuenience, fearing to be defrauded without cauſe.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himſelfe, and deferre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commaundements ſake, and turne him not away, becauſe of his pouertie.

10 Loſe thy money for thy brothers and neighbours ſake, and let it not ruſt vnder a ſtone to thy deſtruction.

Deu.4.24. mat.6.20. luke 11.41. and 12.33. act. 10.4. 1.tim.6.18, 19.

11 *Beſtow the treaſure after the commandement of the moſt High, and it ſhall bring thee more profite then gold.

Or, giue almes ſecretly. Tob.4.8,9, 10,11.

12 ‖ Lay vp thine *almes in thy ſecret chambers, and it ſhall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 [A mans almes is as a purſe with him, and ſhal keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward ſhall it ariſe, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.]

14 It ſhall fight for thee againſt thine enemies, better then the ſhield of a ſtrong man, or ſpeare of the mighty.

† Of ſuretiſhip.

15 An honeſt man is † ſurety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forſaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendſhip of the ſuretie: for he hath laid his life for thee.

17 The *wicked deſpiſeth the good deede of his ſuretie.

18 The wicked will not become ſuretie: and he that is of an vnthankfull minde, forſaketh him that deliuered him.

a As he is a foole that is ſuretie for euery man: ſo is he vngodly that in no wiſe will be ſuretie for any man.

19 [Some man promiſeth for his neighbour: and when he hath loſt his honeſty, he will forſake him.]

20 Suretiſhip hath deſtroyed many a rich man, and remoued them as the waues of the ſea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houſes, and cauſed them to wander among ſtrange nations.

21 A wicked man tranſgreſſing the commandements of the Lord, ſhal fal into ſtretiſhip: and he that medleth much with other mens buſines, is intangled in controuerſies.

22 ¶ Help thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy ſelfe fall not.

Chap.39.26.

23 *The chief thing of life is water, & bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy ſhame.

† Soberliuing.

24 † The poore mans life in his owne lodge, is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it litle or much, hold thee contented, that thy houſe ſpeake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miſerable life to go from houſe to houſe: for where thou art a ſtranger, thou dareſt not open thy mouth.

27 Thou ſhalt lodge and feede vnthankefull men, and after ſhalt haue bitter wordes for the ſame, ſaying, 28 Come, thou ſtranger, & prepare the table, and feede me of that thou haſt readie.

29 Giue place, thou ſtranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to be lodged, and I haue neede of mine houſe.

30 Theſe things are heauy to a man that hath vnderſtanding, the vpbraiding of the houſe, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

Deut.6.7.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behind him that is like him.

5 In his life he ſaw him, and had ioy in him, and was not ſory in his death, [neither was hee ſhamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behind him an auenger againſt his enemies, and one that ſhould ſhewe fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his ſonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieued at euery crie.

Luke6.24.

8 An vntamed horſe will be ſtubborne, and a wanton child will be wilfull.

13 Chastise thy childe, and be diligent therein, least his shame grieue thee.

†The praise of health.

14 ¶ †Better is the poore being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is above all gold, and a whole body above infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound harte, and no ioy above the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [& long rest] then continuall sickenesse.

a Like as meate that is set vpon the graues of dead men is vnprofitable for that they eate it not: euen so knowledge in him that openeth not his mouth to vtter it, is vnprofitable, Chap.41.14. *Chap.*20.3. *Prou.*12.25. and 15.13. and 17.22.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole? for he can neither eate, nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lord, [and beareth the reward of iniquitie.]

20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like a gelded man, that lyeth with a virgine and sighteth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde to heauinesse, and vexe not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnes is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Loue thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorrowe farre from thee: for sorrowe hath slaine many, and there is no profite therein.

24 Enuie & wrath shorten the life, and carefulnesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Of couetousnesse. 3 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought to flee drunkennesse and follow soberousse.

†Couetousnes. 1.*Tim.*6.9, 10.

WAking † after * riches, pineth away the bodie, and the care thereof driueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as great sickenesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

*chap.*8.2.

6 * Many are destroyed by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them.

7 It is as a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

*Luk.*6.24.

8 Blessed is the * rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after gold, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is hee, and wee will commend him? for wonderfull things hath hee done among his people.

10 Who hath bene tried thereby, and found perfite? let him be an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or do euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods be established, & the congregation shall declare his almes.

12 If thou sit at a costly table, † open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Behold much meate. † Temperancie.

13 Remember that an euill eie is a shrew: and what thing created is worse then a wicked eie? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hande wheresoeuer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not, lest thou be hated.

17 Leaue thou off first for nurtures sake, and be not insatiable least thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

16 * Howe little is sufficient for a man well taught: and thereby he beareth not in his chamber. [nor feeleth any paine.] *Chap.*37.29.

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate belly: he riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching and cholericke diseases, and pangs of the belly are with an vnsatiable man.

21 If thou hast bene forced to eate, arise, goe foorth, * vomite, and then take thy rest: [so thou shalt bring no sickenesse vnto thy body.]

a This counsel only concerning the health of the body, is here alleaged, rather for a remedie to helpe digestion vnto a weake stomacke, then for an instruction to tolerate intemperancie: for sufferring is forbidden vs, Luk.21.34. *Pro.*22.9. †Liberalitie. *Iudith.*13.2,8. *Psal.*104.15 *pro.*31.4,5. 6,7.

22 My sonne, heare me, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue told thee: in all thy workes be quicke, so shall there no sickenesse come vnto thee.

23 * Who so is † liberal in his meate, men shall blesse him: and the testimonies of his honestly shall be beleeued.

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole citie shall murmure: the testimonies of his niggardnesse shall be sure.

25 Shewe not thy valiantnesse in wine: for * wine hath destroyed many.

26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proude by drunkennesse.

27 * Wine soberly dronken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [& not for drunkennes.] Wine measurably dronken and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cheerefulnes of mind.

29 But wine dronken with excesse, maketh bitternesse of mind with brawlings & scoldings.

30 Drunkennesse increaseth the courage of a foole, till he offende: it diminisheth his strength and maketh woundes.

31 * Reproue not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull words, and presse not vpon him with contrary woordes. *Chap.*20.1.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 An exhortation to modestie. 3 Let the ancient speake. 14 To giue thankes after the repast. 15 Of the feare, faith and confidence in God.

IF thou be made the master of the feast, † lift not thy selfe vp, but bee among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for them, and so sit downe. †Humblenesse.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duety, sit bowne, that thou mayest bee merie with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musicke.

4 Powre not out wordes, where there is no audience, * and shew not forth wisedome out of time. Eccles.3.7. chap.20.7.

5 The consent of musicians at a banket, is as a signet of carbuncle set in gold.

6 And as the signet of an Emerauld well trimmed with gold, so is the melodie of musicke in a pleasant banquet.

7 [Giue eare, and be still, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be beloued.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if neede be, and yet scarcely when thou art twise asked.

9 Comprehend much in fewe wordes: [in many things be as one that is ignorant:] bee as one that vnderstandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

10 If thou be among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, babble not much. Iob,32.6.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightning, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last: but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, so that thou doe none euil, or vse proud words.

14 But aboue all things giue thankes vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lorde, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shall find fauour.

16 Hee that seeketh the Law, shall bee filled therewith: but the hypocrite will bee offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall finde that which is righteous, and shall kindle iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses according to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding despiseth not counsell: but a lewd and proud man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne] doe nothing without aduisement: so shalt it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Go not in the way where thou maiest fall, nor where thou maiest stumble among the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heede of them, that be thine owne household.]

23 In euery good worke bee of a faithfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commaundements.

24 Who so beleeueth in ‖ the Lorde, keepeth the commaundements: and hee that trusteth in the Lord shall take no hurt. ‖ Or, the Law.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wise. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 33 Of euill seruants.

† The feare of God. THere shall no euill come vnto him that † feareth the Lorde: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Lawe: but hee that is an hypocrite therein, is as a shippe in a stormе.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Lawe, and the Lawe is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answere, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answere.

5 The heart of the * foolish is like a cartewheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltree. Chap.21.16

6 As a wild horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yeere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lorde hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath hee put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers. Gen.1.17. and 2.7.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, and some of them hath he sanctified, and appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and brought them lowe, and put them out of their estate. † Dreames,

12 *As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, to that he may reward them as liketh him best. Iſai.45.9: rom.9.20,21

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most High thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my wine presse, like a grape gatherer.

16 *Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge. chap.24.33

17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friende, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, a giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children. a That is, let no man vse thee as his seruant, when thou hast committed all thy goods into his hand, † The feare of the Lord, 21 In all thy workes be excellent, that thy honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance. Pſal.33.18. Pſal.91.1,2.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden, belong vnto the asse, and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt Pſal.21.27.

shalt find rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shal seeke liberty.

25 The yoke and the whippe bow downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that hee goe not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to worke for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, † put on more heauie fetters.

† How slaues were ordered in olde time. Chap.7.20.

28 But be not excessiue toward any, & without discretion do nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithful seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreat him as thy brother: for thou hast need of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreat him euill, and he run away, wilt thou seeke him?

Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 18 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needie. 27 God doth not allow the works of an vnfaithfull man.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, † and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

† Dreames,

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the wind.

3 Euen so is it with ỹ appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be cleansed by the vncleane? or what truth can be spoken of a lier?

5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a mind that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Whereas such visions come out of the most High to thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The law shalbe fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithful mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandered to and fro, I sawe many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oftimes in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who so † feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afrayd: for he is his hope.

13 Oh, be merciful vnto Ierusalem the citie of thy sanctuary, the city of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witnes vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise vp the prophecies that haue bene shewen in thy name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophets may be found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants, according to the * blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousnesse,]that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may know that thou art the Lorde the eternall God. Num.6.23.

18 ¶ The belly deuoureth all meates, yet is one meat better then another.

19 As the throat tasteth venison, so doeth a wise mind discerne false words.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beauty of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenes, meeknesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 Hee that hath † gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begunne to get a possession: there is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon. † The praise of a good woman.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and he that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a theefe that is alway ready, and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth whereloeuer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friendes and counsellers. 22 To keepe his company that feareth God.

EVery friend saith, † I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name. † Of friendship.

2 Remaineth there no heauines vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemie?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou [sprung vp to] couer the earth with deceit?

4 * There is some companion which in prosperity reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him. Chap.6.10.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the belles sake, & taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke † no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee. † Of who ye should take counsell.

8 * Euery counseller praiseth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe. Chap.8.19. and 9.16.

9 Beware of the counseller, and be aduised afore ‖ whereto thou wilt vse him: for he will counsell for himselfe, lest he cast the lot vpon thee. ‖ Or, what need he hath.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Alike no counsell for religion of him that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching thing her of whom she is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulnesse, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhonest man of honestie] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But be continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commaundements of the Lorde, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sory for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithful vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans mind is sometimes more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an hie tower.

15 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason go before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernment ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all ‖ foode.

‖ Or, wisedome.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisedome.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisedome faile not.

23 A wise man shalbe plentifully blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shal obtaine credit among his people, and his name shall be perpetuall.

26 My sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to do it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

† Of temperancie. Chap. 31. 19, 20.

28 Be not † greedy in all delights, and be not too hastie vpon all meates:

29 *For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and gluttonie commeth into choler vnto diseases.

‖ Or, taketh hede.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but he that ‖ dreadeth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physitian is commendable, 16 To bewle the dead, 24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

† Of Physicians and physicke.

HOnour the † Physician with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most hie commeth healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physician lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shalbe in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 *Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might knowe the vertue thereof? Exod. 15. 25.

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the apothecary make a confection, & yet hee cannot finish his owne workes: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sickenesse, but *pray vnto the Lorde, and hee will make thee whole. Isa. 38. 2, 3.

10 Leaue off from sinne, & order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednesse.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flowre for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the † first giuer.

† God hath flowerth first his benefits, and we must render a portion thereof, to such vses as he appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not go from thee, for thou hast needs of him.

13 The houre may come, that their endeuour may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lorde, that he would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their physicke for the prolonging of life.

15 Hee that sinneth before his maker, let him fall into the handes of the physician.

16 My sonne, *powre foorth teares ouer the dead, † and begin to mourne, as if thou hadest suffered great hurme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his appointment, and neglect not his burtall. Chap. 22. 12. † Of mourning.

‖ Or, the ceremonie.

17 Make a greeuous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation as he is worthy, and that a day or two, least thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 *For of heauinesse commeth death, and the heauinesse of the heart bursteth the strength. Pro. 15. 13. and 17. 22.

19 Of the affliction of the heart commeth sorrowe, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning again: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shal be likewise, vnto mee yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 *Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him. 2. Sam. 12. 20

24 ¶ The wisedome of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisedome.

25 Howe can hee get wisedome that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the goade, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breede of bullockes?

26 He giueth his minde to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and graue seales, and make sundrie diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfeite imagerie, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anuil, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire drieth his flesh, and he must fight with the heat of the fornace: the noyse of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that hee maketh: hee setteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth the wheele about with his feete: hee is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth howe to couer it with lead, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their handes, and euery one is wise in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters, according to the forme of the Lawe, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euen good things are euill.

HE onely that applieth his minde to the Lawe of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the † wisedome of al the ancient, and exercileth himselfe in the prophecies.

† Or, true wisedome.

2 He keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in alſo to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mysteries of graue sentences, and exercileth himselfe in darke parables.

4 He shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile through strange countreys: for he hath tried the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lorde will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that he may powre out wise sentences, and giue thankes vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 ‖ He shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

‖ Or, the Lord.

8 He shall shewe foorth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Lawe and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memory shall neuer be put out, nor departaway: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 *The congregation shall declare his wisdome, and the writ. Chap.44.15.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, hee shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto mee, ye holy children, and bring foorth fruite as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the fielde.

14 And giue ye a sweete smell as incense, and bring foorth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell, and sing a song of praise: bleſſe the Lord in al his workes.

‖ Or, Libanus.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shewe foorth his prayse with the songs of your lips, and with harpes, and yee shall say after this maner, 16 *All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commaundements are done in due season. Gen.1.31. mar.7.37.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient they shall all be sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which hee will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man needeth not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for hee hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shal run ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing. Chap. 29.23.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigour lay on sure stroke: in the time of destruction they shew foorth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 * Fire, and haile, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance. Chap.40.9, 10.

30 The teeth of wilde beasts, & the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sworde execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall bee glad to doe his commandements: and when neede is, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shal not ouer passe the commandement.

32 There-

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing,

33 *All the workes of the Lord are good, and he giueth euery one in due season, and when neede is:

34 So that a man needs not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, & bl esse the Name of the Lord.

Gen.1.31.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogatiue of the feare of God.

†The miseries of mans life.

GReat † trauaile is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they returne to the mother of all things,

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death,

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and asshes:

4 From him that is clothed in blewe silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble, and vnquietnes, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest, the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge,

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watch towre in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when al is safe, he awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto al flesh, both man & beast, but seuen fold to the vngodly:

9 Moreouer, *death and blood, & strife, and swoorde, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

Chap.39.29, 30.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the *flood also.

11 *Al things that are of the earth, shal turne to earth againe, and they that are of the *waters shall returne into the sea.

Gen.7.11, Gen.3.19. chap.41.10. Eccles.1.7.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put away: but †faithfulnesse shall endure for euer.

†Faithfulnesse.

13 The substance of the vngodly shalbe wied vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sounde like a great thunder in the raine.

14 ¶When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressors shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane roots are as vpon the die rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soeuer it be, or water banke, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlines is as a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercie endureth for euer.

18 *To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but hee that findeth a treasure, is aboue them both.

Phil.4.12. 1.tim.6.6.

19 Children, and the building of the citie maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisedome is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beauty: but a greene seede time, rather then them both.

23 A friend, and companion come together at opportunities: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the mind: but the feare of the Lorde is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lorde, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lorde is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he contaminateth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well noortured will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

†Of death.

O † Death, howe bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needful, & vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death, remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou be against the pleasure of the most High? whether it be tenne, or an hundreth, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe companie with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posteritie shall haue a perpetual shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe bee vnto you, O yee vngodly, which haue forsaken the Lawe of the most High God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to curssing: if ye die, the curse shall be your portion.

10 *All that is of the earth, shal turne to earth againe:

Chap.40.11

against: so the ungodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11. Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the ungodly shalbe put out.

12 Have regarde to thy name: for that shall continue with thee above a thousande treasures of golde.

†A good name. 13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but †a good name endureth euer.

Chap. 20.29. 14 My children, keepe wisdome in peace: *for wisedome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profit is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnes, is better then a man that hideth his wisedome.

16 Therfore beare reuerence vnto my words: for it is not good in all things to bee †ashamed: neither are all things allowed as fashfull in all men.

†Of shamefastnes.

17 Bee ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnes before a companion and friend:

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the truth of God and his Couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the ‖bread, or to bee reproued for giuing or taking:

‖Or, table.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans mayd, or to stand by her bed, or to reproche thy friendes with words, 23 Or to vpbraid when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reuele secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

2 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter, 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

†In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

OF these things bee not thou †ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Lawe of the most Hie and his couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, or of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, & to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euil wife is, and to seale where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued again:

8 To reache the vnlearned, and the vnwise, and the aged, that contende against the yoong: thus shalt thou be wel instructed, and approoued of all men liuing.

‖Or, is a secret watch to the father:

9 The daughter ‖ maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that her hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the youth, least she should passe the flower of her age: and when shee hath an husband, least shee should be hated:

10 In her virginitie, least she should bee defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, least she misbehaue her selfe: and when shee is married, least she continue vnfruitfull.

11 * If thy daughter be vnshamefast, keepe her straitly, least she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and dishame thee among the people, and bring thee to publique shame. Chap. 26.10.

12 *Beholde not euery bodies beauty, and companie not among women. Chap. 25.23.

13 For as the mothe commeth out of garments: *so doeth wickednes of the woman. Gen. 3.6.

14 The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the works of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The Sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lorde appointed that his Saintes should declare all his wonderous works, which the Almighty Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his Maiestie?

18 Hee searcheth out the depth, and the heart, and hee knoweth their practises: for the Lorde knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secret.

20 *No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him. Iob. 42.2. isa 29.15.

21 Hee hath garnished the excellent works of his wisedome, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing bee added, neither can hee bee minished: he hath no neede of any counseller.

22 Oh how delectable are all his works, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all and endure for euer: and whensoeuer need is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one ‖ commendeth the goodnes of the other, and who can be satisfied with beholding Gods glory? ‖Or, setteth forth.

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

†The wonderful works of God.

THis high ornament † the cleare firmament, the beauty of the heauen so glorious to beholde,

2 The Sunne also a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out, the works of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The Sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a furnace with continual heate: it casteth out the fiery beames, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement he causeth it to runne hastily.

6 The

Gen.1.16. 6 * The moone also hath he made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

Exod.12.2. 7 * The feasts are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth unto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beauty of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commaundement of the Holy one they continue in their order, and faile not in their watch.

11 ¶ * Looke vpon the raine-bow, and praise him that made it: very beautifull is it in the brightnesse thereof.

Gen.9.13,14

12 * It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most High haue bended it.

Isa.40.12.

13 ¶ Through his commaundement he maketh the snowe to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore her openeth his treasures, and the clouds flie forth as the foules.

15 In his power hath he strengthened the clouds, and broken the haile stones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth y earth: so doth the storme of the North: the whirlewind also, as birds that flie, scatterreth the snowe, and the falling downe thereof is as the grashoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frosen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the colde Northwinde bloweth, an yce is frosen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, and burneth the wildernesse, and destroyeth that that is greene, like fire.

22 The remedy of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dew commeth vpon the heat, it refresheth it.

23 ¶ By his word he stilleth the wind: by his counsell he appeaseth the deepe: and planteth Ilands therein.

24 They that saile ouer the Sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marueil thereat.

25 For there bee strange, and wonderous workes, diuers maners of beasts, and the creation of Whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good end, and are stablished by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, we can not attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, that he is all.

28 Whut power haue wee to praise him? for he is aboue all his workes.

29 The Lord is terrible, and very * great, and marueilous is his power.

Psal.96.4.

30 Praise the Lorde, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre exceed: exalt him with all your power, and be not weary, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 * Who hath seene him, that he might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is? Iohn.1.18. psal.106.2.

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, for we haue seene but a few of his workes.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisedome to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

LEt vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

4 * They gouerned the people by counsel, and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences. Exod.18.25.

5 They inuented the melody of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mighty in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall bee spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memoriall, * and are perished as though they had neuer beene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them. Gen.7.22.

10 But the former were merciful men, whose righteousnes hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whose posteritie a good inheritance is reserued, and their seed is contained in the couenant.

12 Their seede is contained in the couenant, and their posterity after them.

13 Their seed shal remaine for euer, and their name liueth for euermore.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 * The people speake of their wisdome, and the congregation talke of their praise. Chap.39.10.

16 † * Enoch pleased the Lord God: therfore was he translated for an ensample of repentance to the generations. †Enoch. Gen.5.24. heb.11.5.

17 † * Noe was found perfit, and in the time of wrath he had a reward: therefore was he left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came. † Noe. Gen.6.9.& 7.1.heb.11.7.

18 An euerlasting couenant was made with him, that all flesh should * perish no more by the flood. Gen.9.11.

19 † Abraham was a * great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him. †Abraham. Gen.12.3.& 15.5.& 17.4.

20 He kept the Lawe of the most High, and was in couenant with him, and he set the couenant * in his flesh, and in tentation he was found faithfull. Gen.22.4.

21 Therefore hee assured him by an * oth, that he would blesse the nations in his seede, and that hee would multiply him as the dust Gen.22.16, 17,18.galat. 3.8.

of the earth, and exalt his seed as the starres, and cause them to inherite from sea to sea, and from the river vnto the end of the world.

Gene.26.2,3. †Isaac. 22 *With † Isaac did hee confirme likewise for Abraham his fathers sake, the blessing of all men, and the couenant, † Iacob. ‖Or, knew him. Gene.27.28. and 28.1. 23 And caused it to rest vpon the head of † Iacob, and ‖ made himselfe knowen by * his blessings, and gaue him an heritage and diuided his portions, * and parted them among the twelue tribes.

Gene.28.14. 24 And hee brought out of him a † mercifull man, which found fauour in the sight of all flesh.

CHAP. XLV.

The praise of Moses, Aaron and Phinees.

† Moses. Exod.11.3. alt.7.22. AND † Moyses the * beloued of God and men, brought he forth, whose remembrance is blessed,

2 He made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

Exod.6.7. 8. 9.chapters. 3 By his wordes he caused his wonders to cease, and he made him * glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commaundements for his people, and shewed him his glory.

Num.12.3. 4 * He sanctified him with faithfulnesse, and meekenesse, and chose him out of all men.

Exod.19.7. 5 He caused him to heare his voyce, and brought him into the darke cloud, * and there he gaue him the commaundements before his face, euen the Lawe of life and knowledge, that hee might teach Iacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

†Aaron. Exod.4.28. 6 He exalted † Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen his * brother of the tribe of Leui.

7 An euerlasting couenant made hee with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 Hee put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

Exod.28.35. 9 Hee compassed him about with belles of golde, and with many bels round about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noyse in the Sanctuarie, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people,

10 And with an holy garment, with gold also, and blue silke, and purple, and diuers kindes of works, and with a brest lap of iudgement, and with the † signes of truth,

† Vrim and Thummim. 11 And with worke of skarlet cunningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like seales, and set in gold by goldsmiths worke for a memoriall, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel,

12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the mitter, bearing the marke and forme of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but onely his children and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed euery day twise continually.

15 Moyses filled * his hands, * and anointed him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, and to his seed, so long as the heauens should remaine, that hee should minister before him, and also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and blesse people in his name.

16 Before all men liuing the Lord chose him that he should present offerings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 * He gaue him also his commaundements Deut.17.18. and 31.5. and authoritie according to the Lawes appointed, that he should teach Iacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Law.

18 * Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wildernesse, euen the men that tooke Dathans and Abirams part, and the company of Core in fury and rage. Num.16.1,2 19 This the Lord saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: he did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fiery flame.

20 * But he made Aaron more honourable, Num.17.8. and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruits of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eate of ‡ sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his seed.

22 * Els had he none heritage in the land of Deut.12.12, and 18.1. his people, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

23 The third in glory is † Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because hee had zeale in the feare of the Lord, & stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel. †Phinees. Num.25.12, 13. 1.mac.2. 54.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him that he should bee the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that hee and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the priesthood for euer.

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdome should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should bee to the onely sonne of his sonne, and to his seede. God giue vs wisdome in our heart to iudge his people in righteousnesse, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glorie may endure for their posterity.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praise of Iosue, Caleb and Samuel.

IEsus † * the sonne of Nane was valiant in the warres, & was the successor of Moyses in prophesies, who according vnto his name was a great sauiour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of the enemies that rose vp against them, and to set Israel in their inheritance. †Iosue. Num.27.18, deut.34.9. ioſh.1.2. and 12.7.

2 * What glorie gate hee, when he lift vp his hand, and drew out his sworde against the cities? Ioſh.8.1,2.

3 Who was there before him, like to him? for he fought the battels of the Lord.

4 * Stood not the Sunne still by his meanes, Ioſh.10. 12, and one day was as long as two? 13,14.

5 He called vnto the most high Gouernour, when the enemies pressed vpō him on euery side, and the mighty Lorde heard him with the haile stones, and with mighty power.

6 Hee rushed in vpon the nations in battell, and in the * going downe of Bethoron hee de- Ioſh.10,11.

stroyed the aduersaries, that they might knowe his weapons, and that bee fought ‖ in the sight of the Lord: for hee followed the Almighty.

‖Or, that the Lord ouercame in battel. ‖Or, pursued the mighty men.

7 *In the time of Moyses also hee did a good worke: hee and † Caleb the sonne of Jephunne stoode against the enemie and withholde the people from sinne, and appeased the wicked murmuring,

Num. 14.6. 1.mac. 2.55, 56.

8 *And of fiue hundred thousand people of foote, they two were preserued to bring them into the heritage, euen into the land that floweth with milke and honie.

† Caleb. Num. 26.65 deu. 1.35,36 Iosh. 14.11.

9 *The Lord gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remained with him vnto his olde age, so that he went vp into the hie places of the land, and his seede obtained for an heritage,

10 That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

11 Concerning the † Iudges, euery one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lord, their memorie bee blessed.

†Iudges.

Ecclesiast. 49.10.

12 Let *their bones flourish out of their place, and their names by succession remaine to them that are most famous of their children.

† Samuel. 1.Sam. 10.1. and 16.13.

13 ¶ † Samuel the Prophet of the Lord, beloued of his Lord, *ordeined kings, and anointed the princes ouer his people.

14 By the Lawe of the Lord hee iudged the congregation, and the Lord had respect vnto Jacob.

15 This Prophet was approued for his faithfulnesse, & he was knowen faithful in his words and visions.

16 *He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies preased vpon him on euery side, whe he offred the sucking lambe.

1.Sam. 7.9, 10,11.

17 And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voice to be heard with a great noise.

18 So he discomfited the princes of the Tyrians: and all the rulers of the Philistims.

19 *And before his long sleepe he made protestation, in the sight of the Lorde, and his annointed, that hee tooke no substance of any man, no not so much as a shooe, and no man could accuse him.

1.Sam. 12.3.

20 *After his sleepe also he told of the kings death, and from the earth lift hee vp his voice, and prophesied that the wickednes of the people should perish.

1.Sam. 28. 18,19.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, Dauid, and Salomon.

AFter him rose vp † Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

† Nathan. 2.Sam. 12.1.

2 For as the fat is taken away from the peace offring, so was † Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

†Dauid.

3 *He played with the Lyons, as with kids, and with beares, as with lambes.

1.Sam. 17. 34.

4 *Slew he not a giant when he was yet but yong, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when he lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliah?

1.Sam. 17. 49,50,51.

5 For hee called vpon the most High Lorde, which gaue him strength in his right hande, to slay that mighty warriour, and that hee might set vp the horne of his people againe.

1.Sam. 18.7. ‖Or, the people.

6 *So he gaue him the praise of tenne thousand, and honoured him with ‖ great praises, and gaue him a crowne of glory.

‖Or, with blessings of the Lord,

7 *For hee destroyed the enemies on euery side, and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day.

2.Sam. 5.7

8 In all his works hee praised the Holy one, and the most High with honourable words, and with his whole heart hee sung songs, and loued him that made him.

9 *He set singers also before the altar, and according to their time hee made sweete songs, that they might praise God dayly with their songs.

1.Chro. 16.4

10 He ordeined to keepe the feast dayes comely, and appointed the times perfectly, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

11 *The Lord tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glory in Israel.

2.Sam. 12. 13.

12 After him rose vp a wise sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

13 † *Solomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made al quiet round about, that he might build an house in his name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer.

† Salomon. 1.King. 4. 21,24.

14 *Howe wise wast thou in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood!

1.King. 4 29,30.

15 Thy minde couered the whole earth, and hath filled it with graue and darke sentences.

16 Thy name went abroade in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloued.

17 *The countries marueiled at thee for thy songs, and prouerbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

1.King. 4 31,32

18 By the Name of the Lorde God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast *gathered golde as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as lead.

1.King. 10 27.

19 *Thou diddest bowe thy loynes to women, and wast ouercome by thy body.

1.King. 11. 1

20 Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posteritie, & hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorowe for thy folly.

21 *So the kingdome was diuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome.

1.King. 12. 15,16,17.

22 *Neuertheleste the Lord left not off his mercie, neither was he destroyed for his works: neither did he abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but he left a remnant vnto Jacob, and a roote of him vnto Dauid.

2.Sam. 7.15.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seede hee left behinde him † Roboam, euen ‖ the foolishnesse of the people, and one that had no vnderstanding, *who turned away the people through his counsell, and † Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, *which caused Israel to sinne, and the wen Ephraim the way of sinne, † Roboam. ‖Or, a most euident foole. 1.King. 12. 10,11,13, 14.

25 For they sought out all wickednesse, til the vengeance came vpon them.

11 Blessed were they that saw thee, and slept in loue: for * we shall liue.

a That is, they that are such.

12 * When Elias was couered with the storme, † Eliseus was filled with his spirite: while he liued, he was not moued for any prince, neither could any bring him into subiection.

2. King. 2. 12, 15. † Eliseus. 2. King. 13. 21.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, * and after his death his body prophesied.

14 He did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes marueilous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their sinnes: * till they were caried away prisoners out of their lande, and were scattered through all the earth, so that there remained but a very fewe people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

1. King. 18. 11, 25.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

17 † * Ezekias made his citie strong, and conueyed water into the middes therof: he digged thorowe the rocke with yron, and made fountaines for waters.

† Ezekias. 2. King. 18. 2, 3 2. King. 18. 13.

18 * In his time came Senacherib vp, and sent Rabsaces, and lift vp his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their hearts and handes, so that they sorowed like a woman in trauaile.

20 But they called vpon the Lorde, which is mercifull, and lift vp their handes vnto him, and immediatly the Holy one heard them out of heauen.

25 He saw by an excellent spirit what should come to passe at the last, and he comforted them that were sorowfull in Sion.

26 He shewed what should come to passe for euer, & secret things, or euer they came to passe.

a Which Salomon made, 1. Kin. 7. 23.

2 Under him was the foundation of the double height laide, and the hie walles that compaſſeth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were reſtored, and the waſſe was about in meaſure as the ſea.

a Which Salomon made, 1. Kin. 7. 23.

4 He took care for his people, that they ſhould not fall, and fortified the citie againſt the ſiege.

5 How honourable was his conuerſation among the people, and when hee came out of the houſe couered with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning ſtarre in the midſt of a cloud, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the ſunne ſhining vpon the temple of the moſt High, and as the rainebowe that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as the floure of the roſes in the ſpring of the yeare, and as lilies by the ſpringes of waters, and as the branches of the frankincenſe tree in the time of ſommer,

9 As a fire and incenſe in the cenſer, and as a veſſel of maſſie gold, ſet with all maner of precious ſtones,

10 And as a faire oliue tree that is fruiteful, and as a cypreſſe tree, which groweth vp to the cloudes.

11 When hee put on the garment of honour and was clothed with all beautie, he went vp to the holy altar, and made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Prieſts hands, he himſelfe ſtood by the hearth of the altar compaſſed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compaſſed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the ſonnes of Aaron in their glorie, and the oblations of the Lorde in their hands before all the congregation of Iſrael.

14 And that he might accompliſh his miniſterie vpon the altar, and garniſh the offering of the moſt High, and Almightie, 15 He ſtretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and he powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good ſauour vnto the moſt high King of all.

16 Then ſhouted the ſonnes of Aaron, and blowed with hollen trumpets, & made a great noyſe to be heard, for a remembrance before the moſt High.

17 Then all the people together haſted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worſhip their Lord God almightie, and moſt High.

18 The ſingers alſo ſang with their voices, ſo that the ſound was great, and the melody ſweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord moſt high with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, & they had accompliſhed his ſeruice.

20 Then went he downe, and ſtretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Iſrael, that they ſhould giue prayſe with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.

21 He began againe to worſhip, that he might receiue the bleſſing of the moſt High.

22 Now therefore giue prayſe all ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increaſed our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercie.

23 That he would giue vs ioyfulnes of heart, and peace in our dayes in Iſrael, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercy with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two maner of people, that my heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

26 They that ſit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philiſtims, & the fooliſh people that dwell in [Sicimus.

[Or, Sichem.

27 ¶ Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach, the ſonne of Eleazarus of Ieruſalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderſtanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wiſedome of his heart.

28 Bleſſed is he that exerciſeth himſelfe therein: and he that layeth vp theſe in his heart, ſhall be wiſe.

29 For if he doe theſe things, he ſhalbe ſtrong in all things: for he ſetteth his ſteps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wiſedome to the godly. The Lord be prayſed for euermore. So be it, ſo be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Ieſus the ſonne of Sirach.

I Will confeſſe thee, O Lord and king, & prayſe thee, O God my Sauiour: I will giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, & haſt preſerued my body from deſtruction, and from the ſnare of the ſlanderous tongue, and from the lippes that are occupied with lies: thou haſt holpen me againſt mine aduerſaries,

3 And haſt deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercie, & for thy Names ſake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of ſuch as ſought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked mee round about, and from the midſt of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from falſe acculation to the King, and from the ſlander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My ſoule ſhal prayſe y Lord vnto death:] for my ſoule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compaſſed me on euery ſide, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the ſuccour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuereſt ſuch as waite for thee, and ſaueſt them out of the hands of the [enemies.

[Or, nations.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lorde the father of my Lorde, that hee would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud without helpe.

11 I will prayſe thy Name continually, and will ſing prayſe with thankſgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou ſaueſt me from deſtruction, & deliuereſt me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks, and prayſe thee, and bleſſe the name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet yong, or euer I went abroad, abroad, I desired wisedome openly in my prayer,

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countries, & she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.
15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foot walked in the right way, and from my youth vp sought I after her.
16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wisedome:
17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory vnto him, that giueth me wisedome.
18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I wil be ielous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.
19 My soule hath wrastled with her, and I haue examined my woorkes: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and considered the ignorances thereof.
20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureneſſe: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.
21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.
22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.
23 Draw neere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.
24 Wherefore are you slowe? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirstie?
25 I opened my mouth, and sayde, "Buy her for you without money. Isa.55.1.
26 Bowe downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is ready that ye may find her.
27 Beholde with your eyes, "howe that I haue had but litle labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest. Chap.6.18.
28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.
29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.
30 Doe your duetie betimes, and he wil giue you a reward at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechonias and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the woords of the Booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of Asadias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon, Or, Sedeias.
2 In the fift yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.
3 And Baruch did reade the woordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Joacim king of Juda might heare, & all the people that were come to heare the booke,
4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the Kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the riuer ‖ Sud.
Or, Sud.
5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.
6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,
7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Joacim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom Priest, and vnto the other priests, & to all the people, which were with him at Ierusalem,
8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into ‖ Iuda land of Juda, the tenth day of the moneth ‖ Siban, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Josias King of Juda had made,
Or, Iuda. Or, Sibat.
9 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had leade away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his princes, and his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and carried them to Babylon.
10 And they sayd, Beholde, we haue sent you money, wherewith yee shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a ‖ meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lorde our God, ‖ Or, Manna, for Minhah, which was the morning and morning sacrifice. Deut.18.53.
11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dates may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen, 12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eies, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and vnder the shadowe of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long doe them seruice, and finde fauour in their sight.
13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lorde our God, (for wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the furie of the Lorde, and his wrath is not turned from vs.) Chap.2.15.
14 And reade this Booke (which wee haue sent to you to bee rehearsed in the Temple of the Lorde) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.
15 Thus shall ye say, "To the Lord our God belongeth righteousnesse, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem, Chap.2.6.
16 And to our Kings, and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, Dan.9.15.
17 Because we haue "sinned before the Lord our God, Dan.9.5.
18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lorde our God, to walke in the commandements that hee gaue vs openly.
19 From the day that the Lorde brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and wee haue bene negligent to hearke his voyce.

20 "Where-

Deu.28.15. 20 *Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day.

21 Neuertheleſſe, we haue not hearkned vnto the voice of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the prophets, whō he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euil in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 He promiseth that he will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and euerlasting Testament.

WHerefore the Lorde our God hath performed his word, which hee pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, & against our Princes and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ieruſalem, according to things, that were written in the law of Moyses, Deut.28.53. 3 That some among vs should *eat the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreouer, he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproch & desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lorde our God, and haue not heard his voice.

Chap.1.15. 6 *To the Lord our God appertaineth righteouſneſſe, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue wee not prayed before the Lord, that wee might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lorde hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkned vnto his voice, to walke in the commaundements of the Lorde that he hath giuen vnto vs.

Dan.9.15. 11 *And nowe, O Lorde God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an hie arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for wee are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, & giue vs fauour in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel, and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, & thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 *Open thine eyes, & beholde: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, *giue vnto the Lorde, neither ‖praiſe nor righteouſneſſe. Deut.26.15. Isa.63.15. *Psal.6.5,6. and 115.17. 18 Isa.38. 18,19. ‖Or, glory, nor praise of righteousnesse.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatneſſe of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee praise and righteouſneſſe, O Lord.

19 For we do not require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnes of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

‖Or, by the hand of thy seruants. Iere.27.7.

21 *Thus saith the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, and serue the king of Babylon: so shal ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if ye will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ieruſalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voice of toy, and the voyce of the bridegroome, and the voice of the bride, and the land shall bee desolate of inhabitants.

24 But wee would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets, namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should be caryed out of their places.

25 And lo, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the cold of the night, and are dead in great miſerie with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lorde our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie,

28 As thou spakest by thy seruaunt Moyses, in the day when thou diddest commaund him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

29 *If ye will not abide my voice, then shall this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations where I wil scatter them. Leuit.26.14. deut.28.15.

30 For I knowe that they will not heare mee: for it is a stiffnecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselues, 31 And know that I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shall heare, and praise mee in the lande of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shal they turne them from their hard backs, and from their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and they shall be lordes of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the lande that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9 He praiseth wisedome vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 39 Onely God was the finder of wisedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy: for thou art mercifull, and haue pity vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, and we vtterly perish.

4 O Lorde Almightie, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, & thy Name, at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuity: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednesse of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commaundements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisedome.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies lande, and art waxen olde in a strange countrey.

11 And art defiled with the dead, and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisedome.

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisedome, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence commeth long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer and golde, wherein men trust and made none ende of their gathering?

18 For they that coined siluer, and were so carefull of their worke, and whose inuention had none end, 19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steads.

20 When they were young, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the pathes thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not beene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it beene seene in Theman.

23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisedome vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Merran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisedome haue knowen the way of wisedome, neither doe they thinke vpon the pathes thereof.

24 O Israel, howe great is the house of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is high, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from the beginning: they were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lorde choose, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisedome, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the clouds?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her pathes.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he that found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is hee which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beasts.

33 When hee sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when her calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Heere we be: and so with cheerefulnes they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

THis is the booke of the commandements of God, and the Lawe that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel wee are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Bee of good comfort, O my people, which art the memorial of Israel.

6 Yee are solde to the nations, not for your destruction: but because yee prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

8 Yee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and yee haue grieued Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When shee saw the wrath comming vpon you from God, she said, Hearken, ye that dwel about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauinesse.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlasting will hath brought vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God

13 They would not know his righteousnesse, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousnesse.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackecloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I will call vpon the Euerlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and he will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation thorow the Euerlasting, and ioy is come vpon mee from the holy One, because of the mercy which shall quickely come vnto you from our euerlasting Sauiour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with ioy and perpetuall gladnesse will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glory, and brightnesse from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to goe astray from your God: so endeuour your selues tenne times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlasting ioy againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is shee that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as shee reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall shee be sory for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, and she shalbe inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem looke toward the East, and behold the ioy that commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Loe, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the holy One vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

PVt off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousnesse, that commeth from GOD, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euerlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteousnesse, and the glory of the worship of God.

5 Arise, O Jerusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and beholde thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the word of the holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery high mountaine, and the long enduring rocks, and to fil the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweete smelling trees shall ouershadow Israel at the commandement of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercy and righteousnesse that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

In this chapter are the makers and mainteiners of images mightily confuted. a That is, seuentie yeeres. Isa. 44 8, 9, 10. & 46. 5, 7. psal. 115. 4. wis. 13. 10.

BEcause of the sinnes that yee haue committed against God, ye shalbe led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shal remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, euen a seuen generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 *Nowe shall ye see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when yee see the multitude before them and behinde them, worshipping them,

5 But say yee in your hearts, O Lord, wee must worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shalbe with you, and shal care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselues are gilted, and layde ouer with siluer: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a mayd that loueth to be decke,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priestes themselues conuey away the golde and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke their gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood, with garmentes like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preserued from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine Iudge of the country: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 An other hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is hee not able to defend himselfe from battell, nor from theeues: so then it is euident that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in:

17 And as the ‖ gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the king: or as one that should bee led to bee put to death, so the priestes keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with barres, lest their gods should be spoyled by robbers. ‖ Or, courts.

18 They light vp candles before them: yea, more then for themselues, whereof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.

19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not. ‖ Or, brasse.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallowes and birdes flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this yee may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 *They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worth: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed. Isa. 46. 7.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vpright, can they moue of themselues, neither if they be bowed downe can they make themselues straight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men. Psal. 115. 4. Wis. 13, 10.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their Priestes sell them, and abuse them: like wise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childebed, touch their sacrifices: by these things yee may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of siluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And the Priests sit in their Temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed, 31 They roare and cry before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The Priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and children.

33 Whether it bee euill that one doeth vnto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a King, nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them, and kepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mighty.

36 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They can shewe no mercie to the widowe, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, golde, and siluer, are as stones that bee hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall bee confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say, that they are gods?

40 Moreouer the Chaldeans themselues dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand their things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

42 Furthermore, the women, girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne straw.

Or, bran.

43 And if one of them be drawen away, & lie with any such as come by, she casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because she was not so worthily reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lies: how may it then be thought or said, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmithes make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: howe should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there commeth any warre, or plague vpon them, the Priestes imagine with themselues, where they may hide themselues with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselues from warre, nor from plagues?

Psal. 115.4. & 135.15.

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, men shall know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations and Kings, that they be no gods, but the works of mens hands, & that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no King in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither pursewe from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, the Priests will escape and saue themselues, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They can not withstand any King or enemies: how can it then be thought or sayde that they be gods?

56 Moreouer, these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can neither defend themselues from theeues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their gold and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselues.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shew his power, or else a profitable vessel in an house, whereby he that vseth it, might haue profit, then such false gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the Sunne, and the Moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightening when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commandeth the cloudes to go about the whole world, they do as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hils and woods, it doth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.

64 Forasmuch now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse Kings:

66 Neither can they shewe signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and do themselues good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no manner of meanes they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scarrowe in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, & gold, & siluer, are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and highnesse which taketh vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they themselues shall be consumed at the last, and they shall be a theme to the country.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reproofe.

¶ The ſong of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel, after this place, They fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fierie furnace.

35 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The crueltie of the king. 48 The flame deuoureth the Caldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The three children praiſe the Lord and prouoke all creatures to the ſame.

24 ND they walked in the midſt of the flame, prayſing God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias ſtood vp, and prayed on this maner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, ſayde, 26 Bleſſed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy name is worthy to bee praiſed and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou haſt done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, & all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and vpon Ieruſalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou haſt executed true iudgements: for by right & equitie haſt thou brought all theſe things vpon vs because of our ſinnes.

29 For wee haue ſinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespaſſed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haſt commanded vs, that we might proſper.

31 Wherefore in al that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou haſt done to vs, thou haſt done them in true iudgement:

32 And deliuered vs into the handes of our wicked enemies, and moſt hatefull traitors, and to an vnrighteous king, and the moſt wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: wee are become a ſhame and reproofe vnto thy ſeruants, and to them that worſhip thee.

34 Pet for thy Names ſake we beſeech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy Couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams ſake, and for thy ſeruant Iſraels ſake, and for thy holy Iſraelis ſake, 36 To whom thou haſt ſpoken and promiſed, that thou wouldeſt multiply their ſeede as the ſtarres of heauen, and as the ſand, that is vpon the ſea ſhore.

37 For we O Lord are become leſſe then any nation, and bee kept vnder this day in all the world, becauſe of our ſinnes:

38 So that now wee haue neither prince, nor prophet nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor ſacrifice, nor oblation, nor incenſe, nor place to offer the firſt fruites before thee, that we might find mercie.

39 Neuertheleſſe, in a contrite heart, and an humble ſpirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullocks, and as in ten thouſand of fat lambes, ſo let our offering be in thy ſight this day, that it may pleaſe thee: for there is no confuſion vnto them, that put their truſt in thee.

41 And now wee followe thee with all our heart and feare thee, and ſeeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to ſhame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindneſſe, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs alſo by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glorie, O Lord.

44 That all they that vex thy ſeruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them bee confounded by thy great force and power, and let their ſtrength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou onely art the Lord God, & glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the Kings ſeruants that had caſt them in, ceaſed not to make the ouen hote with a naphtha, and with pitch and with towe, and with fagots.

a Which is a certaine kinde of fat and chalkie clay, as Plinius writeth, 2. booke chap. 10.

47 So that the flame went out of the fornace fortie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt thoſe Chaldeans, that it found by the fornace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the fornace with them that were with Azarias, and ſmote the flame of the fire out of the fornace, 50 And made in the middes of the fornace like a moiſt whiſſling winde, ſo that the fire touched them not at al, neither grieued nor troubled them.

51 Then theſe three (as out of one mouth) praiſed, and glorified and bleſſed God in the fornace, ſaying, 52 Bleſſed bee thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praiſed and exalted aboue all things for euer, and bleſſed be thy glorious and holy Name, and praiſed aboue al things, and magnified for euer.

53 Bleſſed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glorie, and praiſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Bleſſed be thou that beholdeſt the depths, and ſitteſt vpon the Cherubims, and praiſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Bleſſed be thou in the glorious throne of thy kingdome, and praiſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Bleſſed bee thou in the firmament of heauen, and praiſed aboue all things, and glorified for euer.

57 All yee workes of the Lord, bleſſe ye the Lord: praiſe him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

58 O heauens, bleſſe ye the Lord: praiſe him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer. Pſal. 148.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Miſael, bleſſe yee the Lord: prayſe him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer: for he hath deliuered vs from the hell, and ſaued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the middes of the furnace, and burning flame: euen out of the middes of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confeſſe vnto the Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercie endureth for euer.

90 All yee that worſhip the Lord, bleſſe the God of gods: prayſe him, and acknowledge him: for his mercie endureth worlde without ende.

The hiſtorie of ‖ Suſanna, which ſome ioyne to the ende of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

1 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Suſanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They ſolicite her to wickednes. 23 She chuſeth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accuſed. 45 Daniel doth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioacim.

2 And he tooke a wife, whoſe name was Suſanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and mother alſo were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moyſes.

4 Now Ioacim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his houſe, and to him reſorted the Iewes, becauſe he was more honorable then all others.

5 The ſame yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, ſuch as the Lord ſpeaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which ſeemed to rule the people.

6 Theſe haunted Ioacims houſe, and all ſuch as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Nowe when the people departed away at noone, Suſanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two elders ſawe her that ſhe went in daily and walked, ſo that their luſt was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their mindes, and caſt downe their eyes, that they ſhoulde not ſee heauen, nor remember iuſt iudgements.

10 And albeit they were both wounded with her lout, yet durſt not one ſhewe another his griefe.

Eee two

11 For they were aſhamed to declare their luſt, that they deſired to haue to doe with her:

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to ſee her.

13 And the one ſayd to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the ſame place, and after that they had aſked one another the cauſe, they acknowledged their luſt: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Now when they had eſpied out a conuenient time, that ſhee went in, as her maner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to waſh her ſelfe in the garden, (for it was an hote [illegible])

16 And there was no body there, ſaue the two Elders that had hid themſelues, and watched for her:

17 Shee ſayd to her maydes, Bring me oyle and ſope, and ſhut the garden doores, that I may waſh me.

18 And they did as ſhee bade them, and ſhut the garden doores, and went out themſelues at a backe doore, to fet the thing that ſhee had commanded them: but they ſawe not the Elders, becauſe they were hid.

19 Now when the maydes were gone forth, the two Elders roſe vp and came vnto her, ſaying, 20 Beholde, the garden doores are ſhut, that no man can ſee vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore conſent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, wee will beare witneſſe againſt thee, that a yong man was with thee, and therefore thou didſt ſend away thy maydes from thee.

22 Then Suſanna ſighed, and ſaid, I am in trouble on euery ſide: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto mee: and if I doe it not, I cannot eſcape your handes.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not doe it, then to ſinne in the ſight of the Lord.

24 With that Suſanna cried with a loude voyce, and the two Elders cried out againſt her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the ſeruants of the houſe heard the cry in the garden, they ruſhed in at the backe doore, to ſee what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the ſeruants were greatly aſhamed: for there was neuer ſuch a report made of Suſanna.

28 On the morowe after, came the people to Joacim her husband, and the two Elders came alſo, full of miſchieuous imagination againſt Suſanna, to put her to death, 29 And ſaid before the people, Send for Suſanna the daughter of Helcias Joacims wife. And immediatly they ſent.

30 So ſhe came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Now Suſanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And thoſe wicked men commanded to vncouer her face, (for ſhe was couered) that they might ſo be ſatisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders ſtoode vp in the middes of the people, and laid their handes vpon her head.

35 Which wept, and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart truſted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders ſayd, As wee walked in the garden alone, ſhe came in with two maides, whom ſhe ſent away from her, and ſhut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then wee which ſtoode in a corner of the garden, ſeeing this wickednes, ran vnto them, and we ſaw them as they were together.

39 But wee could not hold him: for hee was ſtronger then we, and opened the doore and leaped out.

40 Now when wee had taken this woman, wee aſked her what yong man this was, but ſhe would not tell vs: of theſe things are wee witneſſes.

41 Then the aſſembly beleeued them, as thoſe that were the Elders and Iudges of the people: ſo they condemned her to death.

42 Then Suſanna cried out with a loude voyce, and ſayd, O euerlaſting God, that knoweſt the ſecrets, and knoweſt all things afore they come to paſſe, 43 Thou knoweſt, that they haue borne falſe witneſſe againſt mee, and beholde, I muſt die, whereas I neuer did ſuch things as theſe men haue maliciouſly inuented againſt me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when ſhee was led to be put to death, the Lord raiſed vp the holy ſpirit of a yong childe, whoſe name was Daniel.

46 Who cryed with a loude voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and ſayd, What meane theſe wordes, that thou haſt ſpoken?

48 Then Daniel ſtoode in the middes of them, and ſayd, Are yee ſuch fooles, O Iſraelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the truth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Iſrael?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne falſe witneſſe againſt her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haſte, and the Elders ſayd vnto him, Come, ſit downe among vs, and ſhewe it vs, ſeeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then ſayde Daniel vnto them, Put theſe two aſide, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put aſunder one from another, hee called one of them and ſayde vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy ſinnes which thou haſt committed aforetime, are come to light.

53 For thou haſt pronounced falſe iudgements, and haſt condemned the innocent, and haſt let the guilty go free, albeit the Lord ſaith, The innocent and righteous haſt thou not ſlay. Exod. 23.7.

54 Now then, if thou haſt ſeene her, tell me, Vnder what tree ſaweſt thou them companying

Or, Ilex.

Or, mirtle tree.

b Called Metreta, and euery one of theſe meaſures contained about ten gallons, which in all make three hundred.

panying together? Who answered, Under a lentiske tree.

55 Then sayde Daniel, Verily thou hast lyed against thine owne head: for loe, the Angell of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

Or, lyke.

56 So put hee him aside, and commaunded to bring the other, and sayde vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Juda, beautie hath deceiued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Juda would not abide your wickednes.

58 Now therefore tell me, Vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a grene tree.

Or, mirtle tree.

59 Then sayd Daniel vnto him, Verily thou hast also lied against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sworde to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cried with a loude voyce, and praysed God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuicted them of false witnesse by their owne mouth)

62 And according to the Lawe of Moyses they deale with them, as they deale wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. Deut. 19. 19. prou. 19. 5.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praysed God for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was layde with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stede.

The historie of Bel and of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

NOw when King Astyages was layd with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day twelue [a] great measures of fine flour, and fourtie sheepe, and sixe great [b] pots of wine.

a Called Artaba, whereof euery one contained somewhat more then nine gallons, which make in all an hundreth and eight gallons at the least.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went dayly to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King sayd vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and sayd, Because I may not worship idoles made with handes, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then sayd the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? seest thou not how much hee eateth and drinketh euery day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and sayd, O king, be not deceiued: for this is but clay within, & brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for his Priestes, and sayd vnto them, If ye tell me not who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shal die:

9 But if yee can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel sayd vnto the King, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Now the Priests of Bel were threescore and tenne, beside their wiues and children) and the King went with Daniel into the Temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Priests sayd, Behold, we shall go out, and set thou the meate here, O King, and let the wine bee filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, wee will suffer death, or els Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Now they thought thēselues sure inough: for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the King set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commaunded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the Temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet, and so departed.

15 Now in the night came the Priestes with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the King arose and Daniel with him.

17 And the king sayd, Daniel, are the seales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they bee whole.

18 And assoone as hee had opened the doore, the king looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loude voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceite.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the king that he should not goe in, and sayd, Behold now the pauement, and marke well whose footesteps are these.

20 And the king sayd, I see the footesteps of men, women, and children: therefore the king was angry.

21 And tooke the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 There-

22 Therefore the King slewe them, and delyuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreouer in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King sayd vnto Daniel, Seyest thou that this is of braste also? loe, hee liueth, and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing God: therefore worship him.

25 Then sayd Daniel vnto the King, I will worship the Lorde my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue mee leaue, O King, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the king said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitche, and fatte, and haire, and did seethe them together, and made lumpes thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel sayd, Behold, whom ye worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The King is become a Iewe: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priests to death.

29 So they came to the King, and sayd, Deliuer vs Daniel, or els we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Now when the King sawe, that they preassed sore vpon him, and that necessitie constrained him, hee deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lions den, where he was six dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lions, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said vnto Abbacuc, Goe, carie the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And Abbacuc sayde, Lorde, I neuer sawe Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then sayde Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, and thou neuer failest them that loue thee and feare thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lorde set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the King went to bewaile Daniel: and when hee came to the den, he looked in, and beholde, Daniel sate in the midst of the Lions.

41 Then cryed the King with a loude voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other beside thee.

42 And hee drewe him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

CHAP. I.

1 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 30 Antiochus spoileth vp seuen.

AFter that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went foorth of the land of Chettiim, and slew Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia,

2 Hee tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holdes, and slew the Kings of the earth.

3 So went hee thorow to the endes of the world, and tooke spoyles of many nations, in so much that the world stoode in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hautie.

4 b Also when hee had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, and knewe that he should die.

7 Then hee called for the eldest of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of childhead, and parted his kingdom among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 c And his seruants reigned euery one in his roome.

10 And they all caused themselues to be crowned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much mischeefes increased in the world.

11 For out of them came the wicked roote, euen Antiochus ‖ Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundreth and seuen and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Grecians.

12 d In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entised many, saying, Let vs goe, and make a couenant with the heathen that are rounde about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorrow.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were redy, and went to the King, which gaue them licence to doe after the the ordinances of the heathen, 15 e Then set they vp a place of exercise at Hierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen.

16 And made themselues f vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy Couenant, and ioyned themselues to the heathen, and were solde to doe mischiefe.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mightie companie, with Charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie, 19 g And moued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraide of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wan many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, hee turned againe in the hundreth fourtie and three yere,

22 And went vp to ward Israel and Jerusalem with a mightie people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden Altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the powring vessels, and the bowels, and the golden basens, and the vaile, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the siluer and golde, and the precious iewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee founde, and when hee had taken away all, hee departed into his owne land, 25 After hee had murthered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegroome tooke him to mourning, and shee that sate in the marriage chamber was in heauinesse.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Jacob was couered with confusion.

30 h After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe taxe-master into the cities of Juda, which came to Jerusalem with a great multitude, 31 Who spake peaceable woordes to them in deceit, and they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when hee had spoyled the citie, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the city of Dauid with a great & thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreouer, they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselues therein.

37 And they reserued it with weapons and victailes, and gathered the spoile of Jerusalem, and laid it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare, and were in an ambushment for the Sanctuarie, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuarie, and defiled the Sanctuarie, 40 Insomuch that the citizens of Jerusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom shee had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuarie was left waste as a wildernes: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honor brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes. Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 6. & 7.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Jerusalem, and to the cities of Juda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the country, 47 And that they should forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the ‖ offerings in the Sanctuarie, ‖ Or, drinke offerings.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feasts,

49 And pollute the Sanctuarie and the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars & groues, and Chappels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts, 51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannesse, and pollute themselues, that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances.

52 And that whosoeuer would not doe according to the commandement of the King, should suffer death.

53 In like manner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And he commanded the cities of Juda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euill in the land.

57 The fifteenth day of Caſleu, in the hundreth and fiue and fortieth yeere, they ſet vp the abomination of deſolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery ſide.

58 And before the doores of the houſes, and in the ſtreets they burnt incenſe.

59 And the bookes of the Lawe, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

61 And they executed theſe things euery moneth vpon the people of Iſrael that were found in the cities.

62 And in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, they did ſacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the ſtead of the altar of ſacrifices.

63 And according to the commaundement, they put certaine women to death, which had cauſed their children to be circumciſed, 64 And they hanged vp the children at their necks, and they ſpoiled their houſes, and ſlew the circumciſers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Iſrael, which were of courage, and determined in themſelues, that they would not eat vncleane things,

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his ſonnes for the deſtruction of the holy citie, 19 They refuſe to do ſacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the law of God. 33 They are ſlaine, and will not fight againe becauſe of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying commaundeth his ſonnes to ſticke by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

Ioſeph. Ant. 12 cap. 7.

IN thoſe dayes ſtood vp Mattathias the prieſt, the ſonne of Joannes, the ſonne of Symeon, of the ſonnes of Joarib of Jeruſalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And he had fiue ſonnes, Joanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thaſſi,

4 Judas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called ‖ Abaron, and Jonathan, whoſe name was Apphus.

‖ Or, Auaran.

6 Now he ſaw the blaſphemies, which were committed in Juda and Jeruſalem:

7 And hee ſayd, Woe is me: wherefore was I borne, to ſee this deſtruction of my people, and the deſtruction of the holy citie, and thus to ſit ſtill? it is deliuered into the hands of the enemies,

8 And the Sanctuarie is in the hands of ſtrangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renowme.

9 Her glorious veſſels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are ſlaine in the ſtreetes, and her young men are fallen by the ſword of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that hath not ſome poſſeſſion in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her ſpoyles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, ſhe is become an handmaid.

12 Beholde our ſanctuarie, and our beautie, and honour is deſolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, hee, and his ſonnes, and put ſackecloth vpon them, and mourned very ſore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin, to compell them to forſake God, and to ſacrifice.

16 So many of the Iſraelites conſented vnto them: but Mattathias and his ſonnes aſſembled together.

17 Then ſpake the commiſſioners of the king, and ſayd vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this citie, and haſt many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore firſt, and fulfill the Kings commaundement, as all the heathen haue done, and alſo the men of Juda, and ſuch as remaine at Jeruſalem: ſo ſhalt thou and thy familie bee in the Kings fauour, and thou and thy children ſhall be enriched with ſiluer and golde, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias anſwered & ſayd with a loud voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion, obey him, and fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and conſent to his commandements, 20 Yet will I and my ſonnes, and my brethren, walke in the couenant of our fathers.

a The father promiſeth for his children, that they ſhall ſerue God: ſo doeth Ioſhua for his houſholde, Ioſh. 24. 15.

21 God be merciful vnto vs, that wee forſake not the law and the ordinances.

22 Wee will not hearken vnto the Kings words to tranſgreſſe our religion, neither on the right ſide, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off ſpeaking theſe words, there came one of the Iewes, in the ſight of all, to ſacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias ſaw it, he was ſo b inflamed with zeale, that his reines ſhooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the lawe: therefore hee ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

b It is a griefe to the godly to ſee ſ people offend.

25 And at the ſame time hee ſlewe the Kings commiſſioner, that compelled him to doe ſacrifice, and deſtroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Law of God, * doing as Phinees did vnto Zambri the ſonne of Salom. Num. 25. 8.

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loude voyce in the citie, ſaying, Whoſoeuer is zealous of the Law, and will ſtand by the couenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So he, and his ſonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the citie.

29 Then many that ſought after iuſtice and iudgement,

‖ Or, that liued iuſtly and vprightly.

30 Went downe into the wildernes to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wiues and their cattell: for the afflictions increaſed ſore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was tolde vnto the kings ſeruants, seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Jerusalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the Kings commaundement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernesse,

32 Then many pursued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, they camped against them and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath day, 33 And sayd vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and doe according to the commandement of the King, and ye shall liue.

34 But they answered, Wee will not goe forth, neither will we doe the kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, nor stopped the priuie places, 37 But said, We will die all in our innocency: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wiues & their children, to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoeuer shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the secrete places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Assideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Lawe.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned themselues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they founde within the coastes of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proude men: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Lawe out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drew neere, that Mattathias should die, he said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be yee zealous of the law, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall yee receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

CHAP. III.

1 Judas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Judas toward God. 55 Judas determineth to fight against Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his hoste.

THen Judas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that held with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a brest plate as a gyant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, & defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his actes he was like a Lion, and as a Lions whelpe roaring after the praye.

5 For he pursued the wicked, & sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people.

6 So

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and al the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And he grieued diuers Kings, but Jacob reioyced by his actes, and his memoriall is blessed for euer.

8 Hee went also thorow the cities of Juda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, & turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was hee renowmed vnto the endes of the earth, and hee assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But a Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

a Who was gouernour of Syria, Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 9.

11 Which when Judas perceiued, hee went foorth to meete him, and smote him, and slewe him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Judas tooke their spoyles, and tooke also Apollonius sword, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the armie of Syria, heard that Judas had gathered vnto him the congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He sayd, I wil get me a name, and wil be glorious in the Realme: for I wil goe fight with Judas, and them that are with him, which haue despited the Kings commandement.

15 So hee made him ready to goe vp, & there went with him a mighty hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp of Beth-horon, Judas went forth to meete him with a small company.

17 But when they saw the armie comming against them, they said to Judas, How are wee able, being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing wee be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then sayd Judas, It is an easie thing for many to bee shut vp in the handes of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength commeth from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruell and proude multitude, to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes, 22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afrayd of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Beth-horon vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundreth men of them, & the residue fled into the land of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Judas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about, 26 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Judas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these things, hee was angrie in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, and gathered all the power of his Realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasurie, and gaue his hoste a yeres wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yeere for all occasions.

29 Neuertheless, when he saw that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the Lawes which had bene of olde time,

30 Hee feared lest he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberalitie hee farre passed the other Kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore hee was beanie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreyes, and to gather much money.

32 So hee left Lysias a noble man, and of the Kings blood to ouersee the kings business, from the riuer of Euphrates, vnto the borders of Egypt, 33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreouer, hee gaue him halfe of his hoste and Elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done,

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Juda and Jerusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy and roote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 And to set strangers for to inhabite al their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yeere an hundreth fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the hie countreys.

Deut. 20. 5. Iudg. 7. 3.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolomeus the sonne of Dorymenes, and Nicanor, & Gorgias, mighty men and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fourty thousand footmen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to goe into the land of Juda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came & pitched by † Emmaus in the plaine countrey. † Emmaus.

41 Now when the merchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and golde, and seruants, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

Ioseph. lib. 12. cap. 10.

42 ¶ Now when Judas and his brethren saw that trouble increased, and that the hoste drew neere vnto their borders, considering the kings wordes, whereby he had commaunded to destroy the people, and vtterly abolish them, 43 They sayd one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuary.

44 Then the congregation were soone ready gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Jerusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wildernesse. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the

Sanctuarie

Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the ſtrangers kept the fortreſſe, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Jacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceaſed.

46 So they gathered themſelues together, and came to Maſpha before Jeruſalem: for in Maſpha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Iſrael.

47 And they faſted that day, and put ſackecloth vpon them, & caſt aſhes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the law, wherein the heathen ſought to paint the likeneſſe of their idoles, 49 And brought the Prieſts garments, and the firſt fruits, and the tithes, and ſet there the Nazarites, which accompliſhed their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loude voice toward heauen, ſaying, What ſhall wee doe with theſe? and whither ſhall we carry them away?

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and pollu'd, and thy Prieſts are in heauineſſe, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come againſt vs, to deſtroy vs: thou knoweſt what things they imagine againſt vs.

53 How can we ſtand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cryed with a loude voyce.

55 And after this Judas ordeined captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thouſands, and captaines ouer hundreths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houſes, or married wiues, or planted vineyards, or were fearefull that they ſhould returne euery one to his owne houſe,* according to the Law.

Deut. 20. 5. & 24. 5.

57 So the hoſte remoued, and pitched vpon the Southſide of Emmaus.

58 And Judas ſaid, Arme your ſelues, and be valiant men, & be ready againſt the morning to fight with theſe nations, which are gathered together againſt vs to deſtroy vs & our ſanctuary.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battel, then to ſee the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuarie.

60 Neuertheleſſe, as the will of God is in heauen, ſo be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Judas goeth againſt Gorgias which lieth in waite. 14 He putteth Gorgias and his hoſte to flight. 28 Lyſias inuadeth Iudea, 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple, and dedicateth the altar.

Ioſeph. lib. 12. cap. 10.

THen tooke Gorgias fiue thouſand foote men, and a thouſand of the beſt horſemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to ſlay them ſuddenly: and the men of the fortreſſe were his guides.

3 Now when Judas heard it, he remoued, and they that were valiant men, to ſmite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was diſperſed from the campe.

5 In the meane ſeaſon came Gorgias by night into Judas campe: and when he found no man there, hee ſought them in the mountaines: for ſayd he, they flee from vs.

6 But aſſoone as it was day, Judas ſhewed himſelfe in the field with three thouſand men, which had neither harneſſe nor ſwords to their minds.

7 And they ſawe that the armies of the heathen were ſtrong and wel armed, and their horſe men about them, and that theſe were expert men of warre.

8 Then ſayde Judas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afraid of their aſſaulte.

9 Remember howe our fathers were deliuered * in the red Sea, when Pharaoh purſued them with an armie.

Exod. 14. 9. 29.

10 Therefore nowe let vs crie vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the Couenant of our fathers, and will deſtroy this hoſte before our face this day:

11 So ſhall all the heathen knowe, that there is one, which deliuereth and ſaueth Iſrael.

12 Then the ſtrangers lift vp their eyes, and ſawe them comming againſt them, 13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Judas blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were diſcomfited, and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmoſt of them fell by the ſword, and they purſued them vnto ‖ Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Jamnia, ſo that there were ſlaine of them about three thouſand men.

‖ Or, Aſdaramoth.

16 So Judas turned againe with his hoſte, from purſuing them,

17 And ſayd vnto the people, Be not greedy of the ſpoyles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but ſtand ye now faſt againſt your enemies, and ouercome them: then may ye ſafely take the ſpoyles.

19 As Judas was ſpeaking theſe wordes, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias ſaw that his were fled, and that Judas ſouldiers burnt the tentes: (for the ſmoke that was ſeene, declared what was done.)

21 When they ſaw theſe things, they were ſore afrayd, and when they ſaw alſo that Judas and his hoſte were in the field ready to fet themſelues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the land of ſtrangers.

23 So Judas turned againe to ſpoyle the tents, where he gate much golde and ſiluer, and precious ſtones, and purple of the ſea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and ſung Pſalmes and praiſed toward the heauen: for hee is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And ſo Iſrael had a great victory in that day.

26 ¶ Now all the ſtrangers that eſcaped, came, and tolde Lyſias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard theſe things, was ſore afrayd & diſcouraged, becauſe ſuch things came not vpō Iſrael as he would, neither ſuch things as the king had commanded him, came to paſſe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gatherea Lyſias threeſcore thouſande choſen foote men, men, & fiue thousand horsemen to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into ‖ Idumea, and pitched their tents at ‖ Beth-sura, where Judas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw that mighty army, he prayed, and sayd, Blessed be thou, O Sauiour of Israel, *which didst destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy seruaunt Dauid, *and gauest the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut vp this army in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afrayd, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the swoorde of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, prayse thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, fiue thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his army put to flight, and the manlinesse of Judas souldiers, and that they were readie, either to liue or die valiantly, hee went into Antiochia, & gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his army, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Judea.

36 Then sayd Judas & his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp to cleanse, and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuary layd waste, and the altar defiled, & the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Judas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had cleansed the Sanctuarie.

42 So he chose Priests that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the law,

43 And they cleansed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar, 46 And layed vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a prophet, to shew what should be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Law, and builded a newe altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also newe holy vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlestick, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candlestick, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, and finished all the works that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chasleu, in the hundreth and eight and fortieth yeere they arose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offred sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day, was it made newe with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praising toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnes, and offred sacrifices of deliuerance & praise, 57 And decked the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproach of the heathen was put away.

59 So Judas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel ordeined that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth Chasleu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walles and strong towres round about, least the Gentiles should come, and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garrison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Judas vanquisheth the heathen that go about to destroy Israel, and helpeth his brethren Simon and Ionathan. 50 He smiteth the citie of Ephron, because they denyed him passage there in.

NOw when the nations round about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuarie renewed as afore, they were sore grieued. *Ioseph. lib. 13. cap. 12.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Jacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Judas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at ‖ Arabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and he smote them with a great plague, and drowe them to straits, and tooke their spoiles. ‖ Or, Arabbathene.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had bene a snare & an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towres, and besieged besieged them, and destroyed them vtterly, and burnt their towers with fire, and all that were in them.

6 Afterward, went he against the children of Ammon, where he found a mighty power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so hee discomfited them.

8 And tooke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned again into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castle of Datheman,

10 And sent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs.

11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortresse, whereunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come nowe therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine:

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wiues and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galile, with their clothes rent, which told the same tidings, 15 And sayde that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sydon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.

16 When Iudas and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they besieged.

17 Then sayd Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and go and deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Ionathan will go into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So hee left Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea.

19 And commanded them, saying, Take the ouersight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thousand men, to goe into Galile, and to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And hee pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so hee tooke their spoyles.

23 Then they rescued them that were in Galile and in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Ionathan went ouer Iorden, & trauailed three dayes iourney in the wildernesse,

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, & tolde them euery thing that was done, vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bolora, and Boloy, in Alemis, [Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong and great) [Or, Chasphor]

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morrowe they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these fortes, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wildernesse toward Bolora, and wanne the citie, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their spoyle, and set fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night he remoued from thence, and went toward the fortresse.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the fort, and had assaulted them.

31 When Iudas saw that the battell was begun, and that the crie of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then he sayd vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behind them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knew, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and hee smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Malpha, and layde siege vnto it, and wan it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoyled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chasbon, Maged, and Boloy, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great,

39 And he hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come & fight against thee. So Iudas went to meet them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captains of his hoste, When Iudas and his hoste come neere to the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shall not be able to withstand him: for he will be too strong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, we will go ouer vnto him, and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood, he caused the gouernors of the people to remaine by the flood, and commaunded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battell.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, and cast away their weapons, and fled into the temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which citie Judas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Judas.

45 ¶ Then Judas gathered al the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage a very great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defenced: they could not passe, neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must go thorow it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shut themselues in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Judas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your land, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely goe thorow on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Judas commanded a Proclamation to be made thorow out the hoste, that euery man should assaile it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie, all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slewe all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and rooke the spoyle therof, and went thorow the citie ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Jorden into the great plaine before Bethan.

53 And Judas gathered together those that were behind, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnes vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Now whiles Judas & Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais, 56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant acts, and battels which they had atchieued, sayd, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their host a commandement, and went toward Jamnia.

59 But Gozias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Joseph & Azarias were put to flight, & pursued vnto the borders of Judea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrow among the people of Israel.

61 Because they were not obedient vnto Judas and his brethren, but thought to do some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen: whereseuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Judas forth with his brethren, & fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the South, where he wanne Hebron, and the townes thereof, & he destroyed the castle therof, and burnt the towers therof round about. Joseph. Ant. 12. cap. 11. & 12.

66 Then remooued he to go into the land of the strangers, and went thorow Samaria. Or, Philistims.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shewe their valiantnes, and went forth to battell without counsell: and when Judas came to Azotus in the strangers land, he brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoyles of the cities, and came into the land of Juda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus willing to take the citie of Elymais, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickenes, & dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made king. 34 The maner to prouoke elephants to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiantly all. 48 The siege of Sion.

Joseph. Ant. 12. cap. 13.

NOw when king Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countries, he heard that Elimais in the countrey of Persia, was a citie greatly renowned for riches, siluer and gold,

2 And that there was in it a very rich Temple, wherein were coueringes of golde, coat armours, and harnesse, which Alexander King of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the city, and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heauinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Juda, were driuen away,

6 And that Lysias, which went forth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Jewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whome they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which he had set vp vpon the altar at Jerusalem, and fenced the Sanctuarie with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his citie.

8 So when the King had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therefore he layd him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe as he had thought.

9 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he saw he must needs die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, and sayd vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come? and into what floods of miserie am I fallen now, whereas aforetime I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power?

12 And now doe I remember the euils that

I

I haue done at Ierusalem: for I toke all the vessels of golde and syluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and beholde, I must die with great sorow in a strange land.

14 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler ouer his Realme,

15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that he should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till he might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hun-dreth fourtie and nineth yeere.

Ioseph. Ant. xii. cheap. 14.

17 ¶ When Lysias knewe that the king was dead, he ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whom he had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Ieru-salem, kept in the Israelites round about ȳ Sanctuarie, and sought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therfore Iudas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege
them.

20 So they came together, & besieged them in the hundreth and fiftie yeere, & made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre,

21 But certaine of them that were besieged, gate foorth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ioyned themselues)

22 And they went vnto the king, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?

23 We haue bene ready to serue thy father, and to go forward in those things, that he appointed, and to obey his commaundements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and wheresoeuer they found any of vs, they slewe them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layde hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And beholde, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou doest not preuent them quickly, they will doe greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the king heard this, he was very angry, and called all his friends, the captains of his armie, and his horsemen,

29 And bands that were hired, came vnto him from the kings, that were confederate, and from the Iles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hun-dreth thousand footemen, and twentie thousande horsemen, and two and thirtie Elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Idumea, and drewe neere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engins of warre, but they came out, and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castle, and remooued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias, ouer against the Kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, and brought the armie and his power towarde the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie set themselues in aray to the battell, and blewe the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the Elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberies,

35 And they set the beastes according to the ranges: so that by euery Elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coates of maile and helmets of brasse vpon their heades, & vnto eue-ry beast were ordained fiue hundreth horsemen of the best,

36 Which were ready at all times where-soeuer the beast was: and whithersoeuer the beast went, they went also, & departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towers of wood ȳ couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon euery one were two & thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to stirre them vp, and to keepe them in the valleys.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glittered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings army was spread vpon the hie mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the company & the rattling of the harneste, were astonied: for the armie was very great and mighty.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entered into the battell, & they slewe fiue hundreth men of the kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar, the sonne of Sa-ron, saw one of the Elephants armed with royal harneste, and was more excellent then all the other beasts, he thought that the king should be vpon him.

1 Or, Sauaran.

44 Wherefore he iouparded himselfe to deli-uer his people, and to get him a perpetual name,

45 And ranne boldely vnto him through the middes of the hoste, slaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went he to the Elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, and slewe him: then fell the Elephant downe vpon him, and there he died.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the kings armie went vp to meet them toward Ierusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Iudea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreouer the king tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no victuales there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The king tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it,

51 And besieged the Sanctuary many dayes, and made instruments to shoote, and other en-gins of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 ‖ They also made engins against their en-gins, and fought a long season.

2 Or, the Iewes.

53 But in the garners there were no victuales:
for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Iudea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, haue eaten vp the reliques of the ſtore.

54 So that in the Sanctuarie were few men left: for the famine came ſo vpon them, that they were ſcattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lyſias heard that Philip, (whom Antiochus the King, whiles hee liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his ſonne, that he might be king)

56 Was come againe out of Perſia, and Media and the Kings hoſte with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 He and his haſted, & were ſtirred forward by them in the caſtle to goe and tell the King, and the captaines of the hoſte, and to others, ſaying, We decreaſe dayly, and our victailes are but ſmall: and the place that we lay ſiege vnto, is ſtrong, and the affaires of the Realme depend vpon vs.

58 Nowe therefore let vs ‖ agree with theſe men, & take truce with them, and with all their nation, 59 And graunt them to liue after their Law, as they did afore: for they be grieued, and doe all theſe things, becauſe we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the Princes were content, and ſent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the king and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortreſſe.

62 And the king went vp to mount Sion: but when hee ſawe that the place was well defenced, he brake his othe that he had made, and commanded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed he in all haſte, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: ſo he fought againſt him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius reigned, after he had killed Antiochus and Lyſias. 5 He troubleth the children of Iſrael through the counſell of certaine wicked perſons. 37 The prayer of the Prieſt againſt Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his prayer.

Joſeph. Ant. 12. chap. 5.

IN the hundreth, and one and ſixtieth yeere departed Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the ſea coaſt and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the poſſeſſion of his fathers kingdome, his ſouldiers tooke Antiochus and Lyſias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he ſaid, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Nowe when Demetrius was ſet vpon the throne of his kingdome,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Iſrael, whoſe captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the high Prieſt.

6 Theſe men accuſed the people vnto the king, ſaying, Iudas and his brethren haue ſlaine all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore ſende now ſome man, whom thou truſteſt, that he may goe and ſee all the deſtruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the kings lande, and let them punith them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king choſe Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the Realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and ſent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom he made the Prieſt, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Iſrael.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoſt vnto the land of Iuda, and ſent meſſengers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleeued not their ſaying: for they ſaw that they were come with a great hoſte.

12 Then a company of the gouernours aſſembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreate of reaſonable points.

13 And the ‖ Aſideans were the firſt that required peace among the children of Iſrael. ‖ Or, Haſidimi.

14 For ſaid they, He that is a Prieſt of the ſeede of Aaron, is come with his armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then he ſpake vnto them peaceably, and ſware vnto them and ſaide, We will doe you no harme, neither your friends:

16 And they beleeued him: but hee tooke of them threeſcore men, and ſlew them in one day, according to the words that were written,

17 The flesh of thy Saints, and their blood haue they caſt abroade about Ieruſalem, and there was no man that would bury them. Pſal. 79. 2.

18 So there came a feare and a trembling among all the people: for they ſaid, There is neither truetie nor righteouſneſſe in them: for they haue broken the appointment and othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remooued from Ieruſalem, and pitched his tent at Beth-zecha, where he ſent foorth & tooke many of the men that had forſaken him, and certaine of the people whom he ſlew and caſt into the great pit. ‖ Or, Bethſeth, or Bazeth.

20 Then committed hee the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: ſo Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus ſtroue for the Prieſthood.

22 And all ſuch as troubled the people, reſorted vnto him: in ſo much that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Iſrael.

23 Nowe when Iudas ſawe all the miſchiefe that Alcimus and his company had done among the Iſraelites more then the heathen, 24 He went foorth round about all the borders of Iudea, and puniſhed thoſe that were fallen away, ſo that they came no more abroad in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus ſawe that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knew that hee was not able to abide them, he went againe to the King and accuſed them of wicked things.

26 Then the King ſent Nicanor one of his chiefe Princes, which hated Iſrael deadly, and commaunded him that hee ſhould deſtroy the people. Joſeph. Ant. 12. chap. 16

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ieruſalem with a great hoſte, and ſent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, ſaying, 28 Let there be no warre betweene me, and you, I will come with few men, to ſee how ye do, friendly.

29 So

29 So he came vnto Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Judas.

30 Neuertheless, it was told Judas, that he came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore he feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counsell was bewrayed, he went out to fight against Judas beside ‖Carphasalama,

‖Or, Caphar-sarama,

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors host about fiue thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the burnt offering that was offered for the king.

34 But he laughed at them, & mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Judas and his host be not deliuered now into mine handes, if euer I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the altar in the Temple, weeping and saying,

37 Forsomuch as thou, O Lorde, hast chosen this *House, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

*Esa.56.5,7.

38 Bee auenged of this man and his host, and let them be slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Jerusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an host met him out of Syria.

40 And Judas pitched in ‖Adasa, with three thousand men, where Judas prayed, saying,

‖Or, Adarsa.

41 O Lord, *because the messengers of King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forth, and slew an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand of them.

*2.King.19.35. ecclus.48.22. Esa.37.36.2. mac.7.19.

42 So destroy thou this host before vs to day, that all other may know that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors host was discomfited, and he himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Howe when his armie sawe that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney fro Adasa vnto Gazera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the townes of Judea round about, and ruthed vpon them, and threwe them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoiles, and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Jerusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordeined to keepe yeerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Juda was in rest a little while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent vnto the Iewes.

IUdas heard also the fame of the Romans, that they were mighty, and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them, Ioseph. Ant. 12.cap.18.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they told him of their battels, and their worthy acts, which they did among the ‖Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

‖Or, French-men.

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: howe that they had woon there the mines of siluer and gold,

4 And that by their counsel and gentle behauiour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited and giuen great ouerthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, and that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,

5 How they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Perses kings of the ‖Macedonians, and others, that rose against them, and how they ouercame them,

‖Or, Citizens.

6 And howe great Antiochus king of Asia that came against them in battel, hauing an hundreth and tweney Elephants, with horsmen and charets, and a very great army, was discomfited by them,

7 And howe they tooke him aliue, and ordeined him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a seperate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of the best countreyes, which they tooke of him and gaue them to King Eumenes.

9 Againe when it was told them that the Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captaine, which gaue them battell, and slewe many of them, and tooke many prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoyled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holdes, and subdued them to bee their bondemen vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, how they destroyed and brought into subiection other kingdomes and Iles, whosoeuer had withstood them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their owne friends, and those that stayd vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, insomuch that whosoeuer heard of their renowme, was afrayd of them.

13 For whome they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, & whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeined themselues a councell, wherein there dwelleth euery day men consulted dayly, and prouided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well, 16 And they that committed their gouernment to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Eupolemus the sonne of John, the sonne of Accus, and Jason the soune of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome, to make friendship and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they saw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the ‖ Senate where they spake and sayd,

‖Or, counsill.

20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the Epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse, and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace, and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sword, and enemie be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their friends thorowout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Iewes shal helpe them, as the time shall be appointed, with all their heart,

‖Or, the Romanes.

26 Also ‖ they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but ‖ they shall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them.

‖Or, the Iewes.

27 Likewise also, if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romans shal helpe them with a good wil, according as the time shal be appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheate be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe these couenants without deceit.

29 According to these articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points the one party, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde or take away, shalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friends, and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his armie against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Ionathan & put in the Head of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Ionathan and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palsie, and dieth. 68 He commeth vpon Ionathan by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Ionathan with Bacchides.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard howe Nicanor and his hoste had giuen the battell, hee sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Judea, and his ‖chiefe strength with them.

Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 18.

‖Or, the right horne.

2 So they went forth by the way that streward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Mesaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundreth, fiftie and two yeere, they layd their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Berea, with twentie thousand foot men, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Judas had pitched his tent at ‖ Eleasa, and three thousand chosen men with him.

‖Or, Laisa.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afrayd, and many conueyed themselues out of the hoste, so that there abode no moe of them, but eight hundreth men.

7 When Judas saw that his host fasted him, and that he must needes fight, he was sore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuertheless, he sayd vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies, if peraduenture wee may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall wee fight against them, that are so few?

10 Then Judas sayd, a God forbid, that we should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

a He that was wont to pray & ouercome, is ouercome when he trusteth in his strength, and omitteth prayer.

11 Then the hoste remooued out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threw with slings, and the archers marched in the foreward, & they that fought in the foreward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the army drew nere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They of Judas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shooke at the noyse of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Nowe when they which were of the left wing, saw that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Judas behinde, and them that were with him, hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Judas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Judas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying, 21 Howe is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel?

22 Concerning the other things of Judas, both the battels and the valiant actes that hee did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 1. and 3.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Judas, wicked men came vp in all the coastes of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselues to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselues with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friends together, and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

Or, against the enemies of our nation.

30 Therefore, this day wee chuse thee that thou mayest bee our Prince and captaine in his place to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in steade of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knewe it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother perceiuing that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with all their companie, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Alphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstoode, hee came ouer Jorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Jonathan sent his brother Iohn a captaine of the people, to pray his friends, the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

Or, Iambri.

36 But the children of ‖ Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke John, and all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great marriage, and brought the bride from ‖ Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.

Or, Nadabath.

38 Therefore they remembred John their brother, and went vp, and hid themselues vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegroome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with timbrels, and instruments of musicke, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush, rose vp against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoyles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Jorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Jorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his companie, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Beholde, the battell is before vs, and behinde vs, and the water of Jorden on this side and that side, and the marish and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore cry now vnto heauen, that ye may bee deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside from him and reculed.

48 Then Jonathan, and they that were with him, lept into Jorden, and swimmed ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe through Jorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Jerusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Juda, as the castle of Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, ‖ Pharathon, and ‖ Tephoo, with hie walles, with gates, and with barres,

Or, Thana.
Or, Thopa.

51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 Hee fortified also the citie Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of victuales.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundreth, fiftie and three yeere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commanded that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palsie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides sawe that Alcimus was dead, hee turned againe to the King, and so the land of Juda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Beholde, Jonathan and his company dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and hee will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Judea, to take Jonathan, and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowen vnto them.

‖Or, Ionathan. 61 And ‖they tooke fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse, and slew them.

‖Or, Bethbessen. 62 ¶ Then Jonathan and Simon with their company departed vnto ‖Beth-basin which is in the wildernesse, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his hoste, and sent word to them that were of Judea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went foorth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number,

‖Or, O dare. 66 And slewe ‖Odomeras and his brethren, and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the citie, & burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, b that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

b Wicked counsell falleth on the counsellers.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadours vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, & did according to his desire, and made an othe, that hee would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So he restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken afortime out of the land of Juda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 3. IN the hundreth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went foorth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan with louing words, as though hee would preferre him.

4 For hee sayd, Wee will first make peace with him, before hee ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so hee gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to bee confederate with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castle, to bee deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castell.

8 Therefore they were sore afraid, because they heard that the king had giue him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Jerusalem, and began to build, and repaire the citie.

11 And hee commaunded the workemen to builde the walles, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castels which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Lawe and the commandements, for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 Hee sayd, Might wee finde such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Upon this hee wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these words, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan, sendeth salutation.

19 Wee haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordeine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nation, and to bee called the Kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a ‖crowne of golde,) that thou mayest ‖consider what is for our profit, and keepe friendship toward vs.

‖Or, mitre. ‖Or, take our part.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundreth and threescore yeere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was marueilous sory, and said, Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 3.

23 What haue we done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewards, that they may helpe me.

25 Wherevpon hee wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIVS vnto the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Nowe therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, and free you from the customes cuſtomes of ſalt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part of the ſeede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne duetie, I ſo releaſe them, that from this day forth, none ſhall take any thing of the land of Juda, or of the three gouernments, which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, a from this day forth for euermore.

a And of the countrey beyond Iorden, as Ioſephus writeth.

31 Jeruſalem alſo with all things belonging thereto, ſhall bee holy and free from the tenthes and tributes.

32 Alſo I releaſe þ power of the caſtel which is at Jeruſalem, and giue it vnto the hie Prieſt, that he may ſet in it ſuch men, as he ſhal chuſe to keepe it.

33 Moreouer I freely deliuer euery one of the Jewes that were taken away priſoners out of the land of Juda throughout all my Realme, and euery one of them ſhalbe free from tributes, yea, euen their cattel.

34 And all the feaſtes, and Sabbaths, and new moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feaſt, and the three dayes after the feaſt, ſhall be dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Jewes in my Realme, 35 So that in them no man ſhal haue power to doe any thing, or to vexe any of them in any maner of cauſe.

36 Alſo thirtie thouſande of the Jewes ſhall be written vp in the Kings hoſte, and haue their wages payed them as appertaineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of them ſhall be ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings ſtrong holdes.

37 And ſome of them ſhall bee ſet ouer the kings moſt ſecret affaires, and their gouernours and their princes ſhal be of themſelues, and they ſhal liue after their owne lawes, as the king hath commanded in the land of Juda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria, ſhal be ioyned vnto Judea, and they ſhall bee vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Prieſt.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuary at Jeruſalem, for the neceſſary expenſes of the holy things.

40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thouſand ſicles of ſiluer of the Kings reuennes out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they ſhal giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And beſides this, the fiue thouſand ſicles of ſiluer which they receiued yeerely of the accompt appointed for the entertainement of the Sanctuarie, theſe yeeres paſſed, euen theſe things ſhall be releaſed, becauſe they appertaine to the Prieſts that miniſter.

43 Item, whoſoeuer they bee that flee vnto the Temple at Jeruſalem, or within þ liberties thereof, and are indetted to the king for any maner of thing, they ſhalbe pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building alſo and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expenſes ſhall be giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jeruſalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holdes in Judea may bee built vp, ſhall alſo the coſts be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard theſe wordes, they gaue no credite vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembred the great wickedneſſe that he had done in Iſrael, and how ſore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for hee was the firſt that had intreated of true peace with them, and ſo were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered King Alexander a great hoſte, and camped ouer againſt Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius hoſte fled, and Alexander purſued him, and preuailed againſt them.

50 So that ſore battel continued till the ſunne went downe, and Demetrius was ſlaine the ſame day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander ſent Ambaſſadours vnto Ptolemeus the king of Egypt with theſe wordes, ſaying, Ioſeph. Ant. 13. cap. 5.

52 For ſo much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am ſet in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue deſtroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and hee and his armie is diſcomfited by me, and I ſit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendſhip together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: ſo ſhall I be thy ſonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemeus the King gaue anſwere, ſaying, Happy bee the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the lande of thy fathers, and ſitteſt in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meete me at Ptolemais that we may ſee one another, and that I may make thee my ſonne in law, according to thy deſire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threeſcore and two yeere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and hee gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the maner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he ſhould come and meete him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there he met the two kings, and gaue them great preſents of ſiluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their ſight.

61 And there aſſembled certaine peſtilent fellowes of Iſrael, and wicked men to accuſe him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they ſhould take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple: and ſo they did: and the king appointed him to ſit by him,

63 And ſaid vnto his Princes, Goe with him into the mids of the citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine againſt him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cauſe.

64 So when his accuſers ſaw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honor, and wrote woote him among his cheefe frendes, and made him a duke and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundreth, threescore and fine yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very sory, and returned unto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the governour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Jamnia, and sent unto Jonathan the hie Priest, saying, 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift up thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why boest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field, and there let vs try the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footmen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his minde: wherefore hee chose tenne thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And hee pitched his tentes at Joppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Joppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came immediatly into the plaine field, because he had so many horsmen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armies skirmished with his arriere hand.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knewe that there was an ambushment behinde him, and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shotte dartes at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the bande: but the horses were weary, and hee discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field, 83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselues.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoyles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were flame and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the hoste from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoyles.

88 And when king Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Jonathan more honour, 89 And sent him a collar of golde, as the vse is to bee giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The dissimulation betweene Ptolemeus and Alexander his sonne in law. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius raigneth after the death of Ptolemeus. 22 Gaza is besieged of Jonathan. 41 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, speaketh his armie against. 54 Tryphon reuolteth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the King of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sande that lyeth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceite to obteine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne Realme. Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 7.

2 Upon this he went into Syria with friendly wordes, and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meete him: for King Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in law.

3 Now when hee entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery citie.

4 And when he came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbes thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroade, and them that he had burnt in the battel: for they had made heapes of them by the way where hee should passe.

5 And they tolde the King what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the King held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the King with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the King vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So King Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsell against Alexander.

9 ¶ And sent ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowen.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, & Ptolomeus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolomeus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolomeus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolomeus died, & they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundreth, threescore and seuenth yere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege vnto the castle, which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and tolde him that Jonathan besieged the castle, 22 So when he heard it, he was angrie, and immediatly came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that he should lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meete him, and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuertheless, when Jonathan heard this, he comanded to besiege it: he chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priests, and put himselfe in danger, 24 And tooke with him siluer and golde, and apparell, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the King intreated him as his predecessours had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the hie Priesthood with all the honourable things, that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the King, that he would make Judea free with the three gouernments, and the countrey of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him three hundreth talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Jonathan writing of the same, conteining these words.

30 KING DEMETRIVS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

31 Wee send you heere a copie of the letter, which wee did write vnto our cousin Lasthenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lasthenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulnesse that our friends the nation of the Jewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, we are determined to do them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Judea, with the three gouernments, Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramath (which are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concerning the paiments which the King tooke yerely afore time, both for the fruites of the earth, and for the fruites of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes which were payed vnto vs, wee discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof shall be reuoked from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copie of these things, and deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may bee set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this, when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his hoste, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bands of strangers, whome hee brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when hee saw that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, he went to ‖ Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, ‖ Or, Emalcuel.

40 And lay sore vpon him, to deliuer him this yoong Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers stead: hee tolde him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent vnto King Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castle at Jerusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I will not only doe these things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee and thy nation.

43 Now therefore shalt thou doe me a pleasure, if thou wile send me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousande strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherefore the King was very glad at their comming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the city, euen an hundreth and twentie thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the city, and would haue slaine the King.

46 But the King fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the city, and began to fight.

47 Then the King called to the Jewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad thorow the citie, 48 And slew the same day an hundreth thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoyles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Jewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they themselues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 ‖ Grant vs peace, and let the Jewes cease from vexing vs and the citie, ‖ Or, giue vs the right hand.

51 So they cast away their weapons, & made peace, and the Jewes were greatly honoured before the King, and before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Jerusalem with great pray.

52 Then King Demetrius sate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheles, he dissembled in all that euer he he spake, and withdrewe himselfe from Jonathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled, and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the ‖beasts, and wan Antiochia. ‖Or, Elephants.

57 And yoong Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, saying, I appoynt thee to be ỳ chiefe priest, & make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernments, that thou mayest be a friend of the kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in golde, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of gold.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coasts of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth, and passed thorow the cities beyond the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherfore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs therof with fire, and spoiled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and took of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Jerusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 He came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, & fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he granted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the city, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his hoste, came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Asor.

68 And behold, the hostes of the ‖strangers met him in the plaine and had laid ambushments for him in the mountaines. ‖Or, heathen.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places, and skirmished.

70 So that all that were on Jonathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of ‖Absalomus, & Judas the sonne of Calphi the Captaines of the hoste. ‖Or, Absolomus.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to followe after all vnto their tents at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Jerusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 and to the people of Sparta, to renue their couenant of friendship. 24 Jonathan putteth to flight the Princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

1 JOnathan now seeing that the time was meet for him, chose certaine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to stablish and renew the friendship with them. Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 8.

2 He sent letters also vnto the ‖Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose. ‖Or, Lacedemonians.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and sayd, Jonathan the hie priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renewe friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should leade them home into the land of Juda peceably.

5 ¶ AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians,

6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the priests, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from ‖Arius, which then reigned among you, that you would be our brethren, as the copie hereunder written specifieth. Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 5. ‖Or, Darius.

8 And Onias intreated the Ambassadour honourably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we neede no such writings: for wee haue the holy bookes in our handes for comfort.

10 Neuertheless, we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest wee should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherfore we remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the Kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would we not be greeuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederats and friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue wee chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 Wee commaunded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood. Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 9.

18 And

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copy of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the high Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And nowe for so much as this is come to our knowledge, yee shall doe well to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs we haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue we commanded to be shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Nowe when Ionathan heard that Demetrius Princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 He went from Ierusalem, and met them in the lande of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne country.

26 And he sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore, when the Sunne was gone downe, Ionathan commaunded his men to watch, and to be in armes readie to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was readie with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheless Ionathan and his companie knewe it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Ionathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Ionathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zebedi, and slew them, and tooke their spoyle.

32 Hee proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went throwe all the country.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Ascalon and to the next holdes, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For he heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherfore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Ionathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build vp the strong holds in Iudea, 36 And to make the wals of Ierusalem hier, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the city, that it might be alone, and that men should neither buy, nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the citie: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

Ioseph. Ant. l.3.chap.9.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to bee crowned when he had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But he was afraid that Ionathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Ionathan, & to kill him: so he departed and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Ionathan forth against him to the battell with fourtie thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon sawe that Ionathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hand vpon him,

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him, as to himselfe,

44 And sayd vnto Ionathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with mee to Ptolemais: For I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.

46 Ionathan beleeued him, and did as he sayd, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Iuda, 47 And retained but three thousande with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galilee, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Nowe assoone as Ionathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slewe all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footmen and horsemen into Galile, and into the great plaine, to destroy all Ionathans company.

50 But when they knew that Ionathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which folowed vpon them, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes al they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Ionathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Ionathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon, taking his children and money for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, & possesseth the realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possesseth the tower of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

NOw when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the lande of Iuda, and to destroy it, Ioseph. Ant. 13.chap.9.

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Yee knowe know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Lawe, and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that we haue seene,

4 By reason wherof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Nowe therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our wiues and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these wordes the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in steade of Judas and Jonathan thy brethen.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So hee gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Jerusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent he Jonathan the sonne of Absolomus with a great hoste vnto Joppe, which driue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remooued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the lande of Juda, and Jonathan was with him as prisoner, 13 And Simon pitched his tents at ‖ Addidis vpon the open plaine. ‖Or, Addus.

14 But when Tryphon knewe that Simon stoode vp in steade of his brother Jonathan, and that he would fight against him, hee sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in ỹ kings accompt concerning the businesse that he had in hand.

16 Therefore send now an hundreth talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when hee is letten forth hee will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuertheleſſe Simon knewe that he dissembled in his wordes, yet commanded hee the money and children to bee deliuered vnto him, least he should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue sayd, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So hee sent the children and an hundreth talents: but he dissembled, and would not let Jonathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but whereforue they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castle, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that hee should make haste to come by the wildernes, and to send them vitailes.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not, because of the snowe: but he remoued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came neere to Baleama, hee slew Jonathan, and he was buried there.

24 So tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

23 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto of hewen stone behinde and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars roundе about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetuall remembrance, and carued ships beside the armes, that they might bee seene of men saying in the Sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Nowe as Tryphon went forth with the yong King Antiochus, hee slewe him traiterously, Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 10.

32 And reigned in his steade, and crowned himselfe King of Asia, & brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Judea, and compassed them about with high towers, and great walles, euen with towers, and gates, and barres, and layed vp vitailes in the strong holdes.

34 Moreouer Simon chose certaine men and sent them to king Demetrius, that he would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIVS the King vnto Simon the hie Priest, and the friend of Kings, and to the Elders, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

37 The golden crowne, and ‖ precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you free. ‖Or, Golden collar, or baudricke: in Greeke, Basanen, or baben.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holdes which ye haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also we forgiue the ouersights, and faults committed vnto this day: and the crowne tax that ye ought vs: and whereas was any other tribute in Jerusalem, it shall bee nowe no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to be written with our men, let them be written vp, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundreth and seuenty yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters and publike instruments, IN THE FIRST yeere of Simon, the hie and chiefe Priest, gouernour and Prince of the Jewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where he set vp an engine of warre, and approched neere the citie, and beat a tower, and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, lept into the citie, and there was great trouble in the city,

45 Insomuch that the people of the citie rent their clothes and climed vp vpon the walles with with their wiues, and children, and cried with a loud voyce, beseeching Simon to graunt them peace, saying, 42 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, & would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and cleansed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with Psalmes and thanksgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now, when they in the castle at Ierusalem were kept, that they could not come forth nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death.

50 Insomuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he granted them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twenty day of the second moneth, in the hundreth seuenty and one yeere, they entred into it with thanksgiuing, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with violes, & with psalmes, and songs, because the great enemie of Israel was ouercome.

52 And he ordeined that the same day should be kept euery yere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castle where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that John his sonne was now a man, he made him captaine of all the hosts, and caused him to dwell in ‖ Gazaris.

‖ Or, Gaza.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces, 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel, 18 The couenant of friendship with the Romanes, and with the people of Sparta is renued.

IN the hundreth, seuentie and two yeere, gathered King Demetrius his hoste, and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went & ouercame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces, which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 He gathered vp many of their people, that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castle, which he cleansed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted altogether for the Common wealth, and the yong men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 He prouided victailes for the cities, and all kinde of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowmed vnto the end of the world.

11 He made peace throughout the lande, and Israel had perfit mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the figtrees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the lande to fight against them: for then the kings were ouercome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersity among his people: her was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuary, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romans heard, and the Spartians had knowledge that Ionathan was dead, they were very sory.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made high Priest in his stead, and how he had woon the land againe with the cities in it, 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renew the friendship and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Ionathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent, 20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their comming.

22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this maner, NVMENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason the Iewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should bee honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should bee registred in the publike recordes, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of golde of a thousand pound weight to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstood, they sayd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue stablished Israel, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copy of the writing is this, In the eight and twenty day of the moneth † Elul, in the hundreth seuenty and two yeere, in the third yere of Simon the high Priest, † August.

28 In

28 In ‖Saramel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the elders of the countrey, we would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our countrey.

‖Or, Ierusalem.

29 Wherein Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Jarib) and his brethren put themselues in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and Law might be maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their high Priest, and is layde with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroied their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, & spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 Yee fortified also the cities of Judea, and Bethlura that lieth vpon the borders of Judea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garrison of the Iewes.

34 And he fortified Joppe, which lieth vpon the sea, and ‖Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof.

‖Or, Gaza, or Gazera.

35 Nowe when the people sawe the faithfulnesse of Simon, and to what glorie he thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chiefe Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the vprightnesse, and fidelitie that hee had kept to his nation, and that sought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered wel by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the city of Dauid at Jerusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto Religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land and citie, and raised vp the walles of Jerusalem.

38 And King Demetrius confirmed him in his high Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romans called the Iewes their friends & confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours,

41 And that the Iewes and Priests consented that Simon should be their prince, and high Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet,

42 And that he should be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the Countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make prouision for the holy things,

43 And that he should be obeied of euery man, and all the writings in the countrey should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and weare golde,

44 And that it should not be lawfull for any of the people, or Priestes to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of golde:

45 And if any did contrary to these things, or make any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should be done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captaine, and the Prince of the Iewes and of the Priests, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commaunded to set vp this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copy of the same should be laid vp in the treasurie, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a couenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romans write letters vnto kings & nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his couenant.

MOreouer, King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the yles of the sea, vnto Simon the priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Conteining these words, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes, sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared ships of warre,

4 That I may go thorow the countrey, and be auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Now therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the Kings my progenitors haue discharged thee, and all the paiments, whereof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Jerusalem and the Sanctuary be free, and that all the weapons that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine handes, shall be thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the King, and all that shalbe due vnto the King, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when we haue obteined our kingdom, we will giue thee and thy nation, and the temple great honour, so that your honour shalbe known thorowout the world.

10 ¶ In the hundreth, seuenty & foure yeere, went Antiochus into his fathers lande, and all the handes came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with Tryphon.

Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 11.

11 So the King Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Doza, which lieth by the sea side.

12 For he saw that troubles were towarde him, him, and that the army had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the citie about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the city by land, and by sea, insomuch that they suffered no man to go in nor out.

15 ¶ In the meane season came Numenius, and his company from Rome, having letters written vnto the kings and countreys, wherin were contained these words, 16 LVCIVS the Consul of Rome vnto king Ptolemeus sendeth greeting.

17 The ambassadours of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friendes and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Iewes, to renew friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shield of gold weighing a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore wee thought it good to write vnto the Kings and countreys, that they should not goe about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their countrey, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therfore there be any pestilent fellowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, 23 And to all the countreys, as ‖ Samsames, and to them of Sparta, and to ‖ Delus, and to ‖ Mindus, and Sycion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Cos, and to Side, and to Coztina, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time euer ready to take it, and made diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither go in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Neuertheless, he would not receiue them, but brake all the Couenant, which he had made with him afore, and withdrew himselfe from him.

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends, to commune with him, saying, Ye withhold Joppe, and Gazara, with the castle that is at Jerusalem, the city of my Realme, 29 Whose borders yee haue destroyed & done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Judea, 31 Or els giue me for them fiue hundreth talents of siluer, and for the harme that yee haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: if not, we will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Jerusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the cupboord of golde and siluer plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and sayd vnto him, We haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which appertaineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, we recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou ‖ requirest Joppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorow our countrey, yet will we giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word, 36 But turned againe angry vnto the King, and told him all these words, and the dignity of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the king was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fledde Tryphon by ship vnto Dorhosias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footmen and horsemen, 39 And commanded him to remoone the host toward Judea, and to builde vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia, and began to vexe the people, and to inuade Judea, and to take the people prisoners, & to slay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where he set horsemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Judea, as the King had commanded him.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banket. 23 John killeth them that lie in wait for his life.

THen came John vp from Gazara, & told Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done. Ioseph. Ant. lib. 13. cap. 11.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Judas and John, and said vnto them, I and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am now old, and ye by Gods mercy are of a sufficient age: be ye therefore in stead of me, and my brother, & goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So he chose twenty thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great host came against them both of footmen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And John ranged his armie ouer against him, and when he saw that the people was afrayd to goe ouer the riuer, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed thorow after him.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Judea,

31 Or els giue me for them fiue hundreth talents of ſiluer, and for the harme that yee haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: if not, we will come, and fight againſt you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Jeruſalem, and when he ſaw the honour of Simon, and the cupboord of golde and ſiluer plate, and ſo great preparation, he was aſtonished, and told him the kings meſſage.

33 Then anſwered Simon, and ſayd vnto him, Wee haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which appertaineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteouſly in poſſeſſion a certaine time.

34 But when we had occaſion, we recouered the wheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou ‖ requireſt Joppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thozow our countrey, yet will we giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius anſwered him not one word,

‖ Or, complaineſt concerning.

36 But turned againe angry vnto the King, and told him all their words, and the dignity of Simon, with all that he had ſeene: and the king was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fledde Tryphon by ſhip vnto Dzthoſias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the ſea coaſt, and gaue him bands of footmen and horſemen, 39 And commanded him to remoone the hoſt toward Judea, and to builde vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre againſt the people: but the king purſued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia, and began to vexe the people, and to inuade Judea, and to take the people priſoners, & to ſlay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where he ſet horſemen and garriſons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Judea, as the King had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoſte is put to flight by the ſonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemeus the ſonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two ſonnes at a banket. 23 John killeth them that lie in wait for his life.

THen came John vp from Gazara, & told Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done. Ioſeph. Ant. 13. cap. 11.

2 So Simon called two of his eldeſt ſonnes, Judas and John, and ſaid vnto them, I and my brethren, and my fathers houſe, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought againſt the enemies of Iſrael, and the matters haue had good ſucceſſe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Iſrael oftentimes.

3 But I am now old, and ye by Gods mercy are of a ſufficient age: be ye therefore in ſtead of me, and my brother, & goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So he choſe twenty thouſand fighting men of the countrey with the horſemen, which went forth againſt Cendebeus, and reſted at Modin.

5 In the morning they aroſe, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great hoſte came againſt them both of footmen, and horſemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And John ranged his armie ouer againſt him, and when he ſaw that the people was afrayd to goe ouer the riuer, hee went ouer firſt himſelfe, and the men ſeeing him, paſſed thozow after him.

7 Then he deuided his men, and ſet the horſemen in the rnids of the footmen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fledde with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, & the remnant gate them to the fortresse.

9 Then was Judas Johns brother wounded: but John followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towres, that were in the fields of Azotus, and those did Ionn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them: so he returned peaceably into the land of Juda.

11 ¶ Nowe in the field of Jericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For hee had married the daughter of the hie Priest)

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his minde, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thorow the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Jericho with Mattathias, and Judas his sonnes in the hundreth, seuenty and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth of Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a little hold, called Docus, which he had built, where hee made them a great banket; and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon & his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolemeus stood vp with his men, and tooke their weapons, and entered in to Simon in the banket house, and slew him with his two sonnes and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby he committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemeus these things and sent to the king, that he might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

19 Hee sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take John, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and gold, and rewards.

20 And to Jerusalem, he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ran before, and told John in Gazara, that his father, & his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemeus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and layd hands of them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of John, both of his warres, and of his noble acts (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of wals which he made, and other of his deeds, 24 Beholde, they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

The second Booke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Neemias.

THE brethren of the Iewes which be at Jerusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Judea, vnto the brethren the Iewes that are thorowout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.

2 God be gracious vnto you, and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, & Jacob his faithfull seruants,

3 And giue you all an heart to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing mind,

4 And open your hearts in his Law & commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and be reconciled with you, & neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned in the hundreth, threescore and ninth yere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs in those yeres, after that Jason and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, & shed innocent blood. Then we prayed vnto the Lorde, & were heard: we offered sacrifices and fine flower, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe yee the dayes of the feast of the tabernacles in the moneth Chasleu.

10 ¶ In the hundreth, fourescore & eight yere, the people that was at Jerusalem, & in Judea, and the counsell, and Judas, vnto Aristobulus King Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the anoynted Priests, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Inasmuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the King.

12 For hee brought them into Persia by heaps that fought against the holy city.

13 For when the captaine and the army, that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceite of Nanea Priests.

14 For Antiochus as though he would dwel with her, came thither, he and his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowry.

15 But when the Priests of Nanea had layd it forth, and he was entred with a small company within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in.

16 And by opening a priuy doore of the vant, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing huised them in pieces, they cut off their heads, and threw them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Whereas we are nowe purposed to keepe the the purificatiō of the Temple vpon the fiue and twenty day of the moneth Chaſleu, we thought it neceſſary to certifie you thereof, that yee alſo might keepe the feaſt of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Neemias offred ſacrifice, after that he had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Perſia, the Prieſtes, which ſought the honour of God, tooke the * fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollow pit, which was dric in the bottome, and therein they kept it, ſo that the place was vnknowen vnto euery man. Leuit. 6, 13. and 10. 2. and 16, 12.

20 Nowe after many yeeres when it pleaſed God that Neemias ſhould bee ſent from the king of Perſia, hee ſent of the poſteritie of thoſe Prieſts, which had hid it, to fetch the fire, and as they tolde vs, they founde no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded hee them to drawe it vp, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the ſacrifices were brought, Neemias commaunded the Prieſtes to ſprinkle the wood, and the things layde thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the Sunne ſhone, which afore was hid in the cloudes, there was a great fire kindled, ſo that euery man marueiled.

23 Nowe the Prieſtes, and all prayed, while the ſacrifice was conſuming: Jonathan began, and the other anſwered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lorde, Lorde God maker of all things, which art fearefull and ſtrong, and righteous, and merciful, and the onely and gracious King,

25 Onely liberall, onely iuſt and Almigthy and euerlaſting, thou that deliuereſt Iſrael from all trouble, and haſt choſen the fathers, and ſanctified them, 26 Receiue the ſacrifice for thy whole people of Iſrael, and preſerue thine owne portion, and ſanctifie it.

27 Gather thoſe together, that are ſcattered from vs: deliuer them that ſerue among the heathen: looke vpon them that are deſpiſed, and abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Puniſh them that oppreſſe vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place, * as Moyſes hath ſpoken. Deut. 30. 5.

30 And the Prieſts ſang Pſalmes thereunto.

31 Nowe when the ſacrifice was conſumed, Neemias commaunded the great ſtones to bee ſprinkled with the reſidue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was conſumed by the light, that ſhined from the altar.

33 ¶ So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde the king of Perſia, that in the place where the Prieſtes, which were led away, and hid fire, there appeared water, where with Neemias and his company had purified the ſacrifices.

a That is to ſay, a ſhining, it is alſo called Nephi, or Nephthar, which is a cleanſing.

34 The king tried out the thing, and cloſed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, hee gaue and beſtowed many gifts.

36 And Neemias called the ſame place Nephthar, which is to ſay, purification: but many men call it Nephthar.

CHAP. II.

4 Howe Ieremie hid the Tabernacle, the Arke and the Altar in the hill. 23 Of the fiue bookes of Iaſon contained in one.

IT is founde alſo in the writings of Jeremias the Prophet, that he commaunded them, which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commaunded them that were led into captiuitie,

2 * Giuing them a law, that they ſhould not forget the commandements of the Lorde, & that they ſhould not erre in their mindes, when they ſawe images of gold and ſiluer, with their ornaments. Baruch 6.

3 Theſe and ſuch other things commaunded he them, and exhorted them that they ſhould not let the Law goe out of their hearts.

4 It is written alſo, howe the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Arke, and follow him: and when hee came vp into the mountaine where Moyſes went vp, * and ſawe the heritage of God, Deut. 34. 1.

5 Jeremias went forth, and found an hollow caue, wherein he layd the Tabernacle, and the Arke, & the Altar of incenſe, and ſo ſtopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of thoſe that followed him, to marke the place: but they coulde not finde it.

7 Which when Jeremias perceiued, hee reproued them, ſaying, As for that place, it ſhall be vnknowen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercy bee ſhewed.

8 Then ſhal the Lord ſhew them theſe things, and the maieſtie of the Lorde ſhall appeare and the cloud alſo, as it was ſhewed vnder Moyſes, and as * when Salomon deſired, that the place might be honourably ſanctified. 1. King. 8. 14. 23. 30. 2. chro. 6. 22. 2. King. 2. 62. 65. 2. chro. 7. 4. 5.

9 For it is manifeſt that hee, being a wiſe man, offered the * ſacrifice of dedication, and confecration of the Temple. Leuit. 9. 24. and 10. 16. 2. Chro. 7. 2.

10 * And as when Moyſes prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came down from heauen, and conſumed the ſacrifice: ſo when Salomon prayed, * the fire came downe from heauen, and conſumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyſes ſayd, Becauſe the ſinne offering was not eaten, therefore is it conſumed.

12 So Salomon kept thoſe eight dayes.

13 Theſe things alſo are declared in the writings and regiſters of ‖ Neemias, and howe hee made a libiary, and howbee gathered the actes of the Kings, and of the Prophets, and the acts of Dauid, and the epiſtles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts. ‖ Some reade Ieremie.

14 Euen ſo Judas alſo gathered all things that came to paſſe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if ye haue need thereof, ſende ſome to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye ſhall doe well, if ye keepe the ſame dayes.

17 Wee hope alſo that the God which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Prieſthood, and the Sanctuarie,

Deut. 30.5. 18 * As he promised in the Lawe, will shortly haue mercie vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Judas Maccabeus and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stoode for the Jewes Religion: (so though they were but few, yet they ranne thorow whole countreis, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repaired the Temple that was renowmed thorowout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assay to abridge in one volume those things that Jason the Cyrenean hath declared in fiue bookes.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficultie that they haue that would be occupied in the rehearsall of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 We haue endeuoured, that they that would reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and that wholoeuer reade them, might haue profite.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweat and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commoditie, hath no small labour: so wee also for many mens sakes are very well content to vndertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the authour the exact diligence of euery particular, wee will labour to goe forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as hee that will build a newe house, must prouide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the plat or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a story to enter deepely into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse few words, & to auoide those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the story, adding thus much to our former wordes, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in wordes before the storie, and to be short in the storie.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honour done the Temple by the Kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon vttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 He is striken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

WHat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the lawes were very well kept, because of the godlines of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts,

3 In so much that Seleucus King of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costes belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Beniamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning ‖ the iniquitie committed in the citie.

‖ Or, the state and prouision.

5 And when hee could not ouercome Onias, hee gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas, which then was gouernour of Coelosyria, and Phenice,

6 And told him that the treasury in Jerusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into the kings handes.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had shewed him of the money, as it was told him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commaundement, to bring him the foresayd money.

8 Immediatly Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though he would visite the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Jerusalem, and was courteously received of the hie Priest into the citie, hee declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his comming, and asked if these things were so in deede.

10 Then the hie Priest tolde him that there were such things layed vp by the widowes and fatherlesse, 11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, & that in all, there were but foure hundreth talents of siluer, and two hundreth of gold.

12 And that it were altogether impossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place and Temple, which is honoured throughe the whole world for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commandement giuen him, sayd that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasurie.

14 So he appointed a day, & went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Priests fell downe before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Lawe concerning things giuen to be kept, that they should be safely preserued for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorow of his minde.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorow hee had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And

a In worki
some wrech

against him

19 And the women, girt with ſackecloth vnder their breſts, filled the ſtreets, & the virgins that were kept in, ranne ſome to the gates, and ſome to the walles, and others looked out of the windowes.

20 And all held vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to ſee the multitude, that fell downe of all ſorts, and the expectation of the hie Prieſt being in ſuch anguiſh.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lord, that he would keepe ſafe & ſure the things, which were layd vp for thoſe that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheleſſe, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to do, that did he performe.

24 And as hee and his ſouldiers were nowe there preſent by the treaſurie, he that is the Lord of the ſpirits, and of all power, ſhewed a great viſion, ſo that all they which preſumed to come with him, were aſtonished at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For their appeared vnto them an horſe with a terrible man ſitting vpon him, moſt richly barded, and he ran fiercely and ſmote at Heliodorus with his forefeet, and it ſeemed that hee that ſate vpon the horſe had harneſſe of golde.

26 Moreouer, there appeared two yong men, notable in ſtrength, excellent in beautie, & comely in apparell, which ſtood by him on euery ſide, and ſcourged him continually, and gaue him many ſore ſtripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell ſuddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darkneſſe: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with ſo great company, & many ſouldiers into the ſayd treaſury, was borne out: for hee could not helpe himſelfe with his weapons.

29 So they did know the power of God manifeſtly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay deſtitute of all hope and health.

30 And they prayſed the Lord that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a little afore was full of feare and trouble, when the Almightie Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladneſſe.

31 Then ſtraightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends, prayed Onias, that hee would call vpō the moſt High to grant him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghoſt.

32 So the high Prieſt, conſidering that the King might ſuſpect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus ſome [a] euill, he offered a ſacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the high Prieſt had made his prayer, the ſame yoong men in the ſame clothing appeared, and ſtoode beſide Heliodorus, ſaying, Giue Onias the hie Prieſt great thanks: for, for his ſake hath the Lord granted thee thy life:

34 And ſeeing that thou haſt beene ſcourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mightie power of God: and when they had ſpoken theſe words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord ſacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him which had graunted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoſte to the king.

36 Then teſtified he vnto euery man of the great workes of God that he had ſeene with his eyes.

37 And when the king aſked Heliodorus, who were meet to be ſent yet once againe to Ieruſalem, he ſayd, 38 If thou haſt any enemie or traitour, ſend him thither, & thou ſhalt receiue him wel ſcourged, if he eſcape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a ſpeciall power of God.

39 For hee that dwelleth in heauen hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and hee beateth and deſtroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to paſſe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treaſurie.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iaſon obtaineth the office of the hie Prieſt by corrupting the king, 27 and was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is ſlaine traiterouſly by Andronicus.

THis Simon now, of whom wee ſpake afore, being a bewrayer of the money, and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euil of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was hee bolde to call him traitour that was ſo beneficiall to the citie, & a defender of his nation, and ſo zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice encreaſed ſo far, that though one that belonged to Simon, murders were committed,

4 Onias conſidering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as he that was the gouernour of Coeloſyria, & Phenice, did rage, and increaſed Simons malice,

5 He went to the king not as an accuſer of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuately and publikely.

6 For he ſaw it was not poſſible, except the king tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iaſon the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be hie Prieſt.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promiſed him three hundreth and threeſcore talents of ſilver, and of another rent foureſcore talents.

9 Beſides this he promiſed him an hundred and fiftie, if hee might haue licence to ſet vp a place for exerciſe, and a place for the youth, and that they would [b] name them of Ieruſalem, Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and he had granted the ſuperiority, he began immediatly to draw his kinſmen to the cuſtoms of the Gentiles, 11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the kings, that the Iewes had ſet vp by Iohn the father of Eupolemus, which was ſent ambaſſadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their lawes and policies, and brought vp new ſtatutes, and contrary to the Law.

12 For he preſumed to builde a place of exerciſe vnder the caſtle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his ſubiection, and made them weare hats.

[a] In working ſome trechery or ſorcery againſt him.

[b] Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Ieruſalem, among them.

[c] Or, hatting, in token of wantonneſſe as the Gentiles vſe.

13 So there beganne a great desire to follow the maners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iason, not the hie Priest, but the vngodly person, 14 So that the Priestes were nowe no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to bee partakers of the wicked expenses at the playe after the casting of the stone.

a This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the mids, or a piece of mettall.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose customs they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 ¶ Now when the ‖ games that were vsed euery fifth yere, were played at Tyrus, the King being present,

‖Or, Olympian sports, which were games kept euery fifth yeare.

19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundreth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceiued that he was euill affectioned toward his affaires, he sought his own assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where hee was honourably receiued of Iason, and of the city, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so hee went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yere afterward Iason sent Menelaus, the foresayd Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires, wherefor he had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundreth talents of siluer more then Iason.

‖Or, commandements.

25 So he gate the Kings ‖ letters patents, albeit he had nothing in himselfe worthy of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomache of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wild beast.

26 Then Iason which had deceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the mony that he had promised vnto the king, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the King.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his stead in the priesthood, and Sostratus left Crates which was the gouernour of the b Cyprians.

b That is, of them that measured the corne.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians, and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the Kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the king in all haste, to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that hee had gotten a conuenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some he solde at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, he reproued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when he came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hande with an oth: (howbeit he suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so hee slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousnesse.

35 For the which cause not onely the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieued, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the city, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complayned because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorry in his mind, and bee had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, he tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commaunded him to be led thorowout the city, and in the same place where he had committed the wickednesse against Onias, hee was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserued.

39 ¶ Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked deeds in the city thorow the counsell of Menelaus, and the brute was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for he had carried out now much vessell of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstood the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfuls of dust which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that inuaded them.

‖Or, shut vp.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe, they killed besides the treasurie.

43 For these causes an accusation was layd against againſt Menelaus.

44 And when the king came to Tyrus, three men ſent from the Senate pleaded the cauſe before him.

45 But Menelaus being now convinced, promiſed to Ptolemeus the ſon of Dorimenes much money, if he would perſwade the king.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the King into a court, where as he was to coole himſelfe, and turned the kings minde.

47 Inſomuch that he diſcharged Menelaus from the accuſations (notwithſtanding he was the cauſe of all miſchiefe) and condemned thoſe poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cauſe, yea, before the Scythians, they ſhoulde haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they ſoone puniſhed vniuſtly, which followed vpon the matter for the city, and for the people, and for the holy veſſels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickedneſſe, and miniſtred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And ſo through the couetouſneſſe of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, increaſing in malice, and declared himſelfe a great traitor to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

1 Of the ſignes and tokens ſeene in Ieruſalem. 6 Of the end and wickednes of Iaſon. 11 The purſuit of Antiochus againſt the Iewes. 15 The ſpoiling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wilderneſſe.

ABout the ſame time Antiochus vndertooke his ſecond voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there ſeene throughout all the citie of Ieruſalem fourtie dayes long, horſemen running in the aire, with robes of golde, and as bands of ſpeareſmen,

3 And as troupes of horſemen ſet in aray, incountering and courſing one againſt another with ſhaking of ſhields and multitude of darts, and drawing of ſwordes, and ſhooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour ſeene and harneſſe of all ſorts.

4 Therefore every man prayed, that thoſe tokens might turne to good.

5 Nowe when there was gone forth a falſe rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iaſon tooke at the leaſt a thouſand men, and came ſuddenly vpon the city, and they that were vpon the walles, being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the caſtle, but Iaſon ſlew his owne citizens without mercie, not conſidering, that to haue the aduantage againſt his kinſmen is greateſt diſaduantage, but thought that hee had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet hee gate not the ſuperioritie, but at the laſt receiued ſhame for the reward of his treaſon, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this end of his wicked conuerſation, that he was ‖accuſed before Areta the king of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being purſued of every man, and hated as a forſaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemie of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt.

‖Or, ſhut vp.

9 Thus he that had chaſed many out of their owne countrey, periſhed as a baniſhed man, after that hee was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten ſuccour by reaſon of kinred.

10 And hee that had caſt many out vnburied, was thrown out himſelfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers ſepulchre.

11 Now when theſe things that were done, were declared to the king, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre alſo, that they ſhould kill and not ſpare ſuch as they met, and to ſlay ſuch as went into their houſes.

13 Thus was there a ſlaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a deſtruction of men and women and children, and virgins and infants were murthered:

14 So that within three dayes were ſlaine foureſcore thouſand, and fourtie thouſand taken priſoners, and there were as many ſold as were ſlaine.

15 Yet was hee not content with this, but durſt goe into the moſt holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, & to his owne countrey to be his guide, 16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy veſſels, which other kings had giuen for the garniſhing, glory, and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So hautie in his minde was Antiochus, that he conſidered not that God was not a little wroth for the ſinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which ſuch contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many ſinnes, hee, aſſoone as hee had come, had ſuddenly bene puniſhed, and put back from his preſumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king ſent to view the treaſurie.

19 But God hath not choſen the nation for the places ſake, but the place for the nations ſake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward ſhall it bee partaker of the benefits of the Lord, and as it is now forſaken in the wrath of the Almighty, ſo when the great Lord ſhall be reconciled, it ſhall be ſet vp in great worſhip againe.

21 So when Antiochus had taken eighteene hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gate him to Antiochia in all haſte, thinking in his pride to make men ſaile vpon the dry lande, and to walke vpon the ſea: ſuch an high minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to vexe the people: at Ieruſalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that ſet him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grieuous to the citizens then the other, and was deſpitefull againſt the Iewes his citizens.

24 Hee ſent alſo Apollonius a cruel prince, with an army of two and twentie thouſande, whom he commanded to ſlay thoſe that were toward mans age, and to ſell the women, and the yonger ſore.

25 So when he came to Ieruſalem, he fained peace, and kept him still vntill the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so hee slew all them that were gone foorth to the shewe, and running thorow the citie with his men armed, hee murthered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus being as it were the tenth, fled into the wildernes, & lived there in the mountaines with his company among the beastes, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, lest they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Law of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grieuous paine of Eleazarus.

NOt long after this, sent the King an olde man of ‖ Athens, for to compel the Iewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God,

‖ Or, Antiochia.

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitality.

3 This wicked gouernement was sore and grieuous vnto the people.

4 For the temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuite of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the Lawe.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feastes, nor plainely to confesse himselfe to be a Iewe.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grieuously compelled perforce euery moneth to banket, & when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of Iuie.

8 Moreouer through the counsell of Ptolemeus, there went out a commandement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and ‖ banketting should be kept.

‖ Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed

9 And who so woulde not conforme themselues to the maners of the Gentiles, should bee put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had led round about the city (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them down headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discouered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraid to helpe themselues.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which reade this booke, that they bee not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge those afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnesse, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwaies to punish them.

14 For the Lord doth not long wait for vs, as for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their sinnes:

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of ỹ principall scribes, an aged man, & of a well fauoured countenance was constreined to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banket, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuilie, and prayed him that hee would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as he woulde prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though he had eaten of the things appointed by the King, euen the flesh of the sacrifice,

22 That in so doing hee might bee deliuerd from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, he would receiue this fauour.

23 But hee began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray hairs, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childhood, but chiefly the holy Law made and giuen by God: therefore he answered consequently, & willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, said he, to dissemble, whereby many yong persons might thinke that Eleazar being fourescore yeere olde and ten, were now gone to ‖ another religion,

‖ Or, to another maner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a litle time of a transitory life) they might bee deceiued by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will nowe change this life manfully, and will shewe my selfe such as mine age requireth, 28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as bee yong to die willingly, and couragiously for the honourable and holy Lawes. And when he had sayd these words, immediately hee went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as he was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, hee sighed and sayd, The Lorde that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue beene deliuered from death, I am scourged, and suffer

Dent. 32. 36

these

these fore paines of my body: but in my mind I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memoriall of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seuen brethren and of their mother.

IT came to passe also that seuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to bee compelled by the king against the Lawe to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them which spake first, sayde thus, What seekest thou? and what wouldest thou knowe of vs? wee are ready to die rather, then to transgresse the lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the king angry, and commanded to heate pans and cauldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to slay him, and to cut off the vtmost parts of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Nowe when hee was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be brought aliue to the fire and to fry him in the panne: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother exhorted one another to die couragiously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doeth regard vs, & in deed taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses * declared in the song wherein hee testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants. Deu.32.36

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him, if he would eate or he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But hee answered in his owne language, and sayde, No. Wherefore hee was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when hee was at the last breath, hee sayd, Thou murtherer takest this present life from vs, but the King of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the third had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly,

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from heauen, but nowe for the Lawe of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the King and they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Nowe when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when he was now ready to die, hee sayd thus, It is better that wee shoulde change this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope from God, that wee may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fift also and tormented him,

16 Who looked vpon the King, and sayde, Thou hast power among men, and though thou be a mortall man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy seede.

18 After him also they brought the first, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt bee vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue al other, and worthy of honourable memory: for when she saw her seuen sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisedome, stirred vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and sayd vnto them,

22 I cannot tell howe yee came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that let in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the worlde, which formed the birth of man, and founde out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercie giue you breath, and life againe, as yee now regard not your owne selues, for his lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious wordes, while the youngest was yet aliue, hee did exhort him not onely with wordes, but swore also vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the lawes of his fathers, and that hee would take him as a friend, & giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that shee would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many words, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So shee turned her vnto him, laughing the cruel tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon mee, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, & brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankinde made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shewe thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these wordes, the yong man sayd, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the Kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And

31 And thou that imaginest all mischiefe against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For wee suffer these things because of our sinnes,

33 But though the living Lord be angry with vs a little while for our chastening and correction, yet will he be reconciled with his owne seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion and most wicked of all men, lift not thy selfe vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, and liftest thine hands against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a little paine, are nowe vnder the diuine Couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgment of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the onely God, 38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously, that he was mocked.

40 So he also died boldly, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this nowe bee ynough spoken concerning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his host. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is ouercome. 27 The Iewes giue thankes, after they haue put their enemies to flight, diuiding part of the spoiles vnto the fatherlesse, and vnto the widowes, 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

THen Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinsefolkes and friendes together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes Religion, and assembled fiue thousande men.

2 So they called vpon the Lorde, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon the citie that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voice of the blood that cryed vnto him,

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his Name, & that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore he came at vnawares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slewe many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee vsed the nights to make such assaults, insomuch that the bruit of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip sawe that this man increased by litle and litle, and that things prospered with him for the most part, hee wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twenty thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for ỹ king of two thousande talents, which the Romanes should haue, to be taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therfore immediately hys sent to the cities on the sea coast, proclayming them to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell fourescore and ten for one talent: but hee considered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors comming, her tolde them that were with him, of the comming of the armie.

13 Nowe were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto ỹ righteousnesse of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other solde all that they had lefte, and besought the Lord together to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had solde them, or euer he came neere them.

15 And though he would not doe it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about fiue thousand, exhorting them not to be afraide of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniustly done to the holy place, and the cruelty done to the citie by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, sayd he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a becke can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreouer, hee admonished them of the helps that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundreth and fourescore and fiue thousand vnder * Sennacherib,

20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon, against the Galatians, how they came in all to the battell eight thousande, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand slew an hundreth and twenty thousand through the help that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefites.

21 Thus when he had made them bolde with these wordes, and ready to die for the lawes and and the countrey, he diuided his army into foure parts,

22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer the army, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph, and Ionathan, giuing ech one fifteene hundred men.

23 And when Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the foreward, toyned with Nicanor,

24 And because the Almightie helped them, they slew aboue nine thousand men, and wounded and maimed the most part of Nicanors host, and so put all to flight,

25 And tooke the mony from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time, they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoyled the enemies, & kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks, and praysing the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercy.

28 And after the Sabbath,* they distributed the spoiles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among themselues and their children.

Num.31.17. 1.sam.30.24

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slew aboue twenty thousand, and wan hie & strong holds, and diuided great spoyles, & gaue an equall portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreouer, they gathered their weapons together, and layd them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoyles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victorie in their countrey, they burnt Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so he receiued a reward meet for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Iewes, 35 He was through the helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, insomuch that he put off his glorious raiment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus he that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a ‖ defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

‖Or, God their defender.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoile Persepolis, is put to flight. 5 As he persecuteth the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 13 The fained repentance of Antiochus. 28 He dieth miserably.

AT the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour, out of the countrey of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persepolis, & went about to robbe the Temple, and to subdue the city, the people ran in a rage to defend themselues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come vnto Nicanor and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his mind, he thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charetman to driue continually, and to dispach the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty, and God of Israel, smote him with an incurable and inuisible plague: for assoone as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels that was remedielesse, came vpon him, and sore torments of the inner parts,

6 And that most iustly: for he had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commaunded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that he fell downe from the charet that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus he that a little afore thought he might commaund the floodes of the Sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the balance, was now cast on the ground, and carried in an horselitter, declaring vnto al the manifest power of God,

9 * So that the wormes came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: & whiles he was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment: and all his armie was grieued at his ‖ stinch.

Acts 12.23.

‖Or, rotten-nesse.

10 Thus no man could beare because of his stincke, him that a little afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leaue off his great pride, and selfe will, when he was plagued & came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne stincke, he sayd these words, It is meet to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, who would nowe haue no mercie on him, 14 And sayd thus, that he would set at liberty the holy city vnto the which he made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whome he had iudged not worthy to bee buryed, but would haue cast them out with their chilvpon to be deuoured of the foules & wilde beasts) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And wheras he had spoiled the holy Temple afore, he would garnish it with great giftes, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that he would also become a Iew himselfe, & go thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, conteining the forme of a supplication.

19 ¶ THE KING, and prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens, wisheth much ioy, health and prosperity.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your minde, I giue great thanks vnto God hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet I am mindfull of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, & fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safetie of all.

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickenesse.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the high countreyes, he appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie hapened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grieuous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Againe, when I ponder how that the gouernours, that are borderers and neighbours vnto my kingdome, wait for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be King, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the high prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore, I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull vnto me and my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle and louing vnto you according vnto my mind.

28 ¶ Thus the murtherer and blasphemer suffered most grieuously, and as he had intreated other men, so hee died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, carried away his bodie, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 10 The acts of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus inuadeth Iudea, with whom Iudas ioyneth battell. 29 Fiue men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

MAccabeus nowe and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, wanne the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, & incense two yeres, and fyre moneths after, and set forth the lampes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lord, that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they sinned any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous, and barbarous nations.

5 Nowe vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, euen the fiue and twentieth day of the same moneth, which is ‖ Chasleu.

‖ Or, November.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembring, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughs, and faire branches and palmes, & sang Psalmes vnto him that had ginen them good successe in clensing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Nowe will we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres, that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdome, he made one Lysias, which had bene captain of the hoste in Phenice, and Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the realmes.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause, he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poisoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreouer, the Idumeans that held the strong holdes which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wanne the places, and slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twentie thouland.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then Exod. 23. 20. Deut. 20. 4.

‖ Or, the fiue and twentieth day.

then nine thouſande) were fled into two ſtrong caſtles, hauing al maner of things conuenient to ſuſteine the ſiege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Joſeph, and Zaccheus alſo, and thoſe that were with them, which were enow to beſiege them, and departed to thoſe places which were moze neceſſary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetouſneſſe, were intreated foꝛ money (thzough certain of thoſe that were in the caſtle) and tooke ſeuentie thouſand a dzachmes and let ſome of them eſcape.

21 But when it was tolde Maccabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, and accuſed thoſe men, that they had ſolde their bzethzen foꝛ money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he ſlewe them when they were conuict of treaſon, and immedialy wanne the two caſtles:

23 And hauing good ſucceſſe, as in all the warres that he tooke in hand, he ſlew in the two caſtles moe then twentie thouſand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Jewes had ouercome afoze, gathered an armie of ſtrangers of all ſoꝛts, and bzought a great troupe of hoꝛſemen out of Aſia, to winne Jewrie by ſtrength.

25 But when he dzew neere, Maccabeus, and they that were with him, turned to pzay vnto God, and ſprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with ſackcloth, 26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and beſought the Lord to bee mercifull to them, and to be an enemie to their enemies, and to bee an aduerſary to their aduerſaries, * as the lawe declareth. Exod. 23. 20. deut. 30. 4.

27 So after the pzaier, they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke beede to themſelues.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both toyned together: the one part had the Lord foꝛ their refuge, and pledge of pzoſperitie, and noble victoꝛie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell waxed ſtrong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen fiue comely men vpon hoꝛſes with bzidles of golde, and two of them led the Jewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery ſide with their weapons, and kept him ſafe, but ſhot darts and lightnings againſt the enemies, ſo that they were confounded with blindneſſe, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were ſlaine of foote men twentie thouſande and fiue hundzed, and ſixe hundzed hoꝛſemen.

32 As foꝛ Timotheus himſelfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very ſtrong holde, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company layde ſiege againſt the foꝛtreſſes with courage foꝛ foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, truſting to the height of the place, blaſphemed exceedingly, and ſpake horrible words.

35 Nenertheleſſe, vpon the ‖ fifth day in the morning, twenty yong men of Maccabeus company, whoſe hearts were inflamed, becauſe of the blaſphemies, came vnto the wal, and with bolde ſtomackes ſmote downe thoſe that they met. ‖ Or, the ſixt and twentieth day.

36 Others alſo that climed vp vpon the engines of warre againſt them that were within, ſet fire vpon the towers, and burnt thoſe blaſphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others bzake vp the gates, and receiued the reſt of the armie, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his bzother with Apollophanes.

38 When this was done, they pzayſed the Lord with Pſalmes and thankſgiuing, which had done ſo great things foꝛ Iſrael, and giuen them the victoꝛy.

a A drachme is the eight part of an ounce, which is about three pence.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lyſias goeth about to ouercome the Jewes. 8 Succour is ſent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lyſias vnto the Iewes 30 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lyſias. 27 A letter of the ſame vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VEry ſhoztly after this, Lyſias the Kings ſteward and a kinſman of his, which had the gouernãce of the affaires, tooke ſoze diſpleaſure foꝛ the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about foureſcoze thouſand, with all the hoꝛſemen, he came againſt the Jewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple ſhould he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: foꝛ he would ſell the Prieſts office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, becauſe of the great number of footmen, and thouſands of hoꝛſemen, and in his foureſcoze Elephants,

5 He came into Judea, and dzewe neere to Beth-ſura, which was a caſtle of defence, fiue a furlongs from Jeruſalem, and layed ſoze ſiege vnto it. a Whereof eight make a mile.

6 But when Maccabeus and his company knewe that hee beſieged the holds, they, and all the people made pzayers with weeping, & teares befoze the Lord, that hee would ſend a good Angel to deliuer Iſrael.

7 And Maccabeus himſelfe firſt of all tooke weapons, exhoꝛting the other that they ſhould leopard themſelues together with him to helpe their bzethzen: ſo they went foꝛth together with a couragious minde.

8 And as they were there beſides Jeruſalem, there appeared befoze them vpon hoꝛſeback a man in white clothing, ſhaking his harneſſe of gold.

9 Then they pzaiſed the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, inſomuch that they were ready, not only to fight with men, but with the moſt cruel beaſts, and to breake downe wals of yron.

10 Thus they marched foꝛward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: foꝛ the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lions, they ſlewe eleuen thouſand footmen, and ſixteene hundzed hoꝛſemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them alſo being wounded, eſcaped naked, & Lyſias himſelfe fled away ſhamefully, fully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse he had had, and knowing that the Hebrewes could not bee ouercome because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised, that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, & perswade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requestes, hauing respect in all things to the common weale, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Iewes, the King granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lysias containing these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

17 John and ‖ Abessalom, which were sent from you, deliuered mee the things that you demaund by writing, and required me to fulfil the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meet to bee reported to the King himselfe, I haue declared them, and he graunted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if yee behaue your selues as friends toward his affaires, hereafter also I wil endeuour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commandement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare yee well, the hundred and eight and fourtie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 ¶ Now the Kings letter conteined these words, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, liue quietly, that euery man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We vnderstand also that ‖ Iewes would not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but woulde keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is that this nation shall bee in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send vnto them, and grant them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and cheerefully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, we haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, & to apply your owne businesse.

‖ Or, April, some reade Xanicus, and some Zanicus.

30 Wherefore, those that wil depart, we giue them free liberty, vnto the thirty day of the moneth of ‖ Panthicus, 31 That the Iewes may vse their owne maner of liuing and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any maner of waies to haue hatred for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romanes also sent a letter conteining these words, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus ‖ Manilius ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people the Iewes sende greeting.

‖ Or, Manlius.

35 The things that Lysias the kings kinseman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which ye shal report vnto the king, send hither some with speed, whē yee haue considered the matter diligently, that wee may consult thereupon, as shall be best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and sende some men, that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

1 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deed of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 6 Iudas is auenged of them. 9 He setteth fire in the hauen of Iamnia. 20 The pursuit of the Iewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken and let goe vnhurt. 32 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

WHen these couenants were made, Lysias went vnto the king, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Hieronymus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euil will.

4 And so by the common aduice of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspected nothing: but when they were gone foorth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundreth of them.

5 Nowe when Iudas knewe of this cruelty shewed against his nation, he commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, hee went foorth against the murtherers of his brethren, and set fire in the hauen by night, and burnt the ships, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 ¶ And when the citie was shut vp, hee departed as though hee would come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 But when hee perceiued that the Iamnites were minded to doe in like maner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them, 9 He came vpon the Iamnites by night, and set fire in the hauen with the naule, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundreth and fourie furlongs.

10 Nowe when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney towarde Timotheus, about fiue thousande men of foote, and a So called because they were shepheards.

‖ Or, pastures.

‖ Or, battell rammes. Iosh. 6. 20.

and fiue hundreth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas through the helpe of God: the * Nomades of Arabia, being ouercome, besought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certaine ‖ cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

* So called because they were shepheards.
‖ Or, pastures.

12 And Iudas thinking that they should in deede be profitable concerning many things, graunted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assaulted a citie called Caspis, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kinds of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of victailes, that they were * slacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Iudas, and reproching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

* Or, Scythopolitans dealt louingly.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any ‖ instruments, or engines of warre, did * cast downe the walles of Iericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assault against the walles.

‖ Or, battell rammes. Iosh. 6. 20.

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, insomuch that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, seuen hundreth and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes, that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garrison in a very strong holde.

19 But Dositheus, & Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth, & slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortresse, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his army by bands, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundreth and twenty thousand men of foot, and two thousand and fiue hundreth horsemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he sent the women, and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortresse called Carnion (for it was hard to beliege, and vneasie to come vnto because of the straites on all sides,)

22 But when Iudas first band came in sight, the enemies were smitten with feare, & a trembling was among them through the presence of him that seeth al things, insomuch that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Iudas was very earnest in pursuing, and slew those wicked men: yea, he slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dositheus, and Sosipater, whom he besought with much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents, and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be deceiued.

25 So when he had assured them with many words, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Atargation, and slew fiue and twenty thousand persons.

27 And after that he had chased away and slaine them, Iudas remmoued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong yoong men kept the walles, defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engins of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slewe fiue and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth fiue hundreth furlongs from Ierusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified that the ‖ Scythopolitans dealt louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie,

‖ Or, Scythians.

31 They gaue them thankes, desiring them to be friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Ierusalem, as the feast of the weeks approched.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foot, and foure hundreth horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine, 35 And Dositheus one of the Baceenors, which was on horseback and a mightie man, tooke Gorgias, and layd hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because hee would haue taken the wicked man alive: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into ‖ Marisa.

‖ Or, Morest, or, Maresa.

36 And when they that were ‖ with Esdrin, had foughten long, and were wearie, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that he would shew himselfe to bee their helper, and captaine of the field.

‖ Or, with Gorgias.

37 And then he began in his owne language, and sung Psalmes with a loud voyce, insomuch that straight wayes he made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seuenth day came, they cleansed themselues (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsemen in their fathers graues.

40 Nowe vnder the coates of euery one that was slaine, they found iewels that had bene consecrate to the idols of the * Iamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. The euery man saw that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

* Deut. 7. 25. Iosh. 7. 21.

41 And so euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And

42 And they gaue themselues to prayer, and beſought him, that they ſhould not vtterly be deſtroyed for the fault committed. Beſides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themſelues from ſinne, forſomuch as they ſaw before their eyes the things which came to paſſe by the ſinne of thoſe that were ſlaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering throughout the company, ſent to Ieruſalem about two thouſand drachmes of ſiluer, to offer a ſinne offering, doing very well and honeſtly, that he thought of the reſurrection.

44 For if hee had not hoped, that they which were ſlaine, ſhould riſe againe, it had bene ſuperfluous, and vaine, to [a] pray for the dead.

a From this verſe to the ende of this Chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, ſo that no good ſenſe, much leſſe certaine doctrine can bee gathered thereby: Alſo, it is euident, that this place was not written by the holie Ghoſt, both becauſe it diſſenteth from the reſt of the holy Scriptures, and alſo the authour of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmitie, deſireth pardon, if he haue not attained to that hee ſhould. And it ſeemeth that this Iaſon the Cyrenian, out of whom he tooke this abridgement, is Ioſeph Ben-gorion, who hath written in Ebrew fiue books of theſe matters, and intreating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib. 3. capit. 19. For it is contrary to the cuſtome of the Iewes, euen to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had ſo done, yet this particular example is not ſufficient to eſtabliſh doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might miniſter the Sacraments, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Razis that one might kill himſelfe, whom this authour ſo much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

45 And therfore he perceiued that there was great fauour layde vp for thoſe that died godly. (It was an holy & good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead that they might be deliuered from ſinne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The comming of Eupater into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight againſt Eupater moueth his ſouldiers vnto prayer. 15 He killeth foureteene thouſand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundreth forty and nine yeere, it was tolde Iudas that Antiochus Eupator was cõming with a great power into Iudea,

2 And Lyſias the ſteward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundreth and tenne thouſand men of foot of the Gretians, and fiue thouſand horſemen, and two and twenty Elephants, and three hundreth charets ſet with hooks.

3 Menelaus alſo ioyned himſelfe with them, and with great deceite encouraged Antiochus, not for the ſafegard of the countrey, but becauſe he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kings moued Antiochus minde againſt this wicked man, and Lyſias informed the king that this man was the cauſe of all miſchiefe, ſo that the King commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death as the maner was in that place.

5 Nowe there was in that place a tower of fifty cubits high, full of aſhes, and it had an inſtrument that turned round, and on euery ſide it rouled downe into the aſhes:

6 And there whoſoeuer was condemned of ſacrilege, or of any other grieuous crime, was caſt of all men to death.

7 And ſo it came to paſſe that this wicked man ſhould die ſuch a death, and it was a moſt iuſt thing that Menelaus ſhould want buriall.

8 For becauſe he had committed many ſinnes by the altar, whoſe fire and aſhes were holy: he himſelfe alſo died in the aſhes.

9 ¶ Now the King raged in his minde, and came to ſhew himſelf more cruel vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, he commaunded the people to call vpon the Lorde night and day, that if euer he had holped them, he would now helpe them, when they ſhould be put from the Lawe, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that her would not ſuffer the people which a little afore began to recouer, to be ſubdued vnto the blaſphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and beſought the Lord for mercy with weeping and faſting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themſelues ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders, tooke counſell to goe forth, afore the king brought his hoſte into Iudea, and ſhould take the city, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, he exhorted his ſouldiers to fight mãfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And ſo giuing his ſouldiers for a watchword, The victorie of God, he picked out the manlieſt yong men, and went by night into the Kings campe, and ſlew of the hoſte foureteene thouſand men, and the greateſt Elephant with all that ſate vpon him.

16 Thus whē they had wrought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went proſperouſly with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, becauſe the protection of the Lorde did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had taſted the manlineſſe of the Iewes, he went about to take the holds by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-ſura, which was a ſtrong hold of the Iewes: but hee was chaſed away, hurt, and loſt of his men.

20 For Iudas had ſent vnto them that were in it, ſuch things as were neceſſary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoſte, diſcloſed the ſecrets of the enemies: therefore he was ſought out, and when they had gotten him they put him in priſon.

22 After this did the King commune with them that were in Beth-ſura, and ‖ tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

‖ Or, gaue and tooke the right hand.

23 But when hee vnderſtood, that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerſeer of his buſineſſe at Antiochia) did rebell againſt him, he was aſtoniſhed, ſo that hee yeelded himſelfe to the Iewes, and made them an oath to do all things that were right, and was appeaſed toward them, and offered Sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and ſhewed great gentleneſſe to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, & made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerenians.

25 Neuertheleſſe,

25 Nevertheleſſe when hee came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and becauſe they were grieued, they would that hee ſhould breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lyſias vp into the iudgement ſeat, and excuſed the fact aſwell as he could, and perſwaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the Kings iourney, and his retreate.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius moued by Alcimus ſendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes, 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 29 which hee yet breaketh through the motion of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Razis to be taken, who ſlayeth himſelfe.

AFter three yeeres was Iudas informed that Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and nauy by the hauen of Tripolis,

2 And had wonne the countrey, and ſlaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Lyſias.

3 Nowe Alcimus, which had beene the high Prieſt, and wilfully defiled himſelfe in the time that all things were confounded, ſeeing that by no meanes he could ſaue himſelfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 Hee came to King Demetrius in the hundreth fiftie and one yeere, preſenting vnto him a crowne of golde, & a palme, and of the boughes, which were vſed ſolemnely in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie and occaſion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counſell, and aſked him what deuiſes or counſels the Iewes leaned vnto.

6 To the which he anſwered, The Iewes that be called Aſideans, whoſe captain is Iudas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make inſurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the hie Prieſthood) am nowe come hither,

8 Partly becauſe I was wel affectioned vnto the Kings affaires, and ſecondly becauſe I ſought the profit of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their raſhneſſe, are not a little troubled.

9 Wherefore O King, ſeeing thou knoweſt all theſe things, make prouiſion for the countrey, and our nation which is abaſed, according to thine owne humanitie, that is readie to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not poſſible that the matter ſhould be well.

11 When hee had ſpoken theſe words, other friends alſo hauing euill will at Iudas, ſet Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediately called for Nicanor the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine ouer Iudea, 13 And ſent him forth, commanding him to ſlay Iudas, and to ſcatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus hie prieſt of the great Temple.

14 Then the Heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thinking the harme & calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Nowe when the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they ſprinckled themſelues with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himſelfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remooued ſtreight wayes from thence, and came to the towne of Deſſau.

17 Where Simon Iudas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was ſomewhat aſtoniſhed through the ſudden ſilence of the enemies.

18 Nevertheleſſe Nicanor hearing the manlineſſe of them that were with Iudas, and the bolde ſtomackes that they had for their countrey, durſt not ſpoone the matter with bloodſhedding.

19 Wherefore he ſent Poſſidonius, | Theodo- | Or, Theodotus.
ſius, and | Matthias before to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduiſement thereupon, and the captaine ſhewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and conſented to the couenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they ſhoulde particularly come together: ſo when the day was come, they ſet for euery man his ſtoole.

22 Nevertheleſſe Iudas commanded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, leaſt there ſhoulde ſuddenly ariſe any euill through the enemies: and ſo they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ieruſalem, did none hurt, but ſent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee | loued Iudas, and fauoured him in | Or, had Iudas before his eyes.
his heart.

25 He prayed him alſo to take a wife, and to beget children: ſo he married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betweene them, and vnderſtanding the couenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him, that Nicanor had taken ſtrange matters in hand, and ordeyned Iudas a traitor to the Realme, to be his ſucceſſor.

27 Then the King was diſpleaſed, and by the reportes of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, ſaying, that hee was very angry for the couenants, commanding him that hee ſhould ſend Maccabeus in all haſte priſoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When theſe things came to Nicanor, hee was aſtoniſhed and ſore grieued, that he ſhoulde breake the things wherein they had agreed, ſeeing that that man had committed no wickedneſſe.

29 But becauſe it was not commodious to him to withſtand the King, he ſought craftily to accompliſh it.

30 Notwithſtanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor beganne to bee rough vnto him, and that hee intreated him more rudely then he was wont, he perceiued that ſuch rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a few of his men, and withdrewe himſelfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was preuented by Maccabeus worthie policie, came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they sware that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this maner, If ye will not deliuer mee Iudas a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, & I will breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes he departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this maner, 35 Thou, O Lorde of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stoppe all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Nowe was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a louer of the citie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man aforetimes when the Iewes were minded to keepe themselues vndefiled and pure, being accused to bee of the Religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life with all constancie for the Religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, sent about fiue hundreth men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this companie would haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, & commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that hee was readie to be taken on euery side, he fell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the handes of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthie for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betweene the doores, he ranne boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude:

44 Which conueyed themselues lightly away, and gaue place, so that hee fell vpon his bellie.

45 Neuertheleſſe while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, he rose vp, & though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet he ranne thorow the mids of the people,

46 And gate him to the toppe of an hie rocke: so when his blood was vtterly gone, he tooke out his owne bowels with both his hands, & threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life and Spirite, that he would restore them againe vnto him, and thus he died.

a As this priuate example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the worde of God, although the author seeme heere to approoue it: so that place as touching prayer, Chap. 12. 44. though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to prooue a doctrine, because it is onely a particular example.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabboth day. 5 The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vision encourageth them. 21 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head and hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giuen vnto the foules. 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

NOw when Nicanor knewe that Iudas and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheleſſe the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, sayd, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demaunded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they sayde, There is a liuing Lord, which reigneth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenth day to be kept,

5 Then he sayd, And I am mightie vpon earth to commaund them to arme themselues, and to performe the Kings businesse. Notwithstanding he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purposed to set vp a memoriall of the victorie obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfect hope that the Lorde would helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to be afrayde at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had beene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust nowe also that they shoulde haue the victorie by the Almightie.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the law and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their hearts, and shewed them also the deceitfulnesse of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus hee armed euery one of them, not with assurance of the shieldes and speares, but with wholesome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to be beleeued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision, He thought that he saw Onias, (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of goodnesse from a childe) holding vp his handes toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellency aboue him.

14 And Onias spake, and sayd, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy citie, to wit, Jeremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Jeremias held out his right hand, & gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold: and as he gaue it, he spake thus,

16 Take this holy sworde a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wounde the aduersaries,

17 And

17 And so being comforted by the wordes of Iudas, which were very sweet and able to stirre them vp to valiantnes & to encourage the hearts of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageously to let vpon them, and manfully to assaile them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the citie and the Sanctuarie and the temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues and children, and brethren, and kinsefolkes, they set lesse by them, anger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 [illegible] the citie were carefull of the armie that was abroad.

20 Now while they all waited for the triall [illegible] and the armies was now met [illegible] them, and the host was set in aray, & the beasts were prepared in conuenient places, and the horsemen well placed in the wings:

21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beasts, helde vp his handes toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that worketh wonders: for he knew that he giueth not the victorie vnto the weapons, but that he giueth the victorie to whom he thinketh worthy according vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer he layd after this manner, O Lord, thou hast sent thine Angel in the time of Ezechias king of Iudea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slewe an hundreth fourescore and fiue thousand.

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lorde of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes he made an end.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, dre we neere with trumpets and shoutings for ioy.

26 But Iudas and his companie praying and calling vpon God, encountred with the enemies, 27 So that with their handes they fought, but with their heartes they prayed vnto God, and slewe no lesse then fiue and thirtie thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wonderously comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstood that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and a crie, praising the Almightie in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and mind, and which bare euer good affection towardes them of his nation, commanded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the Priestes before the altar, and sent for them of the castle, 32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemer, which he had stretched out proudly against the holy Temple of the Almightie God.

33 Yea, he caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to be cut in litle pieces, and to be cast vnto the foules, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man praised towardes heauen the glorious Lorde, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 He hanged also Nicanors head vpon the high castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And they ordained all together by a common decree that they would in no wise suffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the thirteenth day, which is the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And here will I also make an end.

39 If I haue done well, and as the storie required, it is the thing that I desired; but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtful to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the storie. And here shall be the end.

GOD.

THE bookes of the olde Teſtament doe teach vs, that the ſame God, whome Adam, Noe, Abraham, Iſaac, Iacob, Dauid, and the other fathers did worſhip, is * the onely true God, and that hee the ſame is Almighty and a euerlaſting: who of his meere goodneſſe hath created by his Word b heauen and earth, and all that is in them: From whom all things doe come: without whom there is nothing at all: And that hee is c iuſt and mercifull: who alſo d worketh all in al, e after his owne will: f To whom it is not lawfull to ſay, wherefore hee doeth thus or thus.

Creation of man.

MOreouer, theſe Bookes teach vs, that this very God Almighty, after hee created all things, ſhope alſo Adam the firſt man, g to the image and ſpirituall ſimilitude of himſelfe, and that he did conſtitute him Lord ouer all things that he had created in earth. Which Adam by the enuie and fraude of the deuill, tranſgreſſing the precept of his Creator, h by this his ſinne brought in ſuch and ſo great ſinne into the worlde, that we which be ſprong from him by the fleſh, i be in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made ſubiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke and tyranny of the deuill.

Sinne.

Chriſt promiſed.

FVrthermore, we are taught by theſe excellent bookes, that God promiſed to k Adam, l Abraham, m Iſaac, n Iacob, o Dauid, and to other Fathers of the olde time, that hee would ſend that bleſſed ſeede, his ſonne Ieſus Chriſt our Sauiour, which ſhould deliuer all thoſe from ſinne, and from the p tyrannie of the deuill which by a liuely and working faith ſhould beleeue this promiſe, and put their truſt in Ieſus Chriſt, hoping that of him and by him, they ſhould obteine this deliuerance.

The Law.

ALſo they giue vs to vnderſtand, that in the meane ſeaſon, while thoſe Fathers the Iſraelites looked for the ſaluation, and deliuerance promiſed (for that the nature of man is ſuch, ſo proude and ſo corrupt, that thoſe would not willingly acknowledge themſelues to be ſinners, which had neede of the Sauiour promiſed) God the Creator gaue by Moſes his q Lawe written in two Tables of ſtone: that by it, ſinne and the malice of mans heart being r knowen, might more vehemently thirſt for the ſ comming of Ieſus Chriſt, who ſhould redeeme and deliuer them from ſinne: which thing, neither the Lawe, nor yet the ſacrifices and oblations of the Law did t performe. For they were ſhadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Chriſt: by which oblation all u ſinne ſhould be blotted out, and quite put away.

Chriſt God our Sauiour came,

BY the bookes of the newe Teſtament we be taught, that Chriſt ſo afore promiſed (* which is God aboue all things moſt bleſſed for euer) hee, I ſay, was ſhadowed in the Bookes of the old Teſtament, and in ſacrifices figured, that he was x ſent at the laſt from the Father, the ſelfe ſame time which the Father did conſtitute within himſelfe: I ſay, y at that time when all wickednes abounded in the worlde, then he was ſente And this Ieſus our Sauiour being borne in the fleſh, z ſuffered death, and roſe againe from the dead, Which actes of his were not done by him in reſpect of the a good workes of any man (for we were all ſinners) but that this God our Father ſhould b appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant c riches of his grace which he promiſed, and that d through his mercie he might bring vs to ſaluation.

Whereupon it is euidently ſhewed in the e Newe Teſtament, that Ieſus Chriſt, being the true f Lambe, the true g ſacrifice of the world, h putting away the ſinnes of men, came into this worlde to purchaſe grace and i peace for vs with the Father, k waſhing vs from our ſinnes in his owne blood, and l ſhould deliuer vs from the bondage of the deuil, whom by ſinne we did ſerue: And ſo we ſhould be m adopted by him to be the ſonnes of God, made n heires with him of that moſt excellent and euerlaſting kingdome.

Nowe that wee ſhould acknowledge this ſingular and excellent benefite of God towardes vs, Almighty God o giueth vs his holy Spirite: the p fruite and effect of the which is faith in God, and in his q Chriſt. For without the holy Ghoſt, by which we are inſtructed and r ſealed, neither can we beleeue that God the Father ſent Meſſias, nor yet that Ieſus is Chriſt: For s no man (ſayeth Paul) can ſay that Ieſus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghoſt. The t ſame Spirit witneſſeth to our Spirit, that we are the children of God, u and powreth into our bowels that charitie which Paul deſcribed to the Corinthians. Furthermore, that holy Spirit doth giue vs hope, which is a ſure looking for eternal life, whereof he himſelfe is the certaine x token & pledge. Alſo he giueth vs other y ſpiritual gifts of z which Paul writeth to the Galatians. Therfore a benefit of faith is not to be deſpiſed, or litle to be ſet by. For by the meanes of this truſt & b faith in Chriſt, which c worketh by charity, & ſheweth it ſelfe forth by the works of charitie, moouing man thereto, we are d inſtituted and ſanctified: that is to ſay, God & the Father of our Lord Ieſus ¶ Certaine questions and answeres touching the doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods worde and Sacraments.

Certaine

Question.

Why do men so much vary in matters of religion?

Answere.

Because all haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither doe all beleeue the Gospel of Christ.

Question.

What is the reason thereof?

Answere.

Because they only beleeue the Gospel and doctrine of Christ, which are ordained vnto eternall life.

Question.

Are not all ordained vnto eternall life?

Answere.

Some are vessels of wrath ordayned vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercie prepared to glory.

Question.

How standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto damnation?

Answer.

Very well: because all men haue in themselues sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercie of God is wonderfull in that hee vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinfull race, and to bring them to the knowledge of the trueth.

Question.

If Gods ordinance and determination must of necessitie take effect, then what need any man to care? for hee that liueth well, must needes be damned, if hee be thereunto ordained: and he that liueth ill must needs be saued, if he be thereunto appointed.

Answere.

Not so: for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwayes be without care to doe well, or that the reprobate should haue any will thereunto. For to haue either good will or good workes, is a testimonie of the Spirite of God, which is giuen to the elect onely, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that, being graft in Christ, they grow in holinesse to that glory, whereunto they are appointed. Neither are they so vaine as once to thinke that they may doe as they list themselues, because they are predestinate vnto saluation: but rather they endeuour to walke in such good workes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained them vnto, and prepared for them to be occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay and assurance, and to his glory.

Question.

But how shall I know my selfe to be one of those whom God hath ordained to life eternall.

Answere.

By the motions of spirituall life, which belongeth onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceiued, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sensible motions thereof.

Question.

What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answere.

I meane remorse of conscience, ioyned with the lothing of sinne, and loue of righteousnes: the hande of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distresse, and raised vp to confidence in God by the worke of his Spirite: a thankefull remembrance of Gods benefites receiued, and the vsing of al aduersities as occasion of amendement sent from God.

Question.

Cannot such perish as at some time or other feele these motions within themselues?

Answere.

It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changrable, so hee repenteth not the gifts & graces of his adoption: neither doth he cast off those whom [illegible] once receiued.

Question.

Why then should we pray by the example of Dauid, that he cast vs not from his face, and that hee take not his holy Spirite from vs?

Answere.

In so praying we make protestation of the weaknesse of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not wee haue courage to aske, if wee were not assured that God will giue according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.

Do the children of God feele the motions alongeard alwayes alike?

Answere.

No truely: for God sometime to proue his, seemeth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh ouermasterth the spirite, whereof ariseth trouble of conscience for the time:

yet the ſpirit of adoption is neuer taken from them, that haue once receiued it: elſe might they periſh. But as in many diſeaſes of the body, the powers of bodily life are letted: So in ſome aſſaults theſe motions of ſpirituall life are not perceiued, becauſe they lie hidde in our manifold infirmities, as the fire couered with aſhes. Yet as after ſickneſſe commeth health, and after clouds the Sunne ſhineth cleare: ſo the powers of ſpirituall life will more or leſſe bee ſtirred and perceiued in the children of God.

Queſtion.

What if I neuer feele theſe motions in my ſelfe, ſhall I deſpaire and thinke my ſelfe a caſtaway?

Anſwere.

God forbid: for God calleth his at what time he ſeeth good: & the inſtruments whereby he vſually calleth, haue not the like effect at all times, yet it is not good to neglect the meanes whereby God hath determined to worke the ſaluation of his. For as waxe is not melted without heate, nor clay hardened but by meanes thereof: ſo God vſeth meanes both to draw thoſe vnto himſelfe, whom hee hath appointed vnto ſaluation, and alſo to bee way the wickedneſſe of them whom hee iuſtly condemneth.

Queſtion.

By what meanes vſeth God to draw men to himſelfe that they may be ſaued?

Anſwere.

By the preaching of his word and the miniſtring of his Sacraments thereunto annexed.

Queſtion.

What meane you by the word of God?

Anſwere.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophets & Apoſtles which they receiued of the ſpirit of God, and haue left written in that Booke which we commonly call the Old and New Teſtament.

Queſtion.

How may I be aſſured, that it is the word of God, which that Booke conteineth?

Anſwere.

By the maieſtie of God appearing in that plaine and ſimple doctrine: by the pureneſs, vprightneſs and holineſs thereof: by the certaintie of euerything therein affirmed: by the ſucceſſe of all things according to it: by perpetuall conſent which is to be ſeene in euery part thereof: by the excellencie of the matters vttered: But eſpecially by the teſtimonie of Gods ſpirite, whereby it was written, who inwardly the hearts of thoſe in whom it reſteth, to conſent vnto the word, and reuerently to embrace it.

Queſtion.

How doth the word of God ſerue to draw men vnto him?

Anſwere.

When it is ſo preached and heard, that men may vnderſtand and learne what God teacheth: accept and receiue thankfully that which is thereby giuen, promiſed & aſſured: and bee moued with feare and diligence to doe that which it commandeth.

Queſtion.

Doe the Sacraments alſo ſerue to this end?

Anſwere.

Yea verily: that by ſight, taſte & feeling, as well as by hearing, we might bee inſtructed, allured, and brought to obedience.

Queſtion.

How doth our Baptiſme ſerue hereunto?

Anſwere.

It teacheth vs to put on Chriſt, that with his righteouſneſſe our ſinfulnes may be hidden: it aſſureth vs that we are ſo graft into Chriſt, that all our ſinnes by him are waſhed away: it chargeth vs to die to ſinne, to continue in the profeſſion of Chriſt, and to loue each other.

Queſtion.

Hath the Lords ſupper alſo this vſe?

Anſwere.

Yea doubtleſſe: for it teacheth, that the body and blood of Chriſt crucified, is the only food of the new borne children of God: it aſſureth that Chriſt is wholly theirs to giue and ſo continue life ſpirituall and heauenly to body and ſoule, to nouriſh, ſtrengthen, refreſh, and to make cheareful y hearts of the elect: it requireth thankfull remembrance of the death of Chriſt, vnitie among thoſe that doe profeſſe him, with a free confeſſion of his truth.

Queſtion.

Why is not this vſe of the Sacraments commonly knowen?

Anſwere.

Becauſe they are abuſed for forme, for faſhion, for cuſtome and company, without regard vnto the word, whereunto they are ſo annexed, that they ought not vpon any neceſſitie by any perſon be ſwered frō it, which teacheth the right vſe of euery thing.

Queſtion.

I perceiue that nothing is more neceſſary then the word of God: therefore I pray you ſhew me how I may attaine to ſome knowledge and profite thereby.

Anſwere.

By diligent hearing of ſuch as preach it, by continuall and orderly exerciſe of reading and praying.

Queſtion.

What orderly exerciſe thinke you moſt conuenient to be vſed herein?

Anſwere

Answere.

Thatis euery day, chiefe at the feast, wee moste commonly receiue foode to our nourishment of this corporall life: so no day be let passe without some reading in such sort that occasion thereby may bee taken to speake againe vnto God by prayer, as he in his word speaketh vnto vs: So that at the least two Chapters would bee orderly and distinctly read euery day, all other businesse, iudgements and lests set apart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done: what thinke you else requisite?

Answere.

That some especiall places of Scripture be so committed to memory, that the minde may euer be furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which ende I note these Scriptures vnto you, wherunto you may safely adde all such other chosen Psalmes 139. 37. 50. Esa. 53. 1 John 17. Rom. 8. 1. Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are hard and not able to vnderstand.

Answere.

Discourage not your self therewith: for God maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seeke him: and that hardnesse that you finde serueth to moue you to the more diligence, and to make inquirie of such as haue knowledge, when any doubt ariseth. That which you perceiue not at one time, God shall reuelle at another: So that you shall haue your growing in grace, knowledge and godlinesse, to Gods glory and your owne comfort in Christ, whose name be euer be praised, Amen.

¶ The

The holy [a] Gospel of Iesus Christ, [b] according to Matthew.

a This word signifieth good tydings, and is taken here for the story which conteineth the ioyfull message of the comming of the sonne of God promised from the beginning.
b That is, written and taught by Matthew.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this history writtē by Matthew, Marke, Luke, & Iohn, the Spirit of God so gouerned their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect & purpose they so consent, as though ỹ whole had bene compesed by any one of them. And albeit in stile and maner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one writeth more largely that which the other doth abridge: neuertheles in matter & argument, they all tend to one end: which is to publish to the world the fauour of God toward mankinde through Christ Iesus, whom the Father hath giuen as a pledge of his mercy and loue. And for this cause they entitle their story Gospel, which signifieth good tidings, forasmuch as God hath performed in deede that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the world, and the vanities thereof, and with most affectioned hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offred vnto vs, for there is no ioy nor consolation, no peace nor quietnesse, no felicitie nor saluation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whom all the promises are Yea, and Amen. And therefore vnder this word is contained ỹ whole New Testament: but commonly we vse this name for the history, which the foure Euangelists write, containing Christs cōming in the flesh, his death, and resurrection, which is the perfect summe of our saluation. Matthew, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life and death: but Iohn more laboureth to set forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and also the vertue of his death and resurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to knowe that Christ was borne, dead, and risen againe, should nothing profite vs. The which thing notwithstanding that the three first touch partly, as he also sometime intermedleth ỹ historical narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a most learned interpreter writeth, they describe as it were, the body, and Iohn setteth before our eyes the soule. Wherefore the same aptly termeth the Gospel written by Iohn, the key which openeth the doore to the vnderstanding of the others: for whosoeuer doth know the office, vertue & power of Christ, shal reade that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the Redeemer of the world, with most profit. Now as concerning the writers of this history, it is euident that Matthew was a Publicane, or custome gatherer, & was thence chosen of Christ to bee an Apostle. Marke is thought to haue bene Peters disciple, and to haue planted the first Church at Alexandria, where he died the eight yeere of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a Phisition of Antiochia, and became Pauls disciple, and fellow in all his trauailes: he liued fourescore & foure yeeres, and was buried at Constantinople. Iohn was that Apostle whom the Lord loued, the sonne of Zebedeus, and brother of Iames: he died threescore yeere after Christ, and was buried neere to the citie of Ephesus.

t Christ is here called the first borne, because shee had neuer any before, and not in respect of any she had after. Neither yet doth this worde (till) import alwayes a time following wherein the contrary may be affirmed, as our Sauiour, saying, that he will bee present with his disciples till the ende of the worlde, meaneth not, that after this worlde he will not be with them.

17 So all the generations from Abraham to Dauid, are fourteene generations: and from Dauid vntill they were carried away into Babylon, fourteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, fourteene generations.

18 ¶ Now the birth of Iesus Christ was thus. When as his mother Mary was * betrothed to Ioseph, m before they came together, she was found * with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husbande being a o iust man, and not willing to * make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles he thought these things, beholde, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a p dreame, saying, Ioseph the q sonne of Dauid, feare not to take Marie for thy wife: for that which is conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And she shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt * call his name r Iesus: for he shall * saue his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying,

23 * Behold, a Virgine shall bee with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and ‖ they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, s God with vs.

24 ¶ Then Ioseph being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.

25 But knewe her not, till shee had brought forth her t first borne sonne, and he called his name IESVS.

Luke 2.6.

a For there is another Bethlehem in the tribe of Zabulon.

WHen * Iesus was then borne at a Beth-lehem in * Iudea, in the dayes of Herod the King, beholde, there came

b Wisemen from the East to Ierusalem,

2 Saying, Where is he that is borne King of the Iewes? for we haue seene his c starre in the East, and are come to d worship him.

3 When King Herode heard this, he was troubled, and all Ierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the chiefe Priestes and Scribes of the people, hee asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 * And they saide vnto him, At Beth-lehem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 * And thou Beth-lehem in the land of Iuda, art not the least among the princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the gouernour that shall feede my people Israel.

7 Then Herode e priuily called the wisemen, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-lehem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring mee worde againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe, the f starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came, and stoode ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy.

11 And went into the house, and ‖ found the babe with Mary his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, g euen golde, and incense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should i not go againe to Herode, they returned into their countrey another way.

13 ¶ After their departure, beholde, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee worde: for Herode will seeke the babe, to destroy him.

14 So he arose, and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt,

15 And was there vnto the death of Herode, k that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord by the * Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

16 ¶ l Then Herode, seeing that he was mocked of the wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slewe all the male children that were in Beth-lehem, and in all the coastes thereof, from two yeere olde and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently learched out of the wisemen.

17 Then was that fulfilled which was b Wisemen] Magi, in the Persians & Chaldeans tongue, signifie Philosophers, Priests, or Astronomers, and are here the first fruites of the Gentiles that come to worship Christ.

c An extraordinarie signe to set forth that Kings honour, whome the world did not esteeme.

d Which was a declaration of that reuerence, which the Gentiles should beare vnto Christ.

e They could wel tell of Christ in generall: but when they should professe his name, and giue him his due honour, they waxe cold and shrinke backe.

Micah.5.2. iohn 7.42.

f An euill conscience is a burning fire.

g The starre vanished away before, to the intent they should tarie at Ierusalem, and there inquire of the thing to the confusion of the Iewes.

‖ Or, saw.

h The Persians maner was not to salute Kings without a present, anp therfore they brought of that which was most precious in their countrey, whereof euery one of them offred.

i Promise ought not to be kept where Gods honour and preaching of his trueth is hindered: or else it ought not to bee broken.

k That which was prefigured by the deliuerance of the Israelites out of Egypt, which were Christs Church and his body, is now verified, and accomplished in the head Christ. Hos.11.1.

CHAP. XII.

3 Chriſt excuſeth his diſciples which pluckte the eares of corne. 10 He healeth the dried hand, 22 Helpeth the poſſeſſed that was blind and dumme. 31 Blaſphemie. 34 The generation of vipers. 35 Of good wordes. 36 Of idle wordes. 38 Hee rebuketh the vnfaithfull that wouldde needes haue tokens. 49 And ſheweth who is his brother, ſiſter, and mother.

AT * that time Ieſus went on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his Diſciples were an hungred, and began to pluck the eares of corne and to eate.

2 And when the Phariſies ſaw it, they ſayd vnto him, Beholde, thy Diſciples doe that which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.

3 But he ſayd vnto them, * Haue ye not read what Dauid did when hee was an hungred, and they that were with him?

4 How he entred into the houſe of God, and ate the ſhewe bread, which was not lawfull for him to eate, neither for them which were with him, but only for the * Prieſtes?

5 Or haue ye not read in the Law how that on the Sabbath dayes the Prieſtes in the Temple * breake the Sabbath, and are blameleſſe?

6 But I ſay vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knewe what this is, * I will haue mercie, and not ſacrifice, yee would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the Sonne of man is * Lorde, euen of the Sabbath.

9 * And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue.

10 And behold, there was a man which had his hande dryed vp. And they aſked him, ſaying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuſe him.

11 And he ſayde vnto them, What man ſhall there be among you, that ſhall haue a ſheepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pitte, will not hee take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a ſheepe? therefore, it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then ſayde hee to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he ſtretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 Then the Phariſies went out, & conſulted againſt him, howe they might deſtroy him.

15 But when Ieſus knewe it, hee departed thence, and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all,

16 And charged them that they ſhoulde not make him knowen,

17 That it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by Eſaias the Prophet, ſaying, 18 * Beholde my ſeruant whom I haue choſen, my beloued in whom my ſoule delighteth: I will put my ſpirite on him, and hee ſhall ſhewe d iudgement to the Gentiles.

19 Hee ſhall not * ſtriue, nor cry, neither ſhall any man heare his voyce in the ſtreets.

20 A * bruſed reede ſhall hee not breake and ſmoking flaxe ſhall hee not quenche, till hee bring forth iudgement e vnto victorie.

21 And in his Name ſhall the Gentiles truſt.

22 ¶ * Then was brought to him one, poſſeſſed with a deuill, both blinde, & dumme, and he healed him, ſo that the which was blind and dumme, both ſpake and ſawe.

23 And all the people were amazed, and ſaid, Is not this the ſonne of Dauid?

24 But when the Phariſies heard it, they ſayde, * This man caſteth the deuils no otherwiſe out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 But Ieſus knew their thoughts, and ſayde to them, Euery kingdome deuided againſt it ſelfe, ſhall bee f brought to nought: and euery citie or houſe, deuided againſt it ſelfe, ſhall not ſtand.

26 So if Satan caſt out Satan, hee is deuided againſt himſelfe: how ſhall then his kingdome endure?

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sowe.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the waies side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stonie grounde, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne rose vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprung vp and choked them.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and brought foorth fruite, one corne an hundreth folde, some sixtie folde, and another thirtie folde.

15 f For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue wincked, least they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstande with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them.

16 But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 * For verely I say vnto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men haue desired to see those things which ye see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

18 ¶ * Heare ye therefore the parable of the sower.

19 Whensoeuer a man heareth the word of the kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, the euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sowen in his heart: and this is he which hath receiued the seede by the way side.

20 And hee that receiued seede in the stonie ground, is hee which heareth the worde, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it.

21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and endureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that receiueth the seed among thornes, is hee, that heareth the worde: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulnes of riches choke the worde, and hee is made vnfruitful.

23 But he that receiueth the seede in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, & vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruite, and bringeth forth, some an hundreth folde, some sixty folde, and some thirtie folde.

24 ¶ Another parable put he forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his fielde.

25 h But while men slept, there came his enemie, and sowed tares among the wheat, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruite, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and said vnto him, Master, sowedst thou not good seede in thy field? frō whence then hath it tares?

28 And he said to them, The enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants said vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe and gather them vp?

29 But he said, Nay, least while ye go about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 i Let both growe together vntill the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers, Gather yee first the tares, and binde them in sheaues to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barne.

31 ¶ * Another parable he put forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustarde seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his fielde:

32 Which in deed is the k least of all seeds: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ * Another parable spake he to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, l till all be leauened.

34 ¶ * All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not to them, 35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, * I will open my mouth in m parables, and will vtter the things which haue bene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the fielde.

37 Then answered he, and said to them, Hee that soweth the good seede, is the sonne of man,

38 And the fielde is the worlde, and the good seede, they are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of the wicked,

39 And the enemie that sowed them, is the deuill, * and the haruest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the ende of this world.

41 The sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that n offend, and them which doe iniquitie, 42 And shall cast them into a furnace of fire. There shall be wayling and gnashing of teeth.

43 * Then shall the iust men shine as the Sunne in the kingdome of their Father. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

44 ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, hee hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field.

45 ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like to a marchant man that seeketh good pearles, 46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went, and solde all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like * vnto a drawe net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kindes of things.

26 And when his disciples sawe him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a spirit, and cryed out for feare.

28 Then Peter answered him, and said, Master, if it be thou, k bid mee come vnto thee on the water.
29 And he sayd, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the ship, he walked on the water, to goe to Iesus.
30 But when he sawe a mighty winde, he was afraide; and as hee l began to sinke, he cryed, saying, Master, saue me.

CHAP. XV.

1 Christ excuseth his disciples, and rebuketh the Scribes and Pharises, for transgressing Gods commandements by their owne traditions. 13 The plant that shall be rooted out. 18 What things defile a man. 21 He deliuereth the woman of Canaanes daughter. 26 The bread of the children. 30 He healeth the sicke, 36 And feedeth foure thousand men, beside women and children.

THen came to Jesus the Scribes and Pharises, which were of Jerusalem, saying,

2 * Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they * wash not their hands when they eate ‖ bread.

3 But he answered and said vnto them, Why doe yee also transgresse the commandement of God by your tradition?

4 * For God hath commaunded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: * and he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But yee say, Whosoever shall say to father or mother, [b] By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profite.

6 Though he honour not his father, or his mother, shall be free: thus haue yee made the commandement of God of no authoritie by your tradition.

7 Ye hypocrites, Esaias prophecied well of you, saying,

8 * This people draweth neere vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth mee with the lippes, but their heart is farre off from me.

9 But [c] in vaine they worship mee, teaching for doctrines mens precepts.

10 * Then he called the multitude vnto him, and sayd to them, Heare & vnderstand.

11 That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which commeth out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, & sayd vnto him, Perceiuest thou not, that the Pharises are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But he answered and sayd, * [d] Euery plant which mine heauenly Father hath not planted, shalbe rooted vp.

14 * Let them alone: they be the * blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde leade the blinde, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 ¶ * Then answered Peter, and sayde to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then said Jesus, Are ye yet without vnderstanding?

17 Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoeuer entreth into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart * come euill [f] thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, theftes, false testimonies, slaunders.

20 These are the things which defile the man: but to eate with vnwashed hands, defileth not the man.

21 * And Jesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And beholde, a woman a Cananite came out of the same coasts, and cryed, saying vnto him, Haue mercy on me, O Lord, thou sonne of Dauid: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill.

23 But hee answered her not a worde. Then came to him his disciples, & besought him, saying, [g] Send her away, for she crieth after vs.

24 But he answered and said, I am not sent, but vnto the * lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

25 Yet she came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord helpe me.

26 And he answered, and sayd, It is not good to take the childrens bread, & to cast it to [h] whelpes.

27 But she sayd, Truth, Lord: yet indeed the whelpes eate of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Jesus answered, and sayd vnto her, O woman, great is thy [i] faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ So Jesus * went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galile, and went vp into a mountaine and sate downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, * hauing with them halte, blinde, dumbe, maymed, and many other, and cast them downe at Jesus feete, and he healed them, 31 In so much that the multitude wondred, to see the dumbe speake, the maimed whole, the halt to go, & the blinde to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 * Then Jesus called his disciples vnto him, and sayde, [k] I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue continued with mee already three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them depart fasting, least they faynt in the way.

33 And his disciples sayde vnto him, Whence should wee get so much bread in the wildernesse, as should suffice so great a multitude?

34 And Jesus sayd vnto them, How many loaues haue yee? And they sayd, Seuen, and a fewe little fishes.

35 Then he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground, 36 And tooke the seuen loaues, and the fishes, and gaue thanks, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

6 Then Ieſus ſayde vnto them, Take heede and beware of the leauen of the Phariſes and Sadducees.

7 And they ‖ thought in themſelues, ſaying, It is becauſe wee haue brought no bread.

8 But Ieſus e knowing it, ſayde vnto them, O yee of litle faith, why thinke you, thus in your ſelues, becauſe yee haue brought no bread?

9 Doe yee not yet perceiue, neither remember the fiue loaues, when there were * fiue thouſand men, and how many baſkets tooke ye vp?

11 Why perceiue yee not, that I ſaid not vnto you concerning bread, that yee ſhould beware of the leauen of the Phariſes and Sadducees?

12 Then vnderſtoode they that hee had not ſayd, that they ſhould beware of the leauen of bread, but of the f doctrine of the Phariſes, and Sadducees.

13 ¶ * Now when Ieſus came into the coaſtes of Cæſarea Philippi, he asked his diſciples, ſaying, Whom doe men ſay that I the ſonne of man am?

14 And they ſaid, Some ſay, Iohn Baptiſt: and ſome, Elias: and others, Ieremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He ſaid vnto them, But whom ſay yee that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter anſwered, and ſayd, * Thou art the Chriſt, the Sonne of the liuing God.

17 And Ieſus anſwered, and ſaid to him, Bleſſed art thou, Simon the ſonne of Ionas: for g fleſh and bloud hath not reuealed it vnto thee, but my Father which is in heauen.

18 And I ſay alſo vnto thee, that thou art * Peter, and vpon h this rocke I will build my Church: and the i gates of hel ſhal not ouercome it.

20 Then he charged his diſciples, that they ſhould * tell no man that he was Ieſus the Chriſt.

21 ¶ * From that time forth Ieſus began to ſhe we vnto his diſciples, that he muſt goe vnto Ieruſalem, and ſuffer many things of the Elders, and of the hie Prieſtes and Scribes, and be ſlaine, and riſe againe the third day.

22 Then Peter tooke him aſide, & began to rebuke him, ſaying, Maiſter, pitie thy ſelfe: this ſhall not be vnto thee.

23 Then he turned backe and ſayd vnto Peter, Get thee behinde me, * Satan: thou art an offence vnto mee, becauſe thou vnderſtandeſt not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 Ieſus then ſayd vnto his diſciples, * If any man will follow mee, let him forſake himſelfe, & take vp his croſſe and follow me.

25 For * whoſoeuer will ſ ſaue his life, ſhall loſe it: and whoſoeuer ſhall loſe his life for my ſake, ſhall find it.

26 * For what ſhall it profite a man, though he ſhould win the whole world, if he loſe his owne ſoule? or what ſhall a man giue for recompence of his ſoule?

27 For the Sonne of man ſhall come in the glory of his Father with his Angels, & * then ſhall hee giue to euery man according to his deedes.

7 They sayd vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. Hee said to them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the Master of the vineyard sayd vnto his steward, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleuenth houre, came and receiued euery man a penie.

10 Nowe when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise received euery man a penie.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, 13 And he answered one of them, saying, ‖ Friend, I doe thee no wrong: biddest thou not agree with me for a penie?

17 Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not?

18 But Iesus perceiued their wickednes, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.

29 Then Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, Yee [m] are deceiued, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

37 Iesus sayde to him, *Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy mind.

38 This is the first and great commandement.

39 And the second is like vnto it, *Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

27 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had giuen thanks, he gaue it them, saying, Drinke ye all of it.

28 For this is my * blood of the [illegible] stament, that is shed for many, for the remission of sinnes.

29 I say vnto you, that * I will not drinke henceforth of this fruit of the vine vntill that day, when I shall drinke it new with you in my Fathers kingdome.

30 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out into the mount of Oliues.

31 ¶ * Then sayd Iesus vnto them, All ye shall be * offended by me this night: for it is written, I will * smite the shepheard, and the sheepe of the flocke shalbe scattered.

32 But * after I am risen againe, I will go before you into Galilee.

33 But Peter answered, and sayd vnto him, * Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended.

34 * Iesus sayd vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denie me thrise.

35 Peter said vnto him, Though I should die with thee, yet will I not denie thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 ¶ * Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, and said vnto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I goe and pray yonder.

37 And he tooke Peter, & the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe sorowfull, * and grieuously troubled.

38 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, My soule is very heauy, euen vnto the p death: tarry ye here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a little further, & fell on his face, & prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, let this q cup * passe from me: neuertheles, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 After, he came vnto the disciples, and found them asleepe, & sayd to Peter, What? could ye not watch with me one houre?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into temptation: the spirit in deed is ready, but the flesh is * weake.

with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drew

*Then all the disciples forsooke him, & fled.
57 ¶ *And they tooke Iesus, and led him to Caiaphas the high Priest, where the sate with the seruants to see the end.

nesses,
61 And sayd, This man sayd, * I can destroy the temple of God, and build it in three dayes.
62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and sayd to him, answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witnesse against thee?
63 But Iesus e held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and sayd to him, I f charge thee by the liuing God, that thou tell vs if thou be the Christ the sonne of God.
64 * Iesus sayd to him, *Thou hast sayd it: nevertheless I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of the heauen.
65 Then the hie Priest rent his g clothes, saying, Hee hath blasphemed: what haue we any more need of witnesses? beholde, now ye haue heard his blasphemy.
66 What thinke ye? They answered, and sayd, He is worthy to die.
67 * Then spat they in his face, and buffeted him: and h other smote him with their rods,
68 Saying, i Prophesie to vs, O Christ,

69 ¶ * Peter sate without in the hall: and a maid came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile.
70 But he denied before them all, saying,
I wot not what thou sayest.
71 And when he went out into the porch, another mayd saw him, and sayd vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazaret.
72 And k againe he denied with an othe, saying, I know not the man.
73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, and sayd vnto Peter, Surely to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And 11 ¶ *And Jeſus ſtoode before the gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, ſaying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? Jeſus ſaid vnto him, Thou ſayeſt it.

12 And when he was accuſed of the chiefe Prieſts and Elders, he anſwered nothing.

13 Then ſaide Pilate vnto him, Heareſt thou not howe many things they lay againſt thee?

14 But he anſwered him not to one word, inſomuch that the gouernour marueiled greatly.

15 Nowe at the feaſt the gouernour was wont to ‖ deliuer vnto the people a priſoner, whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable priſoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate ſaide vnto them, Whether will yee that I let looſe vnto you Barabbas, or Jeſus which is called Chriſt?

18 (For he knewe well, that for enuie they had deliuered him.

19 Alſo when he was ſet downe vpon the iudgement ſeate, his wife ſent to him, ſaying, h Haue thou nothing to doe with that iuſt man: for I haue ſuffered many things this day in a dreame by reaſon of him.)

20 *But the chiefe Prieſtes and the Elders had perſwaded the people that they ſhould aſke Barabbas, and ſhoulde deſtroy Jeſus.

21 Then the gouernour anſwered, & ſaid vnto them, Whether of the twaine will yee that I let looſe vnto you? And they ſayd, iBarabbas.

22 Pilate ſayd vnto them, What ſhall I doe then with Jeſus which is called Chriſt? They all ſayd to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then ſayde the gouernour, But what euill hath hee done? Then they cried the more, ſaying, Let him be crucified.

24 When Pilate ſaw that he auailed nothing, but that more tumult was made, hee tooke water and waſhed his handes before the multitude, ſaying, I am innocent of the blood of this k iuſt man: looke you to it.

25 Then anſwered all the people, & ſayd, His l blood be on vs, and on our children.

26 Thus let hee Barabbas looſe vnto them, and ſcourged Jeſus, and deliuered him to be crucified.

27 ¶ *Then the ſouldiers of the gouernour tooke Jeſus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band.

28 And they ſtripped him, and put vpon him a m ſcarlet robe,

30 And ſpitted vpon him, and tooke the reed, and ſmote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne raiment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 *And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his croſſe.

33 *And when they came vnto a place called Golgotha, (that is to ſay, a place of deadmens ſkulles)

34 They gaue him n vineger to drinke, mingled with gall: And when he had taſted thereof, he would not drinke.

35 ¶ And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did caſt lots, that it might be fulfilled, which was ſpoken by the Prophet, *They diuided my garments among them, and vpon my veſture did they caſt lots.

NOw * in the ende of the a Sabbath when the first day of the weeke beganne to dawne, Marie Magdalene, and the other Marie came to see the sepulchre.
2 And behold, there was a great earth-quake: for the b Angel of the Lorde descended from heauen, and came c rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sate vpon it.
3 And his countenance was like lightening, and his raiment white as snow.
4 And for feare of him, the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.
5 But the Angel answered, and sayd to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:
6 Hee is not here, for he is risen, as hee sayde: Come, see the place where the Lorde was laid,
7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that hee is risen from the dead: and behold, hee goeth before you into Galile: there yee shall see him: c loe, I haue tolde you.
8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great d ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples worde.
9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, and tooke him by the feete, and worshipped him.
10 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, Be not afraide. Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galile, and there shall they see me.
11 ¶ Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the citie, and shewed vnto the high Priests all the things that were done.

CHAP. I.

1 The office, doctrine and life of Iohn the Baptist. 9 Christ is baptized, 13 and tempted. 14 Hee preacheth, 17 calleth the fishers. 23 Christ healeth the man with the vncleane spirit. 27 Newe doctrine. 29 Hee healeth Peters mother in lawe. 34 The deuils knowe him. 41 Hee cleanseth the leper, and healeth diuers others.

THE beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of God:

2 As it is written in the Prophets, * Behold, I send my [b] messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 * The voyce of him that cryeth in the wildernesse, is, [c] Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 * Iohn did baptize in the wildernesse, and [d] preach the baptisme of amendment of life, for remission of sinnes.

5 And all the countrey of Iudea, & they of Ierusalem went out vnto him, and were all baptized of him in the riuer Iordan, confessing their sinnes.

6 * Now Iohn was clothed with camels hayre, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: and he did eate [e] Locustes and wilde honie,

7 * And preached, saying, A stronger then I commeth after me, whose shoes latchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and vnloose.

8 Truely I [f] haue * baptized you with [g] water: but he shall baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 ¶ * And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazaret a citie of Galile, and was baptized of Iohn in Iordan.

10 And assoone as [h] he was come out of the water, Iohn saw the heauens cleuen in sunder, and the [i] holy Ghost descending vpon him like a doue.

11 Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

12 * And immediately the [k] Spirit driueth him into the wildernesse.

13 And hee was there in the wildernesse fourtie dayes, and was [l] tempted of Satan: hee was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 ¶ * Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching [m] the Gospell of the kingdome of God, 15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

16 ¶ * And as hee walked by the sea of Galile, hee sawe Simon, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea: for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Follow me, & I will make you to be * fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 And when he had gone a little from thence, he sawe Iames the sonne of Zebedee, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the ship with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ * So they entred into Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonished at his doctrine: * for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and [n] not as the Scribes.

23 ¶ And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an vncleane spirit, and he cryed, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue wee to doe with thee, O Iesus of Nazaret? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, euen that holy one of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, * Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vncleane spirit tare him, and cried with a loude voyce, & came out of him.

27 And they were all amased, so that they demaunded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what * new doctrine is this? for hee commaundeth the foule spirites with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediatly his fame [o] spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 ¶ * And assoone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wiues mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And he came & tooke her by the hand, and lift her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, and the sunne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore.

34 And he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and hee cast out many deuils, and * suffered not the deuils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early, [p] before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitarie place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed after him.

37 And

d Take away all things which might hinder Christ to come to you.

Matt. 3.1.4.

e He did both baptize and preach, but preached first, & after baptized, as appeareth by Matt. 3.1. so that the order is here inuerted, which thing is common in the Scriptures.

CHAP. II.

3 He healeth the man of the palsie. 5 He forgiueth sinnes. 14 He calleth Leui the customer. 16 He eateth with sinners. 18 Hee excuseth his disciples, as touching fasting, and keeping the Sabbath day.

AFter * a few dayes, he entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noysed that he was in the a house.

2 And anon many gathered together, in so much that the places about the doore could not receiue any more: and hee preached the word vnto them.

3 And there came vnto him, that brought one sicke of the palsie, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the roofe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed, wherein the sicke of the palsie lay.

5 Now when Jesus sawe their faith, he sayde to the sicke of the palsie, Sonne, thy b sinnes are forgiuen thee.

6 And there were certaine of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? * who can forgiue sinnes, but God onely?

8 And immediately when Jesus perceiued in his spirit, that thus they thought with themselues, hee said vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 c Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palsie, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee? or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 And that yee may knowe, that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sinnes, (he saith vnto the sicke of the palsie)

11 I say vnto thee, Arise and take vp thy bed, & get thee hence vnto thine owne house.

12 And by and by hee arose, and tooke vp his bed, and went forth before them all, insomuch that they were all amazed and glorified God, saying, d We neuer saw such a thing.

13 ¶ Then hee went againe toward the sea, and all the people resorted vnto him, and he taught them.

14 * And as Jesus passed by, he saw Leui the sonne of Alpheus sit at the receit of custome, and said vnto him, Follow mee. And he arose and followed him.

15 ¶ And it came to passe, as Jesus sate at table in his house, many Publicanes and sinners sate at table also with Jesus and his disciples: for there were many that followed him.

16 And when the Scribes and Pharises sawe him eate with the Publicanes and sinners, they said vnto his disciples, How is it, that hee eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners?

17 Now when Jesus heard it, hee sayde vnto them, The whole haue no neede of the Physitian, but the sicke. * I came not to call the e righteous, but f sinners to repentance.

18 * And the disciples of Iohn, and the Pharises did fast, & came & said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn and of the Pharises fast, and thy disciples fast not?

19 And Jesus sayd vnto them, Can the g children of the marriage chamber fast, whiles the bridegroome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegroome with them, they cannot fast.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegroome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast in those dayes.

21 Also no man seweth a piece of new cloth in an olde garment: for els the newe piece taketh away the filling vp from the olde, and the breach is worse.

22 Likewise, no man putteth new wine into olde vessels: for els the new wine breaketh the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are lost: but new wine must be put into new vessels.

23 ¶ * And it came to passe as hee went through the corne on the Sabbath day, that his disciples, as they went on their way, began to pluck the eares of corne.

24 And the Pharises sayde vnto him, Behold, why doe they on the Sabbath day that, which is not lawfull?

25 And he sayd to them, Haue yee neuer read what * Dauid did, when he had neede, and was an hungred, both hee, and they that were with him?

26 How hee went into the house of God, in the dayes of * Abiathar the hie Priest, and did eat the shewbread, which were not lawfull to eate, but for the * Priests, and gaue also to them which were with him?

27 And he said to them, The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

28 Therefore the Sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

CHAP.

a Where he was wont to remaine.

b By these words Christ shewed that he was sent of his father with authoritie to take away our sinnes.

c Christ speaketh according to their capacitie, who were so blinde that they would beleeue nothing but that which they sawe with their eyes, and therefore sheweth his authoritie ouer the sicke by the power which he hath ouer the body.

d Their owne consciences could them to conclude the trueth.

e He speaketh of such as perteined themselues to be iust, although they be nothing lesse.

f Christ sheweth that he will haue his, and not burdens them before it be necessarie.

g The word properly signifieth new cloth, which as yet hath not passed the hands of the fuller.

h He was also called Achimelech, as his father was, so that both the father and the sonne were called by both these names.

i Seeing the Sabboth was made for mans vse, it was not meete it should be vsed to his hinderance and inconmoditie.

1 He healeth the man with the dried hand. 14 He chuseth his apostles. 21 Christ is thought of the worldlings to be beside himselfe. 22 He casteth out the uncleane spirit, which the Pharises affirme unto the deuill. 29 Blasphemie against the holy Ghost. 35 The brethren, sister, and mother of Christ.

Matt.12.9,10. Luke 6.6.

AND * he entred againe into the Synogogue, and there was a man which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched him, whether hee would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him.

3 Then he sayd vnto the man which had the withered hand, Arise: stand forth in the middes.

4 And he sayd to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good deede on the Sabbath day, or to do euill? to saue the life, or to kill? But they a held their peace.

a They held their tongues of malice: for they would neither confesse nor denie.

5 Then he looked round about on them b angerly, mourning also for the hardnesse of their hearts, & sayd to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored as whole as the other.

b Christ is in such fort angry with man, that he pitieth him and seeketh to winne him.

6 ¶ And the Pharises departed, and straightway gathered a Counsell with the c Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

c Although they hated one another deadly, yet this hindered them not to ioyne their malice to resist Christ. reade Matt.22.16.

7 But Iesus auoyded with his disciples to the sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galile, and from Iudea,

8 And from Ierusalem, and from Idumea, and beyond Iordan: and they that dwelled about Tyrus and Sidon, when they had heard what great things hee did, came vnto him in great number.

9 And he commanded his disciples, that a ship should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

10 For hee had healed many, insomuch that they preased vpon him, to touch him, as many as had ‖ plagues.

‖ Or, sorowes, meaning diseases.

11 And when the vncleane spirits sawe him, they fell downe before him, and cryed, saying, Thou art the sonne of God.

12 And hee sharpely rebuked them, to the end they should not vtter him.

Chap.6.7. matt. 10.1. luke 9.1.

13 ¶ * Then hee went vp into a mountaine, and called vnto him whom hee would, and they came vnto him.

14 And hee appointed twelue that they should be with him, and that hee might send them to preach,

15 And that they might haue power to heale sicknesses, and to cast out deuils, 16 And the first was Simon, and hee named Simon, Peter.

17 Then Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn, Iames brother, (and named them Boanerges, which is, the sonnes of thunder)

‖ Or, Lebbeus, or Iudas.

18 And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartlemew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and Iames the sonne of Alphens, and ‖ Thaddeus, and Simon the ‖ Cananite, ‖ Or, Zealot.

19 And Iudas Iscariot, who also betrayed him, and they came * home.

d The disciples were now conversant with Christ, both at home and abroad.

20 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread.

21 And when ‖ his kinsfolk [illegible] they went out to * lay holde on him: [illegible] thought he had bene beside himselfe.

‖ Or, friends.

22 ¶ * And the Scribes which came [illegible] Hierusalem, said, Hee hath Beelzebub, [illegible] through the prince of deuils hee casteth [illegible] deuils.

23 But he called them vnto him, and [illegible] vnto them in parables, Howe can Satan [illegible] byme out Satan?

24 For if a kingdome be diuided against [illegible] it selfe, that kingdome cannot stand.

25 And if a house be diuided against it selfe, [illegible] that house cannot continue.

26 So if Satan make insurrection [illegible] against himselfe, and bee diuided, hee cannot endure, but is at an ende.

27 No man can enter into a strong mans [illegible] house, and take away his goods, except hee [illegible] first binde that strong man, and then spoile his house.

28 ¶ * Verily I say vnto you, all sinnes shalbe forgiuen vnto the children of men, and blasphemies, wherewith they blaspheme:

29 But hee that ‖ blasphemeth against the holy Ghost shall neuer haue forgiuenes, but is culpable of eternall damnation, 30 Because they sayde, Hee had an vncleane spirit.
